Three Outstanding Speakers Lecture

The annual meeting of Wisconsin Library Association was held at Madison the 13, 14, 15 of October. Mr. Allez, who has been president for the 1936-37 term, was able to secure three very outstanding speakers; Miss Isadore Meralge, Reference Librarian at Columbia University, New York City, spoke Wednesday evening; Miss Elizabeth Drew, lecturer, authoress, and literary critic from London, spoke after the banquet Thursday evening; Miss Drew also holds a professorship in the Oxford University; and President Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin spoke Friday evening.

Ends Successful Presidency

Two very important accomplishments of the association during Mr. Allez's presidency have been the passing of the association's legislative program making an enabling act permitting municipalities to contribute to the American Library Association for the retirement plan and the establishment and awarding of library scholarships for librarians who need training for certification.

Miss Eileen McGeorge of the Stevens Point Public Library also attended the meeting.

Editorial. . . . .

Because of some criticism in the past, intended for Student Opinion Column, which we feel is unmerited, we, the POINTER staff and its executives, wish to make our policy clear to the student body. Such a policy once explained, should correct any misguided opinions you may have.

In the first place, do not get the idea that we dislike criticism; such is not the case. We welcome all and every bit of criticism you may have, but keep it free of personal rancor and prejudice. Give us constructive, friendly criticism and we assure you we will take it to heart.

All school organizations are welcome to a place in the POINTER. If you feel you are being slighted we suggest you appoint a publicity representative to see that we get any news you have to offer. It is understood, of course, that it is the editor's prerogative to print any and such stories as he feels are the most interesting, to the student body as a whole.

In the future the Pointer will make it a policy to delete the names of Greek Organizations after a personal name. Hence, it will no longer be John Doe of Kappa Kappa Kappa who was elected Senior President, but just plain John Doe. We feel such a move is for everyone's benefit. Until such deletion becomes a fixed habit in our perusal of news copy, do not feel that one or two exceptions which may pass our attention are any sign of personal favor.

The purpose of our paper is to print news. We hope you understand it is not a medium through which to carry on a personal feud of any kind. Respect our policy in this respect.

We are honestly striving to give you the best POINTER we know how to give. Cooperate with us and help us with our task.

THEO. J. KETTERL,
Editor, the Pointer

Speech Class Holds Tryouts For Cast Of "Hoosier Schoolmaster"

Professor Burroughs To Assign Parts Next Week

The speech class is planning to present a play entitled "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," by Edward Eggleston, just before the Thanksgiving recess. Tryouts for the cast will begin next Monday under the supervision of Professor Burroughs and parts will be assigned sometime next week.

The "Hoosier Schoolmaster" gained its first prominence in the form of a novel. The acting version was prepared by Dr. Lee Norville, head of the division of speech and director of the University of Indiana theatre. His main purpose was not to commercialize his efforts but to furnish the library of the university with an authoritative work that would add something to the glory which belongs to Mr. Eggleston.

Dr. Norville confines his efforts to one single chain of events in the play. He enlarges on the chapter in the schoolmaster's life which pictures the young man's first school, his meeting with the unruly young backwoodsmen, and the love affair with Hannah Thompson, a lively "bound girl". Later he unwittingly and innocently incurred the suspicion of the community, became the victim of an unscrupulous plot and finally was exonerated.

Speaking of the original story by Eggleston, William Lowe Bryan, president of the University of Indiana, writes, "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," like "Uncle Tom's Cabin," has indestructible life in spite of shortcomings and crudities. A thousand books and plays which have every merit, except just that core of indestructible life, go down every year into quick oblivion. Meanwhile, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" keep on selling (as Mark Twain says) "just like the Bible."

Scientist-Lecturer To Speak At Assembly Tues.

Dr. Arthur D. Carpenter, scientist of national repute, will address the college assembly Tuesday, October twenty-sixth. Mr. Carpenter has made a specialty of his popular demonstration program on "The Greater Universe".

Band Broadcasts
Well Received

Professor P. J. Michelsen has received many letters in response to the Wednesday afternoon broadcasts of the concert band. Most of them have come from alumni of C. S. T. C. and are very much appreciated.

Yesterday numbers were dedicated to Mr. Oscar Christiansen and his band at Bloomer, Wisconsin; to Mr. Francis White, band director at Hixon, Wisconsin; and to Cliff Talbot of Merrill; and all former members of the C. S. T. C. concert band.

Next week several request numbers will be played and more will also be dedicated.

Students To Be Given
Tuberculin Tests

Dr. Marrs announces that the Health Service of the college is ready to administer to all students who so desire the tuberculin test.

The test is given by injecting a small amount of tuberculin between the layers of skin. The work will be done as regular health work and without charge to the student. Each student who wants to take the test should sign up at the main office or see Nurse Neuberger at the Health Service, in order that the supply of tuberculin be adequate. Students are requested to attend to this matter before Friday, Oct. 29th.

Everyone should be willing to present satisfactory proof that he or she is free from tuberculosis. This proof may be obtained by the tuberculin test, and a thorough physical examination which includes an X-Ray picture of the lungs. Will you do your part?

Is It You?

Two months old but has been seen a lot around school... Dark, not too big... Might be called a little shy; is unassuming... Good dancer. Has been seen somewhere in drum major's togs... Hails from south of here... Would say she was slated to go far in C.S.T.C.

This one is easy... Senior man... well known... liked by all. Does some writing for something or other... Greek... not the social butterfly type. In studies leans toward the Mathematical and scientific... The color of his hair gives him away when we know he comes from a city just west of us.

The strong and silent type... Senior, too... Good student... Athletic of some note... Seen on gridiron and also in grunt business... Well liked by associates... Geography teacher in T.C... Cityte since moving from way out there. Curly haired, good looking. If you haven't guessed yet you may be able to solve it if you look right away for a scab on his nose.

One of those "power behind the throne" girls... Can exert lots of influence. Occasional socialite... sorority... favorite subjects run more into the English and History line... Not particularly active in point of engaging in many activities... Do you know yet? Well then, personally she is dark, large... has determined features. Lives in city. Inquire T.G.B.

Whitewater Defeats Central Staters, 7-6

Farina Stars For Quakers

Central State's Purple and Gold gridders lost their second conference tilt last Saturday to Whitewater's Quakers in a closely contested game, 7 to 6. Again the Pointers outgained their opponents in total yards and in first downs, 10 to 5, but when the chips were down, the Whitewater line held like the proverbial stone wall. The Point attack was much improved over the performance in the Milwaukee game but still lacked the spark that makes a winning team.

Bucholz Scores Touchdown

The Whitewater touchdown was made in the first quarter after Frank Morani, Quaker end, had blocked Don Bremmer's punt. Bremmer recovered on the sixteen yard line from where Farina made a first down on the five. After trying three line plays, Farina passed to Andrews for a touchdown. Farina placekicked the extra point.

Farina Outstanding

In the third quarter, the Central Staters made a sustained drive from their own 22 yard line for a touchdown. Jim McGuire made 40 yards around end, Mickey passed to Olingy for 13 yards, Ruppel made 5 through the line, McGuire picked up 2 yards and then passed to Bucholz for a touchdown. Bill Loewecke's try for the extra point was blocked by Caesar Morani.

The Whitewater line was the deciding factor of the game and was a bulwark on defense. Caesar Morani in the line and Pop Farina in the backfield were outstanding for the Quakers, while Jim McGuire, Fe Bohan and Harry Olingy showed up well for the Pointers.

SHORTS —IN— SPORTS

The Whitewater game was certainly a bruiser for our boys. ... Almost every man who played came out of the fray with a mark on him for a reminder. ... Al Sell another one of those Merrillites, shows more promise of developing into a great back with every game that he plays in. ... He is a shifty ball-carrier, good blocker, fair passer and a good punter when he clicks. ... "Pop" Farina, the brains of the Whitewater outfit, has been a thorn in the side of the Pointers for three years. ... Besides starring in football, he is a flash on the basketball team. ... When Al Bucholz picked up that fumble and ran for a touchdown, only to be called back, Farina almost got him even though there were three-point blockers there to take him out. ... The defense for the Point passers was better this game but on the touchdown pass, McGuire had to dodge three tacklers before he could get the ball off. ... A bare six inches separated the Central Staters from victory when Red Chartier took the ball to the six inch line on fourth down. ... Harry Olingy played the best game of his college career last Saturday. ... He was continually breaking up plays and catching his man from behind.

Pointers Next Platteville Foe

The Pioneers of Platteville State Teachers College are scheduled to meet the Central Staters Oct. 23, in Platteville's homecoming game. The Pioneers have pointed for this game and are in top condition. Although they lost their conference opener to Whitewater, they have a strong team composed of veterans and good freshmen prospects.

Joe Kafka made the all conference team last year while Ted Sauer, Earl Stoffeldt and Donald Perkins received honorable mention. This year's team has a powerful line and the Pointers have been notably weak for their line play.
