Plans Forming For Mardi Gras

Carnival-February 25; Dance On March 1

A meeting of representatives of all school organizations was held Monday afternoon to make plans for the annual Mardi Gras carnival and dance. These two affairs are sponsored by the Iris, college yearbook, and all profits go into the Iris treasury. The date of the carnival will be Friday evening, February 25, and the dance is scheduled for Tuesday evening, March 1.

Masquerade Affair

The carnival will provide a series of thrills and laughter. A short program, consisting of music, plays, stunts and games will be put on in the college auditorium by various college organizations. Plans call for two presentations of this entertainment, one at 8 o'clock and the other an hour later. The hallway on the first floor will be transformed into a "midway" with amusement, refreshment and novelty stands as main attractions. College groups and clubs sponsoring these booths and each will receive commissions.

King and Queen

Perhaps the highlight of the Mardi Gras dance will be the announcement of the king and queen. Nominations for the royal couple will be accepted by Mardi Gras officials soon and voters may begin balloting immediately after all names are posted. The dance will again be a masquerade affair with prizes being awarded the most unique costumes.

Prospects Look Good

The committee which met Monday was enthusiastic over the

Sunny South Attracts Pres. And Mrs. Hyer

President F. S. Hyer left for his first vacation in many years last Saturday. He and Mrs. Hyer will enjoy a six weeks rest in the sunny south before he resumes his duties for the spring term of college. They plan to journey through Chattanooga, Tennessee, and Atlanta, Georgia, on their way to Lakeland, Florida where they will make their headquarters for their stay in the Southland. Their son, George, who is attending the University of Wisconsin, was home for his mid-semester vacation and accompanied them as far as Chicago.

Five Land Teaching Positions Early

Indications as to job possibilities took a decidedly bright aspect this week as one Central State senior signed a teaching contract for 1938-39, and four mid-year graduates entered the field immediately following their graduation.

A number of mid-year graduates have accepted positions and have already begun teaching. They include: Vivian Schnick, home economics at Gillett; Sylvia Anderson, home economics, Stevens Point; Doris Duecker, primary grades, Hilbert; Harriet Jorgenson, primary grades, Plover.

LINCOLN

Once again we come to the birthday of the Great Emancipator. We who have been to school almost unconsciously recall—"Four score and seven years ago—"

Lincoln was a man of the people. Surface trivialities did not obscure his broader vision of life. Of clothes, he had few. We doubt whether he could grace a dance floor. He never made a fraternity.

He walked miles for books. He read. He thought. He loved his fellow men.

We college folk of 1938 would do well to remember Lincoln, an educated lad.

A large number of alumni members and fraternity friends have indicated that they will return for the gala affair and from all indications, the market on dates is "bearish" here at school which would indicate that those who are about this date getting business will be the ones on the wagon a week from Saturday night and probably Sunday, too.

General chairman for the party is Alvin Bucholz, president of the fraternity, and he is assisted in preparations by the following committees:

Hotel arrangements—Granville Zimmer, Woodrow Lucas, Clyde Brunner and Bill Larson.

Invitations—Ed Duggan, Bill Cashin.

Orchestra—Ray Weingartner.

Tickets—George Lawrence.

Publicity—Jim Walch and Ted Ketterl.

Jim Walch Speaks At Journalism Banquet

James E. Walch, a member of the Pointer staff, spoke to the Rosholt High School students of Journalism at a banquet held last Saturday evening. Mr. Walch gave a short talk on county-newspaper weeklies and other phases of journalistic work. He also spoke about the Pointer and the Stevens Point Journal. Mr. Walch reports that there was a dance after the banquet at which he enjoyed himself very much.

Leota Brandt, Bernice Atkins, and Marguerite Adams were effective in their parts.

The operetta was under the direction of G. C. Allez and P. J. Michelsen.

Student Opinion

Dear Editor:

What's all this about R.U.R.? Why don't they give it and have it over with? I stumbled over one of the advertising signs the other night and broke my New Year's resolution about language. Well, I switched on the light and read "Will robots lead the world? See R.U.R. February 16th".

Everyday on my way to Jenkins' History class I have to read the same old sign. You would think a history professor would object to such a statement—Will robots lead the world? Not if I can help it! Look what a time they're having with their play staging.

You know Mr. Editor, I thought you were a fine newspaperman. I'm beginning to doubt, just a mite. R.U.R. has received three headlines this year—once they were going to give it and once they weren't. Please, Mr. Ketterl and Mr. Spindler make up your minds R they or Rn't they?

Sincerely,
Pointer Reader

In spite of the fact that it was exam week, practically the entire student body turned out for the Heidelberg singers, Monday evening, Jan. 24. We realize of course that they were exceptional artists. However, we also believe it proved that students like evening programs better than morning ones at which only about 50% ever attend. We admit that there are some students who would never attend a program regardless of the time it was given, but we do not believe this to be the main reason for small attendance at morning assemblies. The training school classes must go on, and those unfortunate students who find themselves on the practice floor at ten o'clock are just out of luck. They pay seven dollars to see two basketball games (that is all the home games scheduled for the second semester) making it a rather expensive entertainment. Their money helps pay for programs which they never see. Evening programs would enable such students to get their money's worth also. Then, too, there is always a large exodus at 11 o'clock, for the practice teachers must leave if they are due in the training school. This usually causes embarrassment to the performers unless it has been explained previously. This would also be eliminated if our proposal were accepted. Furthermore, NYA students would have two extra hours a week to work instead of having to remain after school to get in their time. We want a square deal—let's have more evening programs.

ATTENTION! IRIS STAFF!

A little while ago the students of this institution were approached by the members of the Iris staff, (that is by one or two members), in a campaign to change the system of financial support for the Iris. Since the students did not take to this plan the question was dropped, and a vote which was supposed to have been given to the students was thrown out, therefore nullifying their rights to decide the issue at this time.

It seems as though the present members of the staff would still like to dig up the idea and try to put it across

581 Enroll For Second Semester

The enrollment figure is now five hundred eighty one. Such was the data given by Miss Van Deraa Monday evening. C. S. T. C. is glad to see John Steiner and Joe Hannon back in the fold. There has been the usual quota of drop slips. The text book library's rushing business is about over.

Robert Olk managed with some difficulty to enroll in Faust's chemistry class and has a locker assigned. The Iris Editor is numbered among the practice teachers as is the Pointer editor. Mardi Gras is in the offing.

Second semester is officially underway at C. S. T. C. This year the college celebrates its forty-fourth birthday.

All-Student Band Concert-March 10

An all-student band concert has been scheduled for March 10. Students will have full charge of all arrangements and will direct the entire program. Professor Michelsen believes that student directors are capable of making such a concert a success and is offering this opportunity for an experience which will undoubtedly come to these future band directors.

someday when the "agitators have gone". I do not know how the students feel about the whole question of dues to various groups, fees for pictures and other fees, the various special assessments and the $8.00 fee for the "Student Activity Ticket", but I do know that many are now asking questions about these various things. Why can we not all get our heads together and work out a plan for some time to come? Many of the faculty members are in favor of doing something about it, and are ready to listen to suggestions from the student body. I make this humble suggestion at the behest of one of the faculty members: Get a committee of students from the various groups in the college, faculty administrators and advisors and let this group work out a plan which will solve the Iris financial problem and other problems in various groups. When this group has worked out a system which will not cost anyone more money, but which will help each and every group and at the same time give us the things which the leaders of the Iris want, then present this plan to the students and let them decide on the question. This kind of a problem should come before the students once in every four or five years at least so that a system can be worked out at various times to meet the needs of the times.

Let us get started on this soon and have a plan worked out so it will take effect next fall. Cooperation is needed by all and not this eternal bickering between groups and individuals.

A pre-nuptial dinner at noon at the Ehlers' home preceded the wedding at 3 P. M. Miss Lois Peden and Mrs. Ehlers were witnesses at the ceremony.

For her wedding Miss Newhouse chose a black taffeta afternoon dress, trimmed in blue and gold. She wore a shoulder corsage of roses and sweet peas.

Kitchen Shower

Misses Margaret Kratz, Lois Peden, and Jean and Elizabeth Dopp entertained at a kitchen shower last Saturday afternoon in the Recreation Room of Nelson Hall, in honor of Mrs. Robert Helberg, who, before her marriage last month was Miss Arletta Newhouse. Thirty-two guests were present. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. W. Newhouse, of Marathon was a special guest for the afternoon. Nelson Hall Notes

Congratulations! Doris Duecker, on getting the new job. Miss Duecker started teaching at Hilbert last Monday, February 7th. She will teach the first four grades.

Flash! Nelson Hall once more has a Miss Nelson. She hails from Rhinelander and would make a swell catch for any football hero. 'Cause you've got to be a football player to get along with a Rhinelander Girl.

Visitors at the Hall this week end were Marguerite Cook, Marie Eibergen and Lucy Jackson. Mrs. John Eastling also visited here.

At a housemeeting last Thursday night, the inmates of Nelson Hall elected five new counsellors. Girls, see the following for "pers" after this: Grace Melchior, Marcella Schultz, Rita Murphy, Emily Peterson, Eleanore Theisen, Margaret Torkelson, and Eleanor Ruehti.

For the first time in the history of Nelson Hall there are three sisters dwelling under one roof. The Torkelson sisters, from Merrill, make up the "triplet" combination.

The Chi Delt's formal isn't far off. All the fellows had better hop to it and get their dates... School seemed like "old times" with lots of U. W. students (former C. S. T. C.'s) talking in the halls and visiting classes last week... Who's the "freshie" we've seen with Don Olson lately. Pretty nice, Don... Our Monday's assembly made us feel young again—we always did like monkeys. We must admit though that the swaying ladder put a scare or two in us... The Phi Sigs are staging a big valentine party Sunday and they say there'll be lots of new "hearts" flingin' round that night. How about it Phi Sigs?... Phyllis is taking post graduate work. Now, Phil, is it to acquire additional learning or what. 'Fess up!!! Those high schoolers can really put on a swell dance judging from their formal Saturday night... Now, that we've all gotten over the first semester's marks we have plenty of time to think and resolve to mend our ways.

Tips On Tones

In "Academic Procession" Mr. James Reid Parker writes about the hidden and human aspects of college life especially introducing those familiar figures that one sees or hears about on the campus as the President, the Dean, the faculty, and many others. It is interesting to see why he regards it as the Greatest Show on Earth.

Lawyers, laymen, or individuals vitally interested in the Supreme Court, its decisions, its changes, and its connection with history will find "The Supreme Court in U. S. History" by Charles Warren, very helpful. This is not a law book but rather a resume of how the courts developed from their beginnings in the U. S. till the present day.

"You Don't Say," a book on pronunciation with a sense of humor. Alfred H. Holt has compiled many familiar words which we mispronounce daily. He shows you how with an unexpected chuckle on every page.

How did the Scotland Yard become such a decisive body in solving England's under-world problems in the 19th century? Sir Basil Thomson, being head of the Criminal Investigation Department himself, has a special interest in writing "The Story of Scotland Yard".

Clarence Day's "Life With Mother" is an equal to his previous work "Life With Father". He presents a picture of life in the average family and this time especially "Mother" who is usually the central figure in that group.

Central Staters Meet Platteville Friday

Pointers Lose Conference Tilt

Drop Thriller To Whitewater

Central State lost its second conference game last Friday to Whitewater Teachers College, 39 to 37, the same score by which the southern team was defeated earlier in the season by the Pointers.

The Kotalmen held the lead all the way until the final seconds of the game when Koenig sank a field goal to send the hopes of our heroes glimmering. The Pointers were leading at the half, 20 to 16, but were unable to hold it when the going got tough.

Fred Nimz made fifteen points on five field goals and five free throws to lead the individual scorers with Andrews dropping in four field goals and two free throws to pace the Quakers.

Pointers Meet C.Y.O. Boxers

Central State's boxers are rapidly rounding into shape for the card with the Wisconsin Rapids' C. Y. O. team to be held in the latter part of this month. The C. Y. O. leatherslingers are all experts in their weights, two of them being Golden Gloves champions, and the others ranking high in the central Wisconsin ratings.

Boxing Coach, Inman Whipple, has made a call for candidates and if he decides that there are enough good men, may enter some of his pugilists in the Wisconsin Golden Gloves Tournament.

Keeping pace with him is Henry Warner with 68 points on 27 field goals and 14 free throws. Fred Nimz is making a comeback and rose to third place over the weekend and is only eight points behind Warner and five points ahead of the other member of the Big Four, Chet Rinka.

Henry Warner

Called by many "the most improved man on the basketball team", Henry Warner is coming into his own for the first time this year after a year of acting as a "feeder" to his teammates. Rarely scoring more than ten points, Hank seldom fails to add at least seven points to his team's total besides doing heavy duty on the defense end.

Warner started his cage career as a sophomore on the Stevens Point High School team that won the conference championship, alternating at forward, guard and center. In his junior year he played forward on the Point team that went to the state tournament but took a beating there. Hank climaxed his basketball playing Pop Farina proved himself a capable understudy to Coach Chick Agnew of Whitewater when he piloted his teammates to victory over the Pointers.... Coach Agnew is still quarantined for scarlet fever.... Coach Kotal thought Farina did such a good job that he sat on the sidelines in the Concordia game while Fred Nimz led the team.... It must have been a good idea, judging by the result.... The Pointers were in poor condition to play basketball after their bus trip to Whitewater.... Don Johnston and Felix Bohan played forward for the first time in their college careers last week.... Johnston was an all-conference forward in high school and evidently hasn't lost his touch because he made seven points against Concordia.... Art Bandow, ineligible for the first semester, made the trip too and was tried at both forward and guard.... La Vern Van Dyke, also ineligible for the first semester, played in the Concordia game.... Milwaukee Teachers College stopped its game with Platteville, Friday when the coach and part of the team delayed by indecent weather, showed up after the five men who did arrive had built up a 13 to 7 lead at the half.... The game had been delayed for an hour past the starting time, hoping that the coach and the rest of the players would show up.... When Coach Penwell of Milwaukee finally got there he asked that the game be held up until his other men could get into suits.... Coach Leilt of Platteville refused and Penwell called his men off the floor.... in high school by being named all-conference forward in his senior year.

Rehmstedt Leads Pioneer Attack

Platteville travels here this weekend to encounter the Purple and the Gold in a conference game Friday. The Leiltmen led by Rehmstedt, all conference center of last year, have a strong aggregation and are expected to give the Pointers a stiff battle.

The Pointers beat the Leiltmen at Platteville earlier this year by a 41-38 score and another close battle is expected. Since that time Platteville has won games from other conference opponents and non-conference games.

The probable starting lineups for the game are:

Pointers		Platteville
Johnston	F	Brostrom
Warner	F	Hein
Nimz	C	Rhemstedt
Bandow	G	Goff
Rinka	G	Perkins

Kotalmen Defeat Falcons, 40-37

Coach Kotal's Purple and Gold Cagers came back strong after being defeated by Whitewater to trip the Concordia Falcons, 40 to 37, in a non-conference game. Using a revamped lineup of Don Johnson and Henry Warner, forwards, Captain Fred Nimz, center and Chet Rinka and Art Bandow at the guards, the Central Staters showed definite superiority over their opponents.

Concordia, beaten badly by the Pointers in the game played here, showed a surprisingly strong attack at times but that was when the second team was in the game. The Falcons were behind at the half 25 to 16, but rallied to come within two points of tying up the game when the first team went back in.

Losses, Concordia forward, made twenty points on eight field goals and four free throws to top the individual scorers. Hank Warner was high point man for the Central Staters with ten markers on the field goals and four free throws.

SPORTS QUIZ

1. How long are College Basketball Quarters?
2. What is the "three second rule"?
3. Can a captain refuse a substitution?
4. How many time outs is each team allowed during a half?
5. Can one team have a larger score than the other team and still not win the game?

HITHER AND YON

Johnny Nevers, who was twice all-conference end in football, was named as honorary captain of the 1937 La Crosse State Teachers College team. Nevers, who hails from Ashland, is the nephew of Ernie Nevers, All-American from Stanford.

—"The Racquet" La Crosse

If the basketball team loses any games because of inaccuracy at the free throw line, it won't be because of lack of practice. Each member of the squad is required to take 100 free throws a day until he has tossed 2200 by the end of the season. At the end of the season the player with the highest percentage of accuracy will receive a jacket with the compliments of Coach Penwell. Thus far, Donald Sweet, a sophomore, has the best average. Jerry Winn has the best day's average with 86 out of 100.

—Milwaukee "Echo"

"Rube" Lautenschlager is now making a name for himself in Sheboygan as regular center on the Enzo Jell professional basketball team.

—The Oshkosh "Advance"

The Blue Devils are improving; statistics show it. Free throws at the Point and Oshkosh were effective to 50 and 60 per cent respectively.

—"Stoutonia"

The greatest number of field goals by one individual in any one game was 25, scored by E. Lowery, ex-Purdue star, in an Illinois town-team game.

Rural Life Elects Semester Officers

"Rural Life" enjoyed a delightful evening in the rural assembly on Monday night at the regular meeting of the club. Alex Peterson and Edward Plank, former C. S. T. C. students and graduates of the Rural-State Graded Division, were guests and entertained with piano solos and duets. They also led in club singing, first one handling the baton and the other playing accompaniments, and then changing positions. They also sang a duet. It surely seemed like old times to the boys and was a real treat to the present student body. Mardi Gras Committee Appointed

Before the business meeting Kenneth Bartels led the group in two songs while Ruth Knutson accompanied.

DO YOU KNOW?

A girl who says she could have married anyone she pleased never pleased anybody?

Did you know that most failures were men who started before they were ready?

The reason busy bodies have blue noses is that they always get a cold reception?

Girls who cried when they were babies are now babied when they cry?

A blonde co-ed who is at the foot of the class, usually has the rest of the class at her feet?

Dentists are men who bore you to tears?

Golf is pie to some men and just a lot of baloney to others?—It depends on the way they slice it?

It takes a girl with dreamy eyes to keep the boys awake?

The best way to get rid of a hot-head is to give him a cold shoulder?

Lots of our students could take high offices in the Liar's Club? No one can even recognize their own statements.

How long is a jiffy?

How much is a bit?

"Lives there a student with soul so dead,

Who never to himself has said:
'To heck with studies,
I'm going to bed'."

To close and give you something to think about—remember, "Time wasted is existence; used is life".

Simple Simon Says

Dear Mom,

I'm sorry I neglected to write—please don't scold so in your letters the way you did last time. No, I couldn't get home. It's a real job just to walk down the streets here in Stevens Point. We used to walk or drive cars, but lately we've been skating down the streets. Right now a lumber wagon goes best, and when this ice melts we will go boating.

Honest, Mom, I've been so busy with cramming for final exams and date (I mean data for studies) that I haven't had time for a thing. I was so tired that I believe this poem I wrote just expresses how I felt. Do you think I would dare hand this to the instructor?

Under the blankets warm and deep,
Just like the wool on a drowsy sheep

There let me lie while the shadows creep.

Lost in the beautiful land of sleep.

What if the cars roar by all night?

What if I slumber in broad daylight?

Let the wind howl and the room grow cold.

Let the late hour by the clock be tolled.

Let me sleep on till I can no more—

Lost in the beautiful Land of Snore!

If I should wake in this world again

Let it be after I've had my sleep.

If I should die or should not awake

Dig me a cavern, broad and deep;
Cover me over with good old sod—

Leave me forever in the Land of Nod!

(Maybe someone should write an epitaph for Simple.)

STEVENS POINT, WIS.

The customer who hadn't paid for a long time finally came around and settled his bill in full.

"It's that letter you wrote me," he explained. "I've never seen one like it. It would get money out of a stone. How'd you ever think it up?"

"I didn't," answered the storekeeper. "I picked the best parts from the letters my son sends me from college."
