Campus Jamboree Broadcasts Make Successful Start

The past two Saturdays have marked the successful beginning of programs over station WLBL, featuring C.S.T.C. talent. It has really been excellent. The first program was abbreviated to fifteen minutes due to Thanksgiving holidays. It, however, featured two of the school's younger artists, Tony Klein and Rosalind Dubinski. As a couple, they presented some fine selections. The special attraction featured Tony as his own piano accompanist, singing as only he can sing.

Second Program

The program last Saturday, the second of this series, was even finer than the first. The girls' trio, composed of Eileen Rose, LaRae Winch, and Doris Soderberg, gave a fine performance which since has brought much favorable comment, along with requests for further appearances. Another campus celebrity, Gerry Torkelson, rendered three fine bass solos which also have gained considerable recognition. Waldo Nelson, a college up and coming announcer, presented the college news, excerpts from "The Pointer." In an interesting manner, Bill Miller added those little necessary touches essential to every successful program.

Campus Jamboree broadcasts every Saturday afternoon at 1:30. If you have any radio talent, your cooperation will be appreciated. Application may be made to the information girl at WLBL or with Bill Miller.

Social Science Club To Initiate New Members

New members of Central State's Social Science Club will be formally initiated this evening in the President Sims Library. Each semester this discussion group chooses a panel of prospective members from a list of social science minors whose grade average in the social sciences is 2.1 or better in honor point standing. This rigid requirement enables the group to remain an active, limited body. As originally planned, membership in the Social Science Club is limited to twelve student members and one faculty advisor. At present there are six student members and Dr. N. O. Reppen, faculty advisor, composing the group.

The new men to be initiated into the club this evening include Don Aucutt, Edward Wacholz, and Philip Anderson, all juniors.

Sets Up Teaching As A Profession

Before a crowded assembly Monday morning, Senator Alexander Wiley presented to the students through a well-organized procedure of fluent oratory his ardent opinion on teaching. He stated that because you are the leaders of tomorrow, it is up to you to make America great and keep it great. You are about to become teachers of men, showing them how they should go. Teaching is not a job, it is a profession. You are placed in the position of developing vision, enthusiasm, and establishing a meaning. Teaching in itself is the greatest job in the world next to parenthood. No one living today has done anything for America; everything was all handed to us on a sil-

Play Our Games At The High School

Editor's Note: This is a student's opinion on this question. What is yours?

There has been some talk of playing our basketball games in the Training School gymnasium instead of on the high school floor.

Why? The main reason seems to be the $25.00 fee charged for the high school facilities. This is a rather high fee and should be cut down.

It seems to me, however, that the increased seating capacity—the better vision afforded the spectator—and the better type of ball played on the larger floor should attract enough extra rooters to make up this charge.

From the players' standpoint—the training school floor is much too small for good basketball. This fact leads to rough, raggedly played games.

From the fans' standpoint—the training school is no drawing card. The seating is inadequate—the entire playing floor is not visible from at least a third of the seats.

In regard to the financial side of the question; last year the average paid admission was $60 per game. This means that, if we played our games at the Training School, we would have to collect $35 in paid admission in order to match the gate receipts taken in at the high school. It is doubtful whether we could accommodate this many townspeople without crowding out some of the students who have already paid for the right to see the games.

The townspeople will come out in greater numbers and will be better served in the high school gym.

Major Production Of First Semester

Promptly at 8:15 this evening, in the College Auditorium, the house lights will slowly dim out and the curtain will open on the first act of A. A. Milne's Mr. Pim Passes By, College Theater's major production of the first semester. The result of several weeks of hard work will be shown to the public as the curtains part—the result of a determined technical staff—the result of an inspired cast—the result of competent directors under the able leadership of L. M. Burroughs. That's what College Theater has prepared for your entertainment tonight and tomorrow night. As previously announced, high school students will be admitted upon the purchase of 15c tickets, and adults will be charged 25c. Much time and effort has been spent preparing this production for you; we want you to see it, and if you want to inspect the set after the performance, College Theater cordially invites you backstage.

Senior Ball Glamorous

As Milwaukee has its Service Club Ball, so C.S.T.C. has its Senior Ball, both ushering in a gracious social season. Witnesses of this delightful event were a large group of college young people and faculty, who met at the Mary D. Bradford Gymnasium last Saturday evening to enjoy, through the auspices of the Senior Class, "The Dance of Tomorrow."

The dancers were captivated by a globe made of hundreds of tiny mirrors, which revolved above their heads in the center of the gym. This dazzling ball reflected its evanescent bits of light everywhere on the white decorations, with their modernistic touches of blue, upon the orchestra on the stage, an alcove in white, and upon the shiny polished floor, and seemed as a myriad of stars falling out of the far distant heavens or as snow on an early December evening.

An adventurer, traveler, after-dinner speaker, and lecturer is Jacques D'Albert who will present the assembly program Thursday, December 14, at ten A. M.

His three lecture subjects are: "Adventure In Antarctica", in which he tells of his adventures and travels with the Second Byrd Antarctic Expedition; "Down to the Sea In Ships", a lecture on his twenty years on the seven seas which he sailed in various types of boats; "Isles of the South Seas", a narration of Mr. D'Albert's travels and adventures in the South Sea Islands.

With Admiral Byrd

"Down to the Sea In Ships" contains his thrilling story of sea life. Due to his love for the sea he has traveled extensively. From deckhand to quartermaster, sailing in fighting ships of the U. S. Navy, aboard sail ships and steam boats, he has accumulated a vast amount of vivid description on the life of a sailor. His last trip was his 12,000 mile journey to Little America as a member of Admiral Byrd's crew.

Along with his interesting and thrilling descriptions of marine life he carries with him exhibits of the ships such as sailors' knots, deep-sea diver's gear, signal flags, souvenirs from foreign lands, and ship's articles.

Travelled Extensively

"Who can resist the lure of travel by sea to distant ports in quest of adventure? The love of the sea has carried Jacques D'Albert into many strange corners of the globe on all types of ships. He brings to his audience a thrilling story of his twenty

The company was received into this ethereal setting by the King Jerry O'Doherty and his Queen, Evelyn Schwingle, Chairman Norman Benson and Joyce Sullivan, Regent and Mrs. W. S. Delzell, Dean and Mrs. Steiner, and President and Mrs. E. T. Smith.

Noticeably present in this futuristic setting was a collection of stunning white dresses, new as tomorrow, as is the "Dance of Tomorrow." The Queen gowned in heavy white taffeta dress with touches of red velvet was the height of fashion as she led the Grand March. A general consensus of male opinion voted the white gowns of Barbara Gerdes, Margaret Murrish, Dorothy Sieck, Marjorie Jacobs, Helen Schinert, and Lucille Miller as particularly outstanding.

As a grand finale, tiny white parachutes came floating down from above, a lasting memento, of an evening we will want to remember.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

Not long ago we watched our basketball team play a winning game that furnished much excitement for the large crowd present. It has been some time since we saw quite as much enthusiasm displayed by the spectators. We are glad to see a revival of school spirit, and hope that it will remain in evidence.

No one can find fault with the amount of cheering, but are we going to let the "booing" episode go unnoticed? Regardless of all that can be said, some such conduct seems bound to crop up during high school contests, but isn't it a bit childish for a group of young people that have reached college age? Well intended as your loyal support may be, a little thinking about the rest of those affected would not be wasted effort. If you were on the team, would you be proud of the "courtesy" extended to referee and visitors—would you anticipate a return game? If you were the "ref" out on the floor trying to judge the plays as you see them from that position, would you appreciate "booing" because of an unfavorable decision.

Put yourself in the other fellow's shoes, and then act accordingly. We like the quantity of pep, but we strongly believe that the quality could be improved to the betterment of all concerned.

THIS NEEDS YOUR THOUGHT

The question before the student body is this: Where should home basketball games be held: in the Training School, or in the P. J. Jacobs gym.

Basketball usually breaks even financially but last year there was a deficit. This was the first time that we used the high school gym for basketball. The 1938-39 deficit has to be made up this year, 1939-1940.

The rent for the P. J. Jacobs gym last year was twenty-five dollars for each game including one practice throughout the season, the total being two hundred dollars. Paid admissions average one hundred fifty per game; at 40c per ticket, this amounts to approximately sixty dollars per game.

The Training School Gym will accommodate only the student body of the college; therefore there can be no paid admissions. However, there is no rent to be paid for the use of this floor for games or practices. This would eliminate all townspeople as spectators. Do we need their interest and support? Would the use of this gym be eliminating this?

A more interesting and easier to watch game can be played in the high school gym, which has a regulation-sized floor, than on the Training School's small floor.

A possible solution, too, is that of playing non-conference games in the Training School and conference contests on the high school floor; Another is having week-end games in the Training School and those during the week in the high school.

Students—this problem is presented for your consideration and your accommodation. Will you please respond to the Pointer immediately?

C. S.

Shaatin' from the Lip

We quite inadvertently became the very interested intruders on a meeting of the officers and director of what is perhaps the outstanding organization of this our school. The meeting was entirely informal yet business-like from start to finish. Discussion ranged from dates and places to appear to numbers to be used. All final decisions were left to the student officers. Mr. Knutzen acted in an entirely advisory capacity. He assumed no authority beyond that allowed him by the group. He asked for none. Yes sir, I witnessed a noble organization in operation. A fine group of voices with a fine bunch of business heads.

There is a trite phrase that runs some what like "Every rose has its thorn." We could paraphrase that a little to read somewhat like "Our Glee Club is our rose, our Forum is our thorn." We vote C.S.T.C.'s Forum the most "unfunctioningist" organization hereabouts. How come? Search us. The outfit has the officers, it has as many facilities as the Primary Council and the Grammar Round Table, yet these latter two make the Forum look like something quite foolish as far as function and use can be considered. Apparently the aforementioned officers regard their offices as strictly honorary. As I remember it there was quite some race for said offices. 'Nuff sed. Yes?

This corner has become the object of praise (braggingly speaking), ridicule and scorn all in one short week. This makes us extremely happy. It shows our work is being read if not approved. The comments ranged from open laudits to subtle inferences tossed quite pointedly at us. To paraphrase again (Lincoln, this time), "You can please some of the people all of the time and all of the peo—oh, you well know the rest. We try hard to present unbiased views of subjects we discuss. Space allotted does not always allow us to develop thought as thoroughly as should be. However, we try to give you the more pertinent facts each time. If we rub you the wrong way, remember that one of the noteworthy accomplishments of education is open-mindedness, impartiality, tolerance, patience and stuff like that.

Along this above line folks, especially you who soon will teach remember that B.S., E.E., M.A., and so on are not synonyms for teachers. Students, take complete stock of yourself before you sign those teaching contracts. Your speaker Monday morning told you what teaching amounted to. He knew whereof he spoke. Analyze yourselves completely before you take that step.

THE MUSIC PARADE

It's always good to hear of the progress of our alumni in regard to their first year of teaching. The following article was taken from the "Ettrich Weekly;" "Well sir, this boy Arnold Jindrick, band director of the local school band, has certainly gone to town since the beginning of the school year. Aside from being "tops" as a band director and musician, he also has a convincing way about him when it comes to interesting the various local organizations in the dire necessity for band uniforms. During the past several weeks he has been about the busiest man in these parts, and the gratifying results are that the school band is coming out in brand new uniforms, coats, caps and trousers. The band will be all togged out in their new uniforms for the spring music festival which will be held at LaCrosse.

There is no question but what a band is a great asset to a community, also, a band needs uniforms. There is no better advertising for a community than a band, and we believe that money spent for uniforms will be returned in many ways."

POINTERS REPEAT AGAINST STOUT

Pointers To Meet Marquette State Teachers Here Sat.

On Saturday night of this week the Pointers will meet a fast moving Marquette Quintet. Marquette Teachers have been the outstanding team of the Upper Peninsula for the last several years, and are even stronger this year. They lost a game to Superior last week by the unbelievable score of 62 to 71. Any team that scores 62 points in forty minutes is not to be considered lightly. No matter how you figure the boys are in for a battle.

Next Tuesday they will travel to Winona, Minnesota, where they will face another high scoring outfit. From Winona they will travel to River Falls, to take on the Falcons. The Pointers have a score to settle with River Falls, because of this season's football defeat and a victory would help to gain back our prestige.

The outcome of these three games shall largely determine the success of this year's team. If they come through on top in these tilts, they should have no trouble in taking the Conference Championship.

Changes Made In Basketball Rules

When college cage teams take to the court this year they will play under revised basketball rules that are intended to reduce fouling and minimize the disadvantages many claimed existed under last year's regulations.

Here is the complete list of rule revisions announced for this year's rule book:

1. The end line of the court shall be four feet from the face of the backboard (this had been optional last season). The exception to this rule is for courts where the physical limitations of the floor do not permit such an extension but a two-foot minimum is required. The ideal court is 94 feet in length from outside line to outside line with 86 feet from the fact of one backboard to the face of the other.

2. A slight change has been made in the specifications of the ball relative to its resiliency.

3. (a). After a free throw from a technical foul the ball is to be awarded to the team which was awarded the free throw, the ball to be put in bounds at midcourt.

(b). When a personal foul is called the offended team has the

By Jim Duecker "ON THE BALL" And Mason Atwood

We found the following letter in our mail today:

"The bowling team consisting of F. Koehn, L. Posluszny, R. Klake, Del Anderson and H. Henninger challenges any and all college bowling teams to a match. They are especially anxious to take on the winner of Thursday's match between the Chi Delts and Phi Sigs."

Franz Arvold reports that there is so much enthusiasm over the prospect of a bowling league that he hasn't had time to teach his practice class. The latest angle is a women's league. Franz says he will be more than willing to act as secretary for this league, even though he is very rushed.

The Oshkosh All-Star, New York's Renaissance basketball game this Thursday, should be a natural. The eastern five has a squad composed of old-timers who have played lots of basketball. The Oshkosh team is younger and somewhat faster—but by no means inexperienced. Then too, the colored boys are entertainers as well as good players. Some of the better known of the Renaissance aggregation are "Pop" Jenkins, diminutive guard and the oldest man in pro basketball, "Wee Willie" Smith, one of the nation's outstanding ball handlers, "Tarzan" Cooper, giant center and rebound artist, "Bruiser" Saitch, sharpshooting forward, Issac, the comedian of the hard-court.

Several of last year's intra-mural basketball stars are playing in church leagues in town. This is a break for these few fellows but what about all the rest of the boys who are anxious to play. Maybe some of our N.Y.A. help could be used to run a league here in school. Anyway it would be worth a try.

Stevens Point High defeated Merrill last night in a fast game 31-20. The score does not indicate the type of game as the local boys poured in several buckets in the last couple of minutes. Merrill came within 4 points of tying the score with 3 minutes remaining in the game, but they weakened here and Point got hot with a strong finish.

Terzynski Again Leads Scoring

Coach Kotal's basketball team turned back a strong Stout five last Friday, the second time in a week. The Pointers were on the long end of a 38-35 score after a see-saw battle that was anybody's game. Trailing 24-20 shortly after the start of the second half, the Point five came back to tie the score and then take a lead which they held until the final whistle.

Pete Terzynski again led the scoring with 13 points on five buckets and three free throws. He was followed by Worman, Stout forward, who had 12 points and Anderson, who scored 11 points for C.S.T.C. Nine men saw action for Point, indicating a fair amount of reserve strength.

PRIMARY COUNCIL

Primary Council held its Christmas party at Nelson Hall, Monday night. The fun began with the singing of Christmas Carols. This was followed by the playing of "Bingo". Prizes were awarded consisting of candy canes. Popcorn balls, candy canes and ice cream bars composed the refreshments. Betty Gustin and Charlotte Reichel were chairmen of fun and refreshments.

NEWMAN NEWS

Miss Elizabeth Mortell, social worker for the Portage County Catholic Welfare Association, addressed the Newman Club Thursday, December 7. She discussed social service aims and showed that the economic phase of such work is only a minor part. After describing the training required in that field, she reviewed many of her own experiences. At the close of her talk many questions were asked during the open forum.

The first issue of Newman News is here and copies have been placed near the bulletin board on the second floor. Members are asked to take their copies.

LIBRARY NEWS

Have you seen the display of Christmas books in the College library? In addition to the Christmas literature on display here, the librarians also have a Christmas exhibit in the library at the Training School. GRAMMAR ROUND TABLE

Grammar Round Table was entertained by a new and versatile dance band at C.S.T.C. True enough, there are only four pieces—but give them time, they'll grow.

Rollie Mac "did" the trumpet and what a take-off. His hat proved a very effective mute. "Stub" Scheel, as usual, was the second Gene Krupa of the drums, and what rhythm!

Marv Yost and Bill Metzger did their stuff on the piano and saxophone respectively, as well as being plenty smooth on the vocal end. You should hear them "give" on "Rag-time Cowboy Joe".

The band's repertoire is large and varied—everything from "Wabash Blues" to "Scatterbrain", but nothing written later than 1937 (quoting Scheel), was played.

After playing games—the "class room athletes" were fed and sent merrily on their way to conclude the evening's entertainment in their own individual ways.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The annual Christmas concert which is presented by the Men's and Girls' Glee Clubs, Mixed Chorus, and the College Orchestra, will be given two nights, Wednesday, December 20, and Thursday, December 21 at 8:00 P. CAMPUS ODDS AND ENDS

The campus is just bubbling over with Christmas preparations this week. Everyone seems to have caught the germ of the good old Christmas Spirit and the reaction to this interesting malady is most varied.

The art room is certainly the scene of feverish activity, with five large murals being painted for the stage during the holiday season. There will be three large pictures portraying scenes of the Nativity and two of Old English Carolers.

We are so glad to see that George Sappenfield, Rollie McManners and Sister Henrica have crossed their names off the sick list and are back in school again.

Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English Fraternity, held its formal initiation last Wednesday evening in the Nelson Hall.

New members were added to the roll.

Iris Precourt of Central State Teachers College was chosen as a Portage County Representative to the National 4H Club Congress that was held in Chicago from December second to eighth.

Miss Precourt is a member of the "Ambitious Climbers", the Buena Vista Club.

Her expenses were jointly paid by the State and Business and Professional Women's Club of Stevens Point.

Last week cameramen were out to take pictures of different aspects of school life at C.S.T.C. These are to be included in a moving picture "Life in Stevens Point" to be shown next week at a local theater. All the industries and occupations of Stevens Point will be represented.

Delores Nolan is seriously ill at St. Michaels with a very complicated case that is baffling the physicians. However, she is somewhat improved and recovery is anticipated in the not too distant future.

W.A.A.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Athletic Association will be held in the Game Room tonight at 7:15.

Next Friday evening is the time set for the Sigma Zetans' Christmas party. They are planning an old fashioned taffy pull. What fun! Anyone in possession of an extra special formula for taffy, which will avoid all disaster, please notify these scientists. We hear that they've been searching through volume upon volume of advanced chemistry with absolutely no results.

Ingeborg Enderlein has just returned from a week's stay in New York City. Her mother, who has been traveling in Europe since the first part of July, docked there on the liner Gripsholm, December 2, and "Ingie" wished to be on hand to welcome her back the minute she stepped off the boat.

While in the metropolis she visited Billie Rose's, Diamond Horsehoe, attended the current musical comedy hit "Swingin' the Dream" with Bennie Goodman, Louie Armstrong, and Maxine Sullivan, and viewed the "Rockettes" at Radio City Music Hall. Don't we all wish we'd been small enough to fit in "Ing's" spare pocket?

And that isn't all by any means. Her mother brought her from Norway, Finland, and Sweden new clothes that are the envy of every one, well at least of all Nelson Hall. There are adorable peasant sweaters, white boots, and a Finnish hat that is positively the last word in what the "Smart Coed" will wear.

the dorm last weekend. Don't let it bother you girls. It's only a nickname for Joyce Larson's boyfriend.

Johnny Hutzell sure must have been very much impressed last Sunday at church (It was his first time in a long time) It seems since Sunday he is considering going into the ministry.

So long my good and faithful friends—Its the end. If we don't get some snow pretty soon we'll have to change all of our weather reports with Florida—As the little boy said Santa Claus is sure going to have tough sledding this year—No Snow. By BY.

Frances Gallagher In Library Work

Frances Gallagher, a former student at Central State Teachers College, who is now receiving medical attention at the State Sanatorium, has been doing some excellent library work there.

When she was enrolled at C.S.T.C., she worked in the library for one year and her interests in this type of work are still continuing. She is a Departmental Editor of the "Beacon" which is a publication edited at the State Sanatorium. In the copy of the "Beacon" which she had sent to the library, she has written an article entitled "Library Lines".

This copy of the Beacon will be kept at the library desk so it will be easily accessible to those students who are interested in knowing about the work being carried on against tuberculosis and also about the lives of the patients themselves.

Senator Wiley Talks At Assembly

 ver platter. You are free, not tied down like you are in foreign countries. Take these children and develop in them the idea of service, and love—not obey. Can there be any greater joy in the world than seeing people amount to something; (you are the foster parents of the institution of childhood). What is gained in teaching is just this—don't go into the teaching profession unless you want to give—there is no greater joy in the world than this. Make the idea of rediscovery of ourselves and our country the main and important element surrounding us. Be an instrument of good in this land of the free. You are called to a high purpose; do a good job as there is so much potential power here, so much good and this is all lying dormant; it must be aroused—men and women grow strong through action.

The assembly came to an end with the band playing and accompanying Charlotte Reichel in "God Bless America".

There may be splinters on the ladder of success, but you don't notice them until you slide down.

 years afloat—an intriguing and informative narrative of life aboard naval vessels, aboard merchant ships, and aboard sailing craft."

Unfolding, in his lecture, the strange customs of the sea, he gives his listeners a vivid idea of the life of the sailorman."

This assembly of varied and vivid descriptions of sea life experienced by this adventurer, Jacques D'Albert, should prove to be very interesting to the students of Central State Teachers College.

Changes Made In Basketball Rules

 option of trying a free throw or putting the ball in play out-of-bounds. If two free throws are awarded this rule applies to the last free throw. It does not apply in the case of a double foul.

4. For college teams, ten-minute quarters instead of twenty-minute halves is optional.

5. If a player in the act of throwing for goal is fouled from behind or roughly handled from any direction, two free throws shall be awarded whether the field goal is made or not.

6. Any player on the team can call time out instead of just the captain of the team as in the past.
