INTELLOWE ACT IN ACTION

As students we are supposed to be leaders in intellectual pursuits. We are expected to direct others toward physical perfection. How then can any of us hesitate to take advantage of the wise advice of our coaches? We do part in making syphilis a forgotten plague of the past.

In one of my education classes the instructor asked: "What is the meaning of intelligence?" We believed the leaders and should not be overly impressed with the methods of the scientist and the economist. This statement, taken literally, is not the one I believe that we should not adopt some parts of work which and which have proved correct will make the operation of teaching successful and sound, dependable product, one that the teacher can be proud of, and guarantee with a conscience free from reproaches. The production, we are here in highest esteem, the teacher to answer the highest standards and who immediately refer their inferiors to "The Librarian"

College People Should Take The Lead In Fight Against Syphilis

"A stitch in time saves nine." How often this adage is applied to problems of everyday life. People are urged not to put off until tomorrow what they can do today... lest tomorrow come.

In the days of our youth our mothers took every precaution to protect us from childhood ills and diseases. In high schools athletic directors saw to it that each person engaged in some form of exercise. Why? To develop and maintain the good health of the student.

This year a large part of the students activity fees went to the athletic department. We have two women and two men engaged in directing the activities of this department. Why? Because we know that a healthy, sound body is necessary for happiness and success.

When we can go all this expense for health, why shouldn't we avail ourselves of the opportunity to enlist in a combat against the disease which infects and destroys every mental and physical tissue of the human body. A disease which can, if it is treated, make raving maniacs of football heroes and college professors alike.

WASSERMANN TESTS

Last week Dr. Mars is ready to make tests for anyone desiring them. A case of syphilis is of great importance. If undetected it spreads and becomes the focal point of an infection. If detected and treated the community...

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is an old saying but there is none more true than the Tuberculosis tests now being offered by our Health Department. If you card for signs for the tests in the main halls, it would be of great help to ascertain the amount of serum to order.

Student Art Clubs Varied Exhibit

It's atmosphere changes from that of the Art Room to that of a gallery, the Art Room furnishes an appropriate setting for the art exhibition which is sponsored by the market square, and many other themes are available, from watercolors, and charcoal drawings and other media are best used.

Among those of greatest interest, for students, are those in the "Market Square" and Stevens Point Branches, which are painted by Evelyn Sonnenberg and Marvin Fryer, respectively.

NOT BAD FOR A START
BY JOE BLOOM

Seven games is no sure but a fair start. In fact, as we see it, it's pretty fair. We are talking now about the Point's grand slam of seven victories in its warm up schedule. Starting with the bully boy against Stetsons and right down the line until you get to the Jordan game. Seven straight victories without a set loss. The opponents were not all set-ups either. St. Norberts usually puts up a good team and gave Pitts a scare a week in the opening game. From Ashland had a fifty point average last season and were considered equally strong this year. River Falls is considered a contender for the Northern Division championship. They too, fell a victim to Kotala and sharpshooters. That was the opening dorm since we last set up the scene. We got to the Jordan game. Jordan was down to its third team, but that's what is expected of them. Last week they had a hall and a club party to get in the mood. Fred Norze was to supreme heights in that club. With his brother, Hank, out but Freddie took over and what a job that did! Two riders, Hank Warner, too, put in his share of the work. The sharpshooter, Art Bandow, and Bob Oke, came in for first day's game.

The way it looks you might suspect. How much of the blood is there in the conference championship in our back yard. What championship is in the air? We're not. We're giving credit where credit is due. If the boys can keep that up through the conference season—well, let's hope. Anyway we should wish them success. Now the way it looks you might think. POINTER TRIP JORDAN IN SEVENTH WIN

Seven Point nets up its seventh consecutive victory last Friday by defeating the sacred Wisconsin 46-16 in the P.J. Jacobs High School floor last Saturday.

Led by Fred Nims and Hank Warner with thirteen and eleven points respectively the Pointers jumped onto an early lead and were never behind the rest of the game. The passing and shooting were especially fine throughout the game. The Pointers connected on twenty of sixty attempts.

Good Scoring

The Jordan team was led by Wanger and Steffen who hung up a round dozen markers a piece. The floor work of Gilmore, Jordan's colored, located several openings and times and he gave the fans an exhibit of the usual type of point scoring.

The game was a whole well played and at no time was there a dull moment. The smooth passing of both teams was par excellence at all times.
