Lasko, Haferbecher End Debate Work At St. Paul

The “Lasko-Haferbecher” combination has finished its final debate season as representative of Central State College. Paul Lasko and Gordon Haferbecher ended their season with the close of the Northwestern Tournament at St. Paul last week.

Both of these men have established enviable records in debate work while in school, and will be lost to the squad by graduation this spring. For the past two years this team has been awarded the Lions Club plaque for excellence in debate. This was made annually to the team winning the greatest percentage of its intercollegiate contests.

Ben, who was captain of the debate squad last year, was president of the Forensic Society this year, and finishes four years of debating activities. Gordon has been active in debate for the past two years and since that time he has worked with his present team partner. Ben was business manager of the debate squad last year and Gordon assumed these duties this year. Gordon is this year’s debate team captain and recently elected a member of the local invitational tournament.

Last year this team won 17 of 23 cases and placed fifth in intercollegiate competition. This gives them a record of 34 wins against 16 losses, and these against the better college teams of the country. They have won debates from such formidable opponents as Carleton College, Hastings, St. Olaf and St. Catherine, Hastings, St. Thomas, St. Cathy, and Carleton have been active in many other student activities around the college.

Gormley Advocates Dancing To Insure Poise, Grace And Dignity

All types of swing from 8:30 to 9:30.

“‘In this busy modern world, 8:15 until 9:30, Miss Gormley has set aside an hour and a quarter for a type of recreation all should enjoy. Modern music is swinging out, from jitterbug to the old style of Grand Waltz. In this busy modern world, leisure takes an added tang. Whether you are in an office, school, shop, or home, you feel the need of recreation when the long day’s work is over. The normal person, who has been using his head, or his hands for the predominating color for the orchestra pit. Adequate space within the ballroom has been provided for spectators. Many facilities for comfort have been provided for the dancers and the spectators including adequate parking space, a functioning air-circulator and a checkroom.

Dancing gives you poise, grace, and dignity. If you are young, shy, and awkward, dancing overcomes your self-consciousness, relaxes your nerves, gives you the needed exercise—and all pleasantly so.”

Is Experience The Best Teacher?
Experience is the best teacher, says the old saw. Its truth depends on the nature of the lesson. When a teacher's experience is one of harm, experience is indeed the best, and sometimes the only teacher. But when learning a lesson entails damage to property, serious injury or death, then experience has applied the rod with a severity that defeats its purpose.

WE LEARN FROM EXPERIENCES OF OTHERS
When safety is the lesson learned, experience is the best teacher only when it is somebody else's experience. The lesson learned when a child's life is wasted on the driver or pedestrian killed in an automobile accident. The experience of months in a hospital or months in the courtroom is only a lesson in how not to conduct yourself for one's education in traffic safety. If we wish to avoid these dire costs, we must apply the experiences of others to ourselves.

ASSIGNMENT
On the occasion of the presentation of the outstanding Pointer Award to Mr. Pater in 1968, Louis Patter closed his oration with the following words:

Two opposing forces are at work in our lives. The one, the law of blood and death, opening each day new modes of destruction, but the other, a law of love, peace, and health whose only aim is to deliver man from the calamities which beset him. The one is man's enemy, the other the relief of mankind. The one places a single life above all victories. The other sacrifices thousands of lives, in one man, one single individual. . . . Which of these laws will prevail, God alone knows. But of this we may be sure, that science in obeying the law of humanity, will always labor to enlarge the frontiers of life.

Fifty years have passed, but world problems remain much the same. Forces of destruction continue to island the welfare of mankind, while science labors to preserve it.

Those who labor in the cause of accident prevention are carrying on in the tradition of the great Peace Corps. These efforts are shared by public officials, public spirited citizens and publicists, educators, engineers and safety experts. They too are engaging the frontiers of life. May their unselfish efforts in this new conquest achieve success, and lead those of Louis Pater and his associates in other social problems a half century ago.

THE WISDOM CORNER

Doc Ben

It seems that whenever some obscure or mundane event in our lives diggs up something that really is news and ought to be commented upon we generally "panniing" matters from all sides. It might be worth re-

Remembering the future that we when we think, we are are guided by the interpretation we are on past experience, our own and other. You may condemn us but the news must out.

When a faculty or student group of that are rubbed, the salient point still remains, if you can't explain your own interference, it was better if you didn't act.

Each year the Iris, it seems, brings into the foreground one of my favorite griping subjects. Fraternity conduct is such that occasionally they forget what makes it possible for them to exist. Whatever organizations through their behavior over a span of years, demonstrate that they would not be forced to the school to further their own ends, it time someone performed a major operation.

Rival groups sometimes become so obsessed with this spirit of face the council. These people, the whole. Obligately they will pursue their course, regardless of the consequences.

To a casual observer the existing feud may seem trivial, but the uninitiated do not know that each other may not be all right. Even when one was stronger than the other, it was still the "devil take the care of the guy that comes between us". The weaker felt that the stronger crew would not ask cooperation but would engage in more subtle but less obvious tactics. These so-called preances are accumulative, gathering impetus for the coming storm.

I fear that there is a violent horserace in the way. It should be forestalled. But the initiative must come from within. It must be the students who hold the key. It must be driven home to every individual member. In the absence of the faculty, there is the obvious place to begin would be the Greek Council. These people should face the fact that if they keep on at the pace they have set for themselves there can be but one answer. They will either be forced to do things that they have worked so hard to achieve and then quarrel between themselves. Or they will begin an effort to work toward a common goal.

Couched with Greek Council initiative, a bit of well-directed faculty cooperation would add power to the solving of this important.

Here's to a happy solution!!!!

Take Listless Game At Milwaukee

On Saturday night, the basketball season came to a close with the Pointers pulling a 23-18 game out of the fire. A Concordia team which was defeated badly by Stevens Point here in the earlier part of the season put up a seaborrn battle all the way through before losing to a titled Point team. We can attribute the Point showing to the fact that they played a hard game against Whitewater the night before.

The half found the Pointers behind by an 8-7 score. During the second half the markmanship of the Purple and Gold showed a great improvement and proved sufficient to gain a victory. The final score of 23-18 just about indicates the difference between the two teams.

For Stevens Point Hank Warr again lead the way with Fred Nielson tying him for scoring honors each making two baskets and three free throws. Last of Concordia was the most patient threat with four free throws.

The whole team started in Milwaukee on both nights of the two day trip.
