

"Mr. Pim" To Be Given December 13

Eddie Theissen For Senior Ball

Once again the first really big event of the year is upon us, the Senior Ball. With this great ball we will greet an old friend of the students of Central State—Eddie Theissen and his ten piece band.

When we last saw Eddie, his band was a new up and coming organization, promising in every way. Since then they have fulfilled all of the expectations of any band, and have been going places in a big way. Eddie has been praisingly accepted at every point where he has appeared. This fall the band has been touring the West, and has played many successful engagements in the leading cities of our Western states. Theissen has just recently returned to his old stomping grounds—that of Wisconsin—where he expects to spend this winter. We imagine, however, from all that we have heard, that he won't be with us for very long, because a band with his style and musical ability is sure to get something really big. It might interest the students to know that with Theissen we have our own Arnie Mossler who we all know was one of the best trombone players ever turned out of C.S.T.C. I think we should all be proud of his great accomplishment.

With Eddie Theissen we see what we consider the leading band of the State of Wisconsin. In 1937 it was Tom Temple, in 1938 Nick Harper, and now in 1939, it's hats off to Eddie Theissen and his smooth "Swain" Music."

Christmas Cantata To Be Presented

The first signs of Christmas spirit will be visible when the Christmas cantata, "When the Christ Child Came", is presented December 6 by the Twilight Music Club and members of the College Men's Glee Club.

About forty persons will make up the mixed chorus. Soloists will be:

Soprano ..... Mrs. Arthur Hetzel
Contralto ..... Mrs. J. Golden
Bass ..... Gerald Torkelson
Tenor ..... Gerald O'Doherty

Accompanists—Mrs. Hubert Ragdsel and Miss Ula Mae Knutson

This cantata deals with the nativity and is treated in a different manner than the usual presentation. Though it is short the message is conveyed in an effective manner.

What It Means To A Young Man To Be A U. S. Citizen

(ED. NOTE—This speech was given at an Armistice Day Program at Tomahawk by a young man who has just become of age this past year. We were so impressed by it that we decided to pass it on to our readers.)

I have been asked what it means to me to be a citizen of the United States—to be able to vote and take an active part in the governing of our country. At a time when the major part of the rest of the world is under the rule of dictators, it can mean only one thing. That is—that we not only enjoy the privilege of self-government—but each and every one of us must accept the responsibility that accompanies this privilege. It takes a catastrophe like the one now in progress in Europe to awaken many of us to a point of realizing just how fortunate we are to be living in a country like our United States. Too many people think their job is finished after they have cast their vote; that there isn't anything more they can do to serve their country. I think you all will agree with me when I say that Germany's most effective weapon entered Poland long before their soldiers and guns. Germany's propaganda machine had undermined the country of Poland. This same thing can be accomplished in any country in which the people allow themselves to be a victim of such tactics. From this we learn an important lesson—mainly that as citizens of a republic our job is never finished. We must

Smith, Rightsell Go To Madison

President E. T. Smith attended a meeting of the committee on small high schools, in Madison, Saturday. Mr. Raymond R. Rightsell accompanied him.

This committee is making a start toward developing a program more suitable for the small high schools than the one we have in effect now. They are looking to the Teachers' Colleges to develop such a program in training their teachers.

A curriculum for high schools that will suit present conditions better is the ultimate object of this program. It is trying to turn out people who can adopt themselves to jobs and a place in the world. The small high schools, which are experimenting with suggestions made by this committee, are known as "cooperating high schools".

Comedy Directed By Mr. Burroughs And Mr. Jenkins

Wednesday evening, December 13, has been designated as the production date for College Theater's three-act presentation, Mr. Pim Passes By, an English comedy by A. A. Milne. The play is under the codirection of Mr. Leland Burroughs and Mr. Warren Jenkins, faculty advisors to College Theater. Two student participants, Jim Unger and Dorothy Sieck, have been chosen as assistants.

Cast Selected

A large number of candidates appeared for tryouts last week, and after much consideration the following cast was chosen:

George Marden ..... George Quandt
Olivia Marden .. Evelyn Murgatroyd
Dinah ..... Madeline Lee
Brian Strange ..... James Carew
Lady Marden ..... Barbara Gerdes
Anne ..... Lucille Neuman
Mr. Pim ..... La Rue Smith

The directors have outlined an intensive rehearsal schedule which is being followed very closely.

Miss Hanley And Marionettes Will Appear Thursday

Mrs. Ethel Salisbury Hanley, with the aid of her marionettes, will present the assembly program, Thursday, November 23, at 10:00 A. M. Mrs. Hanley is not only prominent in the theatrical world, but also in the field of sports. The honor of being the first woman driver of racing hydroplanes in the United States is given to her. In this field of sports, she won many races, and in 1924 Mrs. Hanley was presented a cup for winning the aquaplaning races in Stockholm, Sweden. She has traveled widely in the United States and Europe, and in 1924 was a representative in the United States delegation to the Universal Postal Congress, which was held in Sweden. She was formally presented to the King and Queen of Sweden when she held the high official position of Functionaire Attaché.

The probable program which she will present Thursday is "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs". The seven scenes of this play are: "The Palace Gardens," "Halls of the Magic Mirror," "In the Woods," "In

WE SHOULD GIVE THANKS

Thanksgiving, many years ago, was dedicated as a day of praise and thankfulness for blessings which humans were privileged to enjoy. Today, individually, we have our personal reasons for reflecting, but, in addition this year we have something far greater than the ordinary.

We are living in a land of peace. We are a privileged group of world citizens, who can still live from day to day free of the perils of war. We may turn our time and our energies toward building up our communities and our nation, instead of tearing them down. Young people like us across the water must face each day with knowledge in their hearts that life is uncertain and destruction of everything worth living for is rampant.

For us, as young American citizens, whether Thanksgiving is November 23 or November 30 is immaterial. The feeling should be there just the same. Do not let the confusion over dates rob the day of its significance. Make this day one of real Thanksgiving because we are living in America unmolested, and not in a besieged, war-torn nation.

A THANKSGIVING PRAYER

Dear God:

A whole year has passed since America as a whole has given thanks to You. This year Thanksgiving cannot pass unnoticed. There is too much controversy over the day on which to give You thanks. Help us to see that it isn't when we thank You, but how we thank You, that counts.

To You, looking down from Heaven, the world must seem more mad than ever this year. The madness is our fault. You supplied the blessings.

It has been a good year, God. Thank You for it. Thank You because I found myself this past year. Thank You for America and opportunity. Help me not to let America down.

Thank You for my home, my parents, my brother and my sister. Whatever the coming year brings, the past with its happy memories will always exist.

I thank you for schools such as this and for broad-minded American teachers. Bless them throughout the coming year.

Most of all I thank You that while Europe is struggling with war, America is just struggling with two Thanksgiving days.

Whatever the next year brings, Dear God, may we Americans keep our sense of humor, our sense of honor, and our sense of justice.

Keep us all in Christ's name.

Amen

Editor's note: This prayer was written by a Freshman in Miss Hanna's English class.

Shootin' from the Lip

We have finally become convinced that folks actually read this column. How so? By the criticism we receive, of course. Not only do folks persist in telling us what not to write about, but what to write on as well. By this last I do not refer at all to censorship by those in authority, but to those students about the campus who so very helpfully tell us just how to conduct this corner, not only as to style but content as well.

Of course we know those students have intentions ever so honorable and we welcome criticism. Let it never be said that we can't stand criticism! Not only can we stand it—we can use it. But what gets us an application to the grouch club are those comments that accuse us of propaganda of just ever so many kinds. My gosh, fellas, can't you see further than the end of your noses?

Earlier in the year we promised the reading public all sorts of hints and stuff. Here's one to the men. Wear dark shirts. You can use them day on end without laundering.

Girls, why don't you make it a point to wear dresses at least once a week. Those skirts and sweaters, although cute, should be given a rest once in a while.

We had a special request to make this column funny this week—but we just can't get in the mood when there are so many important issues we wish to air.

How can we get anything from a laboratory course with sixty students in the room falling over one another? It's a good question, but it has no answer other than "We can't". Is our governor a moron completely or does he refuse us funds because he hates to see people educated? He professes to be a self-made man but I don't see why he didn't use a little help. He didn't do too good a job by himself. If he ever gets his mind off cheese and milk long enough to put it on his business he might begin to realize that students need instructors, instructors need equipment, and equipment needs proper housing, and the whole situation needs financial backing. Perhaps if he were to read this, he would make us a colonel.

Everyone in a while we get special requests to dish out publicity to our friends. Ain't it surprising what some folks'll do to get their name in print? They are not really particular what is said about them just so long as they make the papers. There are those too, who really do not like to make the gossip columns at all, but just can't keep out of the lime light. Now, fellers, we couldn't very well say anything about you, could we?

We were going to write on the wearing of corsages at school formals but pressure was brought to bear so we'll postpone it for when we feel good'n ornery.

IN THE MAIL BOX

Dear Editor:

For a long time I have been troubled by faculty members continually keeping classes overtime. Don't they realize we have classes other than theirs?

I, for one student, like promptness, and I can assure you it's no fun to be kept until the last bell and then have to make a mad dash to the Training School. How can we take over a practice class with poise and dignity when we are out-of-breath and hurried? Nor is it fun to run down three flights of stairs and enter a classroom just as your name is called.

Why can't we begin classes promptly and end them on time? Let's hope this brings results.

Irritated student.

Pointers Swing To Hard Courts

With a returning nucleus of several lettermen and a whole team of reserves, Coach Kotal is looking forward to a very successful season. Among the lettermen returning are Hank Warner, who led the Pointers' scoring department last year, and Fe Bohan, speedy guard. Anderson, Belongia, and Bishop are the other returning lettermen, who will be seeing action for their last time under the Purple and Gold. Anderson played here as a Freshman, after which he saw considerable action at Jordan College. Junior lettermen, who are expected to bolster the team considerably are "Snooky" Van Dyke and "Slats" Seffern. "Slats" is beginning to show much improvement already, so it looks as if the pivot position will be well taken care of.

Add to this list the names of Olk, Terzynski, Bagnell, Stein, Posluzny, Trankle, and Klake, and you'll have the list of potential Varsity men for the coming campaign. Terzynski is one of last year's stars and Olk should hold down a forward position. Posluzny and Klake are new men who will be given a chance to prove their ability.

Schedule Not Complete

Although not complete, as yet, the schedule will be tougher than that faced by last year's team and probably will include from 15 to 18 games. Teams which the Pointers are sure to face include: St. Norberts, Mankato, Stout, Concordia, and the regular conference teams. Of these Mankato Teachers' is the only new foe.

The team is anxious to better last year's record and by all signs they should have no trouble in doing so.

SPORTS - IN - SHORTS

All girls interested in sports are invited to attend the W.A.A. Harvest Party, Wednesday, November 22. The place—Old Gym; the time—5 to 6:30. For further details, see the bulletin board.

It looks very much as though girls' basketball will be quite the sport this year. The gym was actually crowded Monday from 4 to 5.

The ping pong tournament is being taken so seriously that Miss Davidoff finds it necessary to ask each participant, and all others who play ping pong, to contribute ten cents for expenses. See her anytime—but soon.

A losing team certainly doesn't dampen the enthusiasm of Wisconsin fans if the Homecoming crowd was any indication. As usual, the various houses displayed decorations of all sorts. Although it didn't receive a prize, the sign that said, "Let's give Purdue Heil" received much favorable comment.

* * *

This department is trying to contact the other school papers in the conference in order to select an All-Conference team. If we get this information we will have it in the next issue.

Just Guessin'

Even though we batted only .667 last week we're going to try our luck at picking winners again. Of the twenty games we picked last week, twelve were correct, six were wrong, and two were ties. Here are our predictions:

Wisconsin at Minnesota — The Badgers play too conservatively—we'll take the Gophers.

Chicago at Illinois—Illinois.

Iowa at Northwestern—Iowa looks plenty good.

Ohio State at Michigan—A close game—The Wolverines are slipping—our choice is Ohio State.

Purdue at Indiana—The Boilermakers should get this one.

Guy Krumm's Kaukauna basketball team gave the local high school a good run last night. Point nosed out the down-state team 28-26, but it was anybody's game right up to the final whistle. If last night's performance was any indication, Guy should have a pretty good year.

* * *

We've been looking over this year's basketball squad to see if there are any good prospects for protests. About this time of year some of the southern schools are racking their brains for protest material. We understand it's part of their training program. Be on your best behavior boys!

So. California at Notre Dame—We might as well flip a coin—Notre Dame.

Pittsburgh at Penn State—Another "slasher"—Pitt.

Navy at Princeton—Princeton.

Harvard at Yale—Always a tough battle but Harvard has the edge this year.

Oklahoma at Nebraska—Our guess is the "Sooners" (We'd sooner leave this one alone).

Colgate at Columbia—Colgate.

Carnegie Tech at Duquesne—We like the home team here.

California at Stanford — California in a close game.

Rice at Texas Christian — TCU should break into the win column again.

Mississippi State at Mississippi U.—State.

Star Linemen To Guide Pointers

At a meeting of the lettermen of the 1939 season, Greg Dorsha, sophomore tackle, and Roy Otto, junior guard, were elected co-captains of next year's football team. Both men played outstanding ball for C.S.T.C. this season and are looking forward to a big year in 1940.

Roy Otto

Otto, whose home is Lyndhurst, came to Point in 1937 after having taught one year. The following year Roy again interrupted his college career to teach school. This fall he returned to C.S.T.C. and enjoyed a most successful season on the gridiron. Besides his football ability, Roy has plenty on the ball when it comes to academic work. One of the most serious-minded athletes to ever attend this school, Otto has consistently high grades. Good luck to you, Roy! We know you'll be a real leader.

Greg Dorsha

Dorsha, who is a Stevens Point boy, starred for the local high school before entering College. This was his first year in college football, but he played like a veteran. Though handicapped by a bad knee the first two games, he broke into the picture in the Oshkosh game. From then on he starred. He is one of the toughest boys to block in the conference and is a bearcat on defenses.

With these two boys at the helm, it looks like a great year for the Pointers in 1940. "Lots of luck, boys."

MRS. PFIFFNER SPEAKS AT RURAL LIFE

Rural Life had a guest speaker, Mrs. Elizabeth Collins Pfiffner at their last meeting. She is a graduate of CSTC, and is now on the faculty of the P. J. Jacobs High School where she is head of vocational guidance.

Gertrude Mohme gave the result of some research which was made in the Division to discover the factors which had influenced members to enroll here.

Philip Anderson read a selection by Lou Gehrig, "Why I Am Thankful", and the meeting closed with a piano duet, "The Beetles", played by Celia Jordan and Laura Schreiber.

U. OF W. HOMECOMING

The University of Wisconsin's homecoming drew several of our students and faculty to its campus last Saturday. The day was sunshiny and not too warm. In brief, it was perfect football weather. The spectators were amply rewarded with a thrilling game which ended in a 7-7 tie.

Those who attended were: Mason Atwood, Richard Larson, Joe Bloom, Morris Anderson, Bill Mailer, Bill Olk, George Cashin, Howard Stimm, George Brooks, and our faculty football addicts, Adele Davidoff and Norman Knutzen.

Of course, a lot of our college football fans who could not get there by road, got there by radio.

NEWMAN NEWS

Sunday morning the Newman Club had its first Communion-Breakfast of the year at St. Stephens' Church. The breakfast was held in the St. Stephens' School.

Dr. Harrington, Superintendent at the River Pines Sanatorium, spoke on the founding of the Newman Club at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Harrington belonged to the Melvin Club, a Catholic youth organization, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin at the University of Wisconsin. It was from this group that he and a few other Catholic classmates formulated the idea for the Newman Club, named in honor of Cardinal Newman, whom they greatly admired. This Catholic youth club has spread to many other colleges of the United States, England, and Ireland. Dr. Harrington stressed the need of religious education in the United States.

The student body and faculty members wish to console Miss Sybil Mason in her recent bereavement. Miss Mason's grandmother passed away at her home in Adams this past week.

The Study Club, led by Ed Lightbody, met at the St. Stephen's School in the afternoon to discuss the Pope's Encyclical on Social Justice. Father McGinley and Father Kabot were advisors of the study group.

The Newman Club will meet Thursday, November 23 at 7:30. An outstanding speaker will be present and short entertainment will follow.

ODDS AND ENDS AROUND THE CAMPUS

Let it be known to one and all that we have a budding diplomat in our midst. He is Glen Gilman. Since the beginning of the school year, he has made two trips to Washington with Congressman Reid Murry, and was present at the opening of Congress.

Mr. Gilman is a whiz at French and is hoping some day to give Ambassador Bullitt a run for his money.

MEGAPHONE

Here goes for another week. I'm probably like the young eighth grader who was kept after school by his teacher because he always used "have went" for "have gone." After writing the proper form five hundred times he left this note, "I have written I have gone five hundred times and have went home." If you don't like my style or what I say about you—say so, but it probably won't make any difference anyway.

It seems one Jim Carew, by name, has quite a girl in Waupaca—saw her the other night Jim, and I tend to agree, but there are plenty of girls who wish you wouldn't be quite so much sold on a one and only.

Friday night seems to have been a great success. Pat Cashin actually fell for Kalkofen—is it romance, or was the floor slippery?

One of our football flashes, Tony Anderson, was down at Madison Saturday for homecoming. It seems the going was all right, but from what I hear he had trouble getting back—now, Tony, you really know you shouldn't get tangled up with those University gals.

The Phi Sig's pride, one Phil Thorson, doesn't like revolving fans—he wanted to throw a tomato at one, Friday night—boy, what a mess that would have been.

Prof. Rightsell claims he's remodeling, but reports have it he lost a nickel last summer.

Well, now that fraternity initiation is over the fraternities won't have to worry about getting so much international publicity—newspapers and everything—Boy, oh Boy.

Well, here's another one for the books too—look out Arvold or you may get Byrne(d)—one never can tell these days.

be ever on the alert to prevent being misled and to combat those whose intentions are to tear down and destroy the ideals which have been molded together to form our government.

Living in America and being a citizen of the United States to me means that I am free. I can vote for representation as I choose. I can voice my opinions on all subjects of interest without fear of persecution. I can worship my God according to the dictates of my heart, and I am free to earn my living in any profession or occupation for which I feel I am best fitted. I am happy to be here today as a full fledged 21 year old American Citizen.

Jim Bray—one of our up and coming young freshmen—seems to go in for swapping—he now has a Point High School ring—Why not stay in the college—You're a big boy now!

I understand that Jim Unger has sold his gun and given up hunting. From all appearances he doesn't need any artillery to bag the game he's training.

Flash—Wally Bartoz, was seen taking pictures of the models in the store windows—what are you doing Wally, trying to make some gal jealous?

Koehn seems to really have his women trouble—Well, Killer, if you would stay in on your weekends things would never develop.

Merv Meverden says there is really nothing like a girl to keep things rolling.

Wonder what a good many people think of the Shawn Dancers now—I was led to believe a good many thought they were sissies before seeing them.

Well, that's all there is for this week, so pardon me while I go out and find Thanksgiving—but getting in a serious mood, we the students of C.S.T.C. really have a great deal to be thankful for on this great day of the year—considering all of the strife and unrest that we see around us.

FOOTBALL SEASON SHOWS FINANCIAL GAIN

The football season this year ended with the largest net gain in the last fifteen years. This gain does not include student fees. The income for home games includes gates receipts and guarantees; the expenditures for home games include advertising, tickets, policing, guarantees, and one-half of officials' fees.

The income from games played away from home is received from the guarantees of the other school. Expenditures for games away from home include traveling expenses and one-half of officials' fees, (excepting Peoria where we did not pay officials' fees).

The Whitewater game has the largest loss due to teacher's convention vacation, making a lack of interest in that game.

Student fees are used for equipment for all athletics plus the bus fee.

terior of Dwarfs' House," "Hall of Magic Mirror", "Interior of Dwarfs' House," and the "Exterior of Dwarfs' House." The characters of the play are: Snow White, Seven Dwarfs, Queen (and witch), Huntsman, Prince Charming, Fawn, Squirrel, Rabbit, and Bird.

Experienced puppeteers assist Mrs. Hanley in controlling the puppets throughout the play. The puppeteers use the "finger-tip control method" in controlling the marionettes which enables a more natural and lifelike movement to be portrayed. Voice, rhythm, and life-like movements in the marionettes are all dependent upon the work of the operators.

"Mr. Pim" To Be Presented Dec. 13

has been appointed Scenic Director. He has charge of all work connected with the designing and construction of the set, which is to be a Victorian living room. The technical crew has already begun work, as much of the flats require recovering and rebuilding to fit the "Mr. Pim" set.

Merville Meverden has been chosen Stage Manager and will have Charles Stoltenberg, Bob Unger, Ken Brenner and Lyle Grambsch as his crew. Lighting effects will be handled by Joe Ophoven, who will be assisted by Lillian Boe, Jack Ackerman, and Bob Burkman.

Davel Makeup Manager

Madelyn Davel will have charge of makeup again for "Mr. Pim", and her crew will consist of: Eleanor Ruchti, Harlow Henninger, Florence Kaplun, Margaret Larsen, and Evelyn Hillert. The cast consists of only seven persons, but the job of makeup will be quite difficult, as the characters are of all ages.

Bob Unger will manage the auditorium, and Evelyn Sonnenberg will be in charge of publicity. Janet Poggemiller has received the position of Property Manager. Her job will be extremely difficult as necessities for this play run up in numbers.

Last Play of Semester

"Mr. Pim" will be College Theater's last production this semester, but another set of one-acts and another three-act is planned for the second semester. Other one-act plays may be given as morning assemblies if conditions permit.

High School One Acts Nov. 23

The 7th district, high school, one-act play contest, sponsored by College Theater, will be held in the college auditorium, Thursday of this week at 2:45 P. M. A small admission charge will be made, however, but all students are urged to attend. Another contest, the regional contest, will be held the first part of December. The winner of the regional contest will participate in the state contest at Madison sometime later.

Gerald Boileau Speaks To Young Progressives

The Young Progressives met on Tuesday evening, November 14. The speaker at the meeting was Gerald Boileau, former member of the House of Representatives. He gave an interesting talk on the repeal of the Arms Embargo and what it means to us. A spirited discussion was conducted after the speech.

Meet Again Tuesday

The Progressives meet again on Tuesday evening, November 28, at 7:30. The meeting will be held in Mr. Nixon's room. The Speaker will be Assemblyman, Andrew Biemiller, of Milwaukee. Mr. Biemiller is floor leader of the assembly. He will conduct a discussion after his speech. The topic for the evening will be Labor and its problems.

WLBL Seeks Talent For Radio

Students, if you have any radio talent or aspirations, here is your chance.

A series of weekly half-hour programs is being planned; only college talent will be used. The time for the programs, to be known as the "Student Round-up", has not as yet been set. Station WLBL is sponsoring and producing all broadcasts.

The programs will feature the best musical and dramatic material the college can supply, together with the weekly college news. It is understood that while all talent is requested to sign up immediately, there is a special opening for a few good script writers and comedians. (We'll see how funny some of the college students really are.)

If you wish to sign up, give your name and particulars to the WLBL information girl, who is daily at the information desk at station WLBL. The studio is located in the north end of the Training School. Use the outside entrance. The first broadcast should be heard within two weeks. Watch for more news.

Importance Of Safety Education

Safety instilled in the child of today will be safety practiced by the adult of tomorrow. The conservation of tomorrow's property is the direct responsibility of today's parent and teacher.

Safety education, properly done, builds character. It tends to develop qualities of intelligence, prudence, resourcefulness and social-consciousness. When we teach a child how to cross a street safely or how to play without being injured—and when we clarify to him the reasons for our methods, we are simplifying for him, the fundamental principles of living.

These principles, understood by him, will encourage his resourcefulness and initiative. His appreciation of the dangers of his everyday life will give him courage in meeting these hazards.

Our radio broadcasts for the coming year have a two-fold purpose: First, to encourage the ingenuity of our students, thus instilling thoughts of safety by placing the responsibility upon their shoulders: Second, to bring our safety program before the eyes of the family as a whole. Safety measures which are being instilled in the child's mind daily, must also be impressed on the parent of today.

The average parent will be constantly vigilant only after he is made to realize the ever-imminent danger to his own child. The moment that the individual realizes that safety is a personal problem, a new soldier is added to the ranks of our Safety Council's army.
