American Education Week Brings Interpretation Of Defense Teaching To Parents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—While America's defense industries run at full throttle and men enrolled in teacher training institutions look toward a period of military training in the near future, teachers and school administrators throughout the nation will interpret the work of the schools in behalf of national defense to over 8,000,000 parents November 10-16 during American Education Week.

Ways and means of training children for life in a democracy will be demonstrated to millions of mothers and Dads in the course of 1940's American Education Week, which has as its theme, Education for the Common Defense. These parents, visiting their children's classrooms, will observe educational practices, meet teachers and school officials, and learn how schools teach pupils respect for and understanding of the principles of democracy. Planned to actively impress the value of education on the public, American Legion, the United States Office of Education, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"World events are making it increasingly apparent that the theme of American Education Week this year was selected wisely," stated President Roosevelt in a statement issued from the White House.

"There is unusual need for the schools to play their part in providing for the common defense," says the President. "Our great public school systems in the States, including colleges and universities, are rendering invaluable service in training men for work in defense activities. But it is more important now than ever before that our schools should give serious attention to the development of an appreciation of our traditional freedoms. What the schools do may prove in the long run to be more decisive than any other factor in preserving the form of government we cherish."

Conditions uncovered in examinations for the draft of the first World War—25 per cent of the draftees illiterate and 29 per cent physically unfit—were the incentive for establishing American Education Week, which was founded in 1921 and is now celebrating its twentieth anniversary. Observance of the event is accompanied in many communities by school entertainments, civic, social, and church group meetings and open house programs.

DEMOCRACY...... NOT DEAD

Democracy in America is not dead. The fact that over fifty million citizens of the United States went to the polls November 5 proves that the American people do not SELECT the leaders of government is being trophied given to the winner exercised more strongly than ever before. The vote this year was greater than that of any previous national election in the nation's history. Perhaps we can attribute to that the nature and character of the issues of the campaign.

To millions of voters the real issue of the campaign was the approval or disapproval of the New Deal policies in regard to internal programs and foreign affairs. To them, continuation of the Roosevelt "type of government" was the important issue before the American people. The spendings of billions of dollars of the welfare of the defense of the nation was given full support by that faction of the American public.

To millions of voters the most important issue confronting the nation was whether or not the third term tradition was to be broken in the face of what we have termed a NATIONAL CRISIS—whether or not it was advisable to keep a man in the highest office in the land for twelve years.

To other millions of voters even this was not the major question. The problem which faced the nation, they claimed, was the failure of the New Deal to alleviate in the eight years of its existence, the economic ills of a depression. To them the election of Wendell Willkie meant restoring to office of a "sane and sound" basis; it meant keeping the United States out of war, it meant diverting the United States from its "path toward dictatorship" to a road of "normal republicanism."

In the face of those conflicting views, President Roosevelt was re-elected and continued his policies for another four years. Despite the huge vote of confidence given him by the American people, an almost equal number of voters expressed the desire for a change in the White House. The twenty-odd million votes cast for Wendell Willkie was the disapproval of nearly one-half of the nation of President Roosevelt's leadership for the next four years. It is significant to note that those twenty-odd million votes were far in excess of the number of votes which elected Herbert Hoover in the Republican landslide of 1928. On the other hand, President Roosevelt's landslide vote in 1936 was greater than his 1932. A close study of the election figures throughout the nation shows a marked tendency toward a change in the political thinking of the American people. We can expect a more complete change in the 1942 elections. Perhaps by that time the margin held by the Democrats will be captured by Republican gains. A change is certain to come whatever the condition of the country at that time.

It is up to every American at this time to forget partisanship for the moment, join with the government in its work ahead. There is much to be accomplished in the months before us; we must strive for SOLIDARITY and UNITY in order to keep our nation on the right road. Partisan philosophy and ideals do not have to be discarded in order to foster cooperation with the administration; it is more advisable to keep alive those beliefs and put them into practice if they will fit in the national plan. Above all we must work for UNITY and PEACE. We must work WITH DEMOCRACY and FOR DEMOCRACY. It is our AMERICAN DUTY: DEMOCRACY IS NOT DEAD IN AMERICA—it is up to us to keep it that way.

PHI SIGMA EPSILON FRATERNITY

On the campus of Kansas City Teachers College in Emporia, Kansas, a group of male students went together in February, 1910, and organized the Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity. Their organization grew until, in 1926, it merged with the Sigma Tau Delta of Kirkville, Missouri, to form Phi Sigma Epsilon of Kansas City. Phi Sigma Epsilon in Pittsburgh, Kansas, they then organized as a national fraternity. In 1958, it merged with Sigma Tau Gamma, a national organization of Teachers College Fraternities, having twenty-eight chapters.

The local chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon was organized in 1919 as the Phi Lambda Phi, in 1931 it was changed to Phi Sigma Epsilon. The Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity has been a national executive branch which meets bi-annually, with members of other chapters.

The aims of the fraternity are to establish and to maintain a brotherhood that shall have for its object the physical, intellectual, and social development of its members.

The Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity has renewed its student honor award to the outstanding Senior man of C.S.T.C. The award consists of (1) an engraved plaque, the winner's name to be on page 6, col. 4-

EXCHANGE BITS

Nine seniors, five men and four women have been nominated by the faculty for inclusion in the 1940-41 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, a national publication to the outstanding students in the various institutions of higher learning in the country. The students are elected on the basis of character, leadership in extra-curricular activities, athletics, society, religion, student government, scholarship, and potentialities for future usefulness to business and society. They are Edwin Denning, Fred Alexander, Margaret L. Gentry, Elizabeth Payne, William Johnson, Owen Bruce Rowlands, Marjorie Case, Beulah Willey, Caroll Echo—Waukesha, Wisconsin

Round in About

Sometime ago we mentioned Max- well Anderson's Journey to Jerusalem and wondered if it were the marking of a new and different era in the Theatre. It wasn't, for the play was not a success. Today we shall venture another prophecy. All signs in the plays now being produced are pointing to the stage. New York is crowded this season with talent, critics, and an audience from abroad. In times of crises be they physical, emotional or psychologial—there is a need for good drama. Often playwrights are apt to bring out their best to meet the demands of those crises.

The Man Who Came to Dinner should lure some of us from our daily routine to the Fox Theater on Wednesday, November 13, when we will see Taylor Holmes as *Woollcott supported by a cast of about thirty members. This is the second stage play to be offered in Stevens Point within a month. The play was written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman, authors of 'You Can't Take It With You.' See you in the balcony Wednesday night.

Ripon College Days prints a review of what they term 'the White- ten light novel,' *Mr. Pim Passes By. Many of you will remember last year's College Theater production of *Mr. Pim Passes By. Now to turn to the cinema. The Great Dictator went over with a bang in Milwaukee. It is an outstanding example of a one-man production. Charlie Chaplin writes, produces, directs, composes the musical score, and acts in the play. He is truly a man of many angles, and nothing he does is mediocre in the slightest sense of the word.

*Alexander Woollcott played the role honorably in the last spring. He is the fellow who remains...

CAGE PROSPECTS FOR POINTERS LOOK BRIGHT

Now that football has become water under the bridge, Central State athletes are bending their efforts toward perfecting their hardcourt antics. Kotal has but three weeks to round into form a formidable aggregation for the coming tilt with the St. Norbert's Knights on the local court. Prospects for a successful season are fairly bright but far be it from us to make any pre-season predictions. (We have in mind our disastrous football finale). However, there is quite an array of basketball talent displaying their talents at the Training School gym. Some of the boys are Ray Terzycki, Ray Warren, Ed Johnson, Carl Jones and more boys with whom we haven't had the opportunity to become acquainted as yet. Those back from last year include J. Bagnell, Bud Valve, B. Peterson, H. Psky, G. Lewison, L. Van Dyke, N. Drucker, P. Terzycki, who was all-conference, Bob Olke, who played the game when those other boys were missing are Fe Bohan, Hank Warner, Slats Seffern, Rube Belongia, and "Red" Smith. Despite the loss of these fine players, the boys help recognize the potential ability of the boys coming back and also of those new boys mentioned. However, we must ever keep in mind that high school ball can't compare with college ball and because of this it will take plenty of good coaching and not little experience to carry the boys over the hump.

GYM ANTIQUES

The Woman's Bowling League is starting tonight, Wednesday, November 13 at eight o'clock. It's not too late to join, girls! Come and we will put you on a team. This first meeting will be spent mostly in organizing the teams and schedules for bowling. Come out and see if you can join.

Women's badminton is here again Thursday at 5:00 P.M. is the last time, and the cost is five cents to cover the cost of the birdies. All of you who haven't tried it be sure to come because it's a great game. Ask anyone who has played it. And it's good for the figure too. There will be a mixed badminton until after Thanksgiving, however.

There's a W.A.A. meeting Wednesday at 7:00 P.M. and we are expecting all of you to show up. Basketball season is open for all girls now, and it promises to be a keen year if one can judge by the interest already shown. The time is 4:00 P.M. on Monday and Wednesday day... so be there.

Katalmen Fail To Match Play Of The Milwaukee Game

The Whitewater Quakers handed the Central State gridders an unexpected 45-12 trouncing at White-water last Saturday, thereby clinching the championship of the Southern Division of the Teachers College Conference. This was the worst defeat that a Point team coached by Kotal has absorbed. The championship fray was predicted to be a dog fight the battle of the season — but it failed to meet these requirements.

The Agnew men rose to their heights and played their best game of the year. In fact, it would be safe to say that it was the game of the season which ever before exhibited by a White-water eleven. They scored more points in this game than they did in all of their other conference games put together and performed like real champions.

A little bit of a Big Ten team would have been defeated by the Pointers on the other hand were at their worst. The spark and scoring power that had carried them through five victories was missing and the breaks went against them during critical moments. The line that had held conference opponents to 19 points and the rest of the season was battered to pieces. Also the scoring power that had accumulated a total of 105 points was lacking.

No direct reason for this humiliation can be stated except that one team was red hot and the other was off its peak. The Kotalmen played the ball they play after taking the champion—erence of the season. This was the worst defeat that a Point team coached by Kotal has absorbed.

The Pointers had defeated Platteville 28-0, Oshkosh 12-0 and Milwaukee 21-19 while White-water defeated the same conference opponents 7-6, 7-0 and 19-15. The home team scored first on a steady march down the field after receiving the kickoff but the Pointers tied the game on two straight touchdowns before the Mil-waukee team scored 484 yards on the next kickoff. After this the Royal Purple gridders tallied 37 points before the Pointers scored 24.

The champions put on a very good aerial attack. Majda was their big gun in the ground weapon but five of their touchdowns were scored on passes. Three seniors — Anton Anderson, L. Van Dyke and Dan Young played their last game for dear old C.S.T.C.

The coach of the conference champions has a cute way of disciplining his football players. Every time anyone of them makes a mistake, he fines him and takes it out of his pay.

Congratulations to Mary Belle Ahlstrom ex-dodo at La Crosse Teachers. She is one of three women in the United States to be admitted to the secondary course under the C.A.A. Program. At the completion of her course, Mary Belle will receive a limited commercial license. She then plans to pile up hours and get a full transport license—something held by very few women in the nation.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Miss Davis Returns To Duties After Operation

We extend our heartiest welcome to Miss Davis who has returned to her teaching duties after a leave of absence for the past eight weeks. Miss Davis spent the greater part of that time in Rochester, Minnesota, where she underwent a major operation. All those who knew her are very glad to see her back and the new students will find it a pleasure to make her acquaintance.

HALLOWE’EN PARTY HELD AT TRAINING SCHOOL

The Training School gymnasium was the scene of a halloween party last Thursday, October 31. The decorations, supervised by Miss Carlsten, were declared to be the most attractive in years. Ghosts and goblins decorated a bright blue background. Bats and black cats hung from a cobweb ceiling, lifesize skeletons and ghosts lurked in the corners while a witch ascended from green fumes.

The primary department held their party in the early afternoon; the intermediate, later in the afternoon.

The costume party given in the evening for the junior high began with a grand march, after which Sally Jerusalem, representing Plenty, was judged the most effectively dressed girl and Stanley Pronz, dressed as a Cake Sally Jersey, judged the most hunchback, was chosen as the most effective boy. Stunts were performed by the girls, and Stanley Pronz. Bats last year, were attractive decorations.
