POINTERS ROMP OVER OSHKOSH TO ASSURE HOMECOMING SUCCESS

Central State finally came into its own in the Homecoming game against Oshkosh. Its 26 to 0 victory over the Gold and White proved this fact. Everything they did seemed to run off smoothly. Their blocking and tackling was sharper and more timely. The backs were running better and the defense was improved, especially on pass plays.

The Pointers scored first on a sustained march with Schmitz going the last twenty-seven yards untouched on an off tackle smash. Schmitz also accounted for the next touchdown smashing over from the six yard line. Menzel and Schmitz set up the touchdown by some nifty running. The longest gain during the drive was a fine twenty yard run by Menzel. The extra point was added by Carnahan after the first score and his attempt at a conversion after the second was blocked. The half ended with Central State well in command, 13 to 0.

Dominating play in the second half, the Pointers scored in the third quarter. Again some fine running by Menzel and Sturm put the ball in position. Sturm hit pay dirt on a nine yard jaunt off tackle and the Purple and the Gold led 19 to 0 after the attempt of the extra point failed.

Educator To Speak At Next Assembly

President Leslie Pinckney Hill of State Teachers College of Cheyney, Pennsylvania, will be our guest speaker at the assembly, Tuesday morning, November 17, at 10 o'clock Dr. Hill is a well-known educator and poet. He is a graduate, A.B. and M.A., of Harvard and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. Hill is a member of the Negro race and will present in an interesting way the aspirations and experiences of his race. He is also a master of singing and directing the singing of Negro spirituals.

DIRECTORY OUT

The student directory is now on sale with special rates to students. Every student needs a directory. They may be purchased from Jim Sullivan, Bob Shorey and the college counter.

COLLEGE Y

"Are We Too Soft to Win a War?" will be the topic under discussion by "Y" members on Friday, November 13 at 7:30 P.M. The meeting will be held in Room 115; all students are invited to attend.

COLLEGE THEATER BEGINS ACTIVITY

College Theater will soon present "You Can't Take It With You". The play has an excellent cast, introducing some new freshman talent, besides a few well-known names.

The play will provide a hilarious evening's entertainment, and be assured that there won't be a dull moment. College Theater plays have always been a highlight in our activities: remember "Our Town", and "Outward Bound?" This time the theme will be much gayer—all about a slightly screwy, but poignantly human American family who engages in a great variety of activities—everything from making firecrackers to executing ballet steps.

Students are working in the many fields of this production—in make-up, lighting, properties, staging—to make this a great success.

Armistice Day Has More Significance This Year

On November 11, 1918 an armistice was declared by the warring nations of the world. Since that date, November 11 has been known as a day for celebrating the end of strife, bloodshed and hatred among nations.

Time has passed—a new generation has come forth to take over new problems that have become more complex and more challenging.

Today on November 11, 1942 we again pause to honor those brave soldiers who fought so heroically in World War I. Today the feeling in our hearts goes even deeper as we think of the present World War II and of the probable outcome.

Will November 11, 1943 bring a solution to these problems? The answer to this will depend upon the ingenuity and stability of each American in doing his part.

On Monday, November 2, Primary Council members met and discussed the constitution of their organization. It was decided that the Christmas party would be held on December 7. After the business meeting, members adjourned to the Rural Assembly where Mr. Frank S. Hyer spoke on the "Education of a Nazi."

Woes O' Hell Week Descend On Pledges

Fifteen CSTC students, both male and female, are anxiously awaiting the coming of Sunday, November 15... the dawning of Hell week. To these Pledges, these six days holding trials and tortures only to be whispered perhaps biligerently among themselves, and in secluded spots, are bridges to be burned only after they cross them.

This week, culminating simple privileges and duties of past weeks, holds the hardships deemed necessary by the respective fraternities and sororities they aspire entering. Fellows with red bow-ties, cow bells, red-lanterns... Girls with varied and different colored stockings, sans makeup and the obvious use of comb or brush (a horrible sight, too,) have been but a few of the hardships of preceding years. And then, too, the fraternities still use their paddles.

Can they take it? Well... the appearance of these sad souls at the Pan Hell dance usually speaks for itself. Shall I say, "Good Luck!"

It's All Over Now, Even The Shouting

The fire is out, the game is over, the parade has disbanded, and in other words the homecoming festivities are for the memory and the records. For the records the following is presented: At the pep assembly on Friday, Hansi Rademacher was crowned queen by Bill Carnahan. At that time Ray Craig was chosen and crowned king of the ho-boes climaxing a day of fun. The cooperation of the students and fac-

FRENCH STUDENTS GET ADDITIONAL KNOWLEDGE ON MONDAY NIGHTS

Is there a foreign settlement in Central State, or what is that language one hears in passing the radio room on a Monday evening?

It is simply Miss Davis, her French students, and others who are interested in foreign languages. They have been meeting in the Radio Room on Monday evenings to listen to programs prepared and recorded by noted teachers of French.

All those who are in the habit of attending these "French sessions" enjoy them immensely. Why don't you come some evening?

The LSA will install new officers at their meeting on Sunday, November 15 in the First English Lutheran Church. The meeting will start promptly at 8:15 and the attendance of all members is requested.

First Ballot Clinches His Election At State Teachers' Convention

The Teacher's Convention was a great source of pride and satisfaction for the members of Central State Teachers College for President Hansen was elected president of the Wisconsin Education Association. His election was decided on in the first ballot by a large majority.

Other interesting business of the teacher's business meeting included the discussing of and the voting on a resolution which stated that since eighteen year old boys were old enough to fight for their country, they were also old enough to vote. Several teachers voiced the opinion that although a boy could be in perfect physical condition at the age of eighteen, he might not be as mature mentally as he is physically. This opinion seemed to be in the agreement with the thoughts of most of the teachers present, for when the resolution was put to a vote it was voted down.

When asked what seemed to them to be the most interesting lecturer at the Teacher's Convention, the teachers interviewed replied almost unanimously that it was Dr. Walter Judd's talk on "The Japanese Psychology of War".

Dr. Judd, an eminent physician, who has recently been elected as a Republican congressman from Minnesota, has had numerous contacts with the Japanese as a result of his work as a Red Cross physician in besieged China. He pointed out that the Japanese warrior is not very imaginative or self reliant, but that

So long for this week!!!

The Pointers will lack experience as many of the boys have not had any previous high school experience, but they have high hopes for a successful season under its new mentor, George Berg.

Of course, the charge can still be made that the counting of the Sophomore ballots was improperly supervised. At least five members of the faculty should have been present, but the Constitution and By-Laws do not say so—yet. In fact, they don't say anything about who, or how many, shall take care of the ballot boxes or do the counting. That's not the fault of this year's Student Council but of last year's charter.

ALL CONFERENCE TEAM CHOSEN BY RASS, DOC

Now that the conference football season was drawn to a close last Saturday the main topic of discussion on the five campuses that comprise the Southern Division Loop is: Who will make the all-conference team? So until November 21 when the coaches release their conference selections at their annual meeting at Madison the sports department of the Pointer will ease the tension and will try to give their readers a preview of what the team will look like.

After carefully reading over our notes and comments, these players were picked. This was done because we thought that these men were outstanding in their positions and played fine ball in all of the conference games.

Homecoming here at Central — the last one for the duration bowed out with honors. Truly it was one of the best homecoming festivities held on the campus in the forty nine year history of Central State. ... Orchids must be given to the student council for the very fine planning and supervision. ... And then again orchids must be given to the faculty, the student body and everybody attached to Central State for their cooperation which was essential for the success. ... Everything functioned smoothly as planned. ... Hobo day, Pep assembly and crowning of the homecoming queen, crowning of hobo king, snake dance, bonfire and the parade on Saturday morning were the attractions that stood out and made this years event one of the tops. ... The homecoming parade which was held Saturday morning was very clever and appropriate for the present day situation. ... A very high percentage of the so called big name colleges and universities with large student bodies cut out all of the trimmings attached to homecoming. Central State proved that they acted too hastily. It proved that such an affair can be put on successfully during war time with the cooperation of everyone. ... The football game which was the main attraction of homecoming waukeee defeated Central State 20-7, Oshkosh 26-0, and Whitewater 3-0. Platteville trounced Central State and Whitewater 20-0 and beat Oshkosh 6-0.

climaxed the success of all of the events that took place. The Pointers really turned on the heat and trounced their arch rivals from Oshkosh 26-0. ... It was too bad that this was the last game of the season because the boys were really coming to their own. ... The team started the season with a small inexperienced squad and a new coach. One fourth of the members hadn't any previous football experience. Despite this handicap and that of learning a new system of play the boys improved from game to game. They improved steadily and reached their normal playing ability in the DeKalb and Oshkosh game. During these two games they played like veterans and in unison. They began to function as a well oiled machine and play together. It is no doubt that it is too bad that their season had to come to an end at this time. If Milwaukee, Oshkosh, and Platteville were to be met during the next three Saturdays of November the result would be different from their first encounter with the same. ... Coach Berg and his boys would have really had some fun out there on the gridiron if their season called for an eight game schedule because the teams to be met following the Oshkosh game would undoubtedly have been defeated.

More Teams Needed For Bowling League

A call for bowlers went out through this paper early in the term. The fellows have been talking about it and some have organized teams. Otherwise, no real action has been taken. If there is to be any bowling league this year, it must be formed now.

Whether or not the league will come under intramurals is just a minor detail. The main thing now is to get started. If you want to bowl, see Dean Steiner or Bob Malecki today. If possible, bowling will start this week.

HANSEN

he has been dominated from birth by the militaristic clique in Japan. He is taught that in order to win this war it is necessary to strike terror into the hearts of soldiers and civilians alike. The atrocities he commits are coldly and calculatingly planned to bring about this end. The only war, concluded Dr. Judd, to bring about the complete defeat of the Japanese is to eliminate the militaristic rulers, a difficult but not an impossible task.

Two other very interesting speeches dealing with the war were given by Stanley Johnson, and Major Alexander Seversky. Mr. Johnson, a Chicago Tribune reporter, gave a graphic and first hand report of the battle of Midway and the sinking of the Lexington. Having been present at these occasions, Mr. Johnson was peculiarly fitted to describe them. Major Seversky, a Russ-Polish engineer spoke of the need for air power in this war, declaring that superior air forces will decide the winner of this war.

Mme. Suzanne Silvercrus excited great admiration not only for her fascinating speech dealing with "Happiness—your own Psychology of life", but also for her deft sculptory, for she modeled a bust as she spoke. Stevens Point Teachers were particularly interested in hearing Mr. Howard Wilson's talk on New trends in the Social Sciences, for Mr. Wilson, who is now a professor at Haryard, formerly taught at the Stevens Point High School. In the art section Mr. Brooks Stevens spoke to the assembled teachers on designing after the war. The household utensils that we now possess will seem as nothing to those that we will have after this war, declared Mr. Stevens, who showed several photographs to prove his point.

The chairman of the Rural Section at the State Teachers Convention in Milwaukee was George Bartell, Co. Supt. of Kewaunee and a graduate of C.S.T.C. Gerald Olson, Co. Supervisor in Taylor Co., who is also a graduate of this school, did a very fine piece of work as a member of a panel which discussed Compensation for the Rural Boy and Girl Because of Lack of Transportation To-day.

One of the main joys of the teacher's convention was the meeting of the many old graduates of C.S.T.C. who attended. Although the hotels were crowded, and many of the teachers had to arrive late because of the rainy weather and the 35 mile an hour limit, these drawbacks were more than made up for in the pleasure of renewing acquaintances with old friends and students.

MENTION "THE POINTER"

Since you brought up the faults of the Student Council, let me say something about that. The Council undoubtedly makes mistakes, particularly of omission, which need correcting, but the first place to go with your criticism is directly to the Council itself. Also, keep in mind that people in glass houses, etc. Criticizing is fun but dangerous.

To The Student Body

In response to the criticism of the Student Council made in this column in a past issue, this organization would like to make a few comments in regard to the point in question, — student elections.

The criticism was made that students who were running for office were in charge of the ballot boxes and were present when the votes were counted. In answer to this, legally, we were at fault, but yet, perhaps the student does not realize how difficult it is to get volunteers to take charge of these duties.

Another point presented pertained to the matter of having students who were not representatives of the council taking part in counting the ballots. It is the opinion of the council that the student body should have some part in these matters, not only because the number of representatives from each class is small, but also because it is a function that should be the concern of the entire body.

We appreciate your criticism, but feel that we deserve your cooperation as well as your criticism.
