Winkler's Parents Give New Books As Memorial To Son

In memory of their son, Aviation Cadet William Winkler, a former CSTC student who was killed in training some months ago, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Winkler of Florence, Wisconsin have sent four books to the college library. They are—Mission to Moscow, General MacArthur, Berlin Diary, and Victory Through Air Power. Others will be added later. Similar gifts have been presented to the Florence Public and High School libraries and form a living tribute. Significant names are bearing the sketch of a plane in black and white are on the inside front cover. On the back cover of one book is printed the following inscription by Fuller Patterson which sums up so well the life of the Bill Winkler we of CSTC knew: A Flier's Philosophy; "It is unfortunate that those of us who love life most, the very ones who so keenly seek to live the fullest life possible, must take to face the choice that in so many cases cut it short."

ARMISTICE OBSERVED BY CSTC AT ASSEMBLY

A silent tribute to the men of World War I was paid by the students and faculty of Central State, Nov. 11 when, gathered in the assembly, they faced the east for one full minute of silence.

Adrian Labrot, president of the student council, introducing President Hansen to the assembly as the newly elected president of the WEA, congratulated him on behalf of the student body and assured him of their support. In a short talk President Hansen said that the theme of education week this year was "Education for Freedom" and asked the students to observe National Education Week. Mr. Hansen also told of the progress made in the field of education since the war.

Dean H. R. Steiner, head of the history department, traced the course of the last war in his address, with special emphasis on the part the United States took in it. He augmented his talk with comments on the present war and comparisons of the old and new wars.

GRADUATES

All students completing a course this semester and expecting to receive a degree or diploma on Feb. 26 are urged to apply for graduation at once this week and make formal application for graduation. If this is not done, it may become necessary to postpone your graduation until June.

Library Features New Books During National Book Week

In honor of National Book Week, the library has placed several new books on display. There are books of every sort — war stories, humor and tragedy, art and poetry—something to suit every student here at college. So arrange to spend an hour or two in the library this week. Look through these books and pick those that please you. Besides being thoroughly entertained you will imbibe a great deal of profitable information. For instance: How much do we really know about our state? Who was the first white man to enter Wisconsin? When did Wisconsin become a state? What did Marion Country Wisconsin originate in? These questions, and many others, are answered in the newest addition to the "Rivers of America" series, "The Wisconsin," written by the famous Wisconsin author, August Derleth.

This book is not a dry array of history. On the contrary, it is, as the writer says, a "vivid, living story of the growth of our state. By reading this book we learn the history of the towns of Wisconsin, and become acquainted with Old Bob LaFollette. Through it pass the big husky lumberjacks, spinning their tall tales of the fabulous ‘hodag’. We can view with the ladies ‘whiskey war’, and chuckle appreciatively at the unprecedented exploits of Paul Bunyan. All in all, this book is one every book lover ought to read. Before its appearance on the library shelves. Readers who like to follow the underground movement is conquered and we admit it! We have no witnesses to use against it. It has that sort of something that we can’t—never will have! Is that fair? We’re licked before we start—we lose before we begin.

We bow down before our masters. At long last the feminine sex is conquered and we admit it! We have to make do. O king of kings, mighty conqueror—You four legged, nickel-spitting monster, commonly known as a pinball machine. —Carmen Brooks

Miss Seghers' book tells of the thrilling escape of George Heister from a Nazi prison camp, while Miss Allbrand’s book shows the Dutch, while seemingly crushed beneath the Nazi’s iron heel, are constantly working against the Germans. Another very famous book on this subject is Steinbeck’s "The Moon is Down;" in this book Mr. Steinbeck graphically portrays the steady cold resistance of a conquered people toward their conquerors. All of these books have been used by N. R. Kampsena in his most recent radio program, "Novels of Underground Europe."

Gals Make Touching Complaint To Men About How That Now?

"The time has come," the Walrus said,
"To talk of many things."
"O, woe is us, the day of doom has come when we fair damsels can walk into the Eat Shop unnoticed! And why, I ask you? Because of something that is fairer than the fairest in the land. It has no shape, no fleet­­smiles, no coy glances of female wiles. No, it’s not a blonde this time, gals, it’s something that has us conquered. We have no evidence to use against it. It has that kind of something that we can’t—and never will have! Is that fair? We’re licked before we start—we lose before we begin."

Phototheaters must certainly read Steinbeck’s "The Forgotten Villager."

BOWLING

Men's bowling starts tonight at 7 p.m. at the South Side alleys. Get your team there on time.

NEWMAN CLUB

War marriages was the topic of an informal discussion by the Newman Club at their regular meeting held Thursday, November 12. All announcements concerning the initiation of new members will be posted on the bulletin board this week.
So You're Going to A Teachers College

You are supposedly preparing yourself to be a teacher—or haven't you really thought about it? If you haven't, it's about time that you did. A modern teacher must not only teach the three Rs, but also must prepare the student to take his place in society and to contribute his share to its improvement.

At the present time there is a deplorable shortage of teachers. No, they all haven't been drafted, nor have they enlisted in the armed forces; many have left their teaching positions for higher paying war jobs. Most likely they thought their teaching was not important.

But there isn't anything that we are still in college can do. After this fracas is over, the need for good teachers is going to be greater than ever, not only on this side of the world, but "over there". In occupied territories of Europe, the men and women who could think and teach the others have been driven away. The greatest minds of modern Europe have been destroyed because the Nazis want only the Germans to be the thinkers. We shall have to prepare ourselves in such a manner that we shall be able to take the places of those European educators. Below we offer an excerpt from Axis Oppression of Education prepared by the Inter-Allied Information Committee. After you read it, think again why you are going to a teachers college.

Early and completely overrun, Poland has served as an unhappy laboratory for Nazi educational theories. The Germans announced with complete cynicism that all intellectual life must disappear from Polish lands and that the Poles be prepared to do physical work and service for the master Germans. Only technical and trade training is permissible, and that not above a certain grade, so that the Poles may be merely useful while the Germans remain the experts.

"Of the 170 professors at the University of Krakow founded in 1560 and the oldest university in the world" who were placed in Oranienburg concentration camp combined, 160 professors and students died in a few weeks. Two went mad. The remainder, released only six months later, have since been observed to be broken spiritually and mentally.

Warsaw University, which had 10,000 students, has been closed since the outbreak of the war. The University of Lublin was destroyed by shell fire. Poznan University lost its professors by way of firing squads and concentration camps but has since been reopened as a German seat of learning where Poles are not admitted.

Dorm ditties

"Fresh paint!" was the echoed exclamation last week when the living rooms were given a re-carpeting. New drapes, the dormites' own selection, have been ordered, and 'tis rumored that several new pieces of furniture are to be added.

In recognition of his recent election to the presidency of the WEA, President William C. Hansen will be honored at a combined testimonial dinner and scholars' banquet, to be held Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock at Nelson Hall.

No "pointer" next week and fifty guests are expected, and all members of the CSTC faculty have been invited to attend.

On Thursday evening November 21, at 6:30 o'clock a formal Thanksgiving dinner will be given for the dormites. This is the first of three formal dinners scheduled for this year.

The girls want to take this opportunity to thank everyone who in any way contributed to the success of the last Tuesday evening. Proceeds from the party will help make it possible to complete the payments on the new phonograph in the Recreation Room.

Mr. Albert Harris
College Faculty

Dear Mr. Harris:

I was very much interested to see your article appearing in last week's Pointer. I feel obligated to answer your statement in view of the fact that most of them left the wrong impression, or worse, do not give any indication of the thought and effort which must have gone into your memory, here is a brief outline of what you said. The effectiveness and value of your statements I will leave to the judgement of the readers of the Pointer after making a few clarifying statements of my own. You say:

1) I don't like to be called a college sophomore.

2) The counting of the ballots was improperly supervised.

3) The election process does not have any provisions as to how elections should be handled.

4) This is the fault of those who wrote the constitution last year, not the present council.

5) Don Walker did a poor job on the council last year.

6) All criticism of the council should be taken directly to the council itself.

In regard to your first point: It was stated in order to correct my remarks which appeared running for office counted their own votes. Your first point makes it clear that only one counted his own votes.

If you want to get by,

When those tests are nigh,

If you want to get marks,

And not fed to the sharks,

Just pull up that collar,

Hang onto your dollar,

Drop out of Joe's!

Good luck to the pledges. A plea to the Eashop. How about staying open for awhile Saturday morning to serve the post formal refreshments?
INTRAMURALS

The winter intramural program is fast becoming organized by Coach Berg and the table tennis tournaments and basketball games are to be held the first week in December. Many activities are being planned for all the men in school such as badminton, basketball, golf tournaments, and others suited to the fellows. All interested should sign up on the bulletin board outside the Coach's office.

The Bowling league has been organized with four teams entered. Two more teams are needed and any one interested is urged to see Coach Berg so that two more teams can be entered. The four teams to date are the Chi Delts, Phi Sigs, Faculty Spares and Faculty Splits. All matches will be bowled at the south side alleys on Wednesday nights, 7 to 9 p.m. The schedule for Wednesday night pairs the Spots with the Phi Sigs and the Spares with the Chi Delts.

The principle involved is the same. Mr. Harris, no matter what the number of counters involved person ally in the elections might be. Therefore your first point has no bearing on the question at all. Of course agrees heartily with your second statement. You may remember that it was the one I made! Your third contention is correct. There are no rules that have been specifically laid down to govern the conduct of an election. It seems painfully evident, however, that any person in a disputable position would realize that it is not correct for a candidate to count his own votes! I know that there were not enough faculty members present to help you in the supervision of all the counting, but the specific case involved is the one which you were in direct charge of. Thus if your rules black and white would be more in order, it would seem that this gross error could have been detected without the aid of specific instructions.

BOOK WEEK

"Disney", and in Ruth Harris's "Techniques of Sculpture". The first book gives a survey of the Walt Disney studios, from their small beginnings to their present magnitude together with an account of how each cartoon is planned. It contains many colored plates and several diagrams. The second book gives many practical hints about finishing and polishing surfaces, mixing colors, and designing.

Biography fans will hail with delight the appearance of Van Loon's "Lives". In this book Mr. Van Loon entangles the great figures of the literary and historical world at a series of dinner parties. Chopin, Emily Dickinson, and George Washington gathered together at one table make for very lively conversation, and very interesting reading.

The poetry of this war gives every sign of being very fine, as readers of "Poems of this War" will testify. This book, edited by Patrick Leonard and Colin Strang, contains much poetry written by our younger poets. A thoughtful reader will find much that is beautiful in this little book.

A respite from the war can be found in Hartzell Spence's new book, "Get Thee Behind Me." This book, like "One Foot In Heaven", enlarges on the trials and tribulations of a preacher's son.

Devotees of the mystery book will be delighted to find that three mystery stories have been brought into the library. They are: "They Tell No Tales", by Manning Coles, "Fear Stalks the Village", by White, and "Murder Radio" by Forrest Peterson. All of these are as bloody and as murderous as could be wished, and guaranteed to keep the reader in a pleasant state of spine chilling suspense.

These books and many others will be allowed to circulate soon, so watch for them!
