WAR Time PAN-Hell DANCE SATURDAY

College "Y" Gets New Impetus At Dinner Party

Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Lycenas were hosts at a dinner party held in their home Sunday afternoon, March 14, with several students and cadets as their guests. After a delicious dinner, served buffet style with the help of several co-eds, Dr. and Mrs. Lycenas stated that the main objective of the get-together was to renew the activities of College Y, which organization they have guided as sponsors since its inception last year. Due to the many losses in our student body, several of its officers have been forced to resign their duties and as a result, the activities have lagged. At the gathering Sunday it was suggested, and adopted unanimously by the group, that there be another meeting with a discussion on the subject, "Are The Movies A Menace?"

Miss Gertrude Rondeau was appointed program chairman for the group by Miss Rachel Eide, president, after a unanimous vote of nomination by those present.

The afternoon closed informally with group singing led by Miss Rondeau and Pvt. Morris K. Clough, baritone par excellence.

ONE-ACTS PRESENTED BY JR. HIGH SCHOOL WELL RECEIVED

Last Friday evening the curtain rose for a program of one act plays presented by the Senior Dramatic Club of the Junior High School. Their performance would have done credit to many an older and more experienced group. Staging and lighting were under the direction of College Theater assisted by the NYA stage crew.

Marjorie Nelson directed a patriotic play "Land of The Free." Iris Precourt directed a light farce "Yellow Tulips," and Glendy Chapin produced the hilarious "Selma Goes Psychic." Between-scenes music was furnished by Jerry Kitzrow, Barbara Peterson, Betty Spindler, Nancy Walker and Lynette McCarr.

A novelty number directed by Iva Marie Wood was a modern feature of the evening's entertainment.

Debate and declamatory contests are now in full swing at the Jr. High School. Students interested in speech work who would like to help prepare and coach declamations are urged to see Miss Bensent or Mrs. Catnaw who are in charge of the contest.

Chaplain: My man, I will allow you five minutes of grace before the electrocution. Condemned man: Fine, bring her in!!

NEW BOOKS ARE NOW HANDY IN LIBRARY

by Iris Precourt

The CSTC library has recently added some new books to its collection which should be of interest to the student body and to the army trainees. These are now in the special-Leisure Reading Section.

"This Great Journey" is the autobiography of Jennie Lee, British social worker, while "Cousin William" is another in M. P. Della Lutes' series of family portraits. "Listen, Hans" is Dorothy Thompson's appeal for common sense and humanity in post-war planning. Louise Kent has combined tantalizing recipes with invigorating philosophy in "Mrs. Applegard's Kitchen." Robert Standish heads the fiction group with "The Three Bamboos," his novel of Japanese life.

ALPHA KAPPA RHO

Alpha Kappa Rho, honorary music fraternity, met at the home of Peter J. Michelsen March 8, 1943. New pledges who were informally initiated then are Gertrude Rondeau and Roger McGallum.

Another highlight of the evening was the installation of the new treasurer, Neosha Stay, who is taking over Johnnie Edwards' duties.

SHURE 'TIS O'FLUGAUR WRITIN' ON IRISH SHENNANIGANS AGAIN?

Is it spring that has come to our campus, or is it just the green that the Irish are wearing that makes everything look so summy and gay?

Faith, and if ye aren't lucky enough to have a bit o'Irish blood in your veins on St. Patrick's day, ye might as well go out and hang yourself, for all an Irishman cares about it.

'Tis the Irish that are the best singers, the best drinkers, and the best fighters in the world, and any man who disputes this day be goar! He'll be knocked down and carried out before he can count to three.

Which all goes to show that the Irish are a great institution, and, as old Irish grandmother used to say, there are only two sorts of people in the world: The Irish, and those poor devils who aren't Irish but wish they were!

Florence O'Flugaur

Notice!!

If you do not keep your old copies of the Pointer, please turn them into me. They will be sent to CSTC alumni who are now in the armed services.

SOLDIERS INVITED AND SOLDIERS INVITED UNDER REVISED SET-UP

In a statement issued today, Myron Sharkey, president of the Hellenic Council, announced the long-awaited plans for the bi-annual Pan Hell dance staged every semester in honor of the erstwhile pledges.

This semester, due to the radical changes necessary in all phases of college life as a result of the ever-widening course body, and because of the admission of our ranks as students here of the army trainees, it was felt that new conditions demand a new treatment. Accordingly, the Pan Hell council has drawn up the following specifications:

1. Any student of the college may attend, with any escort of his or her choosing.
2. Any member of the 97th Detachment, with any escort he may choose, is urged and cordially invited to attend. This includes all officers and their wives and is extended to those officers who have not as yet taken the "fatal plunge!!"
3. The admission price, including federal tax, is fifty cents per couple.
4. Couples only will be allowed to attend.
5. This is a formal dance, which means that women dress formally, and all men may or may not, as they wish.
6. Benny Graham will furnish the music.
7. Dancing is from nine to one.
8. It will be held at the Hotel Whipple.

This will definitely be the last formal affair to be held during this school year, and, in addition to our students, it is hoped that we will have joined us in our studies here with an insight into our social life at its best, we are very anxious to make this last formal dance of the year one which all students who attend can look back on as being the best of all. With your help this will be possible.

Myron Sharkey, President Pan Hellenic Council.

NOTICE!!

All students or Cadet who is interested in writing for the Pointer, come into the Pointer office any afternoon this week.

Robert Malecki
The Old Gray Mare

Beginning with this issue, the Pointer changes its status from college newspaper to part college paper and part record of events in the lives of the soldiers who have become a part of CSTC. You will see these changes in the columns of your paper. Hereafter a proportionate share of the news space will be devoted to Army news, much of it written by Army reporters and all of it censored by Army officers. These men have contributed their share of the cost of production and as a result, have these concessions coming to them.

Changes will be evident in the advertising material you read in the Pointer. Some of it will be directed to all readers of the Pointer, some to you students only, and some to you soldiers only. Quick and necessary adjustments are being made, and more will have to be made before a satisfactory balance can be maintained.

It is our special plea at this time that both students and soldiers bear with us while these changes are being made evident. Reporters must be found from the ranks of the men in training here—some literary efforts of the soldiers appear in this issue; more, we hope, will be forthcoming. We are anxious to give you soldiers a clear word picture that can be preserved for the events that take place during your stay here. Your own write-ups will serve that end more effectively than if some outsider should do the writing.

We wish to extend our special thanks and gratitude to those soldiers some of whom contribute their subscription fee to the publishing fund of this paper. We hope that our efforts to give you a good newspaper will be successful. We wish also to express our appreciation to Captain Phillippo and his staff for the excellent cooperation received from them while making arrangements to bring this paper to the soldiers. Without that help none of this would have been possible.

It's two to one that if we mentioned the winter weather in March it will be nice the day the Pointer comes out. We can't pass up the opportunity to mention the snow and cold. We hope it gets warm for the Kenny. We wish that you could be right here.

There was a poor little boy in the neighborhood and after I had been to Sunday school one day listening to a stirring talk on the beauties of charity, I gave them to him. Then I went home back and cried, but Mother said: "Don't cry, Bertie; some day you'll get your wooden soldiers back."

And believe me, you lopsided, lumpy headed, goofy brained set of certified rolling pins, that day has come!

He bid his girl goodnight. The color left her checks. It stayed upon his coat lapel. For six or seven weeks.

"I hear you had a wrestling match with the top sergeant. What happened?"

"I decided to surprise him, so I jumped at him and grabs his wrist, and jerks his neck like this, and before he knew what hit him I'm flat on my back."

Pete: (Visiting hospital patient) Do you know, old man, that's a swell looking nurse you've got there?

Jack: I hadn't noticed.

Pete: God! I had no idea you were that sick.

"We don't mind drill so much but those calisthenics!" These are the words that were heard very often last week. Could it be that coach Berg has his physical fitness program going at top speed? Basketball relay, sit-ups, crab-crawls, and wrestling are just a few of the gymnastics that are doing their part to deteriorate that soft roll that the cadets acquired during their first week of lounging here at Central State. We might tell Coach Berg to take it a little easy on the boys because they do have double-decked bunks to crawl in and out of each day. Several skinned shins have been the order of climbing into bed with stiff muscles.

Seems as though Student Cadet Brodbeck is having his troubles too. Bob saw the State boys using the leather (boxing gloves) the other day and his hands became as itchy for those pillows as a gambler's fingers for dice when he has broken ground in his pocket. Maybe a little of Bob's background and the fact that the air corp doesn't permit them to box will explain his wilderness man. Modest Bob wouldn't talk very much but from the data obtained he doesn't need to talk, his records speak for him.

His actions show he has the blood of a fighter born in him. And why shouldn't he have? For his dad was none other than the fighting man "Mike" Brody. "Midget" Mike fought from the year 1921 to 1927 in the flyweight division at 112 pounds. During this pugilistic period he fought and beat the champ of the Navy at that time. You do remember, some of you, that the decision of the fights then was made by the papers, usually the next day. That was just one of the highlights of his career. Another was that same Mike Brody fought Fedele La Barba for the flyweight championship of the world. The newspaper has given for a couple of judges then.

Now that's a little of the background of this one Robert Brodbeck we are speaking of. Here are some of the records this little boy can boast about. His fighting career started in high school where he posted his first record on the wall. Following in his father's footsteps he fought his way to Bradley Tech. There was his second record. His next was the battle of his life. This kid didn't let that bother him; he just went out and won the championship at that weight at Bradley Tech. That was his third record. His next was the battle of his life to the golden glove feather-weight championship of the state of Illinois. Another record he let us in on is the winning of 18 out of 19 amateur fights. Oh, he lost one? He doesn't feel badly at all about that one because that one he lost to the AAU champ of the state of Indiana who has since turned pro and is going great guns. Oh! Girls are you wrong! He doesn't have a pet rose or cauliflower ears, he's a smooth talker and a nifty on the dance floor. And fellows if he likes your See SIDELINES, page 4.

Cadet Robert Becker and wife, formerly Kay Bowersock, were in Point last week-end. Also "Sport" Anderson was here for a day and expects to come back, probably for Ben-Hell, before going to his next base. More news should be good after Saturday night.

Coach Berg also tells this columnist that Student Charlesworth is a basketball player of note. Trying to get these soldiers to talk is like asking for a second cup of coffee.

The rusty showers are not the cause of the red headed fellows here. That red hair is real.

Rumors have come around to the effect that Squadron A has the big money on them in the intra-army games. Phi Sigma Epsilon is still cause of the red headed fellows here. That red hair is real.

Then too, we have that man Morris Clough, the Nelson Eddy of Nelson Hall—also Lienckcki, the civilian hater. All these boys make up a swell bunch of men—no kidding.

In case you run into one of Brodbeck's boys just see Captain Reed. He is not only a first rate doctor but a peach of a fellow. See you at the Pan Hell.

BOOKS

the famed Hemmingsway style. "Days of Ophelia" by Diamont, is a charming and natural story of Mexican life. Ruth Suchow has given an exceptionally fine portrayal of childhood in a small town in "New Hope".

Prolific Christopher Morley has completed "Thorofare", one of his saner books, but with touches of his vibrant humor still apparent.

The table directly in front of the charging desk is reserved for special exhibits following seasonal leads or themes of assemblies and other college events. Information on wartime services and opportunities is available at the library. Come in and enjoy these new books, soldiers and students!!
