St. Olaf's Choir Will Sing Here

St. Olaf's choir, famous musical organization from St. Olaf's college in Northfield, Minnesota, will present a concert in the Emerson High school auditorium on Wednesday evening, April 12. The choir, which has a wide reputation, is under the direction of F. Melius Christiansen, and Olaf J. Christiansen is the associate director.

Tickets for the concert, which will begin at 8:15 p.m., are on sale at Taylor's Drug stores.

Wins Prize For Radio Production

Elaine Johnson of Iola, a 1941 graduate of the two year Rural-State Graded school, recently won a $225 prize for a radio play which she wrote. The play was broadcast last Wednesday evening over station WBBM and other Columbia Broadcasting stations and was a part of the "Dr. Christian" program, which is on a nation-wide hookup. The script was called "My Brother's Keeper", and acting the leading role was Jean Hersholt, star of the "Dr. Christian" program.

Miss Johnson, who was active in WAA, Rural Life club and LSA while she was in college, is now teaching the first four grades in the Harrison Center State Graded school near Iola.

Cartoonist, Former Student, Signs Contract

"Glad to hear that the St. Olaf's Choir students have been enjoying some of my efforts in the Saturday Evening Post", Cartoonist Arnie Mossler wrote recently. "Future issues will be showing quite a few more of my cartoons. Also—have just had the good fortune to sign a five year contract with United Features Syndicate for a daily newspaper cartoon to be released about June 5."

Mr. Mossler, who went to CSTC during 1938-39, has recently had several cartoons published in the Saturday Evening Post. An exhibit of cartoons he drew while a student in Miss Edna Carlsten's art class is now on display in the passage leading to the art room on the second floor.

Mr. Mossler has been in the army for about 10 months, and is stationed at La Guardia Field, New York, with a transport command band. His latest creation, he declares proudly, is his best. It's his little daughter, Judith Ann Mossler.

Pupils Contribute To The War Effort

Miss Bessie LaVigne and pupils of the Demonstration school are contributing a large portion of their time to aid the war effort. They are collecting waste paper, tin, scrap iron, rubber and grease and turning them in at their places. All tin cans from the local hospital are collected by the students. Last year they collected over 60 pounds of grease.

The pupils of the Demonstration school belong to the Junior Red Cross and are now making connectors for army mess tables. They also hold a weekly war stamp sale.

Basket lunches are served by Miss LaVigne and pupils of the Demonstration school. Names are exchanged so that the boys hear from many different students during the year.

Easter Concert Well Attended

The collegiate auditorium was filled last evening for the third annual Easter concert presented by the Girls' Glee club and college orchestra. The program of sacred music helped create a spirit of the Easter season and was enjoyed by the large audience. Appropriate stage decorations were six large candles, three on each side of a large white cross. The background was purple and gold curtains.

Former Cadet Killed

Aviation Cadet Lynn Springer of Council Bluffs, Iowa, was killed on Saturday during a cross country flight in advanced flight training at Luke Field, Phoenix, Arizona.

A/C Springer was a member of the 97th CTD last spring and was in the first group to leave Stevens Point, in May. He was classified as a pilot at Santa Ana, California, and would have graduated on April 12.
Chit 'n Chat by Jane-

We certainly could use a good course in the detection of propagada here at CSTC. Rumors here, rumors there. We sure are getting worried. After all, we are going to have any men left here or not. Only time will tell—surely not the Army. It’s nice to have Jimmy Fritsch around again. The Navy has treated him kindly. We especially like your haircut, Jim. Copied from Mr. Mott, no doubt.

Another of our sailors was home for the weekend. Terry Menzel was here to make things a little gay. Oh yes, Johnnie Mase was around this week, too. Surprising how chummy he and Perc. are.

It seems that Stevens point does not have enough men. Margaret Kautson’s interest seems to shift from Point to Amherst. Is that nice, “Knute”?

Once again we can hear the wedding bells ringing at CSTC. This time it is Doris Belongia and A/S Bob Painter, who are going to walk the aisle. Congratulations and good luck to both of you!!

Judy Graham is bubbling with joy and certain that she is the luckiest girl in the Army, and favors Buck Private school! O, Judy, have fun while you still have him around.

Who has been stoned with Ekkrit’s diamond? Could it be that she prefers one of the CSTC trainees?

Dorothy Scharf is happy, too, because Eddie has come back for a visit. Those Sgt. stripes look mighty nice, Dorothy. Pretty nice when they can get back to CSTC once in a while, right?

We wonder what makes Betty Stange’s weekends so exciting that she can’t get back in time for Monday morning classes.

If the Army doesn’t change its mind there should be some fun to come at the graduation banquet and dance. Did I say graduation? Sorry, fellows.

The Navy seems to be swelling up with pride. Good luck to our school! Now Instructor Robert Henry Rifleman is waiting to leave as an officer. What, no more Campus Varieties? It may be, though, that it will be better. Rifleman if that mailman doesn’t get here in a hurry.

What must be some strong attraction in Stevens Point to cause Arleen Sicklinger to want to spend the Easter holidays here.

Girls, here’s the answer to the question of “how to hook your

Announce Contest Winners

Nanette Timmer of the seventh grade and Howard Campbell of the eighth grade won first in this second place, respectively, in an oral reading contest held at the ‘Training school on Thursday. The winners were awarded engraved identification bracelets.

Miss Marie Swallow judged the nine contestants, three from each of the upper grades.

Strictly G. I.

The title of this column is G. I.—how true. Might I add, that’s exactly where we’re headed. Of course you all know, no use repeating.

In closing, we’d merely like to say that we’ve enjoyed it—really folks, you’ve no idea. We were just out drifting on the sea, and the 967th (CSTC) beckoned, and we answered.

Now it’s time to leave. It’s been great fun, it’s meant a lot, but good things can’t last forever. Now it’s time to fight this war, and back to the fray we go.

Know you, everyone of you, that during these days and nights to come, we’ll think back and reminisce over these “college” times. And if it helps you, we want you to know that it helped us, and we’re deeply grateful for all.

Thanks, everyone.

King’s statement. “You should know them in civilian life before you make decision you’ve known them before, well ok”

Donna Pett Pearce, now on her honeymoon, might be quoted as saying, “Yes, I definitely believe in war marriages. I don’t get here in a hurry. Resolved, to marriage”, says Harriet Bemis. “It depends so much on the two people involved and their circumstances. To these short and hasty marriages, I’d say no. But if two people really know each other, I’d say OK.”

Doris Belongia, speaking for herself and A/S Bob Painter, Rockhill Furnace, has the answer. They are all right by me—so you’ll probably see in the near future.”

A/S Jack Quast, Ontario, Oregon, discusses completely, why, by stating that “Your mind is in an unsettled state during war time and you really don’t know what you’re doing.”

Act In Haste......

Johnny Mase of the Navy pleasantly surprised his friends at CSTC by coming home on furlough last week. Johnny, who is stationed at Minneapolis, is leaving today. Good luck!!

Lieut. Dick Larson, somewhere in England, says hello to all his friends at CSTC. Dick, like so many other of our absent students, looks forward to receiving news of his old buddies.

Ensign Len Ropella of the Navy writes a letter that’s just as good as a “coke” advertisement. He says, “We got our first taste of Coca Cola this week, and it seemed like Old Home Week. We happened to pull into a port where they had some so we got enough on board so that the every one got two bottles of it. We hope we will be able to get some more. The specialties here are Vino and Champagne. The latter is good once in a while.”

Len is back on board ship again. His skipper went to school at Ripon, Wisconsin, so it’s like being right at home.

Cpl. Don Becker, in an interesting letter from India, mentions casually that Indians favor poison for murder, by a ratio of 3 to 1. The poison is common in the plant growths of the country, and very easily available. The cause behind the murders is much the same as anywhere—the eternal triangle.

Don has been attending lectures on Indian customs, and should be quite an authority on Indian affairs when he returns. A recent package of POINTERS which reached Cpl. Becker left him a wonderful letter. “I read everything—even the ads!” he writes.

Rate Contestants In Forensic Meet

Stevens Point won a first place in the high school forensics contest which was held at the college last Wednesday. Barbara Razer, a sophomore at P. J. Jacobs High School, received an A rating for her rendition of "Paris Underground," a dramatic declamation. Other winners in dramatic declamation were James Rounb, Tomahawk, and Dorothy Kanneburg, Loyal.

Those who received A ratings in humorous declamations were Audrey Reistad, Rib Lake, La Verne Anderson, Wautoma, and Donna Uekert, Edgar.

In extemporaneous speaking A ratings were given to Carol Shipman, Rhinelander, Paul Larson, Scandinavia, David Laird, Marshfield, and Douglas Witzeling, Edgar.

Winners in extemporaneous reading were Helen Leney, Wausau, Nadine Galbraith, Oxford, Jean Abel, Wisconsin Rapids, and Jack Gleason, Port Edwards.

Winners in oratory were Jack Jupiter, Rib Mountain, Marcel Sauer, Bowler, and Earl Scherburne, Weyauwega.

Continue At Madison

Victory orations, which were original orations on the war effort, were a new division in the contest this year. A ratings in this field were given to Robert Verde, Wautoma, Ronald Nelson, Colby, and Alvera Missling of Loyal.

These winners will participate in the state contest at Madison on April 17-18. More than 60 contestants took part in the contest held here in Stevens Point. Leland M. Burroughs of the college faculty was in charge of local arrangements, and members of his speech classes acted as hosts to the contestants and coaches. The home economics department served lunch for the out-of-town contestants and coaches at noon.

Show Navy Movie

A full-length sound movie, AN-NAPLES FARWELL, is being shown in the college auditorium this afternoon. This is an authorized picture showing the training of midshipmen in the traditions of the academy with story element predominating. A retired commander sets an example of fortitude as his old ship is sunk in target practice.

Mervin Miller spoke on “Eggs for Victory” at a Rural Life club meeting on Monday evening. Mervin, a junior at P. J. Jacobs High school, won the local and league FFA speaking contests and received fourth place in the district contest at Wau­ pac.

His mother, Mrs. Cecil Miller of Bancroft, a former CSTC student, spoke about her experiences while in school here and gave some sound ad­ vice. She is a charter member of the Rural Life club.

Marian Carl read a group of three poems appropriate to the Easter sea­ son.

Lillian Kunes accompanied at the piano for community singing. The president, Ethel Anderson, was in charge of the meeting.

Speaks Before Council
Mrs. Caryl Humphrey, cosmetician at a local drug store, spoke to the members of Primary Council on the rules for health and beauty at a meeting held last Monday evening. Candidates for the offices of Primary Council for the next school year were announced by the board during the business meeting. The candidates will be voted on at the next meeting.
