Gals' Glee Club Entertains Schools

A bus load of girls from the Glee club went on two trips last week. On Tuesday, April 18, the bus left the college at 9:30 a.m. arriving at Nashville in time for the band to be served by the home economics department. Miss Anita Campbell, who graduated from CSTC in January, is now in charge of the home economics instructors there. After dinner the girls sang for a full high school assembly. In the evening a concert was presented in Wittenberg where several former CSTC students are teaching. Charlotte Reichel, an alumna teaching there, directed a number on the program.

Serviced Dinner

A different group of Glee Club girls went to Port Edwards, Thursday, April 20. A dinner was served by the high school home economics department, after which the girls visited the home of the modern and well equipped school. The concert was at 8 p.m. in the auditorium, where the girls visited the Paper Mill after the concert.

Peter J. Michelsen, head of the music department, announced that there would be one or two more concert trips this year.

AVIATION STUDENT AND INSTRUCTOR KILLED

Aviation student Clifford R. Sabo, of the 97th College Training Detachment, and his instructor, Robert L. College To Share Part Of Expenses

A trip to the blood bank at Milwaukee was planned for college students at a meeting of the Student Council held last Monday evening. The trip to Milwaukee will be in the school bus, and college funds will be allotted to pay for the actual traveling expenses, and other expenses must be paid for by the donors taking part.

Date Not Definite

The date for the trip has not been set definitely, but it will be some time in early May. Students are asked to watch for notices on the main bulletin board on the second floor. Since the bus holds only a limited number everyone who goes must have a certain amount of interest to determine whether or not he is fit to donate blood.

Name Committees

Further business at the meeting included the appointing of Student council members to work with the faculty on various committees. Marilyn Boyce, Joyce Ratke, Betty Pohiman, and Rose Marie Hevers will work with the faculty on the social committee. The officers of the Student Council, Student Body, and Student Body executive committee, will work with the faculty in the social activities.

College Theater To Give Comedy

STAR-STRUCK, an all-star comedy act, will be presented by College Theater during the regular assembly period at 19:30 a.m. on Thursday, May 4. Phyllis Eckels will direct the production, the following students are on the cast: Judy Graham, Hazel Tiftettis, Barbara Felker, Betty Pohiman, Ellythe Oftant, Virginia Clark and Gertrude Heke.

Judges Music Contests

Peter J. Michelsen judged a music festival at Tigerton, where five bands competed to April 26. He will be a critic at a concert by the Weyauwega High school on Friday, April 28. The next day, Saturday, April 29, he will judge a festival at Colby, where five bands participate.

Are women gold-diggers?

Roger McCullum: It is about a 50-50 proposition. Watch the 50 that are.

Jeanie Catarrach: As a rule I don't think girls are gold diggers, but there are exceptions to every rule.

Kay Hansen: Depends on the woman.

Charlotte Pressentin: The majority of women are not, but there are some.

Rose Marie Howes: Who wouldn't dig for gold if it was in sight?

Amnon Warden: I haven't met one. Maybe I'm lucky.

Percy Voight: The majority of girls are gold diggers, but an occasional exception is sometimes seen.

Joan Joosten: Are you kiddin'?

Edythe Ofstun: Ain't it the truth.

Lieut. Bill Nikolai: I can't say. As far as women are concerned I have had insufficient experience with them to answer the question. So far I haven't met one.

Rural Students Enjoy Their Cadet Teaching

Rural students spent the week following Thanksgiving preparing for the winter and going in country schools in their home counties. Their reactions to their week of practice teaching were many and varied.

"The sample was wonderful," explained Lenore Bras, "but now we can't wait for the real test. I've found out what it takes to teach, but what about the real thing?"

Laurice Cook and Adeline Hager were also enthusiastic about their teaching. "I can truthfully say that I believe that it did me more good than any observation work could possibly do," said Laurice, "because I was still teaching on Christmas that we'll be teaching next year."

Practical Experience

"Cadet teaching has helped me very much," Adeline declared. "It gave me a chance to use what I learned and it also showed that there still is still a lot to learn..."

"One of the big jobs," Alice Treptower reported, "is to plan your assignments carefully and keep your children busy. You have to do their work and then try to make you think they are doing it."

Pearl Albrect found the children of the home unusually good. "Maybe some of the excellent behaviour on the part of the children was in response to the fact that most of it was not unusual."

The teacher and the children were grand and I enjoyed it ever so much,"

Some Parts Irksome

Veda Eskrit found some aspects of teaching rather disagreeable. "The briefs and briefcases were burdensome, and lunch and lesson plans were somewhat irritating, but I certainly did fall in love with the first grade," she stated. "I'm anxious to be starting in a school of my own."

Betty Magee Stange declared, "When you teach first grade, you're teaching nuisances or crying children, silly girls, and naughty boys. I now have a clearer idea of what to do. I now know how to control my ability to teach than I did before."

Debate, Forensics Contest Held

Elimination contests in debate and forensics were held at the Training school last Friday morning. Howard Campbell was the most talkative of the judges.

J udges of the debate, who were three members of the 97th. Training detachment, awarded the decision to the winning team composed of Jerry Jayne, Dick Toser and Jim Samter. The sixth grade negative team was composed of John Swanson, Tom Beach and Carl Podezel.

Winners in serious declamations were Jean Deutscher, Ennis Meador, and parsley, eight grade; Jane Mohr, seventh grade, and Anne Gillfry, sixth grade.

Judges for the declamation contest were Mrs. Edith Catnaw, Buttons Pierce and student teachers. also included were Misses W. Bohn, Beth Johnson and Marjorie Prey.
We, too, have been down his barriers and taking to ballroom dancing. That shouldn’t be the last time, Joe. It’s so much fun!

Betty Thompson was a happy girl last week when Gus Rademaker arrived in town. Gus is now a lieutenant and very much looking the part. A fellow pilot and summer. Some people get all the luck.

A/S Orville G. Smith ceased his drugstore flirtations this weekend and spent his time entertaining Miss Kitty Kelly. Is this going to become another of those two-somes?

On Sunday one of the A/S’s was heard to say, “Boy! I’m tired! We really got Painter married last night!” Guess that means the affair was a success. Our congratulations to you, Bob and Doris. Judy Graham wanted to break tradition that night and kiss the best man instead of the groom; you guess why.

Co-eds Model Gowns
For Style Show

Lovely spring clothes were worn by the six models at the annual style show presented by Omega Mu Chi sorority on Tuesday evening in the Training school gym. More than thirty tables were in play during the card party which followed. Prizes were awarded the winners in auction and contract bridge, 500, hearts and pinocchio. Refreshments were served to conclude the evening’s entertainment.

The models were Virginia Clark, Eula Erickson, Virginia Grassl, Marian Lawrence, Betty Putters and Gertrude Quinn. The clothes were furnished by Stevens Apparel Shop.

The general chairman of the affair was Judy Graham, and Harriet Covy announced for the style show.

Play, A Part Of Celebration

The cast for the College Theater performance of CLAUDIA has been chosen, and rehearsals are in progress. The play will be given as a part of the fiftieth anniversary celebration.

Those who have parts in the play are Marian Lawrence, Bernard Alberg, Dick Beckler, Yvonne Moreau, Marjorie Stim, Elvira Lindow, Burnett Burch and Nelda Dopp.

All School Party Is A Smashing Success

The all school party given by the Freshmen last Friday was a success, and all those who attended spent an enjoyable evening. The Freshmen showed ability as hosts and entertainers. The college gym was decorated with anchors, porholes and other suggestions of ships at sea. The games, costume cards and refreshments carried out the theme, "Come as you were when the ship went down."

Individual prizes for excellence in games were awarded to Marjorie Stimm, Violet Schulz, Don Gabelson, Bertha Bennett, Elizabeth VanArsdalen, and Miss Gladys Van Arsdale, who impersonated a seacock passenger.

Dick Becker, as captain of the ship, was master of ceremonies. Barbara Felker played several popular numbers on the piano. Yvonne Moreau read "Old Ironsides," Judy Graham and Marjorie Stimm did a tap dance, and Harriet Coey and Loretta Gotchy sang a duet, accompanied by Lenore Bras.

The refreshments were soft drinks, doughnuts and candy life savers. General arrangements for the party were made by Marilyn Boycks, president of the Freshman class, and Mrs. Mildred Williams, chairman of the faculty social committee.
