Spooks At Hallowe'en Are Old Superstition

One might never think that Hallowe'en — that well known holiday of spooks and goblins — originated with the ancient Romans. Our Hallowe'en is really a grafting together of the ancient Roman festival in honor of Pomona, and an old custom of the ancient Druids who had a great autumn festival that commenced on midnight, October 31. Because of the wicked spirits that prowled about on this night, they lit huge bonfires to keep them away.

Spooks At Hallowe'en

Who will be Queen?

The men in the college, after solemn deliberation, have made their choice of an autumn queen. Who is she? That question will be answered on the eve of the Hallowe'en Party which is scheduled for Saturday night in the Training school gym.

An enjoyable time is promised to all party goers. There will be many games and social dancing during the evening. In order to alleviate the shortage of manpower there will be several Sadie Hawkins dances in which the girls may select their partners.

All college students are urged to attend and make CSTC's first all school party a success.

Second Grade Entertains

The second grade of the Training school concluded their seed and vegetable unit by making a huge kettle of vegetable soup last Friday. The children brought, cleaned and cut all the the vegetables by themselves. They decorated napkins on which to put the bowls of soup. The first grade were invited to come and eat with them.

Miss Allen, Students Visit High Schools

Miss Bessie May Allen took four senior Home Economics students to visit several high schools in northeastern Wisconsin on October 19 and 20. The girls who accompanied Miss Allen are Arlene Semanko, Doreen Short, Lucille Wishlinski, and Bernadine Peterson.

This was the first trip of a series which has been planned by Miss Allen so that each senior girl in the Home Economic department can see examples of the equipment with which she will work when she begins teaching next fall.

The schools visited included Shawano, Bonduel, Gillett, Oconto Falls, Green Bay, Kimberly and Hortonville. Among the last year's graduates teaching in these schools are Anita Campbell at Bonduel, Ruth Lindsay at Oconto Falls, and Briget Tischmann at Kimberly.

Students May Purchase Tickets For "Wilson"

The assembly committee is happy to announce that for one of the entertainment numbers of the first semester, arrangements have been made with the theater manager downtown to admit college students to a matinee showing of Darryl F. Zanuck's WILSON, on Thursday afternoon, November 9, commencing at two o'clock.

Students who wish to see this outstanding production may purchase a ticket through the information desk of the college between the hours of one and two on the afternoons of Nov. 6, 7, or 8 for 10 cents. Twenty-five cents of the admission price for each student attending will be paid from the student entertainment fund. Tickets for this matinee cannot be secured at the theater booth.

College classes and Training school grades 6-9 inclusive will be dismissed on that afternoon, if a sufficient number of tickets are purchased.

NOTICE

There will be no Pointer next week because classes will be dismissed at noon on Wednesday, November 8, at 10 a.m. She will also have a program for adults in the evening.

Mrs. Phillips, a naturalized United States citizen, was born in England and educated in English schools. She attended the College of Neuchatel, Switzerland, where she specialized in the field of child psychology, youth guidance and parent education.

Mrs. Phillips has traveled extensively in Europe, China, Japan and the Philippines. She has done a great deal of speaking under the auspices of the American Association of University Women, covering 25 cities of Michigan and 22 cities in Wisconsin.

She has conducted classes on Human Eugenics, with the Vermont Army, a psychology course at the Valley Forge Military Academy, Wayne, Pa., and was on the faculty of Mary Lyon Junior college in New York state.

Play To Be Presented At Assembly, Oct. 26

The College Theater will present the one-act play, "The Bride wore Red Pyjamas", at an assembly on Thursday at 10 a.m. Here is a glimpse of what students who attend the assembly will see:

The plot is a beautiful triangle. Two guys and a gal. It all starts out with Virginia Richter (she's quite a gal) being married off by her mother, who is definitely a featherhead. It wouldn't be so bad, but the man she's supposed to marry is one Lord Percy (a bit of a stuffed shirt).

Just to complicate matters, Virginia is really in love with a newspaper reporter, Gerry. Benson, the sympathetic butler, is a very important character. He's forever wearing red pyjamas, and where the red pyjamas come in, should come and find out!

The cast is: Benson, Lloyd Anderson; Lord Percy, Max Kopchinski; Virginia Richter, Bernice Winn; Mrs. Richter, Kay Hansen; Gerry (See PLAY TO BE PRESENTED, page 4)
The weather man is certainly playing funny tricks. We just never know what we’re going to see tomorrow. The night air seems to agree with Betty Pohlman, though. Or was it the cold that made her shave her face in her hour of Friday night?

Isn’t it grand to see Miss May Roach back again... patched nose and all! Be careful now, Miss Roach... she might get busy again!

What was the commotion at the dorm Saturday night? It seems that the third floor girls caused quite a riot.

Marlys Reed went to homecoming at La Crosse last week. She said, “The homecoming functions were very nice, and all! Be careful now, Miss Roach... she might get busy again!”

Three soldiers from Camp McCoy were in Point over the weekend. They were Mike Godish, Pete Girdari and George Kastrall, all former members of the 97th. Jane Miller must have been a very happy little lass with George here for a few days. They divided their time between Point and Rapids... Jane’s home town.

Well, everyone still seems to be living after a pint of blood. Did you hear the cute little song which was sung by a girl from the bank floor, last Wednesday? It can be sung to the “Notre Dame Song.” It goes something like this.

“We never stagger, we never faint. Our blood is pure, it has not been tainted.

Send the nurses back for more, Take out a quart... take three or four.

It’s terrible how corny losing a pint of blood can make one, isn’t it?

Mr. Burroughs’ world-literature class were listening to a very serious discussion of John Locke’s essay “On Human Understanding” the other day when through the open window a disembodied voice floated, excluding all other speech. The voice was loud and clear, “I had to look twice!”

The class continued after a few minutes. With plans for the Hallowe’en parade, they have left us in the dark as to the evening’s activities.

So we will just have to be there to see what they have ‘cooked-up’... and to give those people who are in the dark an opportunity to find out what’s going on.

Roger McCallum came back to school this week with a nasty scar on his leg. When questioned about it, he answered, “Well, you see, it was a pretty rugged week-end.”

Don’t forget the assembly Thursday morning. From all observations, the play should be a good one.

KhaiKi Comments

Cpl. James (Doc) Kulidas sends his apologies for the error in his predictions concerning the World Series. “Doc” is seeing a lot of England and is charmed by the beautiful gardens, lawns and hedgerows over there, but another place which he looked good to him was the Woolworth store, known as the “three pence and six pence store” in England.

Pfc. Jay Swett is in Italy. He stated that he doesn’t expect to see France but he thought he probably will get to see it before the war is over.

Regarding the men’s enrollment in college he said, “Maybe when this mess is over it will be a different story. I think quite a few of the fellows will be back. I know I will if things work out, and I think a lot of the boys feel like I do. We’ll see, just keep the back row open for awhile longer.”

Lt. Bill Nikoli is enjoying all the "comforts of the Italian campaign. His company made the trip across in "sea-going bathtub they call a liberty ship.” The men were crowded in the bathtub and it was not a pretty ride. They finally arrived. They were then transported through a driving rain in a roofless cattle truck with nothing but a tarpaulin for shelter.

The baggage truck leaked also so the baggage was soaked. Half an hour later they had pitched their tents and had gone to bed they were awakened to move on again. There wasn’t a more miserable bunch of men in the Army than we were.

Bill is now in a place where used as center pieces and tallow light candles added a cheerful atmosphere to the dining room. The only lighting seemed to be the highlight of the meal. The girls who were waiting for dinner, Lorraine Levra, Jane Miller, Betty Pohlman, and Thelma McClyman.

Three very fortunate girls at Nelson Hall this week were Phyllis Hartlang, June Miller, and Betty Pohlman. In this case, fortune can be spelled M.E.N.

Saturday night saw a big turnout at the house party at the high school. For one thing, the program was free, and another, a free band was going to be given away. What a treat! going, everyone who went enjoyed the WACaravan very much.

Such a lovely day Sunday was! So much sun with the long films. Most of us spent a quiet Sunday at home, either waiting for guests that didn’t come by, or waiting for the mail, Dyce Jackson to show Wisconsin is a little ahead on these things. If you’re interested in much ahead, see either Pad Nelson or Elvira Lindroth.

STUDENT OPINION

Correction, Please!

The letter under Student Opinion in last week’s Pointer was interesting for several reasons: First, it is good to express an objection openly and fairly. Second, the criticism is good when it is accompanied by constructive suggestions as this one.

Third, we were particularly pleased with the suggestions because they are so very similar to the “Rules and Regulations” drawn up by the Social Committee and approved by President Hansen and the faculty.

1. There is and has been a book in the lounge which may be paraphrased for use of the Student Lounge as a meeting place.

2. The Dean of Women does not want women to be expected to join the Glee Club.

3. Mr. Davis is also to be notified and should sign the request for use of the Lounge. This is important in order that he may unlock both the building and the Lounge and later may check to see that the Lounge is not torn and all the windows are locked and the lights left on in the room, left in order. Since the buildings are locked at five o’clock and must be unlocked for all evening activities, it seems only courteous that at least a full 24 hours notice be given him. Two weeks notice would be expected.

The Student Lounge should be used often and well. However, all major events need to be scheduled and arrangements made in advance. The Student Lounge has been either misinformed or nonconformity to the use of the auditorium and stage gymnastics, and Student Lounge苟s of the room. The students are responsible for the care of the room and must keep it in an adequate condition.

We hope these statements will clarify the Rules and Regulations of the Social Committee.
Alpha Kappa Rho Pledges
A meeting of Alpha Kappa Rho was held at the Peter J. Michelsen home last Monday evening. After a short business meeting, the new pledges, Mildred Ross and Delores Cowles, were given their pledging duties. Musical games were played and a lunch was served.

Wesley Foundation Meets
The members of the Wesley Foundation enjoyed a get-acquainted party on Thursday evening. The program and the recreation were under the direction of Irene Mork and Doris Ubbelohde. A lunch of doughnuts and coffee was served.

Omegas Entertain
A moonlight hay ride was the theme of the first Omegas Mu Chi informal rushing party held Sunday evening, Oct. 22. The girls enjoyed an evening of bumping along the road on the hay rack, singing old and new songs. They roosted roosters over a bright bonfire in Katherine Glennon's yard. Hot coffee took off the chill of the evening air. Miss Bertha Glennon, adviser, and Ruth Michel- sen, alumn, were special guests.

WAA Enjoy Volleyball
A large turnout of girls came out for the first active meeting of the WAA last Wednesday. The evening was spent playing volleyball. The two sports for the next six weeks are volleyball and recreation sports such as shuffleboard and badminton. Tonight's the big night—initia- tion of new members.

The members of LSA elected of­ ficers at a meeting held last Thurs­ day in the girls' recreation room. The officers are: Alice Johnson, president; Marion Hemmrich, vice­ president; Helen Jacobson, secretary; Jessie Rustad, treasurer; Sol­ veil Waag, press representative; and Miss Myrtle Spande, adviser. Program committees were appointed for both November and December. The next meeting will be on No­ vember 16.

Representatives Chosen
Faith Price and Irene Ludwig were chosen to represent Gamma Delta at the national convention to be held in Chicago in November. They were selected at a meeting of Gamma Delta held last Thursday evening at St. Paul's Lutheran church parlors.

During the evening, Rev. Rubeon Hahn of Chicago, secretary of Gamma Delta, gave an inspirational address. Lunch was served from a table decorated with blue and white candles, white flowers and small blue and white baskets.

The next meeting of Gamma Delta will be held on Sunday evening, October 29, at the home of Rev. W. F. Ludwig. At this meeting the pledges will become members.

Sigma Zeta Initiates
Sigma Zeta, national honorary science fraternity, held an initiation meeting last Wednesday evening in room 103. Those initiated into the society were: Mary Asenbrenner, Betty Furstenberg, Edward Nigbor, Mildred Sackett, Mary Ann Hot­ veldt, Hilda Buchholz, and Betty Haber­ korn.

After the initiation ceremony, election of officers was held. Berna­ dine Peterson was elected president, Mary Ann Hotvedt, vice-president and Dr. Lyness, secretary-treasurer. Betty Furstenberg was appointed press representative. A program committee was appointed for the year consisting of Ed Nigbor, chair­ man, Mary Asenbrenner, and Betty Haberkorn.

After the business meeting, the members adjourned to the Home Economics parlors where a lunch was served.

Train School Plans Hallowe’en Parties

The Training school is making extensive plans for a big Hallowe’en celebration.

In the Junior High, the art classes are busy with witches, and pumpkins to decorate the gym for their party on the evening of October 31. The Junior Theater has general charge of entertainment, and refreshments are under the leadership of Jean Ann Hall, who is chairman of the theater group.

At a recent assembly the entire student body cast votes for a Ghost and Ghostess to head the grand march. Billy Sanks and Norma Entz-Minger were chosen. The party will be a costume party and prizes will be offered for the best costumes. Prizes will be given for the best stunt.

The evening will also witness the first performance of "Minny and Mandy." Minny is a noted dancer and Mandy is her accompanist. The Hallowe’en party for the first, second, and third grades will be held in the gym Friday afternoon. There will be a short program, a grand march, and first and second prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

The first grade is making napkins and decorations. The second grade is making favors and the third grade is taking care of the refreshments.
