Class Day Program Will Be Held May 31

CSTC's class day program will be held on May 31 during the regular assembly period and several organizations will make awards at this time.

The Glee club awards a silver treble clef pin to members who have been active for three years and a gold treble clef pin to those who have been members for four years.

For one year of band work, a band letter in school colors is given. Those who have been members for three years receive a silver key in the shape of a music lyre, while those who have participated for four years receive a gold key of the same design.

The WAA will award purple and gold emblems bearing the organization's letters to members who have been outstanding this year. Presentation is made on the basis of attendance at meetings, athletic activity, cooperation, leadership ability, character, and participation in club activities.

Freshman speech awards are given each year to two freshmen, one boy and one girl, for outstanding speech activity during the year. The names of the winners are engraved on the cups and they remain in the college.

Alpha Kappa Rho, honorary music fraternity, gives an award each year to the outstanding senior girl, judged upon qualities of leadership, scholarship and good sportsmanship. The award is a large trophy on which the winner's name is engraved. A smaller one is presented as a personal possession to the winner.

Arrangements Made For Theater Party

Members of the senior class are invited to attend a theater party to be held at the Fox Theater on the evening of Monday, May 28. The feature attraction will be "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay", a movie made from the popular book by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough.

Seniors are asked to come to the theater at 6:30 p.m. After the movie, refreshments will be served.

Guests of the senior class on this occasion will be President and Mrs. William C. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Schmeckle. Mr. Schmeckle and Mr. Evans are senior class advisers.

For the convenience of the students who are arranging the party, seniors who plan to attend the party are urged to sign the slip on the main bulletin board.

This party will be financed by senior class funds. Jacqueline Bregger is in charge of the theater arrangements and Lucille Dunn and Florence Flugaur are arranging for the refreshments.

Vacancy Filled at Training School

Miss Hester Feller has been employed to fill the position of sixth grade supervisor in the Training School. This position was left vacant by the resignation of Dr. Clarence Jayne last October. Since then Mrs. Leland Burroughs has been the temporary sixth grade supervisor.

At present Miss Feller is principal of Washington Elementary school in Neenah, Wisconsin. She is a graduate of Central State Teachers college, and received her master's degree at the University of Chicago. She has taught at Elmhurst, Illinois, and at Neenah since receiving her degree here. Miss Feller will begin work here in September.

We are reluctant to leave...

It is always sad to come to the end of an important phase of one's life. The members of the graduating class are now feeling that nostalgia. After four years of intimate association with CSTC, we are reluctant to leave.

To us, it seems almost incredible to think that from now on we will be visitors here, that we will never again do all the familiar things which, as students, we have done so many times.

We feel that even though the war has made many changes, our last year at CSTC has been a memorable one.

At the beginning of the year the Pointer said, "The material printed in this paper will depend on you—our readers. It is the things you do, the opinions you voice that make our headline stories. . . . This is your Pointer."

Looking back over a year of Pointers we can see that you, the student body, have been vitally active for the past nine months. Every week the POINTER has contained stories about the things you have done. It is you who have made 1944-45 an interesting record.

In closing, we wish to thank all those students and faculty members who have been so helpful during the past year. Our advisers, Miss Bertha Glennon and Raymond M. Rightsell and our good friend, President William C. Hansen, have been invaluable. To our staff members, who have been so dependable and loyal, and such fun to work with, we give our sincerest thanks.

To Doris Ubbelohde, next year's editor, and to her staff we extend our best wishes for success. We hope that you enjoy the 1945-46 Pointer as much as we enjoyed the 1944-45 one.

It Can't Last Forever

That time has come again — that time the student has been looking forward to, yet dreading. Yes, it's time to pack everything, not just the usual Christmas, Easter and teachers convention amount, but everything—and it must all be taken home.

The student stands in the middle of her room surveying the pictures on the wall, the bottles on the dresser, the desk laden with papers and books, and the dolls on the bed. Where to start! The simplest place, of course, is the clothes closet. Skirts, blouses, dresses, and coats are neatly folded and placed in the suit cases. They have no knobby corners, but lie quite evenly, and encouraged by her good start, the student proceeds.

She is slightly fazed when she comes to the hats and shoes. She leaves her closet and proceeds to empty her dresser drawers. Well, for goodness sake, is that where those notes for last semester's term paper were. Oh, well,—on with the task at hand.

Soon the student is tenderly reminiscing over old programs, souvenirs of bus trips, and burned-down candle ends. Aroused by the scraping of trunks in the hall, the student leaves her memories and after a brief debate decides to keep everything — candle stubs and all!

Pitching in with renewed energy, said student shoves things into boxes and suitcases, till, flushed but triumphant, she looks about the room feeling certain that she hasn't missed anything. The final step is to get all the baggage shut. After much straining and tugging the student sits down exhausted but contented.

She is about to bid a fond farewell to the room that was her home for nine long months when she sees before her very eyes the brand new Webster's Collegiate dictionary her aunt gave her for Christmas, her alarm clock and her Teddy, all three very much unpacked and quite necessary to her future happiness.

After a desperate struggle with her two last bulging pieces of luggage she finally gets them in, and leaving the future manipulations of her baggage to a long-suffering cab driver, the student settles herself comfortably for the trip home.

"Art in Action" May Be Seen in Art Room

All seniors, practice teachers and training teachers are invited to go to the college art room to see "Art in Action" on Monday, May 28, at 3 p.m.

Children from various grades and members of the class of Art III will demonstrate various craft processes, drawing and painting. Creative projects which correlate art with various units of work will be on display. It is hoped that all future teachers will benefit by watching the various steps. Come and see "Art in Action."

Chit 'n Chat

by Marge

With everyone cramming for exams and finishing term papers and such, school is a pretty busy place. However, a few gals are mixing a little pleasure with their studies. Betty Pohlman is one of these. Norm is home and they went out to the Lakes last Saturday. Marlys and Dick are another two-some who went out to Waupaca.

Speaking of lakes, some girls are planning a three day camping trip as soon as school is out. It should be fun!

Phil Harrington is seen every Friday, heading for home. The big attraction is that her fiance is home on a sick leave. They attended a high school prom last week-end, so he can't be very sick.

With the close of school, the prospect of jobs for the summer is always evident. Alice Klake, Dolores Cowles, Betty Brooks, Marge Stimm and Liz Stadler are all going to work at a Country club at Highland Park, Illinois. They think it is going to be quite an enterprise.

An unrecognized male voice called the dorm late Saturday night and asked for Beulah McConley. Isn't it too bad that she had gone home?

Our editor forgot to mention a few prominent Norwegians among our faculty in last week's POINTER. They are: Peter J. Michelsen, Miss Carolyn Rolfson, Dr. Nels Reppen, Norman E. Knutzen and Miss Myrtle Spande. Please forgive her—after a year of running the Pointer, she's not responsible for loss of memory.

Those who have been following the development of Nelly Robin's twins will be deeply grieved to hear of the death of Coke, one of the twins. The funeral was unceremoniously carried out by casting the remains out of the nest.

Do you know that you live in the driftless area? Even the brilliant minds who work weekly on the POINTER found this question a difficult one. After much debate several ambitious geography students proved that we are in the driftless area. This means we are in the unglaciated area of Wisconsin.—which doubtless explains our many peculiarities.

The POINTER office echoed with oh's and ah's when a picture of a handsome marine was discovered among the POINTER mail. Upon reading the Marine Corps letter attached, we discovered that he was Lt. Jack M. Conant of Westfield, Wisconsin, who attended CSTC in 1941-42. Reading further we found that he was married, (which called for a general return to work on the part of the POINTER staff members). He now is the POINTER office official pin-up man.

Mary Juetten's brother offered to kiss all the Dormites if they would line up in front of the Dorm. But due to the fact that his leave was so short, Jack postponed the ceremony until further notice.

Marion Grossman, Gert Heike and Lucille Dunn will depart shortly after graduation for Wisconsin Dells where they will do resort work for the summer. Marion and Lucille worked there before but this is Gert's first try. She is joining Ginny Grassel, Ruth Chrouser and Harriet Coey at Mult-No-Mah.

V-E Day had a special meaning for Larry Peters for she and her man signed a peace treaty and are on writing terms again.

Vi Lindow's Mom braved the rain and all to assist Vi as News editor last Monday night. Her father came in later.

Gerrie Walters writes from her substitute teaching position at Clintonville that she's enjoying herself immensely, and that her young students are perfectly wonderful. Gerrie evidently was short on stationery, because she wrote on the back of a mimeographed story about Sally.

That silk blouse that Betty Klein was wearing when she gave her reading in assembly last week was once a parachute. The green "designs" on it are really the camouflage markings used for protection by paratroopers in action.

For a few endless seconds Monday evening, the Pointer office was plunged into total blackness. Our "prepared-for-any-emergency" editor fumbled madly for a flashlight. Just as she found it, the lights came on again.

The faculty takes care of everything. It even has a Committee on Committees.

The plays tonight should be good. Don't forget to be there.

Conservation Major To Be Established

The Board of Normal School Regents at a recent meeting gave their consent to the establishment of a conservation major at Central State Teachers college.

Since this is a new venture, probably the first of its kind in any teachers college in the United States, it will take some time to work out all the details, but it is anticipated that final arrangements will be made this summer.

The conservation major will be offered students next September. It will not be included in the new catalog, but a special bulletin may be issued describing it.

English Department Announces Changes

Leland M. Burroughs, head of the English department, announces the following changes which have been made in the requirements of CSTC's English department.

Each Freshman will write a standard English test and a theme upon entering CSTC in September. Students who show a deficiency in English will have to take a three hour course in sub-Freshman, remedial English. This deficiency must be made up before a Freshman can take English 101.

Students who make very high scores in the test, will be excused from English 101-102, (Freshman English), and may choose any of the following subjects: English Literature 109-110, World Literature 129-130, Advanced Writing 204, Shakespeare 209, and College Grammar 224. Thus some students who intend to major in English can begin work on their major earlier.

English 123-124 (Sophomore Composition) has been dropped, and English 125, a course in intermediate composition has been substituted. English 125 is a three hour course, whereas English 123-124 comprised four credits.

The department felt that there was a great deal of over-lapping in two semesters of Sophomore composition, meeting twice a week. A one semester course, meeting three times a week is thought to be more satisfactory. Advanced Writing has been changed from a two credit course to a three credit course. A new course, Midwestern Literature, English 228, will be offered in the second semester of next year.

Annual Primary News Letter Is Published

The Primary Council is again publishing its third annual News Letter which is sent to alums of the Primary Council. This year Miss Susan Colman's Child Literature class, which has as its members Marlys Reed, Solveig Waag, Aletha Westfahl, Gloria Rybickie and Helen Jacobson, was in charge of editing the letter.

Shirlee Tobias designed the cover which shows a little girl grasping a huge pencil and writing a letter. The news letter is made up of short notes written by the faculty and student members of Primary Council.

Book Picturing CSTC 'Club Cotton' Party To Be Published

The Stevens Point Chamber of Commerce is preparing a booklet picturing the activities of CSTC. This enterprise is under the capable direction of Richard Brady, publicity man at the Whiting-Plover Paper Company and Paul Parkinson, who is with the publicity department of the Hardware Mutuals. The photography is being done by C. S. Tucker of the Cook Studio.

A theme similar to that of Life magazine has been selected. The booklet will consist largely of pictures. (Some of the students here can testify to that, remembering the long hours they spent as models. They didn't object to the modeling, only they did hate to miss any of their classes!)

Each of the high schools in which the college does publicity work will receive a copy of the booklet. Copies will also be sent on request to High school graduates who are interested in receiving information about CSTC.

The Chamber of Commerce is preparing this booklet in recognition of the many benefits which the city has realized through CSTC. It is hoped that this project will be of help in increasing CSTC's enrollment next year.

Proves Enjoyable

Soft lights, colorful decorations and swirling cottons carried out the theme of Tau Gamma Beta's "Club Cotton", Saturday evening, May 19, held in the Training school gym.

Nelda Dopp greeted the 125 guests who registered for the door prize which was presented later in the evening to Margaret Albrect.

The stage was appropriately decorated with a white picket fence and spring flowers, and these gave the effect of a southern garden. The highlight of the evening was the floor show which brought laughter and applause from the guests, as spirited darkies were introduced by the club's proprietor "Mr. Cotton", Joyce Rathke. The "Ink Blots", Joan Joosten and Doris Ockerlander sang two duets, "An Old Fashioned Garden" and "Can't Yo Heah' Me Calin", Caroline?" They were followed by the tap dance team "Tip and Tap", Dorothy Loberg and Lucille Lemsky.

"Horna Lene", Joan Joosten, in a slinky black formal with white accessories, softly crooned, "Stormy Weather" and "Summer Time". Doris Ockerlander sang "Darkness on the Delta" and "Five Foot Two", accompanied by Dorothy Davids on the guitar. "Skazel Hot", Barbara Felker, explained and illustrated boogie woogie. "Lil Robinson", better known as Helen Lundgren, entertained the audience with her interpretive dancing.

GAMMA DELTA MEETS

Joyce Rathke was elected president of Beta chapter of Gamma Delta at a meeting held in the Recreation room at Nelson Hall, last Thursday evening. Other officers who were elected are: Mildred Ross, vice-president; Lorraine Peters, secretary; Pat Thorpe, treasurer.

The May issue of "The Spectator", national bulletin of Gamma Delta, was given to each member. Among the selections in the bulletin was "Conversion" by Rev. William F. Ludwig, spiritual advisor of Beta chapter.

Installation of officers will be held at the Gamma Delta breakfast on June 3. Plans were made for a picnic at Iverson Park, Sunday afternoon, June 3.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES GIFT

CSTC Geography Trip Enjoyed by Students

Geography students enjoyed a field trip to Wisconsin Dells and to Devils Lake Thursday, May 17. The trip was conducted by Charles F. Watson and Robert S. Lewis. Mr. Watson pointed out the terminal moraine, outwash plains, and other evidences of glaciation seen on the way.

The first stop was at Devils Lake where the group climbed the quartzite bluff, and surveyed the lake and the surrounding territory from an elevation of 500 feet above the lake. From Devils Lake the trip progressed to Ableman, where a brief stop at the granite quarry was made, and then proceeded to the Dells where the remainder of the day was spent.

The students got on an excursion boat which took them through the upper Dells. As the students journeyed up the river a guide pointed out such famous rock formations as Chimney Rock, Rattlesnake Rock, Sliding Rock, Alligator Rock, High Rock, Romance Rock, and the swallows' nests in the solid rock which could be seen from the boat.

The group left the boat during the course of the trip to go through the Witches' Gulch and Cold Water Canyon, and to see the Indian Ceremonial ground.

The guide explained why the

CLASS DAY

Ivory batons are awarded to all senior members of Alpha Kappa Rho.

The Chi Delta Rho Student Honor cup will be presented this year despite the fact that the fraternity is not active on the campus. The senior having the highest scholastic average will receive the cup and his or her name will be engraved on the cup which is kept on display.

The Pointer staff also makes several awards. Bronze keys and silver keys are given to members of the staff who have given one year and two years of exceptional service, respectively. Gold Pointer keys, engraved with name and year, are presented to the editor and the business manager. Bound copies of the Pointer are awarded to all who have worked on the staff during the year.

canyon and the gulch are so cool, and Mr. Watson supplemented this talk with a few words on their formation and geological importance. The ceremonial grounds were the last stop on the trip, chief sights of which were Stand Rock, and the Devils Anvil.

The students enjoyed supper in Wisconsin Dells, and then merrily boarded the bus for the homeward journey. On comparing notes it was found that all agreed that it was one of the most enjoyable and educational field trip they had ever taken.

Dorm Is 'Amoozin' n Confoozin' to Male

From the male viewpoint, working at the "Dorm" is in the classic words of Lil Abner, "Amoozin' but Confoozin'". Contrary to the widely held view, the exposure and proximity to pulchritude is not a key to the more abundant life. However, the opportunity to observe the frailties of girls en masse is a very educating experience. Some incidents are worthy of comment.

The first to come to attention is the practice which demands that a man going on third shouts, "Man on third". This is guaranteed to bring forth a chorus of voices with comments ranging from "Hear! Hear!" to "Yikes, Myrt, the door." After several encounters of this nature one qualifies for the Bronze Star.

It is amazing to observe the decorum with which the girls enter and pass through the dishwashing room! They soberly place their dishes in the racks, wipe their fingers, walk through the door, and—pfft! They dash up the stairs pell mell in a passing blur, leaving the calm of before but a shattered memory.

In the recreation room is a relic of the Army Air Corps sojourn at Nelson Hall—a billiards table. It is indeed ludicrous to watch the antics indulged in as members of the fair sex try their skill. They aim; they shoot; they miss! Champion billiards player, Willie Hoppe, would blanch and shudder at the sacrilege.

Recommended to all would-be bachelors is an observation of the Sunday morning "dress parade." This should strengthen the resolution of the most hardened fanatic. It removes the last illusion as to the ever present female beauty if the illusion has not already been dispelled by the endless "fixing of faces" so dear to the fair sex.

Such is, and such will continue to be, the life of a male at the "Dorm".
