

Don't Forget To Vote! Coming Events Listed By Social Committee

Student Council elections will be held on Friday morning, October 19, with members of last year's council conducting the election. Election tables will be set up in the corridor on second floor.

Nomination petitions were circulated during the past week and the names of nominees will be posted this week. Four representatives will be elected from each class and one from each division.

Plans Are Made for Football Frolic

A bonfire at the south end of Schmeckle field on Friday night, October 19, followed by a snake dance will start the Football Frolics rolling. The game itself on Saturday afternoon is THE event, and the juke box dance in the Training school gym on Saturday night ought to finish up the Frolics just right.

Edmund Przybylski, sports editor of the POINTER, is in charge of the bonfire. He urges the freshmen who are responsible for gathering trash for the fire to build the pile high. The fire will be lighted at 7 p.m.

and will be followed by singing and cheering. Students will then form a snake dance down Main Street.

The dance in the Training school gym, starting at 8 p.m. on Saturday, is under the auspices of the Athletic association. Refreshments will be served in the gym on Saturday night instead of Friday night as was planned originally. This is the first attempt at this sort of thing since 1940 and is a good chance to revive a bit of the old pre-war school spirit.

From the Bleachers — A Coed Speaks

Saturday, October 13, dawned clear and bright, but 2 o'clock found the skies overcast and the wind chilly. Undaunted, we donned mufflers, tucked a blanket under our arm and joined the many football fans heading for Schmeckle field. At the gate we were met by Mr. Thompson and Mr. Pierce who hailed us heartily, in typical CSTC fashion.

There was much noise and commotion on the field — fans were milling around, the band was playing, and, after a warming-up cheer, the game began.

The first half saw the Pointers stave off several drives deep into their own territory. The boys fought gallantly but just couldn't stop the Milwaukee steam roller. Late in the second quarter the Point gridders started a march that looked like pay dirt. The drive, sparked by Hartman, died out as the Green Gulls tightened their defense.

Meanwhile our tireless cheer leaders had been romping up and down

Plans were made for a series of events for the coming year at a meeting of the faculty social committee on September 27. Since the enrollment of men has been low, the committee felt called upon to plan parties with a varied program.

The schedule is as follows: October 26, Hallowe'en, "A GOBLIN'S GAMBOLE"; November, Dude Ranch Rodeo; December, Christmas Cheer; January, Recreational Dancing; February, Plantation Party (Formal); March, Circus or County Fair; April, Lent, no party; May, May party of some type.

The Hallowe'en party is to be sponsored by the social committee. The WAA has volunteered to take charge of the "Christmas Cheer", as it did last year, and the committee hopes that college groups will sponsor the other parties this year.

The members of the social committee are: Mrs. Mildred Williams, chairman; Dr. Arthur S. Lyness, general chairman of assembly and social committees; George R. Berg, Charles C. Evans, Miss Helen Meston, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Miss Myrtle Spande and Miss Gladys Van Arsdale.

President Announces New Appointments

Dr. Harold M. Tolo has been appointed acting director of the division of secondary education, replacing Raymond M. Rightsell who is on a year's leave of absence. Dr. Tolo is CSTC's acting dean of men.

The position of chairman of the science department, which was also held by Mr. Rightsell, is being filled by Fred J. Schmeckle, who is head of the chemistry department.

before the bleachers organizing our encouraging shouts.

At the half we tramped out in search of hot coffee for our chilled bones and saw many CSTC alums putting in an appearance at the game.

Things picked up in the last half — perhaps we should say the last quarter — when a pass from Hartman to Judd put the Pointers in the scoring column. At this exciting point of the game CSTC spectators rose as one from the stands to watch the last minutes of play from the edge of the field.

The final horn found Point on the small end of the score, with Milwaukee the victor. But we, football rooters to the core, marched out the gates, chin in air, prophesying as to the homecoming game next week. Here's to the CSTC boys, who made a good showing with Milwaukee and who are going to smear Whitewater this Saturday, b'gosh. Luck, fellows.

President Hansen

To the Students Of Central State

For the first time since the autumn of 1938 we are beginning the college year without the disconcerting influence of a world at war. When I came here as President in December 1940 quite a few of the students had left with the National Guard during the preceding October. Ever since that time the young men have been leaving college for induction into the armed services.

Now the current has been reversed and some of the men are returning each week, although not as rapidly as they left. The situation is not yet normal as we thought of it in 1938-39, our last previous peace time year, — and perhaps it never will be. However, conditions are much more conducive to study and to the other activities of a normal college program. We can again become interested in Homecoming, and the athletics and other activities and events that accompany it.

While the membership of our organizations is smaller than formerly we can't expect to plan as elaborate events but, at least, we are on the way back. There is evidence of an excellent spirit and a good work atmosphere on the campus. That's encouraging. We want you to enjoy yourself while you are here but we also want you to develop your power as a student and your personal qualities as an individual.

Wm. C. Hansen

Although during the war the Bloc club was inactive, a small group of college men have already met once this year, and it is hoped that it will soon have its normal number of members.

Milwaukee Beats Point by 38-7 Score

CSTC suffered an overwhelming defeat, 38 to 7, at the hands of the Milwaukee Teachers Saturday afternoon in a game played at Schmeckle Field. The Pointers' inability to cope with the Milwaukee Green Gulls' end runs resulted in the disastrous score.

Stevens Point plays Whitewater here this Saturday. The game will be the center of Point's homecoming event, and the Pointers are determined to make a good showing against the Whitewater men.

Little is known about the strength of the Quaker team but judging from the result of the Watertown-Whitewater tilt, Saturday's game should prove a toss-up.

Watertown defeated Whitewater 25 to 6, and they also defeated Oshkosh 26 to 0, twice the score by which the Pointers defeated Oshkosh. On this basis Point and Whitewater should be about evenly matched.

Judd Scores Touchdown

In last Saturday's game, half backs Fehlhaber and Kratz starred for Milwaukee, each scoring two touchdowns, while End John Judd, on a sensational play, scored Point's one and only touchdown.

The Pointers were definitely outclassed by the powerful Milwaukee eleven. They never stopped trying, however, and in the last two minutes of the second half put over the most spectacular play of the game. With the line holding back the Green tide, Halfback Bob Hartman tossed a pass to End John Judd who dashed across the goal line, completing a 66 yard play and scoring Point's only touchdown. A quick kick by Bill Nikolai scored the extra point.

The Milwaukee peds started their scoring early in the first quarter with Kratz's slicing off a 17 yard run around left end for the first touchdown. Costagna kicked the extra point. Late in the same quar-

To Present Comedy

"Murder by Morning", a one-act comedy, will be presented by the College Theater at an assembly on Thursday morning, October 25.

The cast will be composed of Carolyn Roshak, Alice Hetzer, Terry Kurtzweil, Robert Blenker and Elmer Hayes. Frances Kostka is the student director.

Dick Olk is production manager. On the technical staff in charge of settings are Max Kopchinski, Esther Davidson, Jean Neale, Margaret Hull; make up, Mary Noble, Yvonne Gabelson, Joan Kelley, Mickey Rybickie, Margaret Roberts, Joyce Proctor; lighting, Toby Tyler.

Faculty advisers are Leland M. Burroughs, Robert S. Lewis and Dr. Warren G. Jenkins.

Superintendent L. D. Culver and county teachers will be guests at the performance.

Under The Rug

with Dave

The air is mostly full of homecoming spirits this week, people rushing around with loads of paper—we hope, in general, people just rushing.

Have to do our studying on week nights this time, to guarantee ourselves a free week end(?)

Last Saturday, we, and many other forgetful souls, rushed over to the Eat Shop between halves—and found it closed. Boo Hoo, wish Andy and Eva could take a hint.

Cheers for the band, who sounded larger than they actually were. And speaking of cheers we thought our cheer leaders did very well. Hey, Plunkett, not as spry as you once were? But naughty, naughty, some of you spectators who did not respond. True, the students were scattered over the bleachers, making uniform yelling hard, but just the same!!! (We're one of those who couldn't speak during the last quarter). Lots and lots of old grads were seen around town last week-

Radio Address Given By President Hansen

"One of the problems now confronting CSTC is to find adequate living quarters for our married veterans," said President William C. Hansen in a radio address over the "Our-College" program of the Radio Workshop on Wednesday, October 3.

"By the beginning of the second semester," Mr. Hansen continued, "the problem will become acute. That is obvious. A systematic effort will have to be made by citizens of Stevens Point to convert available space into apartments of the type that veterans can afford to pay for on their 'G.I. Bill of Rights' allowance of $75 per month for married veterans."

Mr. Hansen pointed out that the education of these young men has already been postponed several years by the war, and that everything possible should be done now to facilitate its completion.

Concerning the possibility of offering Master's degrees, Mr. Hansen said, "The answer is no—not yet. We don't know when we may begin on that. The question naturally arises because the last session of the Legislature authorized the State Board of Normal School Regents to grant Master of Education degrees in the teachers colleges. The Board end. And, speaking of alums, a very welcome one was last year's POINTER editor, Florence Flugaur. Florence is teaching the "little ones" at New London this year.

Hear tell that Smiley Quinn, one of the Bergmen, is leaving for the Navy. Smiley reported at Milwaukee Tuesday morning for active duty. From there, he will go to the Great Lakes Naval Base at Great Lakes, Ill.

It's third finger, left hand, for Shirley Brown, they tell us. Congratulations.

Well, think we'll save our collective voice for that game Saturday. See you at the bonfire Friday night! Adios.

plans to use this power with care and discrimination. The authorization to offer graduate work will likely be granted to specific colleges for specific courses and then only when the Board is satisfied that there is a need for that work and that the college is prepared to meet the need. The great problem confronting the teachers colleges right now is not the post graduate work—but is how to induce enough young people to enroll in teacher training work so that we can graduate a sufficient number so that our schools can be staffed with teachers who have at least the legal requirements for a certificate. Wisconsin has thousands of teachers who do not have the minimum legal requirement and who are teaching on a year to year permit just to keep the schools open."

Faculty Entertained Lectures in State Given by Faculty

Miss Carolyn Rolfson, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Miss Myrtle Spande and Miss Gladys Van Arsdale, all of whom have birthdays in October, entertained the faculty at an October birthday coffee last Thursday in the Home Ec. parlors. An attractive centerpiece of fall fruits and vegetables decorated the tea table.

Dr. Nels O. Reppen, another faculty member with a birthday in October, poured. He was given able moral support by Dr. Warren G. Jenkins.

Veterans Return To Central State

Veterans of World War II are returning to our campus from the four corners of the world and are entering into college life with zest reminiscent of former years.

Members of the student body who have returned from serving in various theaters of war are: Leland Malchow, William Nikolai, Eugene Obermeier, Seymour Tyler, Ray Bartkowiak, Jack Davis, Alvin Kaziak, Terrence Kurtzweil, Robert Hansen.

STUDENT OPINION

To the Editor:

In city teaching, a primary teacher will take her pupils to the fire stations or even to the airport for first hand observation. Such a practice today is not frowned upon, but approved ethically in teaching circles. Last week our agriculture and conservation classes were fortunate enough again to visit the wide open spaces of Portage county on two field trips. Out in the nearby friendly countryside we were able to recognize soil erosion and find the answers to some of the questions that could not possibly be answered satisfactorily in the classroom. By this coordination of our classroom discussions and lectures with field trips of this type, we certainly are now able to appreciate more fully the many problems and difficulties confronting our farmers, whose problems affect the welfare of all of us indirectly.

It has been determined by diligent experimentation that practical application of knowledge via field observation is most profitable. Educational field trips of this type permit a person to actually learn the more practical principles of all the essential classroom theory and lectures relative to agriculture and conservation. This all leads to a more proficient future teacher, besides enabling us students to gain a thorough knowledge of the subject. I constructively suggest that in addition to classroom lectures and excellent movies a few more field trips be designed under the competent supervision we are fortunate enough to have.

Several of the faculty of the Rural State Graded division spoke at various places throughout the state last week.

Quincy Doudna, director of the rural division, was a speaker on the program of the School Board Convention in Fond du Lac county last Saturday, October 13. His subject was "Some School Problems for Farmers."

Oscar W. Neale, faculty member emeritus, gave the commencement address for the graduating class at the County Normal in Berlin last Saturday, Thursday, October 11, he talked at the school board convention at Waushara county at Hancock. Miss May Roach, assistant in the department of Rural Education, was speaker for the meeting of the Marian congress for south Wood county at St. Peter and Paul's Church in Wisconsin Rapids. She spoke on "A Blueprint for an Ideal Family".

"I'll Walk Alone"—Lovely song—but it hits a sour note as a theme song! And if you think it is easy to avoid humming it when you are in a new school and have to go through the routine of making friends and influencing datable young characters, you are one of the fortunate few.

But if you didn't go to the first football game because you had no one with whom to go, come out of your corner, you Jack and Jill Horners, and set about making a few friends for yourself. There are more ways than one to start folks searching for your phone number. So let's meet them!

Some of the smoothest people in school can be found "coming to order" at club meetings, writing scripts for Radio Workshop, and bursting their lungs in the glee clubs. So get in on college activities. Of course you won't join more than you can fit into your program, but will stick to those in which you are really interested.

If there has always been a spark of Katharine Hepburn in your blood, the College Theater is the place for you. Turn your talent into Pointer newsprint if you wield a wicked pen. Or volunteer to work on committees for all-school activities—and then work. Whole-hearted cooperation helps you forget your self-consciousness too — no guy or gal can think of himself and really work at the same time.

These are just a few of the requirements necessary to make you a Campus Conscious character whose vocal chords give out with a hearty "Hail, Hail—".

Alums Represented Throughout Country

How many students at Central State realize that many of our graduates are now instructors in colleges of the country? If you were to visit any number of colleges, especially in Wisconsin, you would find CSTC represented on the faculty.

Dr. Celestine Nuesse, a graduate of CSTC in 1934, has been added to the faculty of the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. He began his work in the social science department there in September, 1945. At Central State, Dr. Nuesse won state and inter-state oratorical contests in 1932. His subject was "The Bourne of Youth". Mr. Nuesse and Donald Mills won State Debating Tournaments in 1933 and reached the semi-finals in the Mid-West Debate Tournament at St. Thomas college in St. Paul, Minnesota. During this same year Mr. Nuesse won second place in the state extemporaneous speaking contest.

Dr. Frank Klements and Wilson Schwahn, both members of the 1935 graduating class at CSTC, began their duties on the faculty of the Eau Claire State Teachers college this year. Mr. Klements is in the social science department and Mr.

Schwahn is veterans' administrator at Eau Claire.

While in college here, Mr. Klements was editor of the Pointer. He recently received his doctor's degree from the University of Wisconsin.

ter Fehlhaber plunged through the line and forged ahead 15 yards for the second score. Full Back Proffit's kick brought the score to 14-0.

In the second quarter Fehlhaber broke loose and dashed down the field 46 yards for another Milwaukee score. The attempt for the extra point failed.

Late in the third quarter, Hoppel, Green Gull halfback, smashed over from the one foot line to make the score 26 for Milwaukee.

A 15 yard run by Kratz at the start of the last quarter resulted in Milwaukee's fifth touchdown. The attempt for the extra point failed. Recovering a fumble of Point's the Gulls drove down the field with Proffit taking the ball over the line for Milwaukee's sixth and last touchdown. Haeger's kick failed.
