Faculty Members Publish Articles

An article written by President William C. Hansen appeared in the September issue of the Peabody Journal of Education, a publication of the George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tennessee. The article, "The Greatest Factor", stresses the importance of the home not only in regard to the character of the community, but also in the rise of state and nation.

"The impact of the war upon the home has been detrimental", says President Hansen, "and there is no area where the school can make a greater contribution to the happiness and welfare of future America than here". He advocates presenting more instruction in the problems of the home and family, perhaps at the senior high school level.

Dr. Raymond Gibson, director of the Training School, had an article in the September issue of See and Hear, the Journal on Audio-Visual Learning, a new publication.

The article, "Beginning Geography", urges introducing early in school the basic concepts of geography which he believes form the broad base of factual experience and knowledge upon which much of subsequent thinking and ultimate understanding of world affairs will be built.

Personnel Listed By Men's Glee Club

Voices raised in song have always been wonderful to hear; but when those voices are masculine, the songs become something out of this world. The Men's Glee club of CSTC, which was organized in 1932, has resumed its activities, after a silence of three years.

There are 24 members at present. Tenors are Wayne Salter, Bill Mellin, Maxie Kopchinski, LeRoy Plunkett, Frank Stange, Donald Jorgensen, Ed Laszewski and Gus Rademacker; baritones, Frank Kostuck, Jack Burt, Jim Davis, Ed Fenelon and Arthur Pejasa; basses, John Judd, James Buelow, Earl Cotter, Alan Brekke, Robert Kunde, Edward Lightbody, George Spangle, Everett Porter, Charles Theisen and Joseph Strosin. The accompanist is Bob Westenberger.

During its years of activity, the Glee club has extensively toured Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, making an average of 20 trips a year.

Norman E. Knutzen, director of the organization, hopes the club can continue with the tours this year.

Plans Being Drawn For New Building

The sum of $8,500 for preparation of plans and specifications for a new physical education plant and student union at Central State Teachers college has been released by Governor Goodland. It is part of a total of $222,000, including $116,000 for preparations of plans and specifications for buildings at nine State Teachers colleges, for work under the state's post-war building program.

Cost of the proposed new college building here has been estimated at about $270,000. The principal part of the structure will be the physical education plant with the student union occupying a part of it.

While details of the building remain to be worked out, the physical education plant will include such facilities as a gymnasium, swimming pool, an annex for track and baseball practice and quarters for boxing and other physical education activities for men and women. The first floor of the union will include a large lobby with smaller rooms for lounging. The second floor will be made up of a small auditorium and committee rooms.

A proposed site for this building is on North Fremont street including the present site of the home economics cottage and directly opposite the Training school building which faces North Reserve street. The cottage will be moved elsewhere on college property.

Alpha Kap Plans Music Homecoming

Plans were made for an Alpha Kappa Rho homecoming at a meeting held Monday evening at the Peter J. Michelsen home. The homecoming is scheduled for Saturday evening, November 10.

Catherine Firkus, Ann Kelley, Dorothy Loberg and William Mellin became Alpha Kappa Rho pledges at the meeting. They were assigned their pledge duties.

A program of Gershwin music both was presented by Edward Plank, an honorary member of the organization, after which refreshments were served.

Pointers Defeat Whitewater 13-6

Climaxing a successful Homecoming, the CSTC football team, in a hard fought game, defeated Whitewater State Teachers college 13-6 here last Saturday.

The Pointers will journey to Watertown, Wisconsin, this Saturday where they will encounter the Northwestern college football team. In view of Northwestern's recent triumphs over both Oshkosh and Whitewater, a stiff game is anticipated.

The Pointers, using the T-formation for the first time this year, showed marked improvement in blocking in the Whitewater game. Their defensive power appeared weak at time, however. Dave Kachel, Whitewater end, scored the Quaker's only touchdown and put them temporarily in the lead in the first quarter; Bob Hartman's point was blocked and Kachel fell on the ball back of the goal line.

Halfback George Hardina scored both of Point's touchdowns, the first on a 15 yard dash late in the second quarter. Bill Nikolai's kick put the Pointers ahead 7-6. Follow-

Under The Rug

with Dave

Well, we'll start out the week with a yawn after a most entertaining and interesting week-end. Heard townspeople favorably commenting on the pip of a display of pep down town Friday night, following the snake dance. Nothing like a good loud cheer, we always say.

Now, all together, one, two, three,—Congrats, coach and team, on the victory. Improvement rears its pretty head.

The dance Saturday night drew many. (What's that rumor about having dances every other week?) Dick Olk and Max Kopchinski did a beautiful job on the spot lighting, as did the girls with the cider. Candles have more than one use, what say, Ruth Ruff? Gliding around the floor, to the music of course, we saw Terry Kurtzweil and Lucy Vaughan, Jean Crosby and Joe Heitzinger, Pat Snow and Dick Miller, Marney Guth and Bob Kunde, Bill and Loretta Nikolai, Deedee Hein and Al Porter, something new, Art Pejsa and Hansi Rademacher, she, a weekender and former student of CSTC, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce, Doc and Mrs. Trytten, real enthusiasts, and Mr. Doudna, who evidently had a ripping time.

The dorm really bulged with a bumper crop of visitors, as did the beds. (This reporter was offered the couch in the smoker, but declined.) Some of the former students who joined in the week-end's festivities were Edythe Ofstun, Trudy Marshall, Lucy Dunn, Jean Markee, Shirley Thayer, Joan Joosten, Gerrie Walters, Ruth Chrouser, and Marie Wipperfurth.

Quite a notable visitor at the radio studios last week was Dean Douglass of R.C.A., Chicago. Upon his departure, many of the crew were the wiser for tips Mr. Douglass gave at rehearsals, and for literature and other information he left with them. Such consideration is really appreciated.

Flower girl of the week was Jane Miller, who blossomed forth with orchids and roses. Having a gay whirl over the week-end was Janice Milton with a very special visitor, Bob Peters, while another week-end enthusiast was Dorm livewire, Jean Fumelle, (also known as Caveman) with Jack Foster.

Two mournful souls (and bodies) were found sitting on the school steps the other night, after having successfully locked themselves out. But, with the aid of Mr. Davis, whom they routed out of bed, they got inside again. Ask Vi

Lindow, Vi, by the way, deserted us suddenly last week-end—reason, one Lt. Rudy Horn. (Addition by the News editor—Esther Davidson was the other body.)

Heard some talk in "The Shop" the other day that was like honey to the bee, or something; it seems the fellows are lining up some good prospects for an experienced basketball team. Which brings to mind—the Sugar Bowl, opposite the local high school, is the Dorm hangout for late snacks. Stick your nose in some night, any time, and you'll probably find a bunch there.

Orchids of the week go to Doris Ockerlander, who is doing a most commendable job at the Playdium in town. That must really fill her schedule now.

Reversing the old idea of apples for the teacher, Mr. Michelsen brought a half-bushel of apples for the band at Saturday's game. So, between munching, and tooting and rooting, band members had quite a field day.

Most popular man on the Pointer editorial staff (and it isn't because he's the only man on it, though he is) is our sports editor, Ed Przybylski. He was drafted into our service when the need was felt for a man with both literary talent and a knowledge of sports. Every week, when he came through with consistently good articles, we patted our selective service system on the back, and said, "We sure can pick 'em!" But this week the wonderful man out did himself. He walked into the office Monday night, put a box on the editor's desk, and said, "Sample these". "These" was a box of real Hershey and Almond candy bars. Sorry, people, there are no more openings at present. You can't get on the staff in time to get a candy bar.

Have you noticed the little growing group of ex-Army air corps bombardiers at school? One of the opinions they have voiced as a group refers to women—they seem to be definitely enjoying the variety at CSTC, and might we add, are seen with a variety.

Iris Ed. Katy Hope has found entertaining company (imported by the way) in the person of Jack Craig, hear tell. Just as a final note—the one act play has shaped up pretty well. You'll like it Thursday at 10:05. See you there. Adios.

Y-Dub Halloween party, Thursday, October 25, in the Dorm rec room at 7:15 p.m. All college women are invited to attend.

Jean Neale Elected

Jean Neale was elected secretary of the Methodist Student Movement at a conference held in Stevens Point last week end, when Wesleyans were hosts to a group of representatives from Stout Institute, Lawrence college, the University of Wisconsin, and Eau Claire, La Crosse, Whitewater and Platteville State Teachers colleges.

Other officers elected were: Ruth Warcl, Madison, president; Yvonne Duke, Eau Claire, vice-president; Hope Metcalf, River Falls, treasurer; Hilda Hawka, Whitewater, press chairman. Dr. Oscar Adams of Madison is the counselor for the state organization.

Dr. Merrill R. Abbey of Milwaukee was the speaker for the conference. The theme for the meeting, "Rebuilding Shattered Walls", was discussed in seminars on Friday and Saturday.

On Saturday afternoon the entire group of Wesleyans were guests of the college at the Stevens Point-Whitewater football game.

STUDENT OPINION

To the Editor:

All of us have been glad to welcome returning veterans to CSTC this fall. They have been a fine addition to the school in several ways. The variety of experiences which have been theirs the past few years gives them an interesting background of material for class discussions and those required "themes".

We like the willingness with which the former G.I.'s participate in classrooms forums. Their ideas are original and their observations keen. And, oh, how we appreciate having some of that originality diverted into student activities!

Fellows, we're glad you're with us—and the more, the better.

GAMMA DELTA PLEDGES

New pledges of Gamma Delta received their ribbons and pledge duties in a candle-light ceremony at a meeting held at St. Paul's Lutheran church on Thursday evening. After the pledging, a program of group singing was enjoyed.

Gamma Delta pledges are: Marjorie Schrader, Marjorie Tanke, Virginia Hansen, Ramona Putnam, Gladys Rindfleisch, Margaret Guth, Marilyn Hein, Verna Genrich, Elaine Jensen, Leona Jacobi, Cora Witzeke, Lorraine Meyer, Mable Hoefs, Ellen Whittingham, Bernice Marquardt and Mary Stimers.

Radio Workshop Presents Production

Just because the Radio Workshop is in that dark east end of the college basement is no reason for you, the student body, to stay away. Behind those doors is a most interesting and quite remarkable phase of modern education—radio production. Radio Workshop is open to everyone. It meets every Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Miss Gertie L. Hanson, director, is looking for new talent especially now, because the mainstays of the organization, Jane Miller, Betty Furstenberg, Vi Lindow and Eunice Goeler, graduate this year, and Miss Hanson will be left with none too many to carry on.

A program broadcast each weekday over station WLBL is a feature of the workshop. This year the program is at 3:15 o'clock every afternoon, except Monday, when it is at 1:15. The program schedule is set up so as to aid the teacher in the intelligent use of radio in the classroom and encourage worthwhile adult listening.

Jane Miller, producer of the workshop, prepares her own lore and fairytales on Mondays. Eunice Goeler is her substitute. Tuesdays, Margaret Guth, in "Books and Authors," reviews current books and gives news of their authors from a prepared script sent out by the Book of the Month club. "Our College," the Wednesday production, features college personalities in a variety program. Frank Kostuck narrates. "World of Tomorrow" is a Sigma Zeta presentation given on Thursdays. It is a preview of the wonders we may look for in the post-war world. Margaret Guth reads a script written by Betty Furstenberg, vice-president of the fraternity. On Fridays, Vi Lindow and Esther Davidson present "The Music Album," America's heritage. It is a history of music in America with Frank Kostuck as the narrator.

The goal of the workshop is better radio listening. Those people down there are working to build educational and cultural programs of high quality, to aid rural teaching by presenting superior material over the air, and to train teachers in the use of radio in the classroom. The Radio Workshop sets a goal and offers practical training and experience for those who participate in the project.

The Band is Back

Yes, the band is back! And an enthusiastic welcome to it. For the past few years the band, like so many other organizations at CSTC, has been limited by the decreased wartime enrollment. This year a band of 30 members has again appeared at football games and an assembly. Praises are also deserved by the students who directed the band at the pep meeting on October 18.

Peter J. Michelsen, the director, expects to have a larger membership next semester when more service men have returned to college.

NOTICE

Sigma Tau Delta will meet on Wednesday, October 24, at 7:30 in the Student Lounge. Members are reminded that three cumulative absences will eliminate them from the organization.

Dorm Doin's

by Marion

October sunshine smiled a welcome, as dozens of alums came up the porch steps of Nelson Hall Saturday to stay for the first Homecoming festivities at CSTC since 1942. There were none of the elaborate decorations of former years, but the same friendly spirit prevailed in the Hall. Former Dormites found themselves right at home when, after the football game, Nelson Hall held open house for the shivering but exultant fans. Hot chocolate and wafers were served to alums, Dormites, the team, and to the visiting team.

Fall plans for the Dorm include a big redecorating campaign in the smoker and the recreation room. The work on the smoker is well underway. Last week busy Dormites washed the walls and the ceiling, and this week it is being painted a cool green. New drapes, re-upholstered furniture, and a new tile floor are in the offing. Next Saturday a rummage sale will be held to raise money for the recreation room fund. Dormites, bring your rummage!

Mary Juetten returned to the Dorm Sunday after a week of pheasant hunting in South Dakota with her dad and her twin brother. Evidently Mary did more than hunt pheasants—there was a letter waiting for her when she got back.

Shirley Haskins, a former Dormite, visited us for a few minutes Sunday before returning to Chicago where she is employed.

Gloria Reidl was a happy girl Sunday night. A long distance call from Washington brought the good news that her boy friend had returned to the States.

In ABC E comes after D, and that's the way it is at Nelson Hall. Latest romance is Eugene Diercks and Dorothy Loucks. At last we have a houseboy who is not entirely indifferent to our charms! But we miss you, Amen. (Amenzo Warden, to you).

The piano played "Here Comes the Bride", and down Nelson Hall's living room came a young lady in a beautiful pink formal carrying a bouquet of gladiolas and chrysanthemums. No, it wasn't a bride, just Betty Furstenberg on dress parade after her sister's wedding.

Camused kids were Joan Kelley and Roberta Shepard when they came in at 12:32 Saturday night. Now they agree with Mickey McLaughlin that they had the wrong man!

Guests at the October birthday party were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Doudna. The table was decorated with a football field as a centerpiece with yellow footballs in random positions on the table. Eight Dormites had birthdays in October.

Lucille Lemsky entertained Doris Ubbelohde and Marion Hemmrich at her home in Marinette this weekend. (They had a wonderful time.

ing a 24 yard run by Fullback George Emmerich in the third quarter, Hardina plunged over from the one foot line for Point's final score.

Judd Kicks

The game began with End John Judd kicking off for Point. Whitewater received and advanced the ball for three first downs before being forced to kick. The punt, a long bouncing one, went out of bounds on the one foot line. Attempting to get out of the corner, Bob Hartman kicked. His punt was blocked, however, and Whitewater's Kachel fell on it back of the goal line for a Quaker touchdown. The kick for the extra point failed. Whitewater kicked off and the Pointers advanced the ball in one, two, three fashion to the Whitewater 34 yard line, only to lose the ball on a fumble.

Unable to penetrate CSTC's stiffening defense, Whitewater was forced to punt as the second quarter began. Hartman returned the kick to the Point 40 yard line. Then the Pointer's offensive began to roll, and with Emmerich and Burt carrying the ball, surged up to the Quakers' 9 yard line. An unlucky fumble followed, however, with Whitewater recovering. Whitewater was unable to take advantage of its possession and was forced to punt. Burt returned the kick from mid-field to the Whitewater 29. Hardina plunged to the 20 after which Emmerich smashed through to the 15 yard line, scoring a first down.

Hardina then followed up with his 15 yard dash for Point's first touchdown. Nikolai kicked the extra point, putting CSTC in the lead.

Hardina Scores Again

With Whitewater's surrendering the ball on downs on its own 33 yard line early in the 3rd quarter, the Pointers began their march down the field for another score. Emmerich virtually playing a one man game, crashed through the line to the 30, the 25, 24 and finally to the one foot line. Hardina took over and plunged through for Point's second score. Nikolai's attempt for the extra point failed.

The remainder of the third and greater part of the fourth periods saw Whitewater launching an all-out drive, collapsing finally with Spangle, Point center, recovering a Whitewater fumble on the Point 19 yard line. Regaining the ball, Whitewater went on the march again advancing to Point's 8 yard line before finally losing the ball on downs. The game ended a couple of minutes later with Point in possession of the ball.
