College Band Again
To Welcome Alums

tion of Peter J. Michelsen, will hold a homecoming on Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28.
Approximately 36 band directors
plan to attend the homecoming.
They will play with the college band, making a total of 85 people in the organization.
The group will spend Saturday rehearsing, and on Saturday evening, a homecoming banquet will be servied at Frame Memorial Presbyterian church.
A concert will be presented at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon in the college auditorium. A feature of the concert will be a two-piano duet by Uhu S. Delzell, Margaret Miller, with band accompaniment.
Several homecoming students will direct the concert. The concert is being sponsored by the business men of Stevens Point.
Tickets may be obtained from the business places in the city.

12:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, preceding the Easter concert.
Bouquets of sweet peas, flanked by tall lavender tapers, will decorate the dining room tables. Colored Easter eggs nested in miniature baskets will serve as place cards.

dinner is Elaine Becker. Her assistants are Mary Martin, Schreider,

See "Life" at CSTC

"Life at Central State Teachers College", a publication giving an attractive pictorial presentation of the school, was issued last week by the Chamber of Commerce. The bulletin will be used in contacting propective students.
The booklet, which was financed by a gift of $1,000 from an anonymous donor, was planned and the material written by Richard Brady and Paul Parkinson, local advertising men.
The college committee of the Chamber of Commerce sponsored the publication. Members of the committee are K. B. Willett, chairman, A.
M. Diedrich, Lloyd Whitney, Miss
Mary Decker, O. Michelsen, Kenneth Anderson, W. S. Deazel and B. W.
Dagnue.

Students and faculty of CSTC are greatly appreciative of the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and are grateful for the gift of $1,000 which made possible the publication of the bulletin.

Add Independents

Wintry winds and drizzling rain prevented the intra-mural softball league from going into action last week as originally planned. The "Big Wheels" and the "Seagams" didn't have to cancel their turntournement engagement because of the rain.

A meeting of team captains was held at the end of the meet and the tournament schedule adopted. Weather permitting, the teams will commence playing their league this week. The Big Wheel league is the "Independents" team. Commonly dubbed the G.D.I.'s the Independents are played by Phil Legg, Fred Carrigan and Merlin Brunner. The other teams in the league are the Chi Dels, Phi Sig's, Big Wheels, and Seagams.

Tours For Men's Glee Club Are Announced

town appearances, the Men's Glee Club will present their concert at Rhinelander High school at 11 a.m. Friday, April 5. In the afternoon the 25 men dond appearance of the day. Members of the group enjoyed a noon dinner at the school and then in the best of humor sang their program at one o'clock before a large audience.

Soloists were Wayne Salter, tenor, and Frank Kostuck, baritone. Bob Westenberger played the piano accompaniment for the Glee club.
A trip to two high schools, Rhinelander and Eagle River, was planned for Thursday, April 11. The program at Rhinelander will be at 11 a.m., after which the organiza-

Kostuck as baritone soloist. Steve Spedel, as guitarist, will join the group.
On Tuesday afternoon, April 23, a concert will be presented at the P.J.
Jacobs High school in this city.

If you've been reading the proverbs and bits of advice about this time of year, you'll notice an ominous warning to the lovelorn. It seems that many a parting of the ways occurs in the spring (sounds corny, but it has a point, doesn't it? Anyway, with the sap rising and other such revolutionary happenings, emotion runs at a high fever pitch and before one knows it, farewell. So we wise ones sit back and see what "friendships" run into summer.

In this Roberts joins the Proud Papa club with the announcement that Pamela Ann has presented herself to the Roberts family, Congrats and best wishes.

Last weekend we saw a very becoming fashion exhibit displayed by the Burroughs' former students and their wives, Mrs. Burroughs were out strolling in identical red plaid jackets. Very snappy.

A story in Klink's we heard Marilyn Anderson moaning about the plight down at the "U." She went down for the weekend and tells the fate of the men are so numerous that they cut it at dances. (No, it can't be true!)

Word from the alums: Jacqueline Spande and her husband, and Marjorie Prey, of Seymour, are advisers for school newspapers in their respective high schools. Jackie's plaid roommate is so far, and the staff is offering a prize for the name suggested. The Seymour paper is called the Blue Jay. Jackie was the Pointer editor in 1943-44 and Marjorie was a copy editor the same year.

Did you hear that voice of character in the hall the other day? Well, we did, and we poked our heads out to see if we had guessed right. Sure.

Mr. Rightsell Returns
Raymond M. Rightsell, director of the Physics Department at CSTC, recently returned from education at the University of Wisconsin, has been appointed by the University of Wisconsin, to the position of Assistant Professor in the Department of Physics. He was in Mr. Rightsell's classes at Bartlett. While in a Paris hospital, Mr. Rightsell also met James Cox, who was one of the original group of the 22nd College Will be held on Tuesday.

Student Council
Busier Than Ever

With the completion of the Maridi Co-op building, the Student Council is busier than ever. Two problems which are being considered are the remodeling of assemblies and the student food situation.

The Council has agreed to manage assemblies for the year and is organizing programs for dates where no assembly has been scheduled. In regard to the food situation, generally the prices the students are paying for their meals are too high. The Council has a committee studying the situation, and when a committee is appointed, the Council will act to recommend an economical and balanced meal program for the average college student.

STUDENT OPINION

Dear Editor,

Upon perusing the Student Opinion (April 10), it is quite obvious that the author either thoroughly misinterpreted the opinions of Mr. XYZ (March 27) or he deliberately misrepresented them. I know Mr. Rightsell, and he is one of the leaders of the Greek organizations, and I don't know of any one who has ever accused him of being a phony, or of having any sort of a personal agenda. He has always been a vocal member of the op-ed department in the past, and I don't think that anyone would disagree with his views.

Thank you for your time, and I look forward to reading more of your fine articles in the future.

Harley J. Powell, a CSTC alumnus, was recently elected president of the Wisconsin Association of School Administrators. Mr. Powell is the superintendent of schools at Clintonville, and he was recently elected president of the Association, which holds a meeting in Milwaukee this month.

Mr. Powell, who was formerly superintendent at Mount Horeb and at Clintonville, attended CSTC from 1921 to 1924. His wife received the Bachelor of Education degree here in 1930.

Spring Fashions
Snafu, Men

By ART SWENSON

Dig out those khakis and pinks, men, it’s going to be a tough season on well-dressed students. Unless someone does something in a large-sized hurry, spring styles for men will consist of whatever they were lucky enough to find last fall. Local men’s clothing stores, reportedly in business for the purpose of selling men’s clothing, have released a number of statements on the subject, among them being, “We had three topcoats last week but they’re all gone now”; “Sport jackets! Well, if you can wear a size 32 we may be able to fit you in a 1938 model”; “Spring suits?! We’ve had them on order for a year or more; we do have one item in just your size, though, a raincoat bought on army surplus”—but the chances are that you already have an army raincoat and if you didn’t have, you wouldn’t want one anyway.

Flannel or gabardine slacks with a contrasting jacket would be hot stuff for casual wear, but one can’t get slacks of any description, and as for the jackets, the old army expression applies—tough season! For suits, tweeds are in demand as much as hard-finish blues and browns, but they’re not in the stores long enough to collect a thin film of dust. Topcoats of respectable description haven’t been seen in any quantities worth mentioning since the year of the big flood.

Jackets and windbreakers are to be found at a price—but most vets aren’t laying out much of their hard-earned 65 rocks for jackets. The reason for this is the fact that practically everybody and his brother has at least one gift from Uncle Sam in the form of an A-2 flying jacket, combat jacket, flight jacket, battle, or Eisenhower jacket, Navy pea jacket, or Navy flying jacket. Probably the best deal for would-be Beau Brummels is in the tie department. Neckwear ranges from solid colors through stripes and plaid and on up to the strictly-psycho hand-painted affairs. Some of these Dali-inspired numbers have birds, fish, and idyllic woodland scenes splashed upon what was originally good material.

Pajamas? Ha! Truly a cause for howling anguish. The average store has roughly five pairs of pajamas—all of the size ‘A’, which should fit your kid brother if you come from a family of midgets.

Argyle plaid sox in wool and cotton mixtures are available only in limited quantities, but other varieties, chiefly plain colors, are fairly well represented. As for the shoes one or two places are showing a nice line of assorted saddle soaps and polishes. You just can’t get ’em, bud—so scrape the mud from these GI brogans and walk around looking at the sky. Others will follow your example and fail to notice your sturdiness if unattractive boots.

It looks rough, chaps. In fact we’d even venture to say that the only way you can be assured of being sartorially excellent is to re-enlist. That ‘swish’ you just heard was this writer dashing down to the nearest recruiting office to be the first in line!!!!
