Dr. Jenkins Gives Yuletide Greetings
Dr. Warren G. Jenkins, chairman of the Student Council, assemblyed the student body of Central State Teachers College:

Students:

This is the Christmas season. When you go home this year take good cheer to your families. Remember—take a little of family life for yourself, for you are what they want.

Go for a vacation that will be a thorough one; so don't take college with you. Forget your assignments and exams; when you return there will be time for school. Have a Christmas in which you enjoy your family.

Give your greetings to your families.

P.S. Leave your books here.

English Class Hears Informative Talks
Mr. and Mrs. Armistead Smith, owners of the six-ounce English 125 class relaxed last Wednesday and Friday when the class was given by Harry Jones, a senior at CSTC, and Armour Jones, the CSTC veteran's counseling service.

Harry Jones spoke on Wednesday afternoon on the Public School System. Harry, having conducted this course last year, was stationed in England when this course was delivered in his subject and answered many of the questions that resulted by the students.

English Schools Stress Classics
The Smiths had a famous English family; Harry had come across his subject in the English schools where much emphasis is placed on a classical education than on a practical education. Also, under the operation of Harry, English has informed the students of the English schools as well as the student government.

Mr. Hawkins spoke on Friday on the "Veteran's Educational Guidance Program at CSTC." In his talk, Mr. Hawkins discussed the program and what benefit a veteran derives from this service.

Mr. Hawkins expressed hopes for future English clubs that will be adopted by all schools. A brief explanation of the various tests and exercises concluded the class period.

Windows for Concert Made by Art Classes

Many were the oh's and ah's of approval and appreciation as concert-goers filed into the auditorium last Sunday and Monday nights and saw the gaily lighted trees and the beautiful window designs for the decorations for the annual Christmas concert.

Used Old Storm Windows

These windows represented two works done by the students in Mr. and Mrs. Armour Jones classes. Miss Edna Carleton's art classes.

The essence of the window was the work of the students. Many groups of students were formed into the groups with Mrs. Armour Jones and Catherine Timmer. Using old storm windows found in the attic and the college, the students worked out a real work of art.

The figures for the windows were drawn first on large sheets of paper and then placed against the storm windows. Some were used, some were used against a black airplane lacquer. The colors used in painting the windows were decided upon after the students visited St. Stephen's Catholic church.

Christmas Message From Mr. Hansen

Mr. Hansen, chairman of the state board of education for the other season of the year has been summarized in its last meeting. The tradition and tradition and legend custom of the Christmas season. We have no other season than the season of the Christmas spirit. Cities festoon their business section with evergreen garlands and Christmas trees. A month before the Christmas Day, it was the fact that the Christmas spirit persists in spite of the commercialization is evidence of its deep roots.

As we approach this Christmas season it is my hope that all of you may enjoy in the fullest measure of the spirit of Christmas, the joy, the peace, the good will toward all, immortalized in Christmas song and story. I hope you may not enjoy only enjoy, but to use the gift of good fortune to exemplify them at your family fireside and in your community. This is my wish for you.

C. H. Hansen, President

Omg Dance Follows Christmas Holiday

Eye-catching black and white snowflake posters hung at strategic points throughout the halls in advance of the Student Union's annual grand Christmas dance and vocal concert. The notice was semi-final to be held at Hotel Whitting on Saturday night, December 11, given by Omega Mu Chi sorority.

This "Snow-Ball" is an all-school dance and singing program by the CSTC. Because of the high cost of the subscription, all students are required to pay their share of the cost. The money raised will go toward the purchase of the lights for the Christmas tree and other decorations.

Individual parties on Friday night are taking place, but tickets are sold at the door for the show that night, or may be obtained from any Omeg active.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Charles and Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Doudna will be chaperones at the dance.

Fifth Grader Wins Slogan Contest

Dick Kitzrow, who is a pupil in the 3rd grade at the Training School, won a $10 prize for a Safety Slogan in a contest conducted by Chairman's Jewelry Store. His winning slogan was "You're the kid who's sick; avoid that hospital bed."

Dr. Tolo's Polk Names Byrnes "Man of the Year"

James E. Byrnes, Secretary of State, was chosen "man of the year" in the annual dinner of the Central State Teachers College.

Dr. Harold M. Tolo's history classes last Monday, December 14. Of the 136 votes cast, Byrnes received 50. John L. Lewis was second high with 44; Dr. and Mrs. Tolo's training school was lowered in order, respectively, Eisen- man and Mackenzie each received four votes.

Even Killoy got in. One young man of the college came up to the man of the year. TIME magazine will announce its choice sometime in January and it might be interesting to see how this tabulation lined up with the others.
Room and Board For $3.00 Per Week

By Charles Cudahy

We have just stepped off the train of the Wisconsin Central and have been warned that we will have no room. However, when we called on Stevens Point while we prepare our arrival lists for the school, we found that our plans had been foiled. As a result, we have been able to secure a room and board for $3.00 per week.

Season's greetings to you now that we have arrived at the Stevens Point school. For many of us this will be our first time away from home, and some of us have never even seen snow. But I'm sure that the experience will be memorable.

It seems we started a bit of controversy when we decided to give the Booster club some recognition. However, we believe that this is an important part of school life and a great way to support the students.

Just one more thing before we start wrapping our Christmas presents and addressing our Christmas cards. We would like to bring up the suggestion again that we have 10 minutes between classes. These can be used to attend classes or to spend time with friends and family. It is very important that we get the most out of our college experience and make the most of our time here.

Happy holidays and good luck!

The Student Opinion

Home Ec Club

Pat Lavers and Elaine Becker have been chosen as delegates to represent our college at the Seventh Province Workshop in Chicago. The College Home Ec clubs from Wisconsin, Iowa and Michigan will take part in this workshop. The workshop will be held at the Atherton Hotel from February 30 to 12.

Radio Workshop

"The College Roundtable" on Thursday, December 12th, 11:30 o'clock will continue to discuss the possibilities of uniting the United Nations charter. This program, a presentation of Radio Workshop, is well worth your time.

Then—here are just a few reminders to keep the mind throughout the holiday season.

On Monday, January 6, our "Prognosis" health program will be heard on our "Our College" program. Frank has chosen to sing the ever popular "Lost Chord," the so well remembered. "Who is Sylvia?" and the mysterious "I'll miss this presentation!"

He will review "The American" by Howard fast, and "The Natural History of Nonsense," by Edward G. Bullock. The "Young Authors" program, Tuesday, January 6.

The outstanding feature of the week will be the presentation of "The Young Novelists" by the "Playwrights Shop" players. Broadcast, on Wednesday, December 12, 7:45 P.M., this series of recordings specially for children will be dedicated to all the children of the Stevens Point. Deryl Fontal and Harv Abrahamson are in charge of the broadcast.

As a final note—May Christmas be all to the Radio Workshop Staff.

Newman Club

Norman Fehrenbach showed movies of John Patrick Tracy, and the students of the La Crose Diocese, at the Newman club Christmas party, held at St. Stephen's school last Thursday evening, December 11. Following this, a series of pictures on Canada was shown.

Refreshments of ice cream and Christmas cookies were served by Miss Janet dense and Miss Leona. The rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

Miss May Roach and Father John P. Yant, chairman of the planning committee, were present at the party.

LSA

TUESDAY AFTERNOON

By way of background, Joe played for many again during the Christmas vacation. The Chi Delta, Joe served as a member of the varsity basketball team at the University of Dubuque. Berg is remembered as the lad who made the 816 total, and McGonagel is remembered as the leader of the Point quintet with 12 points.

Women's Sports on Tuesday Afternoons

If you ever chance to pass by the gymnasium between four and five on Tuesday afternoon and hear evidence of organized play, chances are it's really only CSTC's sports-loving girls talking a fling at volleyball. Miriam Meservey, enthusiastic phy ed assistant, states that the games are neither indoor nor outdoor. They may be played in any way with the Women's Athletic Association. Other sports, in addition to volleyball, were taken up later.

Everybody's welcome, so come on out for these afternoon sessions where you can participate in your favorite sports—just for the fun of it!
Room and Board
Prof. Gary E. Culver in the third floor physics laboratory. He is typical of the students here. He is a tall man with snow white hair and a long, stiff goatee. His swelling frame makes him look like a true gentleman and scholar while he0 cautiously checks the latest scientific equipment.

Taking leave of him, we return to the second floor and the library. Here we find students busy studying amid stacks of books and a maze of shelves. The school's nucleus is white marble is one of its proudest possessions. The place in the catalog, is devoted to the wonderful statue.

Passing back into and through the halls, we enter the zoology classroom. A huge glass case containing stuffed animals dominates the room. Leaving this room we gather in the music room. Immediately, the conversation turns toward the topic that connects most of us—the cost of living.

It is not a dream. Rooms are fitted costs a week. Depending upon the location and furnishings, they may be slightly higher. Room and board can be had for $2.50 to $3.50 for a week; the total average expense of the college in general is $460. We are neither in Utah nor CSTC in 1946. We are entering the State Normal school in the fall of 1949.

CSTC's Organizations
Now Have Their Own Press Representatives

When CSTC’s enrollment skyrocketed this fall to an all-time high, the many organizations and clubs formed the nucleus of college life expanded in membership and in activities accordingly. In order to aid the Pointer staff in keeping abreast of the many events and happenings within the organizations, press representatives or reporters were chosen by each group. The duty of these representatives and reporters is to report the happenings and incidents of interest which take place during meetings, parties and similar gatherings. This includes previews of coming events also.

The following list includes the names of the organizations and the person representing each group as the Pointer has them listed. If there are any corrections or additions, please leave a notice in the Pointer office.
