CTSC To Hold Regional Recreational Laboratory

Queen and King Are Crowned at Carnival

Lorraine Bishop and Jack Butt were royalty Tuesday night at the Mandi Fantome costume ball held in the Training School gym. The coronation was performed by Jane Miller and Gus Rademacher, second highest in the king and queen contest. Billy Mellin and Mildred Ross and Lorene Peters and Ed Ngibor were their Majesties' court.

The king and queen, the court, led a grand march through the streets of 'New Orlean's,' under music from Benny Gram's Music Store. The streets were lined with lamp posts and booths where mask makers could "sit one down" in a bottle of perfume, a hot dog or ice cream. LSA and WAA were among the organizations in charge of the costumes.

The dance followed a show put on in one of the "New Orleans' cabs- (the auditorium) by various campus organizations. Nelson won the prize for the best performance.

Frank Friday was master of ceremonies and kept the audience rolling with the assistance of Dick Okl, the big, bad, bartender, Elmer Hayes, the sleepy hobo, Dolores Jelinek and Betty (See CARNIVAL, page 4).

Everyone who is interested in becoming a better recreation leader in the community is invited. A $1.00 registration fee entitles the participant to the two outdoor program and also makes him a member of the association.

The local committee in charge of the event is composed of L. E. S. Pinterton, chairman, Patton county agent; Miss May Roach, CSTC; Mrs. Frances Glaza, CSTC; Dorothy Beers, CSTC; Mr. Bill Zorn, Portage county home agent; Principal Ben Held, Emerson school, Stevens Point; James Miskis, City Recreation Director, Stevens Point; Leo Schaeffer, Portage county agent's assistant; L. D. Culver, superintendent of Portage county school system.

The laboratory opens at 9:30 a.m., Friday, March 15, with registration. Following this M. P. Pinterton will make necessary announcements and Alex Petersen CSTC, will lead the group in community singing. At 10:20 a.m. Mr. Doudna will close the program.

Under The Rug with Dave

Woo woo, what a night, and of course we’re referring to last night and the Mardi Gras. Cheers, hoory and all that. It went off O.K., acc. to theendi, held by the the we suggest a bouquet to Betty Furstenberg for the management of the show.

Of course we can’t forget the unique stage setting and the special effects that almost made people (who can’t figure out just what that iron lamp mechanism was in the corner). Yup, a very convincing bit of scenic work.

Once more the Training gym groaned with the weight of rockh-Sing ing masqueraders. (We solemnly pronounced NOT to comment on costumes). Anyway, we saw quite a few that we attributed to hidden traits really leveled.

And so from one event into another, for we hear that the Juniors are making plans for a Spring Prom; the tentative date is April 27. And another thing I think is being hit by the Freshmen class with May 18 in mind.

The over-all result of the rushing parties is that this week was a very satisfactory one, but one casualty occurred. Lucille Vaughn was caught by Louise Rood last night under the peep hole. She’s out of action fectively on the ankle. We comment that there must be an easier way to get there at night.

After the faculty meeting on Feb. 26. Mr. Lewis treated the other members with candy, honoring his good candidate for 1946, Ann CAROL Lewis. We feel sure that the new Miss Lewis is assured life-long popularity with a start like this. And speaking of the faculty meeting; ge seems that we students are really missing out on something in view of the faculty birthday celebrations. It is in the get-togethers that the unknown abilities of our; are revealed, but, oh dear, we just never get to see them.

If you happen to hear the strains of organ music while strolling down the basement some day, don’t be alarmed. Maxie Kopchinski has in his apartment a wind instrument, kept in a corner of the stage room for some years. It seems the boys got curious one day and noticed the organ, caught Max’s eye, so he moved it down to the make-up room where he could enjoy it easier. And so he does.

An ex-CSTC gal, Norma Jane Kruger, also known as “Jim”, seems to be making headway at LaCrose, where she is now in school. Just to mention a few of her accomplishments, Norma is business manager of both the annual and the weekly school paper.

Say, what do some of you P.P.S. ( Proud Papas) think about having a baby week some one of these days? Why not a little recognition for the entire population of tomorrow, namely the Buggy Brigade. We suggest a week for the posting of pictures of these fair ones and other informative data. (Surely, the P.P.S. won’t have to be urged?)

We thought it was pretty nice of Andy of the Est Shop to have the entire school team and coach Bob Olk as guests at a dinner last Monday night. And we understand the enthusiastic guests ate their way through the plates during the evening. Hey, it seems to us that spring is just about on the way; at least it smells like bud-bursting time, gun. And you know what that means at the end of the year is fast approaching. But don’t forget the Irish. (They always get the ‘fast’ one). St. Patrick’s day is here in a little short week, so prepare with the green finery.

Regional Art Show To Be Held Here

The state rural art show usually held annually in Madison is branching into regional shows. The first regional show will be held at Central State Teachers college on March 15 to 28.

People living on farms or in rural communities or any person with a farm background who is not a professional artist is eligible to exhibit two original paintings or sculpture. Pictures which were exhibited in the past rural shows at Madison are eligible. New exhibitors must fill out an official form which they may obtain from Miss Edna Carlsten at C.S.T.

During the Recreational Labora- tora day at Central State Teachers college on March 15 and 16, James Schwabacher of the University of Wisconsin and general manager of state and regional art shows, will conduct gallery tours.

Letters have been sent to 16 counties to former exhibitors in the state show.

Senior students of the Rural Department will assist Miss Carlsten in hanging the pictures.

Anthropologist To Speak At Assembly

Miss Ethel Alpenfelt, lecturer in the field of anthropology, will be the assembly speaker on Thursday, March 7. Miss Alpenfelt is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Her talk will help provide an understanding of man and his society in reference to both the biological and cultural aspects.

The lecturer will probably raise such questions as: Why have people developed certain relationships? What are the racial classifications? And what are some of the inter-racial problems?

Miss Alpenfelt spoke at CSTC last May on the same general subject and her talk proved to be definitely worthwhile. She has a charming personality and a wealth of knowledge and presents her subject in an interesting way.

Intramural Sports Program Underway

Intramural sports are getting into full swing at CSTC despite a late start. A comprehensive intramural program had been planned by Coach Bev Miller, but because of the necessity he was unable to get the program underway. Sports enthusiasts in school have gotten together, however, and are planning a series of sports events.

Already organized and going strong is the basketball league, composed of six teams, which is currently engaged in a basketball tournament which has proved to be a definite success. The tournament consists of two halves, and the winners of each individual half are to meet in a grand finale playoff. Games are currently being played on Monday nights in the Training school gym.

A student-faculty bowling league and volleyball league has also begun, being orga- nized. Bowling plans call for the forming of a six team league which will play a one round sched- ule, to be followed by a playoff to determine the champion. Students are asked to form their teams and place a roster on a sheet to be posted on the Physical Educa- tion bulletin board. Individuals not affiliated with a team should also sign up so that additional teams may be formed.

Two teams have already been prepared and organized and as soon as the necessary teams are formed, a meeting will be held to determine the schedule for bowling. The South Side alleys are being made available for bowling.

The volleyball league is being or- ganized on a slightly different basis, plans calling for the formation of an eight team league. The alphabet has been broken down into eight groups and any student wishing to play volley ball will be put into the group that contains the letter with which his team name commences. The purpose behind this idea is to prevent "power" teams, thereby keeping competition evenly balanced.

If this system proves successful, it is hoped that it may be developed into a permanent setup. Students interested in playing volleyball will be urged to sign up immediately on the sheet posted on the Physical Education bulletin board.

The training school news:

Attends Meeting

Miss Gladys Van Arsdaile, third grade supervisor, attended a committee meeting of the Wisconsin As- sociation of Childhood Education in Madison. Friday. Plans were made for a spring meeting of the elementary school teachers of the state to be held at the Dell Hotel, Lake Delton, on May 16 and 17.

Study Unit

As part of a unit on Switzerland, the fourth grade group "Heidi" and other stories of the Swiss. They are drawing the various modes of transportation, from the early cog wheel to the railroad, as an art project. Two of the fourth graders, Dick Kitzow and Suzanne Monroe, are back in school after being absent since Christmas.

Publish Papers

A copy of each of the "younger" Points was sent to the Pointer office for the finished copy. They proved interesting indeed.

An editorial in the Puppy Pointer, publication of the 6th grade of the Central School, by Ross, himself, Robert Rinsie, stated that the phy. ed. program has greatly improved since Mr. Poulsby and Mr. Caraballo left.

The paper covered a considerable range of news and feature stories. Hearts and flowers drawn by Billy Taylor and Rex Davis, along with valentine rhymes, were on the front page. News of each grade appeared, including a report of which week, a page of jokes and games and things to make. There was even the first instal- ment of a short story in the paper.

The Junior MDB Pointer, publication of the Junior high school, also covered a variety of subjects, both news and feature. The defeat of Rapids by the MDB basketball team made the headlines in bold-face and an inch high.

Web supervisor

There was a welcome to Mr. Rinka, the new history supervisor, and two pages welcoming student supervisor Ben for the junior high. The student supervisor consisted of short articles by the new students themselves. A full page picture and verse by Allan Summers was the contribution of the Junior High school to Brotherhood Week.

Plan Future Programs

When Father James Geyer scheduled guest speaker, was unable to attend Newman club last Thursday night, members spent the evening discussing plans for future programs.

Newman club has decided to have an initiation for all Catholic students who are not members at the present time. Since there is no record of religious preferences, Catholic students are urged to attend the next meeting or to contact Miss May Roach, faculty adviser, or some member.

It was moved that during the Lenten season, each member will make a small sacrifice by donating one change to a fund. The money will be used to purchase a Catholic magazine for the library.

Mass Communion has been planned for Palm Sunday, during the 8 o'clock mass at St. Stephen's church. Every Catholic student is invited and urged to be present.

Breakfast plans have not yet been entirely completed.

A Question Box will provide material for the next program. Every member is asked to bring at least one question. Other students who have questions are encouraged to submit them and everyone is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Make Pledge Plans

Plans were made for second-semester pledging at a meeting of Sigma Tau Delta last Wednesday evening in the Student Lounge.

Pledges will be given their duties at a meeting this afternoon, and the pledging period will be climaxd by a homecoming banquet on April 6.

Members chose their fraternity keys and drew up an order for their purchase.

Sketch Published

A CSC senior, Doris Ubbelohde, was honored with a descriptive sketch published in the winter issue of Sigma Tau Delta, national English fraternity. Her sketch is entitled "The Lake Maiden." Two former students, Alva Thompson and Mabel Briere, had poems published in the same issue of the magazine.

Speaks to Group

Robert S. Lewis gave an interesting presentation of the use of visual aids in the classroom at a Grammar Round Table meeting in Room 106 on Monday evening. Mr. Lewis illustrated the value of Kodachrome slides and strip films through the use of two different types of projectors. A workshop period gave the members an opportunity to experiment with both projectors.

During the business meeting, plans were made for an Audio-aid Workshop to be held at the next meeting on April 1. This workshop will be under the direction of Miss Gertie Hanson. Election of officers will also take place at this meeting.

Party Is Successful
Good old school spirit was in evidence at the Forum party which was held in the Training School gym last Wednesday evening. Many other organizations were represented, as each member of the Forum could bring a guest.

The entertainment committee headed by Carl Paspe, presented an amusing Charlie Chase movie called "What a Bozo" and a cartoon, "Poor Cinderella."

Following the movie there was dancing to the music of the juke box under the direction of Bud Hardrath. A lunch of milk and cake was served by Dolores Cowles, chairman of the refreshment committee.
