

Juniors Will Have First Postwar Prom

Don't be late—get a Date, the Junior Prom's only two days away! Better hurry and make those last-minute arrangements, 'cause the first jet-propelled, atomic, postwar Prom will be held in the Training School gymnasium on Friday, May 24, at 9 p.m., and you can't afford to miss it. Tickets are on sale in the hall now at $1.50 per couple, so get yours right away.

The theme of the Prom will be that nostalgic melody, "It's Been a Long, Long Time", and the music will be furnished by Larry Woodbury and his orchestra. It will be no surprise to most of you to learn that Prom King Art Pejsa has chosen Alice Hetzer to be his Queen. They will lead the Grand March at 10 o'clock after which dancing will continue until 1 a.m.

Members of the junior class have worked very hard to make this a "super" Prom, under the direction of the following committee chairmen: Decorations, Ruth Ruff; programs, Carmen Vincent; advertising, Barbara Felker; furniture, Gus Rademacher; tickets, Guy Roberts; social, Nelda Dopp.

Chaperones for the dance are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Harris. Junior class advisers are Dr. Harold M. Tolo and George R. Berg.

Don't Fail To Vote For Student Council

Friday, May 24, will be Election Day for Student Council representatives for the 1946-47 school term. Four representatives each will be chosen from the freshman, sophomore and junior classes, and one representative each from the divisions.

Nomination papers may be filed at the main office any time before Friday. At least 25 and not more than 40 signatures are required on each nomination paper, or one fourth of the number of students in the class or division to be represented, whichever number is the smaller. Students will be able to cast their ballots at the election table which will be in front of the library all day Friday.

The Council election will be held now so that there will be an efficient and capable Student Council ready to commence operation at the beginning of the fall term. The incoming freshman class will elect their representatives at the beginning of the school year. Students are urged to participate in this election both as candidates and as voters. It should be remembered that the Student Council as a representative student body can be a strong influence upon school policies and student activities.

Hold Annual Awards Assembly Program

The winners of CSTC's annual scholastic and extra-curricular awards were honored at an Awards Day assembly last Thursday, May 16. The assembly program, which was arranged by the Student Council, was opened with two selections by the Girls' Glee club. Directed by Marjorie Stimm and accompanied by Rosemary Nelson, the girls sang "I'll See You Again", featuring a trio by Dolores Cowles, Esther Davidson, and Laverne Haskins, and "Music of Life", sung by the entire club.

The forensic award, given to the freshman man and woman who have shown outstanding achievement in speech each year, was awarded by Leland M. Burroughs to Edmund Przybylski and Marne Guth. The names of the winners are to be engraved on the trophies, which remain in the college. Mr. Burroughs also awarded purple and gold emblems to Frank Splitek, Ed Przybylski, Marne Guth, Dolores Jelinek, and Betty Ann Richardson for debate activities, and to Doris Ockerlander for oratory.

Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, presented for the first time a medal to the outstanding senior writer in the fraternity. Doris Ubbelohde was given the award by Eulah Walter, president of the fraternity. At this time, Eulah also honored the new members of the fraternity.

The WAA awards were presented to outstanding members of the organization by Nelda Dopp, WAA president. To those with one year's participation, purple and gold emblems

Dr. Gibson Is Named President at Duluth

Dr. Raymond C. Gibson, director of the Training school, has been named president of the Duluth State Teachers college. He will assume his new position after July 1.

Dr. Gibson said, "The toughest decision I ever had to make was in deciding to leave CSTC at this time, as I came here with the idea of staying indefinitely. I regard this past year as the most valuable experience I have ever had."

Dr. Gibson received his first teaching experience in a one room rural school in Kentucky and later taught and was principal in elementary and high schools in Kentucky. Later he came to Wisconsin and spent a number of years in Madison as elementary school principal. He assumed his position as director of the Training school in August, 1945.

The college at Duluth is one of six teachers colleges in Minnesota, and is approximately the same size as CSTC. Students and faculty wish President Gibson much success in his new position.

This Year's Iris Well on Its Way

"Every cloud has a silver lining" — and at CSTC the cloud of exam week will be lined with your 1946 Iris — we hope! (Of course, whether it's silver or not, is a big secret!)

The blooming of this school flower was almost an impossibility, because CSTC really was not planning on having a yearbook this year, but when the war ended and enrollment surged and seniors vowed they would shovel sidewalks to finance an annual, the Iris bulb sprouted. Its leaves have grown as you worked, lived and played throughout your first post-war year at Central State.

The general theme of the book is carried out in the Iris flower. Blossoming in the colors of summer, the cover (designed by a professional

The Pointer office will be open from 9-12 a.m. and from 1-4 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, May 23-24, to receive the Pointers of those students who wish to have bound copies made.

Each student should leave his Stevens Point address as well as his home town address with the person who receives his Pointers. The cost of binding Pointers is 30 cents per volume. This charge must be paid in advance. No Pointers will be accepted for binding after Friday, May 25.

At Long Last

With the publication of this, the last issue of the 1945-46 Pointer, we come to the end of a school year in which we have seen CSTC change from a war-time to a peace-time status.

With increased enrollment and resumption of many extra-curricular activities, the school presents an entirely different picture this spring than it did last September when, in fear and trembling, we held our first Pointer meeting. News is no longer at a premium; in fact, our weekly fear now is that there will be too much news. The phrase, "Kill that story—there isn't room for it", has become common parlance in the Pointer office.

It has been an interesting year in which to publish the Pointer. Now that the last of our Monday evening sessions has come and gone, we realize that we are going to miss the cheerful informality of those gatherings.

We should like to take this opportunity to thank the members of the staff for their cooperative efforts throughout the year. We also wish to express our appreciation to Miss Bertha Glennon, our faculty adviser and official "blue-pencil-er," to President William C. Hansen, whose help has been invaluable, and to the faculty.

To Mary Juetten, next year's editor, and to her staff we extend our best wishes for success. We hope that they enjoy publishing the 1946-47 Pointer as much as we have enjoyed publishing it this year.

Dorm Doin's

by Marion

As another school year draws to a close with a climax of spring activities, the girls of Nelson Hall think back on their year at the Dorm and decide that this summer they will miss every bit of it from 8 o'clock classes to the baby robins on second floor's fire escape. "For who", they say, "has a life quite like Nelson Hall's?" "It's an education in itself." "I wouldn't live any other place." "It's been fun, and I wouldn't have missed it for anything!"

The past month at Nelson Hall has been gay with special dinners. The annual Mother and Daughter banquet was followed by birthday dinners for April and May and June, July, and August. Girls having birthdays in April were Kathleen Berg, Anita Lang, Lucille Vaughan, Doris Ockerlander, Mary Lou Hutchins and Jeanne Cone. Celebrating in May were Gerry Roberts, Anne Huntzicker, Dolores Cowles, Pat Thorpe, Helen Trewartha, Caroline Krogness, Dolores Jelinek, Kathryn Peterson and Jean Smith. Guests for the April and May birthday dinner were Dr. A. S. Lyness and Miss Mildred Davis.

Having birthdays in June, July and August are the following: In June, Marne Guth, Roberta Shepard, Lorraine Meyer, Gail Smith, Evelyn Naska, Rose Dulske, Martha Randorf, Tonie Tushinski, Betty June Maki, Liz Stadler and Marie Eisenhammer. In July, Janice Milton, Shirley Brown, Betty Ruth Crawford, Vi Reiman, Althea Boorman, Beatrice Abraham, Lenore Arnette, Mary Ann Mlsna, Lorna Kloth and Clare Winter. In August, Dorothy Campbell, Marion Carew, Marianne Simonson, Gloria Reidl, Betty Dietz and Jo Shanks. Guests at the June, July and August party were Dr. and Mrs. O. Floyd Nixon.

Dolores Jelinek, Betty Furstenberg, Dolores Schulist, Jene Fumelle, and Betty Ann Richardson enjoyed a weekend at Silver Lake near Tomahawk. Before they left, the girls announced that they were going to "rough it", fish, do their own cooking, etc. (Sounds rough!)

On the sick list this week were Liz Stadler, Althea Boorman and Bess Jones. We do hope these girls recover in time for exams.

Running close competition with the tennis court these days is the chemistry lab. Pat Lavers and Elaine Becker began working one afternoon and became so engrossed that they forgot about supper and stayed till eight o'clock!

A happy girl was Anita Lang when her "Dutch" received his discharge from the Navy and came down to take her home to the junior prom.

The senior girls of Nelson Hall will be feted at a Senior dinner Thursday evening, May 23. Dormites who will graduate are Jane Miller, Thelma McClyman, Betty Furstenberg, Marie Eisenhammer, Dorothy Below, Lucille Lemsky, Myrtle Hanson, Doris Ubbelohde, Mary Lou Hutchins, Marion Hemmrich, Joyce Rathke, Clare Winter, Lois Pearson, Anita Lang, Jean Woltman, Lucille Vaughan, and Ellen Gordon.

Phi Sigs Will Hold Formal Dinner Dance Of . . . "Comes Spring"

The formal dinner dance to be held at Hotel Whiting this Saturday evening, May 25, will be sponsored by the newly organized Phi Sigma Epsilon Alumni association. It will be a homecoming for Phi Sigs who are back from service and those out in the teaching and business fields. It is the first dinner-dance sponsored by Phi Sig alums.

The Alumni association has invited Phi Sigma Epsilon members at CSTC to attend the alumni meeting and the dinner-dance. The alumni meeting will be held at the hotel Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bob Becker, q.s.p., who is secretary of the Alum Association, will preside.

The dinner will be served at 6:30 in the hotel dining room. Leland M. Burroughs, Fred S. Schmeckle and Edgar F. Pierson, faculty advisers of the fraternity, will be guests. The guests of those Phi Sigs who attend the dinner will receive sword shaped lapel pins with the Phi Sig crest on them, as favors.

The Alumni association extends an invitation to all the students at CSTC to attend the formal dance beginning at 9 o'clock at the Hotel. The "Castillians" from Wisconsin Rapids are playing. Tickets will be sold at the door at $1.50 a couple.

Bob Becker urges alums and active members who plan to attend the banquet to contact him immediately.

Honor Omeg Seniors

Senior members of Omega Mu Chi sorority were honored by underclassmen of the Omegas at a turkey dinner held in the Colonial room of the Point Cafe on Sunday, May 19.

The U-shaped table was decorated with white candles flanking a bouquet of lilies of the valley, tulips and iris.

The six senior guests, each of whom received a corsage of red roses, were Katherine Hope, Ellen Gordon, Lucille Vaughan, Marjorie Stimm, Marlys Reed, and Alice Davis. Other guests were the faculty advisers of the sorority, Miss Bertha Glennon and Mrs. Mary Samter.

After the dinner, Lorraine Peters, the new president, bade the seniors farewell and wished them success.

Co-chairmen of the dinner were Elizabeth Stadler and Janice Milton. Their committees were: Invitations, Althea Boorman, Ruth Finch; decorations and favors, Esther Davidson, Lorraine Peters; transportation, Louise Rogers, Kathryn Rosenow.

When spring comes to Central State, the startling realization comes to the senior that this is her last year at CSTC. She looks upon the familiar scene that has been workshop, home and playground to her for the past four years. The ivy climbing up brick walls, the graceful trees lining the walk, the green campus, the gray squirrels frisking about, and the groups of happy students migrating between the Eat Shop and the college—all are seemingly the same as when she entered as a freshman four years before.

The senior thinks back to her years at college. Her first day at CSTC, with its numerous forms to fill out, was an impressive introduction to the days that followed; yet it was very pleasant to see with the smiling faces of many helpful older students and instructors who became fast friends as the years went by.

As a freshman, our senior was introduced to the delightful aromas of the chemistry laboratory, the mysteries of French conjugation, and the invigoration of army setting-up exercises in her gym course.

As a sophomore her classes were small, and composed mostly of girls. Most of her male classmates of the year before were then in the service of our country.

As a junior, she moved into the unique institution of college life known generally as the girls dormitory, and more specifically as Nelson Hall. Perhaps one who has never lived in a dormitory does not experience the full meaning of college life. The close, lasting friendships, the co-operation, the sharing of joys and sorrows, thoughts, and activities, and the feeling of Home are not to be found so immeasurably by the college student outside the dormitory.

Upon enrolling for her last year, the senior entered upon her program a course innocently entitled "Practice". The Training school, which had remained in the background during her first three years of college, became the integral point in her daily program.

At last the senior understood why it is called "The Heart of the Teachers College."

The weeks have flown by, and the senior is contemplating graduation. It will be a Commencement for her from the standpoint of her career, but a graduation from that phase of life which has been most instrumental in making her HER.

To Present Program

Under the direction of Jane Miller, a group of students will present a talent program at an assembly on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The program is to be an informal one, with the scene a living room.

Those taking part are Shirley Brown, Laverne Haskins, Alice Hetzer, Bob Westenberg, Mickey Rybickie and Margaret Roberts.

Plans for the assembly, which is the last one of the school year, were made by the Student Council assembly committee composed of Ray Bartkowiak, chairman, Marion Hemmrich, Barbara Felker and Alice Hetzer.
