Hallowe'en Dance Given by Tau Gams

On Friday night, in the gaily decorated Training school gym, about 200 persons danced to music on record. The occasion was the Social Committee's Hallowe'en party, sponsored by Tau Gamma Beta sorority.

An entertaining floor show was presented with Jerry Smith acting as master-of-ceremonies. Frankie "Swoonatra" Kostuck, accompanied by Barbara Felker, sang several popular songs and Doris Ockerlander joined them in a selection. Buzz "Jose Iturbi" Dreyfus played several classical piano selections. Freshmen Elinore Bowman and Don Mayek, accompanied by Jean Walker, sang "Moonbeams". The V-5's presented a musical selection and three skits depicting their first day at CSTC, a typical night of "study", and a review of Hallowe'en night.

Chaperones for the affair were Miss Myrtle Spande and Mrs. Mildred Williams. Gilbert W. Faust was at the door to greet the crowd.

General chairman of the party was Nelda Dopp. The refreshment committee was headed by Betty Ruth Crawford and included Evelyn Markwardt, Mary Juettent, Jean Neale and Pat Thorpe. Entertainment chairman was Darlene Morren, and assisting were Pat Lavers and Mavis Bartlett. Marianne Simonson was chairman of the publicity committee. Helping her were Loretta Fenelon, Jeanette See and Lenore Arnette.

Home Ecs Hear Speaker

Mrs. Allen Hodell from the Wilshire Shop gave members of the Home Economics club suggestions and information as to the selection of accessories at a meeting of the Home Economics club on Monday evening. She emphasised the importance of harmony in gloves, hats, bags, jewelry, shoes and blouses.

Miss Bessie May Allen told the group about her trip to Columbus, Ohio, this past week to help the Home Economics department at Ohio State University celebrate its fiftieth anniversary.

Bess Jones, Elizabeth Johnson and Ethelyn Olson will be delegates at a convention of the Wisconsin Home Economics College clubs at Milwaukee Dower College in Milwaukee on Saturday, November 9. Elizabeth Johnson was chosen to lead a discussion at this meeting.

NOTICE

Attention, Sophomores! Class pictures will be taken up on the third floor, on Tuesday, November 12. This is the only day that Sophomore pictures will be taken so please be there at the time your name is scheduled. Time and names are: 10 a.m., "A" to "L"; 11 a.m., "L" through "Z"; 2 p.m. Any one whose picture was not taken in the morning.

Frosh Give Opinions About College Life

What do freshmen think of college? In the first place, this question is timely, since first-year students are in the majority at CSTC. In the second place, it brings up the question, "Do freshmen think?", which we will not discuss.

The reporter doing the interviewing was instructed not to accept "Oh, I like it okay," "It's all right," or cuss words for an answer. This made the task somewhat more difficult, as nearly everyone insisted on making his answer as short, fast and unoriginal as possible. However, after considerable prodding and coaxing, during the course of which the writer made a pest of himself, some faintly intelligible answers were obtained.

This first student to be interviewed, a male of the species, thought and rubbed his chin, then thought some more before clearing his throat and answering. His words

Klink's Co-Op Plan Adopted by Students

A Co-op eating plan, instigated by the Student Council, went into effect last Monday, when about 120 students took advantage of new dining facilities offered at Klink's restaurant. This plan provides 11 meals a week at a cost of $4.50.

The meals to be served on week days include dinner, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and supper between 5:45 and 6:45 p.m. Dinner, only, will be served on Saturday during the noon hour. Meals will be served cafeteria style and during those hours the restaurant will be open to Co-op members only.

The group will provide potato peelers, dish washers and a "clean-up" crew to assist during meal time.

Students who have not already bought their first meal ticket can purchase it at Klink's for $5.00 and get in on the advantages offered by the Co-op plan.

Miss Greiling Wed on Ship near Tokyo

Many students remembering Miss Ruby M. Greiling, former physical education instructor at Central State Teachers college before enlisting in the Red Cross in 1943, will be interested to hear of her recent marriage to Cmdr. W. R. Wilson, United States Navy. The ceremony took place on board the U.S.S. Chicago, near Tokyo, on October 26.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Wilson held a position as Red Cross club director, and although she has now resigned, her accomplishments while serving were many and varied. She established a Red Cross canteen in Sugamo prison, Japan, organized two football teams, edited a bi-weekly newspaper, as well as installing libraries, music centers and coffee and doughnut canteens.

Cmdr. and Mrs. Wilson will establish their residence at the Kamakura naval base, which is located 40 miles south of Tokyo.

Alumnus Among Teachers in Germany

George Paschel of Athens, who is an alumnus of CSTC, was among the 119 American teachers sent abroad to teach the children of United States soldiers and civilians residing in Germany.

Mr. Paschel received his B. E. degree here in August, 1944, as a graduate of the State-Graded course. He has taken further training at George Peabody college in Nashville, Tennessee.

The next to be queried, a girl, evidently didn't want to commit herself, as she gave a "rather evasive feminine answer: "I think we're having lovely fall weather."

Another female thought school to be "a lot of fun and a lot of finance."

Coming across a well-known college wit, we thought he might help us and this story with a real sidesplitter. But he too had a gripe. "College is fine, but there isn't enough co-education," he groaned.

If all this moaning and griping is discouraging any faculty members, remember that college is like the army—no one admits he's having a good time, even when he's dying of laughter.

Students Invited to Attend Meetings of Student Council

The Student Council wishes to extend an invitation to all students to attend and contribute to meetings of the organization which are held every Wednesday at 4 p.m. The Student Council is organized for student benefit and it is to the interest of each student to keep in touch with its representatives and their activities.

The Co-op eating plan which began its first week of operation last Monday was investigated and instigated by the Student Council in the interest of bettering eating conditions for students.

Now the Council turns to other matters. A committee has been appointed to investigate the activity ticket fund allocation and report on its adequacy or inadequacy. Council discussion this week will center around the activity fund allocation and the assembly program schedule.

Officers of the Council say to students:

"Have you a suggestion for the assembly committee? What type of assembly program would you like to see? Is there a problem you would like to put before the Council?"

"Visit your Student Council! Talk with the representatives and see that your opinions are voiced. Remember these students represent you in your student government."

These are all-college representatives on the Student Council: Frank Splitke, Naomi Barthels, Halbert Hardrath, Art Pejza, Dolores Jelinek, Frank Kostuck, William Mellin, Jim Buelow, Esther Davidson, William Golomski, Ed Fenelon, Bill Ramsay, Louis Jacoboski, Al Reque, Herbert Ottow, Helen Burull, Martha Stock and Evelyn Markwardt.

Boxing Team to Be Reactivated at CSTC

Inter-collegiate boxing, another of CSTC's sports which had to be abandoned in 1942, will soon be resumed.

Coch George R. Berg called a special boxing meeting last Thursday and laid plans for the resumption of the sport. The boxing program will not commence before December, however, because of a present shortage of equipment and lack of a boxing instructor.

Mr. Berg hopes to arrange a conference boxing schedule, and will discuss the possibilities at the Wisconsin State Teachers conference meeting, which meets in Madison, on November 22.

Seventeen CSTC men have signed up for boxing to date. They are Jerry Ambeling, Bob Anderson, Charles Cashulette, Sherman Dingledein, Casimer Gappa, Ellsworth Gaulke, Robert Grove, Bob Hansen, Leonard Jacoboski, Louis Jacoboski, Lee Krueger, Lewis Miller, Ned Nedermeyer, Edward Parlak, Jim Petersen, Bill Ramsay and John Zylka.

Several of the men have had high school boxing experience. In addition Hansen, Zylka and Leonard Jacoboski boxed while in the service. Hansen and Zylka also have had some previous experience at the University of Wisconsin.

Home, Sweet Home

Front Entrance To Training School

V-5's Make Training School Their Home

The first floor of the Training school, which was occupied by Army Air Corps trainees for a time during the war, has again been turned into a dormitory. Forty Naval Air Cadets are bunking in converted classrooms, with Gilbert W. Faust as "house mother".

The V-5's come from just about everywhere east of the Mississippi. Of the 40, only eight are Wisconsin residents. Pennsylvania heads the list with 13, Illinois boys number seven, three are from New York state, two each from Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts and Michigan, and one hails from Tennessee. Most of these boys would have found it impossible to come and scout for a room personally, so the present arrangement neatly solved the problem for them.

Double-deck Bunks

In all, there are six bedrooms occupied, with from four to eight to a room. The fellows sleep in double-deck army bunks. Their rooms are equipped with tables and study lamps, but there is a shortage of comfortable chairs. There is one main study room, and the gym stage is used as a lounge and game room.

In answer to the question, "Where do they eat?", Mr. Faust replied that arrangements are being made for the boys to get their meals at the dormitory, adding, "I guess most of them don't eat now. They haven't received their checks yet."

Each room selects a representative to a council which governs the group, subject to Mr. Faust's approval. There is a set of rules drawn up, concerned mainly with no smoking, no drinking, no "colorful" language and other similar rules.

The boys like the rooms and their "house mother", and prefer the Training school quarters to living in homes. They indicated that they would like to keep the same set-up next year, as they are here under a Navy two-year program.

Mr. Faust has his own room at the Training school. He says he is getting a kick out of his chaperone job, but adds, "I find it difficult to get enough sleep."

CSTC's Radio Workshop Broadcasting According to Production Schedule

Hallowe'en was celebrated on Thursday afternoon, October 31, by members of the Radio Workshop.

Miss Gertrude L. Hanson, workshop director, was hostess for the occasion. Coffee, apple cider and doughnuts comprised the lunch which was served from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Dolores Jelinek was general chairman in charge of food and decorations. Assisting her were Margie Hales, Jean Walker and Betty Ann Richardson.

Aside from the "Hallowe'en Coffee", the Radio Workshop is still broadcasting according to schedule. A complete list of the programs for next week is as follows:

November 7, "College Round-table". The question for discussion will be, "What Are the Weaknesses of the UNO, and How May They be Overcome?" Participants are Alan Fonstad, Merlin Brunner, Dick Howland, Tex Bragg and Lewis McDermott.

November 8, "Music Album". "Music of the West" will be the theme of this week's program. Music will include "On the Trail", "The Grand Canyon Suite" by Grofe, "Along the Navajo Trail" and "Home Sweet Home".

November 11, "Our College". A dramatic production based on Armistice Day will be presented this week. In addition, college news will be broadcast by Jim Cory.

November 12, "Books and Authors". Jean Walker will review "The Great White Hills of New Hampshire", by Ernest Poole, and "The Portable Faulkner".

November 13, "Radio Workshop Players". This program is the highlight of the week. The players will present "A Letter to Michael" by Lewis—a special play commemorating education week. It will be dedicated to the Stevens Point schools.

The cast will be Margaret Guth, John Kawoleski, Margaret Roberts, Jean Walker, Bob Kampshoer, Don Sprise and Bill Gage. Production will be directed by Alta Kromroy. Melvin Berg will be the announcer with Daryl Fonstad at the controls and Jim Stoltzenberg in charge of sound effects.

School Spirit is one issue that always needs boosting and for a time it looked as if there was a definite need for a boost at CSTC. However, since Homecoming and the splendid performance at the game, that necessity has been lightened somewhat.

We still have the problem of what to do with students who never attend school functions. Most of our all-school parties occur on Friday and Saturday nights...weekend nights when you're supposed to toss aside that physics and math and relax a bit. That's why social events are scheduled for weekends, to help you relax and at the same meet your fellow students on a social basis.

But....we have the laddies and lassies who must travel home each weekend to see how much wood Pa has chopped or to see the old gang. (Now, mind you, we're not talking about the people who must live at home and commute each day, nor those who work, etc., which necessitates their going home.) We are talking about those who don't give a hoot about school functions and go home just because there isn't anything else to do.

We're also talking to those who'd rather see a cowboy feature to while away the time than to spend an evening dancing, singing, playing games, or having a gab-fest over the doughnuts and cider served at a school dance.

These social events are planned and presented especially for you students. There's a lot of effort put into each party planned for you and if 20% of the student body shows up and the other 80% fades out of the picture, there's a lot of wasted time and energy plus disappointment on the parts of those who gave their time to preparing the party.

This is your school and you're not going to get anymore out of it than what you put in. If you go to an all school party (or don't go) feeling—"aw, it's nothing but kid's stuff"—you're not going to enjoy it and neither are those around you.

All school parties, assemblies, programs, etc. are a lot of fun and worthwhile, too, if you'll only get rid of that little guy riding on your shoulder who says "Don't be a sucker. Let's go to the movies."

It's up to you! Let's inflate the enthusiasm and take off at the next all school function.

Student OrganizationsPhi Sigma Epsilon

Approximately 50 men, rushers and actives attended the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity gathering at Hotel Whiting last Sunday evening. Entertainment consisted of card games followed by apple pie and coffee. The next gathering of the fraternity will be held on Sunday, November 10, at Hotel Whiting. Edgar F. Pierson, Fred J. Schmeeckle and Leland M. Burroughs are the faculty advisers.

WAA

If anyone happened to "peep" into the college gym on Wednesday night, he would witness some exciting games of volleyball. Yes, the WAAers are once again having their volleyball tournament.

Last week, Ruth Wachholz's team defeated Mickey Rybicke's team by the score of 40 to 36. Another game was played between Virginia Hansen's group and Anne Huntzicker's group, the victors being Hansen's team with the winning score of 36 to 25.

Wesley Foundation

Jean Neale, president of the Wesley Foundation, was selected representative to the council of the Methodist State Student Movement at a meeting of the Wesleys held October 31. Committees were appointed to assist in entertaining this group. The program for the first semester was outlined and adopted.

Following this brief devotional and business meeting, the Wesleys made merry at a Hallowe'en Party which was under the chairmanship of Chester Caskey.

Feature of the evening was folk games led by Quincy Doudna, director of the Rural Division, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Lester Brien.

At the close of the party a lunch was served by Margaret Schindler and Anne Huntzicker, and pictures of the group were taken by Bill Erdman.

Chi Delta Rho

The Chi Delta Rho fraternity held its first party of the current rushing season last Tuesday at Iverson Lodge. Included in the get-together were future pledges, present members and members of the Alumni association. Faculty members of the fraternity are Norman E. Knutson, Harold M. Tolo, Raymond M. Rightsell and Gilbert W. Faust.

LSA

Witches, Spirits, Cats, Ghosts and Owls, 30 guests and members of the LSA gathered in the Nelson Hall recreation room last Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock and proceeded shortly thereafter on a scavenger hunt which afforded an hour of exciting entertainment. Members of the five groups were given a list of 15 items to collect within the hour, at the end of which time they returned with their "booty" to have it checked and judged. Prizes were awarded to the members of the winning team.

With Betty Maki presiding as hostess, apple cider and doughnuts were served for refreshments, and the evening of fun was concluded with group singing.

Guests for the evening were Rev. and Mrs. Orville K. Wold, Dr. Roland A. Trytten, faculty adviser and Gilbert W. Faust.

Don Jorgensen and Orval Moser, as representatives of the LSA, attended the Land O' Lakes Regional LSA Convention held at Lake Independence, Minnesota, on November 1-3. The convention opened with a get-acquainted dinner on Friday evening, and concluded with a dinner on Sunday noon.

Rural Life

"Now for the 64 dollar question!" Members of the Rural Life club enjoyed the game of "Truth or Consequences" after the regular business meeting held last Monday evening in the Rural Assembly. La Verne Haskins was chairman of the program.

Highlight of the evening was the singing of the multiplication tables to the tune of "Yankee Doodle Dandy" by Miss May Roach when she failed to answer the question asked her. Mabel Norton displayed her artistic ability by drawing a blackboard landscape while blindfolded. Martin Schaefer, Marilyn Welt, Elvira Reineking and Merle Welk also amused the group by facing the consequences after failing to answer correctly.

It Won't be Long Now!STUDENT OPINION

Dear Editor:

The group of veterans which I am representing and I wish to express our resentment to the type of veterans' meeting that was called last week. Informed that a special veterans' meeting would be held, vets turned out en masse, only to find the meeting turned into a political rally. As far as we are concerned it's all right to have political meetings, but let's have them announced as such.

(Signed) An Indignant Vet

Dear Pointer Reporter:

We were very much disheartened by your column concerning the student population from various counties. How could you possibly have omitted Lincoln and Calumet counties, when the most intelligent people in this institution are from those counties? We feel that you should be severely reprimanded for this mistake, but as you are one of our colleagues, you will be excused. However, we demand full reparation for this in the next issue of "The Pointer".

Ten Slighted Collegiates From Lincoln and Calumet

We're sorry we failed to mention Lincoln and Calumet counties, particularly as the ten "most intelligent" people in school apparently come from there. However, space prevented us mentioning all 45 counties, and only those with the most students at CSTC, or those farthest from here were listed.

Editor, The Pointer:

Isn't it about time something was done about the nickname of CSTC's athletic teams? The name "Pointers" is out-moded and without a sound basis. There is no reason why CSTC's athletic teams can not have a more suitable title, if the student body desires to make a change. The local high school got rid of the same inadequate misnomer a few years ago, and it certainly did not hinder their athletic efforts in any way.

But back to CSTC. As far as I can see, the only way a pointer can lay claim to fame is because of its ability to remain in one position, or "on the Point." This may be well and good in the canine world, but how would you like it if you were a member of one of CSTC's athletic teams and people referred to your group as being "motionless dogs", which is what a pointer is in the animal kingdom.

The only reason the nickname "Pointers" was applied in the first place is because this metropolis is oftentimes known as "the Point". So, with a complete lack of originality, someone added "ers" to the "Point", and hence, the nickname.

This may be simplicity itself, but does it really make a good nickname for our teams? Are teams from Milwaukee known as "Milwaukee-ers", or teams from Oshkosh called "Oshkosh-ers"? Or, to carry it to an extreme, are teams from Great Neck, N.Y., referred to as "Great Neckers"? Hardly.

Hide-bound traditionalists will decry a change in the name, just as the same type of people fought the change from the horse-and-buggy to the automobile. Perhaps the Student Council could present the question to the student body, and determine what the general consensus of opinion is on the matter. They could even sponsor a contest or an election to determine a new and better nickname.

entertained the group by playing two piano selections.

Refreshments of ice cream sandwiches were served at the close of the meeting.

In a very short time, CSTC's campus will look like the scene pictured on the left. We'll complain about the snow, but next summer we'll wish it were cooler.

So, let's make the most of this winter and enjoy it's many sports and activities.

TEXT PILOT

Greetings and salutations to you, President Hansen, to all the members of the faculty, and to the student body of CSTC as we of the V-5 make our first introduction on paper.

First off, we would like to extend to the people of the Point a hearty hand of thanks for their genial hospitality to the boys from out of town.

Also a word of thanks to the Lutheran Student Association for their patience and generosity when the boys crashed their Hallowe'en party.

Incidentally, it might be nice to mention the fact that all the fellows were in bed at 8:30 p.m. Hallowe'en. The No. 1 pin-up girl here at the barracks is none other than the famous Lena. Judging by some of the sights from the fellows from Pa, she's not so bad after all.

One of our most promising lads, whose initials spell Chuck Collett, has been running around claiming to be an actor. He hurt one of his toes and he is going to have it put in a cast!

It seems that spring fever has hit the barracks a bit prematurely. Fellows are going around in a daze reading letters from their little women and checking up on the air-line schedules.

Time is flying and Joe Hines hopes to do the same at Christmas time.

Well, 8:30 is rolling right around, and it's time we go to bed. Therefore, with all due respect to the other lads (they need sleep to grow), we (editorial we!) think it is time for us to do the opposite to that of the Irish scrubwoman. She brought the clothes to a line and, in turn, we'll bring the lines to a close. The Self-Proclaimed Admiral

Omegs Fete Rushees

Informality was the word at the Omega Mu Chi sorority rushing party on Tuesday evening, November 5, at the home of Ruth Ruff. Early in the evening, rushees met with the sorority at the shelter in Iverson Park. After a bit of jollity and fun around the fire, Marne Guth, chairman of the party gave the Rushees the first clue of a treasure hunt which ended in Ruth Ruff's living room, where the "treasure" was uncovered.

After the girls had caught their breath, Virginia Hansen, an active, led them in a number of games. Later, with a background of mums and candlelight, doughnuts and cider were served. Marne introduced an alum, Miss Katherine Hope, of the faculty, who spoke a few minutes about the sorority.

Helping Marne with the party were the following committees: Decorations and favors; Kathy Berg, Helen Jacobson, Rosemary Nelson; refreshments, Dorothy Olson, Leone Hein, Gloria Heimbruch; entertainment, Virginia Hansen, Dolores Cowles, LaVerne Haskins; invitations, Althea Boorman, Betty Houghton and Virginia Hull.

The Seeing Eye

Hi with and Si

Before we say anything else, we would like to tell you about a meeting that was called last Wednesday noon in the auditorium. For the benefit of those who haven't heard about it, this is what happened. All the veterans were there on time and were waiting for the meeting to be called to order. Then what did they hear? It was reminiscent of a political machine in action. A few individuals got up and told us that a vote for a certain candidate was a vote for good government and asked us whether we cared to contribute something to put an ad in the paper in the name of the veterans of this school urging the people to elect this person.

So far as we're concerned, we will attend these meetings hereafter only when they are called by an authorized veteran representative. Let's have our future political campaigning listed as such and not under the heading of a pseudo-veterans' meeting.

* * * * *

Were you at the Hallowe'en dance in the Training school gym last Friday night? What did you think of the spontaneous entertainment presented by some of our V-5 students? As for us, we thought it was the most disgusting display of so-called humor we've heard. If the gentleman who was the master of ceremonies thought his jokes were cute, he needs a little education on what should or should not be presented for public consumption. We're sure that the sorority that sponsored this dance was entirely free from blame and this should be made public. Speaking to some of the students who were there with their dates, we found out that they were completely embarrassed at the turn of events. Let's remember we are students and our conduct is observed by many and varied audiences. Fun is fun, but let's not carry this type of entertainment too far.

* * * * *

The co-op movement has been instituted and looks to be a very good deal for students who find it hard to pay the necessary price for food today. We would like to urge all students who eat outside of their lodgings to back this plan and make it a success. We are sure the meals will be ample, and the reasonable fee charged for a week will make it possible for the students to enjoy

Local Cagers Will Start Drills on Monday

With basketball about to enter the limelight in the World of Sports, thoughts once more turn to the leather sphere and the prospects for the coming season.

A tentative schedule has been announced and the first practice session will be held Monday, November 11. Due to a shortage of equipment, men who report for the first day of basketball practice must furnish their individual equipment until the squad is cut to a minimum.

The Pointers will have more than a month to prepare for their first tilt with St. Norbert's on December 17. The local team won one and lost one in last year's series with the Green Knights. The regular Southern Division of the Wisconsin State Teachers college conference will open for the Pointers on January 17 when they tangle with Milwaukee there. The Bergmen split a two game series with the Green Gulls last season.

Glancing at the schedule, many double-headers are noted. A double-header, two games played on consecutive days, is strenuous for any basketball team. Unless two complete teams are used, the second game normally finds a weary quintet. The Pointers, with four of these double-headers scheduled, are in for a strenuous season.

Boxing Has Star-Studded Past at CSTC

Inter-collegiate boxing, which will soon make its reappearance on the campus, has had a very colorful history at CSTC. Besides being one of the leading minor sports at Central State, boxing was very popular among the other state teachers colleges. It is hoped that these colleges will resume the sport on a full scale basis.

Delving into the musty pages of CSTC history, it appears that boxing first achieved notable success at Point in 1933. Under the supervision of former coach Eddie Kotal and Dr. Warren G. Jenkins, a boxing squad was organized and managed by Russel Beppeler, a student coach. Men representing Point that year were Ben Slotwinski, Bruno Slotwinski, Mickey McGuire, Wilbur Berard, Art Laabs, Alvin Zurfluh, Russ Beppeler, Pete Zabor斯基, Chuck Torbenson, Lloyd Hayes and Stan Roshak.

Boxing continued through '34, '35 and '36 and receipts from the bouts were sufficient to purchase sweaters and golden gloves for members of the squad.

In 1937 the CSTC battlers turned in a very good showing and entered the state tournament at Superior. Champions for that year were Ed Michaels, Charles Torbenson, George Hubbard, Calvin Cook, Inman Whipple, Bill Carley, Charles Sparhawk and Fred Nimz.

Central State put out one of the best boxing squads in the state in 1938. The squad managed by student coach Inman Whipple had as its outstanding fighters Cal Cook, Dan Young, Whipple and Ben Laske.

The 1939 season was highlighted by the Pointers' entering the Golden Gloves tournament held at Wisconsin Rapids. The squad, coached by Mickey McGuire, entered Young, Felix Granski, Drobnick and Lang, in the tourney. Louis Drobnick won the 135 lb. championship in the novice division.

The purple and gold battlers, coached by Drobnick, enjoyed a pretty fair season in 1940 winning

Congratulations to the new bowling league! It seems like old times to see the splendid response to all CSTC sports. The writers of this column would personally like to see "A Sports for All" Program instituted at CSTC. With intra-mural basketball and volleyball on the way, there is no reason why one can't participate in some type of sport. The main stumbling block at present appears to be a lack of directors.

The state spotlight this week will be on the Milwaukee-Platteville tilt. Both teams will be keyed up for a victory and a battle royal can be anticipated. If by chance the two rivals tie each other, the Pointers will take over as undisputed champions of the Conference's Southern Division.

Point can really look forward to a successful basketball season. Prior to coming to CSTC, Coach Berg established a reputation for turning out good basketball teams. Now with the coach in good health again and a record turnout of basketball material, the Point cagers should really click.

If the proposed Student Union ever materializes, it definitely should include eight bowling alleys, enough to accommodate a league at a time. With the present enrollment, four men's leagues could easily be organized, not to mention anything about the girls. By the way, we haven't heard anything further about the proposed girls' bowling league. Let's get going, girls!

With the enrollment going up as it has been recently, more administration buildings will be needed. Any further buildings on the campus, however, would simply crowd out our existing sports facilities. How about some active school organization getting on the ball, compiling data showing the crowded conditions on the campus and the need for expansion, and then present the case to the state with a request to purchase additional land. If we wait another five years we'll have to start building up; there won't be any room for outward expansion. What about you, Student Council?

New CSTC Bowling League is Formed

Another men's bowling league got off to a fast rolling start Wednesday night at the South Side Alleys. The new all-student league, which is comprised of eight teams, was formed largely through the efforts of Stan Hanish, a married veteran and a junior at CSTC.

Jack Knope, one of the organizers of the first league, gave the new group some excellent pointers on getting started, and consequently both leagues will employ the same rules, including the handicap basis.

The teams making up the new league, and their respective captains are: Rural Life, Bob Cook; Newman Club, Thomas Kazmierzczak; Martin Boys, Clarence Baldwin; The Vets, Ray Blaskey; Bears, Vilas Sengstock; Trailers, Bob Peters; Spartans, Cliff Kunde and Carlson's Boys, Mal Carlson.

NOTICE

There will be an Armistice Day program in the auditorium at 11 a.m. on Monday, November 11. Students are urged to attend and show their respect to those who gave their lives in the World Wars.

18 bouts as against 16 losses. Lang won all his bouts that year. Point fought four bouts in 1940 engaging La Crosse twice, Whitewater once, and, as an added attraction, the Keshena Indians.

In 1941 the college pugilists put a fitting climax to Central State's pre-war boxing history by winning the team trophy at the Central and Northern Wisconsin Golden Gloves Tournament, which was held in the Lincoln High School Fieldhouse at Wisconsin Rapids. The Pointers won a total of 13 fights throughout the tournament and captured two individual titles. Captain Dan Young and Ken Brenner won the championship in the 175 and 126 lb. class respectively.

The Point champions were coached that year by Ted Menzel, one of CTC's foremost football greats. Topmen on the boxing squad were Jay Swett, Sharkey, Halla, Brenner, Young, Stimm, Shrike, Radke, Tohm, Ropella, Herbert, Kalina, Erdman and Steinfest.

Boxing was abandoned in 1942 because of the manpower shortage, but now with the male enrollment up again, a successful continuation of the sport can be anticipated.

A survey of former college pugilists shows that the majority of these men today are teachers, physical education instructors, successful business men, and, in general, outstanding leaders in their respective communities.

M.D.B. Enjoys Its Hallowe'en Party

Ghosts, witches, gypsies and other Hallowe'en characters haunted the Training school gymnasium on Thursday, October 31, during the annual Mary D. Bradford junior high school Hallowe'en party.

The evening began with a grand march, during which the most comical and most original boy and girl costumes were selected.

A skit called "Hallowe'en Judgment Day" was presented by the eighth grade class. The audience was very much amused at the crimes held against various teachers and students. The judgment king, George Butler, decided whether the victims were guilty or not.

The seventh grade skit was called, "The Romance of Cinderella," a very modern version of the old familiar tale.

Another highlight of the evening was the game, "Truth or Consequences," with a college student, James Sullivan, as master of ceremonies. Questions were asked and consequences were paid by those who could not answer correctly.

Dancing and games made up the recreational part of the program, and later in the evening refreshments were served.

We would like to notify Matt Klink, the proprietor of the restaurant, of the gratitude of the individuals who will participate and their thanks for making this possible. This is truly the spirit of cooperation between business and the school that will make our college years more enjoyable.

By the time this is printed, the first rushing parties of both fraternities and sororities will have been completed. This is rushing season so keep your eye on these rushes and the Greek organizations. They are an integral part of our education and entertainment. With the large increase in enrollment, they should achieve pre-war greatness. That's it for now, so keep your eye on the "Seeing Eye".

Dean's Office Moved

After 21 years of occupancy by Dean Steiner, the Dean of Men's office has been taken over by the math department, which needed larger quarters this year. Mr. Steiner has moved into Victor E. Thompson's old office which overlooks the west entrance of the college.

When interviewed, the Dean stated that he was highly pleased with his new office. In Mr. Steiner's own words, "The new office is lighter, airier and has less room to get lost in!"
