Merchant-Faculty Dinner Tonight

Joseph "Chip" Glinski, president of the Point Chamber of Commerce, has extended an invitation to the faculty and office staff of CSTC to attend the annual merchant-faculty dinner to be held this evening at 6:30 in the Hotel Whiting dining room.

The purpose of the dinner is to give the merchants of the area an opportunity to meet the members of the CSTC faculty.

This is the third annual dinner at which the merchants have been guests of the merchants.

Health Conference Meetings End Today

Today concludes a three day session of the Wisconsin State and National School Health Conference, which be­gan last Tuesday, October 22nd.

The conference was sponsored by the Wisconsin State Department of Public Instruction and the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

The会议 has included small group discussions on health and safety instruction, healthful school environment, health services, nutrition and school lunch, health conservation and care of emergencies, with special emphasis on the health of school personnel.

These discussions groups held their meetings in various rooms in the college building and will have an open meeting in the auditorium this afternoon when Dr. John L. Brackett will give his lecture.

Among the leaders at the conference are state health officers and school officials. CSTC faculty members who participated included Presi­dent Jeffrey D. Gaff, Professor of Biology, Mrs. E. O. Mead, Professor of Math, Mrs. J. H. Mead, Professor of English, and Miss Mary Roach.

Record Crowd Present at "S" Club Dance

Members of the CSTC "S" club were hosts at an informal dance held Monday evening at the Pan-Hellenic Council. The event, which concluded the Homecoming festivities, was an exceptiona crowd of 200 couples. The dance was insti­ti­tuted by the new Playboys' Orches­tra. In charge of general prepara­tions was Art Peja, president of the "S" club, and Jack Rasmussen, general chairman. Chaperones were Mrs. J. H. Brackett, Coach and Mrs. George R. Berg and Dr. and Mrs. Harold M. Tolo.

Trouble: Pity Poor Sam, the Wandering Iris Cameraman

If you think you have troubles you should talk to George "Sam" Ko­nig, who, for the past four years, has hung your head in shame as you go back to him again and again to ask if he can take your picture.

Sam is the photographer for the Iris. He is alone in his isolation, for the Iris is not in the YWCA organization here at CSTC, but lately school newsmen have been per­mitted to take pictures, what with the big Homecoming and all.

Sam, a Navy veteran, is interested in photography for a long, long time. He has asked all the tourists for pictures and will be at the 7:30 p.m. Power to Rogers, 8:30 and 9:30 p.m., 10:00-11:00, Nelson (Francis) to YWCA's.

First there are the iris editors, who meet every Thursday night and draw up a list of subjects that are to be taken over the week-end. And, strange­ly, the editors have no idea of what is involved in taking a "typical" photo. They just say, "Take 'typical' shots of the parade and try for a different angle, a different, struggling.

For instance, the day on which he took the football game, there was a big ball squad was a perfect day for pic­tures, because there were no bright lights, and they could finally get the boys lined up the way they wanted them, the white faces and the black suits. However, the group was in shadow and half in the sun.

So he and the squad simply had to sit there and wait for the crowds to cover them. The near-by spectators grew shorter and shorter.

Then at the football game's end it was Sam who walked around the field, always looking for a good shot, a "typical" shot. What sheer ingenuity he and his camera were after! He even com­manded the cheerleaders, and the band broke up the last class, Sam's English teacher. He found a way to express his feelings, picked up his camera and went after the drummers. All that afternoon there was no playing and no dancing, but the drums rang forth at least a hundred of them, so it seemed.

On Friday night it was the same old story. Just try to get a picture that is "typical" and interesting of a crowd and it's too bad, he says, if tons want them.

On Saturday morning he was at it again, trying to get a picture of each float and novelty, with most of the student body and half of Jacobson High School milling about.

But Sam says, "You can't authorise it. It's the freshman class pictures that really get involved. He needs 50 people for each group picture and he can't show up at the appointed time. He only has one chance. They walk by and he misses them. He waits some time. They wait till the next hour and 10 from the next float and they finally give up. The freshmen are shy and don't want to wait. He has to keep on going and more time to find five willing ones. At that point the 20 who have been looking for two hours give up two floats if the picture is taken when they don't want it any more." He can only say, "It isn't quite that bad, though. Sam is one boy in the school who attends all the sorority diners. Those dinners would be half bad he says, if they'd only give me something to eat!"

The Pointer Win Second Game, 25-14 Before Large Homecoming Crowd

As a fitting climax to the Homecoming celebration, the Pointers scored in every quarter to defeat the Whitewater Quakers 25-14 last Saturday afternoon at Goerke Field. Old Dame Nature selected one of her best autumn days for the tilt which encouraged many local townspeople and alumni to attend.

The victory was the direct result of outstanding playing by all members of the team. Good defensive play and coordination on offense stopped the Whitewater peds. Wagner, Koehn, Compy, and Vetter were outstanding for the Quakers.

The Quakers, after a first down and a completed pass for 21, lost the ball on a fumble with Bernard recovering the ball for Point on the Point 40. A pass to Kulick complete for 45 yds. placed the ball on the Quaker six yard line. Jerry La Fleur went over for score. Helminski missed the attempt for an extra point and the Bergmen led 6-0.

Quakers Take Lead

The Quakers began a drive which terminated in a score early in the second period. Wagener scored the touchdown and Oscar converted placing the Quakers in the lead 7-0. A fumble by Compy and recovered by Haidrovig on the Point 40, paved the way for another Pointer touch down. Emmerich went over from the one yard marker. Kulick's attempt for an extra point was blocked. Pointers took over the lead for a short time with the score 12-7.

The Quakers began a drive from their own 18 yard line. Line plunges, 17 yd. pass with a beautiful catch by Brown, and a smooth lateral play good for 12 yds. placed the ball on the Point three yard line. Kulick went over for the score and the conversion by Oscar placed the Quakers on the long end of a 14-12 score.

The ball ended.

Pointers Score Twice

Koehn returned a Quaker punt from the Point 27 to the Point 49. A pass to Haidrovig and successful plunges by Parson and La Fleur placed the ball on the Quaker four yard line. Koehn, on a near cross-over, went over left tackle to score standing up. Kubisiak converted and Point led 15-14.

Westenberger and Kubisiak recovered on the Quaker 17 to set up the deciding tally. Parson and Koehn plunged to the Quaker three yard marker. On the next play, Kulick went over standing up. Vetter blocked Kubisiak's attempt for an extra point. Score final: 25-14.
