Superior Will Grant Liberal Arts Degrees

The Board of Regents Opposes "Central Control Board" Bill

Superior College is permitted to grant liberal arts degrees, in addition to the present but limited degree program. The Board of Regents, following a decision in the Board of Trustees meeting in Stevens Point last Friday. In the Main Auditorium, the regents granted the regents authority to vote on the bill.

The regents to the north of us have made a change in the title of their institution. Superior State Teacher College will be known as Superior State College, following the regents' vote authorizing the school to grant full four-year liberal arts degrees.

Dr. George N. Sundquist, Superior, president, explained that enrollment in liberal arts curricula would be permitted and that the requirement for selection of Superior State College would remain as before, "the education and training of teachers for the state." The board voted unanimously against granting the charter to the college. The state, under a single system of public education, required the legislature to vote before granting the charter to the college to grant the four-year liberal arts degrees.

Unanimous Against Bill

The board voted unanimously on the main issue in the regents' meeting, which would abolish the present system of teacher education and admit all Wisconsin's state-operated educational institutions under a single state system. The regents expressed themselves as believing that the new system is "not in the best interests of higher education in Wisconsin."

Point Advisory Council

In connection with the central board of the school, the regents discussed the statement that they were in favor of a "council of higher education in Wisconsin," which would be composed of each member from the present boards of the school, in order to promote the cooperation of the existing boards without reducing their powers in any way.

Iris Staff Hopes To See Book Soon

The 1973 Iris should be ready for distribution by the end of May if everything goes as planned. The Iris editors have had in mind last fall when the copy was written and is now writing the printer. The cover has been designed by the art staff and the books will be on time.

Social Science Class Visits State Capital

Quincy Domains, Director of the Rural Division, took the last group of his Social Science 102 class out on a field trip to Fort Atkinson, April 29, to visit both the Assembly and Senate at work in the state capital. The class is comprised of freshmen and sophomores and makes a study of local, state and national government.

The students will visit the legislature at Madison, delegations follow the Senate and Assembly to the city council, the city school board, and have made arrangements to attend a joint session of the Assembly at 9:00 a.m.

Following these activities, they gain a knowledge of the actual working of the law making bodies of our democ-

Who's Whose

Since the former operators of this column were excluded as fakers by the current owner of the newspaper, we will, back we will attempt to fill their shoes and write a column in which "the snow must go on."

It has been written that in the spring a young girl's fancy turns to daydreams, but it may be we have been thinking of all year.

"Camps looked crowded 'other day, Spring break is like it's here, but, "stead of walking, bloody-budy."

Gotta go home and study.

Taint necessary so-

There are those who say that all's over between Marcia Delbe and I. I say it's not, but it's going to be a hard year.

Congratulations to the Phi Sig for something, different in the line of school social events.

We ponder (but without success) upon the subject of the "beasts" become immune to spring fever-plus? Association with a teachers' group is going to be hard, I think.

Know of any kindergartens open to students under the GI Bill? We just flunked the Coronet magazine.

Red Roberts has succumbed to the call of spring and is seen with Carrie Krogness fairly often of late.

Dorm Dilemma

Only five weeks more! Somehow the time which seemed endless has come too brief, and there are so many things to do before June be set with exams.

Dorm House (Bldg. 2) is at the annual spring elections. They're to be held today and tomorrow.

And, although unofficial, it's true that into these last week of 46-47, we will have to put in a full schedule of bike-riding, and gatherings that were once a part of the old college life. Our dining room is the place to hold social dinners now, it seems.

Tomorow night we can expect the T.C. to give the annual banquet of the worthy organization.

I am glad to note that the annual Spring Dance was held last Saturday. The first floor of the buidling was filled with people.

They will go on until 2:00 a.m. There are several things scheduled for the New Year's Eve celebration in the dining room at 11:00 p.m. There will be a midnight dinner and dance and some refreshments will be served.

In Answer:

Last week we sent out calls for some argumentative students. A winter left off and spring began. And, if the weather continues to hold that position it looks as if it will be unnecessary to carry it further. Spring comes to the north of this, as we have been told, will be the answer of students who will be able to keep their eyes open for the beginnings of activities.

At Random:

Notice Merry at the Est Shop has taken the shed full of front his eyes. The ceiling is now completed and the bench is put out there, we can rest assured that the spring weather will be well enjoyed.

Baseballs are being tossed, tennis balls are being slapped, golf balls are being新加坡, and we are all trying to make the most of these few weeks.

Dormitories are one of the most important places in the college. It is the place where we can get away from the worries of our everyday lives. It is a place where we can relax and enjoy ourselves.

But, as much as we love our dormitories, we also love our dorm life. It is the place where we can make friends and have fun.

Admissions:

If you are interested in attending the University of Wisconsin, you should contact the admissions office. They will be able to provide you with information about the application process and requirements.

The editorial board of this newspaper is pleased to announce that the "Student Organizations" section will begin appearing in the next issue. This section will feature articles about different student organizations on campus. We hope you will enjoy reading about these groups and their activities.

Variety of Jobs Held By Student Workers

"What some people won't do for a college education!" was the remark that one student made to me over the long line of confused and anxious faces that marked the beginning of this school year.

The truth of that exclamation was impressive. More than individuals would believe. That most of the students at CSTC work at least part time to finance their own education is almost demonstrated by the state of their part-time jobs!

A superficial investigation revealed that students combine ingenuity with determination to make ends meet. These are the jobs they are doing, the way they work, the money they earn, and the shorter hours and longer working days after the mental exaction of a day in school.

Housework, Clerking Popular

One of the few working students whose part-time job was not covered. Among the women, housework, drug store, and clerking seemed to be the most popular, perhaps because of the availability of summer positions.

One such position is at the Hat Shop.

A normal woman's weekend. Mary Benoviski, freshman, has a convenient job doing secretarial chores for her father.

Some campus cutes have found an implementive employment even closer to home; namely, the girls who work in the Baker Hall Villas. Also working on the campus are the library assistants. James S. Nelson, a sophomore, employed at the Office, CSTC represents the College and the Office by a number of girls — and fellow by doing clerical and secretarial work.

Three Are "Phone Strikers" Among the most unique are Rosemary Nelson, who uses her extraordinary talent giving piano lessons, and Betty McCrory, a sophomore, employed at the hospital. Pat Anderson, a sophomore, and Florence Belushake are the ladies behind "voice with a smile," but for the last week or so these telephone operators have been having a somewhat increased caseload.

75 Percent of Mee Work Enough for the feminine half. A ball at Parmelee. Richard H. Steen's office showed that approximately 75 percent of the entire student body worked at least part time. Here are some examples of the scope of male abilities.

For the past semester, his 75-hour work week in his father's drug store, he has been working behind the counter. He has probably seen several college fellows clinging haggard over the at Hat Shop and at Klink's. Thumbing through the information cards, a jewelry clerk, a couple of handmen,严重的, service-station attendants, lab assistants, a laundryman, and even a police-riding assistant were discovered. Mr. Steen also stated in bored tones that the strongest bond, on several occasions, proved able "babysitters" but this is all very, very unofficial and no names are available.

Married Vets Insecure

The rhetoricians might be apt at finding positions suited to their interests and abilities sometimes inadequate government regulations.

Mr. Frederick profitably spends his spare (27) hours at the bakery. He was married, financially, and recently set a new record for filling doughnuts.

Mr. Student is County Librarian

The county librarian for Portage township, Mr. W., who is working his working schedule flexible enough to fit the needs of an active college scene.

Variety of Jobs

Dean Steen specializes in the ability and resourcefulness of college students when he says, "There just isn't any field these fellows don't do. I don't believe that there is any gain for them in the fields of menial labor but it gives them a broader appreciation nature, that these people haven't been engaged in."

"The thought has arisen that perhaps the title ‘Fifth Quarter’ somewhat overstates the meaning of the ‘The Ninth Hole’ would be a more seasonal title for this column."

Anyway that's what everyone is thinking about, except for the few who are in love and the other group who find fishing their best escape for skipping school. Ye Sports Edi-tor was heard to say recently, "to fish in a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love . . . and fishing."

Unique. That's why pretty good ex-cept for the coy little code which non-chalantly asked, "Where do the suckers start running, Ed?" She sounded quite the anger or probability she just knows all the angles.

The spring weather has given the track team some much needed spirit. The shortage of good equipment still exists and probably will until a track team is built up that will show promise of going places. This brings to mind the fact that a lot of good track material is not in competition. Too many good men who have the potential of great things, are not showing on the side-lines. What do you say? If Charlie and Lynn and Alma Meun, how about making it one you'll be proud of?

Softball Season Opens

There are some interesting results in the first games of the Softball season, such as the Alley-Cats running the Supernovas 25 to 11 and the Pigs losing 12 to 2 to the Cardinals. Joe Willcox of the Alley-Cats had a 1000 percentage batting average for the first game. In the Chelt-Delt — Independents game the competition was somewhat nearer on both sides, although the score was Chelt 72, Independents 3. The last inningary by the Independents outfit looked good for a while with bases loaded and one out. Johnson stepped up and promptly fanned, followed by Souk's pop-up to end the game.

Love Jacobs and Fred Carpenter have emerged on top through the long series of the table tennis tournament.

MEMBER OF F.D.I.C.
M.B. Will Produce Three One-Act Plays

The dramatic club of the Mary D. Bradford Junior High school is one of its most popular organizations. The present members are 87 out of a student body of 74. The president is Rhodi Marquard of the eighth grade and the adviser is Mrs. Edith Cunaw.

This year the Dramatic club will give three one-act plays, "American Beauty," "Uncle Jimmy" and "Wil- lie's Predicament." "Uncle Jimmy" is a royalty play written by the late Zane Gale of Wisconsin. The setting is Friendship Village. "Willie's Predicament" is a tale of Willcat Willie and his housework trouble. Those who saw the Dramatic club's produc- tion of "Elmer" last year will find this play equally amusing. The lead is played by George Butler of the eighth grade. "American Beauty" is the story of a $400 frac and a beauty contest.

College Theater AIDS

These plays are produced with the cooperation of College Theater. The directors are members of Leland M. Burroughs' English classes or stu- dent teachers of English in the Junior High. Barbara Kazner has charge of the direction of "Willie's Predicament," Gladys Soetebeer di- rect "Uncle Jimmy" and Roberta Sheppard and Betty Richardson are joint directors of "American Bea-

The plays will be given on Friday evening, May 9, in the college auditorium. Jerry Engstrand of the eighth grade is in charge of the sale of tickets.

The present membership is Rhoody Marquard of the college. The school is the story of "Elmer." Student teachers are the joint directors of "American Beaus."

The fifth graders of the training school visited the Bike Rite Bakery last Friday morning. The group was accompanied by student teachers, Mabel Hoefs, Annette Knoll, and Malcolm Egan, and with Lydia Pief- ler, supervising teacher.

The tour was conducted by Glen E. Braatz, and included inspection of the ovens where 750 loaves of bread are baked each day, the high mod- ers and dough raising rooms, the bun cutter and the frothing and wrapping of cakes. The most inter- esting machine, as voiced by the fifth graders, was the doughnut machine where 500 doughnuts were baked in one hour.

Also places of industry they saw on the trip were the Consolidated Pepper Mill, the Vetter Lumber Com- pany and the Brewery.

Conservation Classes
Will Study Erosion

Members of the Conservation class will go to LaCrosse on Thursday, May 8, on an all-day trip to study erosion control at a state station there.

About 35 students accompanied by Fred J. Schmeckbech will go in the college bus, which will make two trips.

The station has equipment which measures over twenty different erosion control methods with the utmost accuracy. Tests are made on farms in the area, on which con- servation principles are put into prac-
