Recess April 30 for Milwaukee AWC'TC Meet

The annual conference of the Association of Wisconsin Teachers Colleges will be held at Milwaukee State Teachers College, Friday and Saturday, April 30 and May 1. All faculty members are planning to attend the conference, and classes at the college and the Training School will be suspended on Friday, April 30.

Speakers for the general session on Friday morning are Gilbert W. Banerman, superintendent of schools at Wauaua and president of the Wisconsin Education association, and Dr. Paul J. Miner, superintendent of schools at Glencoe, Illinois.

Dr. Harold M. Tolo is secretary-treasurer of the organization and is a member of the college faculty. Betty M. S. Lynes is a member of the current college faculty and has been secretary of the college for the past twenty years.

Several of high schools in the Stevens Point area who are interested in attending CSTC next fall will be invited to spend a day, May 7, on the campus to be entertained by the local faculty and students.

For the past few months a number of faculty representatives have visited many of the schools in this area.

During these visits both superintendents and high school seniors have indicated their interest in inspecting the college facilities, spending the day with staff members and looking into the opportunities that might be available in the local schools and in private homes. They have also discussed the possibilities of part-time work, scholarships, extra-curricular activities.

A committee of faculty members has been appointed to help in the effort, and William C. Hansen to plan this oc-

Applications Due for Fall Practice Teaching

All students who intend to practice teaching first the semester of the school year must notify the director of the division of practice teaching, Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, the director of the division, before the close of the present sem-ster. Before an application blank must be obtained from the director of the division in which he obtained his training.

In order for the Training School to provide adequate and effective facilities for those receiving practice teaching assignments it is necessary to plan in advance for this purpose. It is urged to plan their practice teaching at as early a date as possible. It is hoped that in the near future all practice teaching will be completed by the end of the senior year. This will be a decided advantage to seniors in that they will have had the practice teaching prior to interviews with school superintendents and incidentally it will relieve the pressure of excessive duties the last semester.

Counselion Elections Soon

Student Council representatives for next year will be elected on Wednesday, May 12. All candidates for these offices must circulate petitions to be signed and returned to the main office on Friday, May 7.

Four representatives from the freshmen, three representatives from the sophomore class, three representatives from the junior class must be selected as well as one from the primary, intermediate, secondary, and senior classes. A total of 16 representatives will be elected and these petitions circulated must have at least 25 signatures or one-fourth of the total membership, whichever is the smaller number.

Candidates are asked to begin the circulation of their papers as soon as possible so as to give the student body ample opportunity to become acquainted with all of those aspiring to office.

Mothers, Daughters

To Be Feted at Dorn

The annual Mother-Daughter banquet will be held at Nelson Hall at 7 p.m. on Saturday, May 8. This banquet is one of the most important events at Nelson Hall and has always been a big success.

Decorations for the dinner will be handled by the sorority. The main events of the banquet will be speeches by a chosen senior girl and a chosen junior girl, the former, Miss Lenora Bove, dormitory director, and the latter, Miss Elizabeth Phillips, dean of women. In conclusion there will be several musical selections.

A special guest to whom all mothers are invited to attend is Miss Pauline Stewart, chairwoman of the affair. The other committee members are: Invitations, Ruth Finch, Miss Barbara Armstrong, Miss Mary G. Sicker, Geraldine Roberts, Ellen Steiner, Mrs. William Peterson, chairman, Carolyn Herrell, Ina Wood, Harriet Hening; decorations, Loretta Fendel, chairman; Miss Mary Conner, Hildegard Kueh, Bet-ny Richardson and Lois Putnam.

Dr. Gotham Busy
Visiting Schools

During the past three weeks, Dr.
Gotham, Newnan Club president, has visited schools at Elcho, Rhinelander, and Woodruff.

At the latter school he was one of the participants in a Vocations Day program. The program was planned by the student council and the students attended an evening session in the school gym.

In turn, the Training School has played host to many superintendents and principals. Dr. Gotham is one of the search of teachers. Among those who have visited are Mr. and Mrs.

There is a lot of activity in the future for the tennis teams. Last week’s trip to St. Norbert’s was exciting because of the rain and will be replayed May 7. A return match may be played here on May 15. The bowling teams are moving forward and once the game is over, the bunting will be carried off with team Whitewater by Grovcr-Nauta, 2356 Continental Cloth.. Let's Make it a 71-Group Air Force

The day is a cold one in mid-winter. Ralph (Mick)Shun of Chico, who holds a private pilot's license, is flying at 1500 ft. for the first time in a Taylorcraft plane.
As he reaches hurriedly to throw off the carburetor heat, he mistakenly pulls the gas switch. A deadly silence follows. Losing altitude rapidly, Mick tries desperately to dive the plane and get the prop going again, but to no avail. Quickly he grasps the situation and effects a forced landing on an old farm road north of Stevens Point. It is then that he realizes too late his mistake.

This little dramatic story is just one of the "everyday dramas" and "human comedies" that have been happening out at the Municipal Air-park, since CSTC events have taken to the air. Many of the pilots are students connected with the Navy's V-5 program and are using this opportunity to get a little head start on future training. Others are veterans who had flying training while in service and some non-veterans interested in the air force. Apparently the only requirements for getting started are a love for the air, the nec-sessary $10 an hour for instruction and a certain bit of intestinal fortuitude.

Peter ("Crosswind") Nyhuis of Lacrosse, was more than a little surprised when he checked out for the first time in a Lusacore. Though he had qualified for a student license at an other airport, he had never flown from the Stevens Point airport be-cause there was therefore unfamiliar with its runways. After circling the field he came in to land, choosing the wrong runway with the wind blowing at his side. Starting to drift, he gave her full power, started up for a moment, and then down, suddenly, into a snowbank. The only injury, luckily, was to the wing tip.

As might be expected, many unusual things happen when the follows are soling for the first time.
Dick ("Buzzer") Harris, who flies for the U.S. Weather Bureau, landed and took off quite successfully the three times required for his first solo flight. However, on the third landing, he slammed on his brakes in order to cut up his instructor, "Red" Behling. Much to his embarraiment, just as he hit the brakes, his plane went into a ground loop, which could have been quite serious.

Harold Weiss, a local student, who flies as a navigator in a B-24 during the war, has acquired the nickname "Hedgehopper" because of his flying tactics. It seems that Harold has a manner for flying just as low as he possibly can under the C.A.A. regulations. As he puts it, he's just curious to "see what's up!"

First-hand View

One of the pilots, Harold Sparks, of Stevens Point, has a plaque hanging in the flight shack commemorating some of the various events of his long flying career. One of these was a habit of Harold's to land his carrier at the airport and learning the art of flying. Lorraine brought her father to the airport, he had never flown before. As he started to land, without any instruction, he misunderstood the signal and was a habit of Harold's to land hi-self. He mistakenly Dick Berndt, of Hammond, Indiana, has the thrill of "that first time landing". As he gazed
