University and Teachers College Regents Hold First Joint Session

For the first time in 90 years of Wisconsin history, the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin State Teachers colleges met in joint session at the Memorial Union at Madison, Friday, January 30. The Teachers college presidents also attended this joint meeting, but University regents did not summon their deans.

The general purpose of the meeting was to set up machinery to co-ordinate the work of Wisconsin's institutions of higher education. Though many matters now figuring in legislative and public debates were discussed, the real issue was "Should state-supported higher education be under one central board or not?" At present there are four separate boards: That of the State Teachers colleges, the University, the Institute of Technology at Platteville and the Stout Institute Board.

All-Board Committee Suggested

A committee representing all of the Boards was suggested. The committee would consider any question that involved any duplication of effort on the part of the institution or any grievance or friction arising. The problem of duplication of effort was brought up in connection with the matter of whether Teacher colleges should operate extension divisions in addition to those of the University.

F. J. Sensenbrenner, Neenah president of the board of university regents, suggested joint meeting ings in the future. Dr. George N. Sundquist, Superior, president of the board of regents of the Teachers colleges, proposed setting up the means for a study of joint resources upon which future coordinated plans can be based.

Immediate Interest Questions

Other questions of immediate interest brought up were: Payment of instructors, teacher tenure, funds from the legislature, maximum number of students per class and per institution, and the possibility of a graduate program in the Teachers colleges.

President William C. Hansen and Regent Wilson Delzell represented Central State Teachers college at the joint session.

Ask Governor to Release $1500 from Building Fund

The state board of normal school regents voted on January 29 to ask Governor Oscar Rennebohm for the release of $1,500 from the building fund to purchase real estate at Central State Teachers college.

The real estate which it is proposed to acquire is a lot directly east of Nelson Hall on College avenue. Although there is no immediate purpose in buying the lot, President William C. Hansen stated that its nearness to the campus would make it a valuable investment in any future expansion plans.

Drama Festival to Be Held Here May 2, 3, 4

The Centennial Drama Festival of the Stevens Point district will be held at Central State Teachers college auditorium, May 2, 3 and 4. Leland M. Burroughs, district chairman, states that many schools and organizations have already signified their intention of coming. Mr. Burroughs adds that invitations are extended to the Training school and Rural Demonstration school and any other group on the campus that would like to present a play. College Theater will present "Our Town" during one of the evenings of the festival in addition to the two scheduled performances on April 28 and 29.

Mr. Burroughs also announced that a planning meeting will be held Saturday, February 21, at 10 a. m. in Room 207 for all groups who have signified their interest. Miss Martha Van Kleeck, of Madison, field representative of the Centennial Drama Festival, will be present.

Numerous Appearances For Men's Glee Club

The Men's Glee club of CSTC has, during the past few weeks, made several concert appearances.

As part of their regular season of concerts, the group appeared at Shawano on January 25. For the first time in their history, they were sponsored by another male chorus, the Shawano Male Chorus.

Thirty-five men assisted by soprano Esther Davidson and pianist Rosemary Nelson made the trip. After the concert members of the club were entertained in homes of the Shawano Chorus.

Tuesday, January 27, the same group appeared in high school assembly concerts at Wittenberg and Clintonville. The club feels that the schools are two of the most appreciative audiences before which they have ever performed.

Monday, February 9, the group gave a concert at Amherst High school. This was sponsored by the Amherst Women's club.

The coming two months promise to be very busy ones for the men. In addition to at least six high school assembly concerts the group will also appear at Merrill, Wisconsin Rapids, Marathon and Antigo.

The annual home concert will be held here on Monday and Tuesday, March 15 and 16.

Robert Karsten is the regular accompanist. Soloists have been Frank Kostuck and Larry McKennan, Baritone; Wayne Salter, tenor, and a vocal trio consisting of Esther Davidson, Frank Kostuck and Carman Lane.

Faculty Elections

As a result of an election by the faculty, the following faculty officers and committee chairmen have assumed office for the year 1948: Dr. Warren G. Jenkins, chairman of the faculty; Miss Mildred Davis, secretary; Miss Lydia Pfeiffer, member of the executive board; Miss Syble Mason, alumni committee; Dr. Arthur S. Lyness, assembly and social committee.

Guidance Center Aids In Vocation Selection

Imagine you are a typical veteran on your way to the Veteran Guidance center at CSTC. First, let us tell you something about yourself. Your branch of service is most likely to have been the army; your division, the field artillery or infantry.

If you are not a college student now, the chances are about even that you are planning on attending some college or university. The town that you are most likely to be from is Stevens Point, with Wausau, Marshfield, Wisconsin Rapids, and Merrill as runners-up.

Mechanic Popular Choice

Your problem may range anywhere from "How much are my children worth?" to "What's the best embalmer's school in the Middle West?" — but chances are greatest that you are in need of help in deciding "What vocation am I best suited for?" And while you may decide it is anything from a sewing machine operator to a preacher, your most popular choice is an auto mechanic.

The first man you will meet in the office will be E. T. Hawkins, Chief of the Guidance center, whose pleasant manner and sympathetic interest in your individual problems will immediately put you at ease.

Series of Tests

After discussing with him such questions as your schooling, subject preferences, family, hobbies, previous jobs, occupational preferences, etc., you will spend most of the rest of the day in the college testing and counseling bureau, taking a set of tests selected to fit your particular needs. These will probably include interest tests, personality inventories, mental ability tests, aptitude tests, (See GUIDANCE, page 3)

Teachers Colleges Meet to Settle 1948 Football Issue

Officials and representatives of the nine State Teachers colleges and Stout Institute were present at a State Teachers college conference athletic meeting held Sunday in Milwaukee, for the purpose of settling the issue of the football setup for the 1948 season.

Discussion arose over whether or not a one conference system should be adopted for next year, with all 10 schools competing in the same league, or whether they should maintain the present two division system such as has been in use.

Conferences Combined

It was decided that the conferences should be combined and starting in 1948 the entire 10 schools will be entered in the same league.

Representing Central State at the meeting were President William C. Hansen, Dr. Edgar F. Pierson, chairman of the faculty athletic committee, and Coach Hale F. Quandt.

The league voted to adopt a six game schedule submitted by Dr. Pierson. This schedule calls for each team to play a six game schedule, meeting the four teams in their own half of the league and two teams from the other half.

Dr. Pierson's schedule calls for each team having three home games out of six each year and in two years each team will have played a home and home series with the six.

The following two years the teams will play two different intersectional games. The rotating system is set up to cover ten years and can also be continued indefinitely.

In the course of 10 years, the Pointers will have played each team in the Northern Division four times, twice at home and twice away.

Conference Schedule

The conference schedule for Stevens Point for next year is:

FORWARD

From now until January of 1949, Wisconsin will continue to celebrate its centennial of statehood. Since entering the union in 1848, it has, during its 100 years of membership in the United States, become a leader in the fields of agriculture and industry. The bountiful natural resources have been exploited and conserved in turn, and the people who represent a galaxy of nationalities have been busy these last ten decades, making a better and more progressive state for their children to live in. Residents of other states invariably express a desire at least to visit Wisconsin during their life-time, if not to live here. We are fortunate to live in a state with such a fine heritage, and that fact should never escape us.

It has never been the policy of the Badger state to celebrate its milestones with bawdy displays and high-pressure extravaganzas. Instead, it promotes a conservative, down-to-earth manner of showmanship in which the people themselves are urged to take part. The basis for such methods probably rests in the idea that, "the people are the state," and can best express the motive for celebration.

Residents of Wisconsin, young and old, will have a chance to demonstrate their pride in Wisconsin this year. Centennial celebrations of every kind and description are to be held throughout the state and all of them invite citizen participation. It is the duty of all eligible citizens of Wisconsin to take part in these and express their admiration and respect for this fine section of America.

While other states may go "hog-wild" in their fervor to celebrate their achievements, Wisconsin will continue on its own quiet, conservative way and in the end will have successfully attained its purpose. That purpose is to bring to every man, woman, and child in the Badger State a greater and clearer appreciation for their opportunities through self-participation in centennial celebrations.

If you do not take part in one or more of the birthday celebrations being planned for Wisconsin this year, you will have failed yourself, your neighbor and your state. Get out and really show that you're happy to be living in "the jewel of the midwest." If you don't, we can readily give you a list of 47 other states that you might feel more at home in.

Along Thought Trails

The editor of the Pointer received this bit of wisdom from Miss May Roach who spied it in the office of the Board of Regents of Teachers colleges in Madison.

A Morning Wish

The sun is just rising on the morning of another day. What can I wish that this day, this year may bring me? Nothing that shall make the world or others poorer, nothing at the expense of other men; but just those few things which with their coming do not stop with me, but touch me rather as they pass and gather strength:

A few friends who understand me, and yet remain my friends.

A work to do which has real value without which the world would feel the poorer. A return for such work that does not tax unduly anyone who pays.

A mind unafraid to travel, even though the trail be not blazed.

An understanding heart.

A sight of the eternal hills and the unresting sea, and of something beautiful the hand of man has made.

A sense of humor and the power to laugh.

A little leisure with nothing to do.

A few moments of quiet, silent meditation.

A sense of the presence of God, and the patience to wait for the coming of things with the wisdom to know them when they come.

As of December 20, The Title Is 'Doctor'

December 20, 1947, marked the day Bernard P. Wiewel received his doctor's degree at Iowa State University. That day also marked the end of a year-long toil over a 224 page thesis titled "Attitude Toward and Knowledge of Conservation Possessed in Iowa High Schools."

While working for his degree, Dr. Wiewel taught at Iowa State for a year and a half under the auspices of the Naval Training Program. Behind that degree also are several other milestones. There is his graduation from the Platteville Teachers college and the termination of his study for a master's degree at Iowa State in 1943. The result of these successive milestones is a major in the field of vocational education, a minor in zoology, and animalogy and a minor in forestry and botany combination. In spite of the recent cold wave, Dr. Wiewel finds Stevens Point a friendly place in which to live. He especially enjoys the attitudes of the people he has met. His warm smile is proof that "Friendliness begets friendliness."

Final tryouts for "Our Town" will be held at 3 to 5 o'clock on Wednesday and Thursday, February 11 and 12, in Room 207.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

W. A. A.

The volley-ball season was brought to a close with a "bang-up" party for WAA'ers on Monday night, February 2.

The freshman women acted as escorts for the upperclassmen, most of them providing a corsage (carrots, radishes, lettuce and even onions) for their "dates". Percy, (Miss Miriam Moser to you) however, preferred to do something out of the ordinary and so presented Miss Orissa Lanan with a box of candy corn.

The early part of the evening was devoted to games and relays. Judging by the shouts of laughter which could be heard from the hall, Carol Mews and her committee did some excellent entertaining.

After the relays the group adjourned to the recreation room where Lorraine Goth and her committee served sandwiches, potato chips, carrot and celery sticks and pickles.

The highlight of the evening was the announcement of the names of the members of the honorary volley-ball team for the current year. The girls who received this honor are: Geraldine Belmore, Jene Fumelle, Betty Gilbertson, Daubna Goetsch, Yvonne Jacobson, Betty Mehne, Ramona Putnam and Elizabeth Swenson.

The basketball season is now in full-swing. Lenten services are taking away many members who ordinarily attend the meeting regularly. However, it is hoped that tournaments will be carried on satisfactorily.

New members are being accepted at the present time, but interested girls are encouraged to join immediately before the tournaments begin.

Jene Fumelle, President of WAA during the first semester, announced her resignation. Miss Fumelle stated that her academic load was unusually heavy so her duties as president have been assumed by former vice-president Mary Connor.

Radio Workshop

The newly initiated centennial broadcasts swing into full stride with a third in the series of programs heard each Friday at 3:15 o'clock over WLBL. To continue the story of Wisconsin through the years, Miss Marie Swallow will present the interesting account of the Badger state's first citizens. She will relate the history of the early Wisconsin Indians on Friday, February 20, on the program entitled "Wilderness Habitants."

After listening to the centennial broadcasts, stay tuned to the "Music Album" which follows immediately—a half-hour of music by the masters—Frank Kostuck, announcing. Next week the "Album" presents a number of selections by Bach.

Listen to the discussion of history in the making on the College Round Table each Thursday. Dick Miller as chairman and CSTC students as participants comprise the ingredients for a fine program.

Whether the play is humorous, or dramatic, the Radio Workshop Players can do it equally well. This coming Wednesday, the Players present "Work of the World."

In keeping with the keynote of variety, the "Our College" program on Monday, February 16, will feature the Men's Glee club directed by Norman E. Knutzen. In addition, campus news and comments by Maurice Mead will be heard.

"Our Book Corner", the children's program, continues its animal series as Elizabeth Allen narrates the story of "Sheep and Doctor", by Helen Hokes on Tuesday, February 17.

Tau Gamma Beta

Tau Gamma Beta sorority held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, February 3, at the home of Jean Walker, 927 Main street. Lucille Tosch was assistant hostess.

Jean Neale, a former member now attending the University of Wisconsin, was present at the meeting.

In informal atmosphere, Mrs. Robert S. Lewis, sorority patroness, spoke to the group on "Sorority Ethics." This was followed by a discussion period.

Their Job Is to Clean up Our Mess

Keeping CSTC "spick and span" is the all important job of the maintenance department under the leadership of Lawrence K. Davis. This mammoth task is being done without the average student being conscious of what has to be done to keep the main building, the training school, and the rural demonstration school in their fine condition.

In commenting on the attitude of the student body, Mr. Davis said that the members of the student body as a whole do all they can to help make the job an easier one. His only peeve is the throwing of cigarette butts in the entrances. He said that this not only made his job harder but it makes a poor and lasting impression on the visitors that come to the school.

Total of 153 Years

Eleven persons serve on the maintenance and heating staff with a total of 153 years of service represented by the two departments. Mrs. Jonas has ably served the longest with 32 years of continuous service to her credit. George Stien, operating engineer and head of the heating department, has served in that capacity for the past 28 years. John Urbanowski is next with 26 years, whereas Ray Mason, first fireman, has 24 years to his credit and Frank Mansavage has served for 23 years. Mr. Davis, maintenance chief, was appointed to his position in 1936.

Other members of the staff include Vic Okay, who started in 1942, and Adam Rybicki in 1946, while Stanley Kostuck joined the force in 1947.

Two new members were added to the staff last fall with John Rasmusen starting in September and Steve Skalski in November.

Students offer a tip of the hat and a thank you to the maintenance and heating staff for the swell job they are doing.

Elementary Teaching Offers Opportunities

Reports from the placement office at the Training school indicate that many favorable openings are available to both men and women teachers at the elementary level.

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, director of placement, states that capable young men who will major in elementary education can find very desirable positions at the fifth and sixth grade level.

The following letter is typical of many received at the Training school placement office:

Gentlemen:
At the present time we have three men on our elementary school teaching staff. We are anxious to secure more good men in this department.

I would like to know if you have in your senior class this year any men who are graduating with elementary school training. If so, I will try and arrange to visit your school within the next few weeks to interview such candidates.

Cordially yours,

The letter is signed by a superintendent of a city school system of 300 teachers.

Increasing Demand for Coaches

In three out of four requests for men teachers received at the placement office the specification is that they be able to coach or assist at coaching, in addition to their academic subjects.

It is becoming more and more evident that better positions will be available to those who can handle school activities beside academic classes.

Ethel Wherritt has accepted a position as first grade teacher in the Beaver Dam public schools. She assumed her duties on January 5.

Clifton Fonstad, superintendent of the Spencer public schools, interviewed candidates at the Training school on Thursday, January 8, Mr.

How To Study

During December a number of freshman students took advantage of a course in How to Study. This was offered on an optional basis to any students interested and was taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner. It is part of the Freshman Orientation program.

Four sections were organized and met approximately eight times. Such topics as study conditions, study schedules, note-taking, outlining, etc., were discussed.

Many of the students who took advantage of this opportunity have shown marked improvement in their academic work.

The course will be offered again, early in the second semester, if there is a request for it.

An outstanding forward on CSTC's first place basketball team this year is Fred Carpenter.

In 1949 the schedule will be just the opposite, with Milwaukee opening the season here at Point.

NOTICE

An electric drill belonging to Electronic Warfare company 9-153 disappeared from the company's quarters here at the college last weekend. The matter has been reported to the local police, and since the drill was the property of the Navy, it has also been reported to the FBI.

The Fifth Quarter

This last week has been the most encouraging week of basketball in two years. Not only did the Pointers take two victories, but they also moved into sole ownership of first place in the Southern Teachers college conference. The CSTC defeat of Milwaukee, coupled with Platteville's 66 to 39 romp over Oshkosh, moved last week's co-leaders into second place.

Point defeated the cellar-ridden Whitewater quintet 51 to 43. The locals were never worried. Whitewater racked up most of its points against reserves, which Coach Quandt used freely. Whitewater tied the score early in the third quarter, but after that Point moved ahead never to be threatened. Curry was high with 23 points, the highest scoring spree of a Pointer thus far this season.

Probably the most satisfying victory of the season occurred Friday night, when the college quintet defeated Milwaukee 63-51. Joe Haidvogt, Pointer center, was sick and didn't make the trip. The Point scoring was well divided among the first five. Flugaur was high man with 16 points. At first, Milwaukee played a loose defense and as a result, the Pointers broke in for lay-up and short shots. When the defense tightened, Flugaur and Hartman started sinking long shots. Point led most of the way.

Nate DeLong, big center from River Falls, is leading the small colleges in the country in scoring. His average for 14 games is 27.1 points. When DeLong played here, he was held to 15 points.

Lehman, Eau Claire guard, also has a distinction. He is second in the nation in the number of fouls per game. He averages 4.29 fouls per game. His average has helped the Eau Claire team to hold second place in the total number of fouls committed per team. They have a little over 300 fouls since the start of the season.

Central State has two remaining conference games — one Saturday night with Whitewater and the other the following Tuesday with Oshkosh. If Point can sweep these two games, they are assured of at least a tie for the championship. Milwaukee has a game with Oshkosh which could well knock one of them from the championship running. The next two games are make or break — let's make.

The CSTC cagers climbed into top spot in the Southern Division of the State Teachers college league, as they trounced the Green Gulls of Milwaukee 63-51, Friday night at Milwaukee to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of the Gulls.

The Pointers started out fast and led throughout most of the ball game. They held a five point, 32-27, lead at half time and increased it in the second half.

George Flugaur paced the local outfit in scoring as he hit for 16 points on six buckets and four free tosses. All of the starting five hit consistently to divide up the scoring. Curry connected for 11 points, Carpenter for 10, Ludwig for eight and Hartman for nine points. Jim Green and Dick Lorenzen chipped in four and three points respectively, to round out the scoring for the Quantmen.

Bolz was the high scorer for the Gulls with 13 points on five buckets and three charity throws.

Four Down, Two to Go-- Oshkosh and Whitewater

Coach Hale Quandt's CSTC first place cagers have two very important games on the docket for the coming week. Saturday night they play host to Whitewater, in the Pointer's final home game of the season and on Tuesday night they wind up their conference season when they travel to Oshkosh. First place or at least a tie for the top spot will hinge on the outcome of these two games.

The Central State hoopers annexed a 51-43 victory over Whitewater last week on the Quakers' home court and will be gunning to make it a clean sweep over the Whitewater aggregation, Saturday night.

Tuesday night they go against the defending champs of the league, Oshkosh. Point boasts a 55-45 victory over Oshkosh in a game played here, but Doug Ritchie and company will be out for the league crown again this year, and will be hard to beat, especially on their home court.

The Quantmen have been without the services of Joe Haidvogt in their past few games. If the tall, high scoring forward can play in these final two games, it will greatly bolster the Pointers' chances of gaining the league title.

By winning both of these games, the Pointers will be assured of at least a tie for first place in the league, and possibly full possession of the top rung. The game at Oshkosh may well develop into a title battle, with the winner emerging the league champion.

Register Now for Trees For Tomorrow Camp!

Registration opened this week for the five week session of one of the most popular summer schools in the state held annually at the Trees for Tomorrow camp at Eagle River and sponsored by State Teachers colleges.

President William C. Hansen of CSTC, chairman of the Teachers college presidents' committee in charge of the camp, announced that accommodations will be limited to two dormitories housing 21 men and 21 women, although additional students commuting from the surrounding area can be accepted.

A graduate of CSTC, Emery Fritsch, now a science instructor at East High school, Rockford, Illinois, will be director of the summer session for the second year.

The summer school will offer courses in conservation, field botany, field zoology, nature study, nature recreation, camp leadership, earth science and first aid. Instructors for these are to be loaned from the Wisconsin State Teachers colleges.

Applications may be made with Mr. Hansen or with registrars and directors at other colleges not later than February 21.

Classes run six days a week and six semester hours of credit can be earned.

Last Pre-Lenten Dance

Red hearts from baby to grandpa size and "Couldn't you car-rot all for me?" valentines provided the back drops for the Student Council Valentine Ball on February 7 in the Training school gymnasium.

Approximately 126 students danced to the music of the Varsity Boys from Marshfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Crow and Dr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Wiewel were chaperones for the ball, which was the last school dance before the Lenten season began.

Mardi-Gras

A very successful revival of CSTC's traditional Mardi-Gras was staged Tuesday evening, February 10, in the college auditorium before a large crowd of students, faculty and townspeople.

Under the auspices of College Theater, this was the first Mardi-Gras held for several years. Bill Golsomski was general chairman for the affair.

Keith Fox and John Kowaleski acted as masters-of-ceremonies as 12 college groups presented their skits. The program included singing, dancing, acting, radio programs, nursery rhymes and pantomime.

The participants and some of their skits were: Training school (eighth grade), square dance; Orpheus Mu Chi, Gay Nineties review; Chi Delta Rho, "The Shooting of Dan McGraw"; Primary Council, Trip to Nursery-Land; Home Economics club, "The Old Lampighter"; Nelson Hall, study types; Sigma Zeta, "The Tale of Little Nell"; College Theater, "Riley's Other Life or Life for John"; Tau Gamma Beta, Mardi-Gras memoirs; We Three trio, vocalists; Alpha Kappa Lambda; and Phi Sigma Epsilon.

Tolerance Address

Mrs. Harold Baum, of the National Council of Christians and Jews, Milwaukee, spoke Tuesday, February 3, in the college auditorium during the 9 and 10 o'clock hours. The subject of her address was "Tolerance: A Pattern for Peace."

At the conclusion of each talk, several students and members of the faculty entered into a general discussion of tolerance.

Enrollment Statistics

Dr. Arthur S. Lyness, registrar, announces that at the beginning of the third week of the present semester there are 804 students enrolled. Included in this number are 300 veterans enrolled under Public Law #16 and Public Law #346 and 29 enrolled under the V-5 Navy Program. Of the total number there are 45 students who were not here the first semester. Some of these have been here before but most of the 45 are new students.

Of the 142 students who enlisted in September and who did not re-register the second semester, 16 received diplomas or degrees January 23, 53 were dropped on account of unsatisfactory work during the first semester, 23 withdrew before the close of the semester, and 80 left voluntarily at the close of the semester.

Men were in the majority among those to leave because of extremely low scholarship. In this number were 44 men and nine women. Three women dropped out before the close of the semester and 23 other women did not return to re-enroll. Of the 20 men who withdrew at various times throughout the first semester, 11 were veterans and nine were non-veterans. Of the 80 who did not come back to re-register the second semester, 43 were veterans and 37 were non-veterans.

Many of the married veterans who dropped out either at the close of the semester or some time before stated that owing to the high cost of living they found it impossible to live on the subsistence checks sent them by the government. Others secured positions and decided to discontinue their education and go to work.
