University and Teachers College Regents Hold First Joint Session

For the first time in 90 years of Wisconsin history, the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin and the Teachers College at Madison met in joint session at the Madison Hotel, Friday, January 30. The Teachers college presidents also attended this joint meeting, but University regents did not summon their deans.

The general purpose of the meeting was to set up machinery to coordinate the work of Wisconsin’s institutions of higher education. Though many matters now figuring in legislative and public debates were discussed, the real issue was “Should state-supported higher education be under one central board or not?” At present there are four separate boards; that of the State Teachers college, the University, the Institute of Technology at Platteville and the Stout Institute Board.

All-Board Committee Suggested

A committee representing all of the boards was suggested. The committeewould consider any question that involved any duplication of effort and would act as a buffer or any grievance or friction arising. The problem of duplication of effort was brought up in connection with the matter of whether Teacher colleges should operate extension divisions in addition to those of the University.

P. J. Sansenbrenner, Neenah, president of the board of universal regents, suggested regular joint meetings.

Past Christmas concert season of concerts, the group appeared at Shawano on January 25. For the first time this season the group was sponsored by another male chorus, the Northern Division.

Thirty-five men assisted by sopranos Esther Davidson and pianist Rosemary Nelson made the trip. After the concert members of the club were entertained in homes of the Shawano chorus.

Tuesday, January 27, the same group appeared in high school assembly concerts at Wittenberg and Clintonville. The club feels that the schools are two of the most appreciative audiences before which they have ever performed.

Monday, February 9, the group gave a concert at Amherst High School in the gymnasium, sponsored by the Amherst Women’s club.

The coming two months promise to be very busy ones for the men. In addition to at least six high school assembly concerts the group will also appear at Merrill, Wisconsin Rapids, Marathon and Antigo.

Many more of these concerts will be held here on Monday and Tuesday, March 15 and 16.

Robert Karten is the regular accompanist. Soloists have been Frank Kostok and Leroy McCann, Bixtiones; Wayne Silter, tenor, and a vocal trio consisting of Esther Davidson, Frank Kostok and Carman Lane.

Teachers Colleges Meet to Settle 1948 Football Issue

Officials and representatives of the nine State Teachers colleges and Stout Institute were present at a State Teachers college conference athletic meeting held Sunday in Madison, for the purpose of settling the issue of the football setup for the 1948 season.

Discussion arose over whether or not a conference system should be adopted for next year, with all 10 schools competing in the same league, or whether there should maintain the present two division system such as has been in use.

Confereces Combined

It was decided that the conferences should be combined and started in 1948 the entire 10 schools will be entered in the same league.

Representing Central State at the meeting were President William C. Hansen, Dr. Edgar F. Pierson, chair­man of the faculty athletic committee, and Coach Hale F. Quandt.

The league voted to adopt a six game schedule submitted by Dr. Pierson. This schedule calls for each team to play six games, meeting the four teams in their own division and two teams from the other half.

Dr. Pierson’s schedule calls for each team having three home games out of each six and in two years the conference will present a home and home series with the Northern.

The following two years the teams will play two home and two non-conference games. The rotating system is set up so that the conference can also be continued indefinitely.

In the course of 10 years, the teams will have played each other in the Northern Division four times, twice in the Southern and twice in the Central.

The conference schedule for Stevens Point for next year is:

W. A. A.
The volleyball season was brought to a close last weekend as the W.A.A.'s on Monday, February 9, and Tuesday, February 10.
The freshman women acted as escorts for the upperclassmen, most of them in their gowns, caps, and garters, and some carrying baskets, lighted cigarettes, and even some donuts for the "dates". Percy, Miriam McLean, and Frances Wiseman were among some of the outstanding groups that came together to form the "Music Album" which follows immediately a half-hour of music by the masters of ceremonies.

FORWARD

From now until January of 1949, Wisconsin will continue to celebrate its centennial of statehood. Since entering the union in 1848, it has, during its 100 years of existence, made a significant impact on the study of fields of agriculture and industry. The bountiful natural resources have been exploited to their maximum, and the galaxy of nations have been busy these last ten decades, making better and more progressive state for their children to live in. Residents of other states are desirous of a desire to visit Wisconsin during their lifetime, if not to live here. We are fortunate to live in a state with such a heritage, and that fact should never escape us.

It has never been the policy of the Badger State to celebrate its milestones with bawdy displays and high-pressure extravaganzas. Instead, it promotes a conservative, down-to-earth manner of showmanship in which the people themselves are urged to take part. The basis for such methods probably rests in the idea that, "the people are the state," and can best express the motive for celebration.

Residents of Wisconsin, young and old, will have a chance to demonstrate their pride of Badger State, their love for the land of their birth, and their patriotism in the coming O.C.E.M. celebration.

It is hoped that this day, this year may ship of Lawrence K. Davis. This available to both men and women.

Beautiful

The sun is just rising on the morning of another day. What can I bring to the people? What can I do to bring you closer to me? Nothing that shall make the world or others poorer, nothing at all to be thrown away. Those few things which with the conventional wisdom are considered important, touch me rather as they pass and gather strength:

As one who understands me, and yet remain my friends.

A work to do which has real value and real importance in the lives of the poorer. A return for such work that does not tax unless anyone who pays.

A mind unafraid to travel, even though I lose my way.

An understanding heart.

A sight of the eternal hills and the unknown, sometimes beautiful hand of the man I love.

A sense of humor and the power to laugh.

A little leisure with nothing to do.

A few moments of quiet, silent meditations.

A sense of the presence of God, and the patience to wait for the confirmation of the Kingdom of God to know when they come.

As of December 20, The Title is Doctor

December 20, 1947, marked the day Bernard F. Wieter received his Doctoral degree from the University of Wisconsin. That day also marked the end of a year-long toil over a 242 page thesis titled "Attitude Toward and Knowledge of Conservation Possessed by Violent Inmates." While working for his degree, Dr. Wieter taught at Iowa State for a year and half, in charge of the Veterans of the Naval Training Program. Behind those credentials also are several state and interstate milestones. There is his graduation from the Platteville Teachers college and the termination of his study of a master's degree at Iowa State in 1941. Of the 153 milestones, a majority is in the field of

Elementary Teaching Offers Opportunities

Reports from the placement office at the University of Wisconsin indicate that many favorable openings are available for the graduating elementary teachers at the elementary level.

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, director of the Teacher Placement Office, urges young men who will major in elementary education to look into the available positions at the fifth and sixth grade level.

In a personal letter to the group on "Serernity Ethics". This was followed by a discussion period.

Your Job is to Clean up Our Mess

Keeping C.S. "spick and span" is the motto of all eligible students. The students of the Badger State are the motley crew who are assigned to keep the main building, the training school, and other buildings in their fine condition.

In commenting on the attitude of the students to their duties, Dr. Davis said "The students being conscious of the importance of their duties have made it a point to be present and to work in all the places that need it the most.

Total of 153 Elements

Eleven new students will be added to the maintenance and heating staff with a total of 153 years of service represented in this group. Mr. Jonas has ably served the longest period in any one position, 22 years. Mr. Jones has served as superintendent and general maintenance, chief, 22 years, as well as other positions.

The letter is signed by a superintendent of a city school system of 300 teachers.

How To Study

During December a number of prepared students took advantage of the course in how to study. This was offered on an optional basis to those who were interested, led by Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner. It is part of the Freshman Orientation program.

Four sections were organized and met during the term to talk about various topics such as study conditions, study habits, how to take tests, outlining, etc., were discussed. Many of the students who took the class said they were pleased with the class and how it was shown marked improvement in their academic work.

The class will be offered again early in the second semester, if there is a request for it.

How To Study

All Science, History, and Math must have had a grade of C or better in the course taken the previous semester. A nother class this week is urged to sign up for the main bulletin board.

In This Corner
Carpenter and Neale

An outstanding forward on CSTC's first place basketball team this year is Fred Carpenter.

Fred started at the forward position for three years at Stevens Point high. Due to his able work on the local quint in '44 he received a second string all-conference spot. That year also saw Fred and the team emerge Valley Conference Champions. Many remember seeing his sparkled performances of last year, at the guard position, Jim Neale is another member of CSTC's potential championship team this year.

Jim played for the local high two seasons. In '45 Jim aided the team to a Valley Conference championship. Handout Mr. Neale is a sophomore and has contributed last year also. 5'11" tall and tipping the scale as a comparatively trim 165, Jim is fast and cagy. He is also a one-handed shot push man and, as Carpenter's team mate, can use it admirably well. A bit on height, he's had a little trouble with the big boys this year and hasn't seen a great deal of action.

FOOTBALL

This week has been the most encouraging week of basketball in two years. Not only did the Packers take two victories, but they also moved into sole ownership of first place in the Southern Teachers College league. The CSTC defeat of Milwaukee, coupled with Platteville's 56-39 romp over Oshkosh, moved last week's co-leaders into second place.

Point defeated the cellar-ridden Whitewater quint 51-45. The locals were never worried. Whitewater racked up most of its points against reserves, which Coach Quandt used freely. Whitewater tied the score early in the opening quarter, but after that Point moved ahead never to be threatened. Curry was high with 23 points, the highest scoring spree of a Pointer thus far this season.

Probably the most satisfying victory of the season occurred Friday night, when the college quint defeated Milwaukee 65-31. Joe Hadd Vogel, Pointer center, was sick and didn't make the trip. The Point scoring was well divided among the first five. Flugaur was high man with 16 points. At first, Milwaukee played a loose defense and as a result, the Pointers broke in for layups and short shots. When the defense tightened, Flugaur and Hartman started sinking long shots. Point led most of the way.

Nate DeLong, big center from River Falls, is leading the small colleges in the country in scoring. His average of 46 points in 27.1 points. When DeLong played here, he was held to 15 points.

Leman, Eau Claire guard, also has a distinction. He is second in the nation in the number of fouls per game, averaging 14.29 fouls per game. His average has helped the Fax Courant to claim second place in the total number of fouls committed per team. They have a little over 27 fouls since the start of the season.

Central State has two remaining conference games—two hard nights with Whitewater and the other for following week. If Point can sweep these two games, they are assured of at least a tie for the championship. If they have a game with Oshkosh which could well knock one of them from the championship running. the next two games are make or break — let's make it.

The CSTC cagers climbed into top spot in the Southern Division of the State Teacher's Basketball League. They trounced the Green Gulls of Milwau- kee 63-31, Friday night at Milwaukee to averge, an earlier defeat at the hands of the Gulls.

The Pointers started out fast and led throughout most of the ball game. They had five point, 32-27 lead at half time and increased it in the second half.

George Flugaur paced the Pointers in scoring as he hit for 10 points on six buckets and four free throws. All of the starting five hit consistently to divide up the scoring. Curry connected for 11 points, Carpenter for 10, Ludwig for eight and Hartman for nine points.

Jim Green and Dick Lorenzen chipped in four and three points respectively, to round out the scoring for the Pointers, especially on their home court.

The Quadrants have been without the services of Shippy's cardiologist in their past few games. If the tall, high scoring forward can play in these few games, the Pointers could make a shot in the other Center's chances of gaining the league title.

By winning both of these games, the Pointers will be assured of at least a tie for first place in the league, and possibly full possession of the trophy. The game at Oshkosh may develop into a title battle, with the winner emerging the league champion.

The summer school will offer courses in conservation, field botany, field zoology, nature study, nature recreation, camp leadership, earth science and first aid. Instructors for these are to be loaned from the Wisconsin State Teachers colleges.

Applications may be made with Mr. Hansen or with registrars and directors at other colleges not later than February 21.

Classes are arranged a week and six semester hours of credit can be earned.

Last Pre-Lenton Dance

Red beats from baby to grandpa and sisie and "Couldnt you car-r-oat for me?" valentines provided the back drops for the Student Council Valentine Ball on February 7 in the Training school auditorium.

Approximately 126 students danced to the music of the Varsity Boys from 8 until 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Crow and Dr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Wiewel were chosen as king and queen, the last of the ball dance since the Lenten season began.

Enrollments Statistics
Dr. Arthur S. Lyness, registrar, announces that at the beginning of the third week of the present semester there are 874 students enrolled. Included in the number are 307 veterans enrolled under Public Law 526 and Public Law 546 and 29 enrolled under the V-V Navy Plan. Of the total number there are 45 students enrolled under the third semester. Some of these have been here longer than the 45 are the students.

Of the 142 students who enlisted in September and who did not register the second semester, 16 received diplomas or degrees January 31, 59 were dropped on account of unsatisfactory work during the first semester, 25 withdrew before the close of the semester, and 80 left voluntarily at the close of the semester.

Men were in the majority among those who left because of extremely low scholarship. In this number were 44 men and nine women. Three women dropped out before the close of the semester and 28 other women did not return to re-enroll. Of the 20 men who withdrew at various times throughout the first semester, four were veterans and nine were non-veterans. Of the 80 who did not come back to register the second semester 73 were veterans and 37 were non-veterans.

Many of the married veterans who dropped out either at the close of the semester or some time before then were not in the high cost of living found they no longer wanted to continue their education and go to work.
