

Meeting of College Presidents Attended by President Hansen

President William C. Hansen attended a meeting of the presidents of Wisconsin Teachers colleges held yesterday at Madison. In the evening of the same day, the regents of Normal schools also met.

A meeting of the Joint Administrative Council, which consists of all the Teachers college presidents and the president and deans of the University of Wisconsin, convened this morning.

At noon, the Board of Regents of Normal schools and the University Board of Regents met in joint session. The latter meeting is part of a general program of voluntary cooperation in higher education in Wisconsin initiated by the University and the Teachers colleges.

This is an attempt at coordination without combining the Teachers colleges and the University into one system as was described in the Pointer editorial of November 11.

Ten Schools Compete in One-Act Play Contest

A district one-act play contest is scheduled for Friday in the CSTC auditorium. High schools participating will include Birnamwood, Colby, Gresham, Marshfield, Medford, Montello, Mosinee, Nekoosa, Rosholt and Scandinavia. Earl Kjer, speech instructor at Eau Claire State Teachers college, and an alumnus of CSTC, will judge the contest.

Arrangements have been made at Nelson Hall for a luncheon for all coaches and contestants participating. The luncheon is scheduled for 12:45 o'clock and will be followed by a short address of welcome from President William C. Hansen.

FLASH!

President and Mrs. William C. Hansen are seriously taking up the responsibilities of being grandparents since Tuesday morning, November 16, when their daughter, Mrs. Robert Dean of Madison presented them with their first grandchild, Lucinda Ann. Mrs. Dean is the former Kay Hansen and was a student at CSTC from 1943 to 1945. Leland M. Burroughs, head of the speech department at CSTC, will play host to the play contestants on Friday, and will be assisted by the members of College Theater.

Robert S. Lewis to be Temporary Iris Adviser

Robert S. Lewis of the college faculty has been appointed temporary editorial adviser to the Iris. He will serve in this capacity until next semester when it is expected that the regular adviser, Miss Harriet Wright, will return from her leave of absence due to illness. Mr. Lewis is faculty business adviser for the Pointer.

John Urbanowski Retires After 27 Years of Service

One of the most familiar figures around CSTC for 27 years was that of John Urbanowski, maintenance man, who has just recently retired. John, as his many friends call him, began working in the college in 1921 and served under seven college presidents. Now at the age of 64, and after nearly three decades of service, he is taking a permanent vacation.

Prior to entering maintenance work at the college, John owned a small cigar manufacturing business. He has hinted that to supplement his pension he might return to that business.

Asked what his biggest thrill was during his years of service, John replied, "That happened when I discovered a wallet that I had swept along with the rest of the papers and was on the verge of burning. I opened it and found $165 in it, luckily for an Air Corps trainee." The most dismal moment, in his words, came "when I broke my leg in '40."

He has handled miscellaneous maintenance jobs and up to November 4, had jobs in the college, Training and Demonstration schools. The many alumni, students and faculty members who have become acquainted with John over this long period of service extend sincere wishes for pleasant years of retirement.

Men's Glee Club Presenting Annual Fall Concert Sunday

The entire CSTC Men's Glee club of 85 voices will present its annual fall concert on Sunday evening, November 21, in the auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. No tickets are being sold, but a silver collection will be taken at the concert.

The club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, will present the following program of classical and popular music: "Prayer" by Mailin; "Evening" Finnish folk song; "The Purple and the Gold" by

NORMAN E. KNUTZEN

Pray-Percival; "Mosquitos" by Bliss; "Blue Moon" by Rodgers.

"Joshua Fit the Battle of Jerico" by Strickling-Webster; "Creation" by Richter; "Temptation" by Brown; "O Suzanna" by Foster-Cain; "Exaltation" by Gibb; "Hallelujah, Amen" by Handel and "Lullabye" by Brahms. Grace Peterson and Robert Karsten will assist the club as accompanists.

Several soloists will also appear on the program. Miss Helen Heel, music supervisor at the Training school, will play several violin selections, accompanied on the piano by Gilbert W. Faust of the college faculty. Wally Bartosz, a CSTC alumnus and four-year member of the glee club will sing tenor solo, accompanied by Rosemary Nelson, a graduate of CSTC and former accompanist for musical organizations at the college.

Edward J. Plank, a graduate of CSTC and one of the outstanding pianists of the central Wisconsin area, will also be a guest artist.

On Monday evening, November 15, the touring group of the Glee club presented an out-of-town concert in the high school at White Lake, Wisconsin.

Greeks to Dance Amid Medieval Atmosphere At Legion Clubhouse

The Greeks and their invited guests will find themselves transported back to "the day of old when knights were bold" for the Pan-Hellenic semi-formal dance Saturday evening. Knights, pages, shields and coats-of-arms bearing the emblems of the fraternities and sororities will help to add an authentic medieval atmosphere to the American Legion clubhouse where the dance will take place.

Music will be furnished by Larry Woodbury and his orchestra. The dance will be held between the hours of 9 to 1 p.m.

College Theater's "Life With Father" Big Success

"Life with Father," the ever-popular comedy hit, was presented by the College Theater under the direction of Leland M. Burroughs, last evening, and will be presented in the auditorium again tonight starting at 8 o'clock.

Evidently "life with father" was never humdrum. Father, ably played by Charles Bart, had red hair and the traditional temper that goes with it. Not only did he dominate the affairs of his household, but Wall Street supposedly couldn't exist without Father's watchful eye on the stock market. He was, in fact, a wee bit like the furniture in his living room — dignified, staid and a little stuffy.

Mother, Mary Jane Rankin, was Father's most understanding friend. Despite Father's insistence upon household organization and prompt payment of bills, Mother had no head for business. Nevertheless she was a charming woman. Both she and her four boys, who had all inherited red hair, responded according to Father's moods. If he was happy, things were sunny; if he was angry, things were somber. Mother grew accustomed to all of Father's idiosyncrasies. But Mother had one fault that Father couldn't tolerate — inviting relatives for prolonged visits.

Religion and Health

When two of the boys decide to give Mother some cure-all medicine, Dr. Humphreys, played by John Stanton (complete with a real beard) and Dr. Somers, played by Gerald Foster, are called in for consultation. Poor Father, thinking his refusal to be baptized is the cause for her illness, consents to the baptism. Father isn't really irreligious; in fact he prays so that he can be heard all over the house.

All in all, it's easy to see why "Life with Father" was so popular on Broadway. The College Theater, under Mr. Burroughs' direction, put on a delightful production. The Victorian costumes added much to the effectiveness of the play. All students who did not see the play will have a chance to attend tonight. Be sure to do so, as it is well worth while, say those who attended last night.

President William C. Hansen has announced that the Thanksgiving recess will begin at noon on Wednesday, November 24 and will continue until Monday morning, November 29. Because of the Thanksgiving vacation, no Pointer will be published next week.

College Men and Wives Add Two Members To Up and Coming Class of '70

The following two names may be found listed in the CSTC annals of the Class of 1970: James Edgar Pierson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Pierson, and Darlyn Kay Fonstad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Fonstad.

James will have to go through some training before making the varsity squad, but he has a good start. He weighed 7 lbs. 5 oz. on his arrival Tuesday, November 9.

According to Darlyn Kay's dad, there will be no doubt about her being Homecoming Queen during her stay at college. She was born on Wednesday, October 27. Their future alma mater gives these two a hearty welcome.

Shepardson Orchestra To Play at Senior Ball

On Saturday, December 4, the annual Senior Ball will call the dancing feet of CSTC students to the Training school gymnasium. The Gail Shepardson orchestra of Green Bay will furnish the music for dancing.

Preparations for the big semi-formal dance began in earnest after the choosing of the various committees by President Jack Judd. The committees for the ball are as follows:

Decorations, Margaret Roberts and James Buelow, co-chairmen, Earl Cotter, Elaine Becker, Mary Noble, Mary Due, Tony Isherwood, Duane Counsell, Wanda Counsell, Ernest Link, James Davis, Priscilla Sullivan, Helen Trewartha, Jene Fumelle, Richard Miller, Edward Klingner; program, Betty Dietz, chairman, Marjory Schrank, Virginia

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price $2.00 per year. Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1937, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

We Know It's Good, But —

All students are asked to discontinue reading the Pointer! — during class periods, that is. Of all the vexations that beset a college instructor during his daily round of duties, having students read this weekly publication during a lecture period must rate among the highest. Although it is almost too preposterous to believe that students of college age could be guilty of this practice, it is being done openly and frequently, especially on Thursday mornings.

It can be said, of course, that a Thursday morning Pointer, hot off the press, is of more immediate interest to students than scholarly lectures on "The Principles of Boyle's Law" or "The Norman Invasion." However, if instructors wanted the students to read the weekly news in class, they would enlarge the Pointer and use the facilities of the press by teaching through correspondence.

The present discursive practice causes no end of embarrassment to the members of the Pointer staff who feel largely responsible for the congenial relations that should exist between students and faculty members. The publication schedule of the paper is such that its Thursday morning appearance is more advantageous than at any other time during the week. The staff cannot get the paper ready for publication at any earlier date in the week and if it came out any later it might as well not be published at all. It also allows the staff ample time to start the framework for the following week's issue. Thursday morning will remain the publication time of this weekly and the staff hopes that it will be read as widely as ever — outside of classes, of course.

We will, in the way of applying balm to your wounded spirits, offer a solution to this serious incident; a solution that should be equally satisfactory and impartial to students, faculty members and Pointermen alike. Next semester, when you make out your class schedule, be sure to leave Thursday morning free of all lecture and laboratory courses. This will allow everyone time enough to read the news freely and fully and will also give the Pointer staff members a chance to catch up on the sleep they lose during those famous Monday night sessions.

However, the second semester is still some time in the future. If at this very moment you are concluding the reading of this "blast" during a class period, kindly fold the paper, open your note books and listen to your instructor. You can learn a lot that way — things that aren't even published in some of our great metropolitan dailies.

Thanksgiving—Then and Now

Thanksgiving, 1949 style, presents a picture of a table, with legs straining to hold up the weight of the food upon it. The picture includes Grandma, Grandpa, Mom and Dad, sister and brother, and perhaps Fido, waiting impatiently for his milkbone. As they sit there eyeing the delicacies purchased at their favorite store — cooked in the pleasant surroundings and with the conveniences of a modern kitchen, — do they stop to think why they are there, why they are giving "Thanks"? Is it thanks to God, or thanks to themselves for having the means to make their stomachs bulge?

Think of the long history of Thanksgiving in North America, with the colonists giving thanks to God for his miraculous deliverance, and think back to the origin of the first day of thanks attributed to Governor William Bradford of the Massachusetts colony.

In gratitude for the piteous harvest after a time of great depression, he proclaimed a day to be observed, December 13, of that year. He sent out men to search for game and they returned with large numbers of wild fowl. Then all the women, under the spirit of friendly competition, set themselves the task of making the most of what their gardens had yielded. On that first Thanksgiving Day, a salute was fired at dawn from a small cannon and this started a procession to the meeting house where church services were held. As each family sat down to its dinner, an Indian shout was heard, and instead of battle, the Indians brought venison and other food as contributions to the feast. It was another cause for thanks to God — friendship.

In 1789 it was voted by Congress that the president be requested to recommend "a day of Thanksgiving and prayer in acknowledgement of the many favors of Almighty God, and especially his affording them an opportunity of establishing a Constitution of Government for their safety and happiness."

Now, the last Thursday in November has been designated by the president as the day. The president's proclamation only recommends that the people, ceasing from ordinary occupations, observe the day with proper ceremony.

As we sit at our own family table on that day, let us think of the reasons we are thankful. If it is because we know our turkey is bigger than the Johnson's, who live (See THANKSGIVING, page 4)

Miss Van Arsdale to Show Slides at Social Science Club Meeting

Miss Gladys Van Arsdale will show colored slides taken during her recent stay in Germany as an instructor in the American schools when the Social Science Club meets tonight in Room 106. The pictures should prove to be of general interest to the members of the club and of especial interest to the ex-GIs who served in Europe.

According to Chairman Lewis McDermott, the constitution of the club, which is currently being framed will be presented for approval at this time. Ed Pliska heads the constitutional committee.

All the members of the club were asked at the last meeting to bring another person who is eligible for membership. In addition, all other majors or minors in one of the social sciences are once more urged to attend.

NOTICE

Any students who can obtain balsam Christmas trees which could be used to decorate the auditorium for the Christmas concert, please see Mr. Michelsen. The trees should be brought to the school by Wednesday, December 8, as the concert will be presented Wednesday and Thursday, December 15 and 16.

OVER A COKE

Patience and fortitude—

Pledging is reaching its climactic point and the pledges look as if they'd long since passed theirs. "Fishbait," "gobs of mud," monkey-capped individuals and more who look as if they arise later every morning and get more confused in their dress, will bring themselves to school as normal looking beings after the conclusion of this week. Won't they be glad? "Yes, Miss—!" "Yes, sir!"

Gawd!

If we see any blue streaks around for a few days it will probably be some amateur dramatists reciting some of "Fathers' more expository lines.

Philosophizing—

If a thought presented by a teacher accidentally hits a student he may light up and score as in playing a pin ball machine. In just as many cases, the thought may bounce around with the student never scoring and with the ball rolling back to the source as a return ball.

Pass the jug, Zeke—

Wondered about the circle of squatting figures in the middle of the dance floor last Friday at the Sadie Hawkins affair. Investigated and found several couples passing around the jug that had been laced to Ed Klinger's belt. Curiosity aroused, the writer took a slug in true mountaineer style to find nothing but cider, soft, at that!

Congratulations

Lucy Chappell, Wausau, a student at CSTC, was pinned last week-end by Collin Schroeder, Wausau, attending Lawrence college at Appleton.

Jokes??

Could have been overheard at the dorm, but it wasn't: He: "Let's go sit in the living room." She: "I'm too tired. Let's go bowling."

Marion: "Alice, did you take a shower tonight?" Alice: "No, is there one missing?"

Round 'n' round we go—

Ever ridden a merry-go-round and gotten nowhere? Some people, not only college students, run on schedule something like this — Monday comes 'round and everyone is occupied mentally reliving the "times" had on the week-end. Tuesday is spent trying to make amends for Monday's slouch. Then, there's that middle of the week slump on Wednesday — all tired out from two busy days at work. Thursday it's time to begin anticipating Friday and the end of another week. On to Friday, the week-end just beginning. First thing we know it's Monday again — thoughts of the week-end (See OVER-A-COKE, page 4)

Sadie Hawkins Day Dance Well Attended

If you looked out over the campus on Friday, November 12, you probably noticed that there was a lot of activity on the test course. Many girls took advantage of their golden opportunity to ask their dream man to dance. At any rate, the Sadie Hawkins Day dance at the Training school gym was very well attended.

Everyone sat around in a nice informal way on bales of hay that had been provided for that purpose. Don Douglas was the jovial master of ceremonies for the floor show. The first number on the program was done by a renowned musical trio, composed of Joan Jewell, Marjorie Lawrie, and Marilyn Senn, who played, "I've Been Workin' on the Railroad," on their combs. John Kowaleski sang three selections, "Beautiful Dreamer," "An Irish Lullaby" and "Always." Phyllis Kasper played "El Relicario," on her accordion and accompanied the Tau Gamma Beta pledges, who sang "My Adobe Hacienda," and "Just Because."

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Newman Club

In an effective candlelight ceremony last Thursday evening in the Knights of Columbus hall, a large number of college students became members of the Newman Club. A brief biography of Cardinal Newman was read to acquaint members with the club's founder. Candidates were quizzed by the Reverend Stanley Chilicki, chaplain.

Round Table

When the Round Table met on November 8, Dr. Quincy Doudna gave a short talk stressing the necessary preparation needed before assuming the responsibilities of teaching.

Harry Howland was chosen president when the election of officers was held following Dr. Doudna's talk. Other officers elected were Anne Huntzicker, vice-president, and Mary Due, secretary and treasurer.

Gamma Delta

Plans were made for a Christmas party at a business meeting of Gamma Delta held Thursday, November 11, in the student lounge. The following committees were appointed: Refreshments, Phyllis Peterson, Sally Birkholz, Alice Eichsteadt; program, Doris Zimpelman, Betty Mehne, and Irwin Yanke.

The spring convention was discussed and it was decided that it be held during the last weekend in April. The task of organizing this convention was given to Bernice Yonke and Lorraine Meyer.

Omega Mu Chi

The Omega Mu Chi sorority will hold its fall Pan-Hell dinner at Jerry's Saturday night. The three pledges, Esther Murat Berndt, Marjorie Finch and Joyce Kruger will be formally initiated at that time.

Margaret Guth will serve as toast-mistress, introducing Miss Hazel Bleck, who will give the alumnae address; Margaret Roberts, who will represent the graduating seniors; and Joyce Kruger, who will speak in behalf of the new members. The scholarship pin will be given to the new member with the highest grade point by Alice Schram, who wore (See ORGANIZATIONS, page 4)

Address by Senator McCarthy Highlights Armistice Program

The Armistice day program in the auditorium last Thursday morning, was highlighted by a short talk by the Hon. Joseph R. McCarthy, junior U. S. senator from Wisconsin. Senator McCarthy spent the entire day in Stevens Point holding discussions with his constituents and very graciously gave some of his valuable time to address the student body at CSTC.

In his address, the senator cited as a major postwar catastrophe the enslavement of hundreds of thousands of former prisoners of war by Russia and other foreign countries. Through the Yalta and Potsdam agreements the United States has agreed to let this nefarious practice continue. Senator McCarthy was strong in his condemnation of this breach of civil practice. He maintained that if the United States should lose the cold war in 1950 or 1952, millions of young Americans would be sold into world slavery and under the present conditions the plan would have the full approval of the government.

Gerald Czarnetzki, president of the Student Council, also made a short appropriate address to the assembly and the college band, under the direction of Peter J. Michelsen, presented a short concert of old American favorites.

The program was arranged by the assembly program committee headed by Mr. Michelsen and was well attended. President William C. Hansen of the college stated, "I wish to commend the student body for the fine attendance and attention at the Armistice Day assembly."

Men at Bachelors' Hall Organize New Fraternity

A new fraternal society, the Inter Nos, was organized on Monday, November 8, at Bachelors' Hall, 1216 College avenue. Its aims, to promote "friendship, loyalty and happiness," and the motto, "the concern of one is the concern of all" form the basic ideals of the organization.

The first officers were elected as follows: President, Thomas Nielsen; vice-president, Richard Haas; secretary, Eugene Atkinson; treasurer, Philip Van de Bogert; publicity director, Robert Marsh; and social activities director, Robert Krause.

Following the election, membership cards were agreed upon and a committee to draft the constitution was chosen. Dues were set at 50 cents per week and are to be used for the mutual benefit of the members.

The Inter Nos meets at 6:30 o'clock every Tuesday evening at the College avenue address. All men at CSTC who are interested in joining the organization should contact Robert Krause at the above address.

Familiar Faces

Neenah, Wisconsin, a thriving community in the Fox River Valley where people are early imbued with the idea of surpassing Menasha, has given us a dynamic duo in the persons of Charles and William Bart. We will concern ourselves at present with Charles Nicholas, born in 1921 and a 1939 graduate of Neenah High school.

After graduation Charlie worked for the Kimberly-Clark Corporation before serving a four year hitch in the Coast Guard. No "shallow-water navy" service for him — he served in the South Pacific on an LST. If the roll of island conquests is called, Bart, like Carrie Nation, can say "I was there."

His wartime correspondence with a girl "back East" blossomed into the real thing. For details consult Mrs. Bart. The Bart household was recently blessed by the addition of a daughter, Sarah Alicia.

Bart is now a Senior in the secondary division. He is majoring in English and has minors in music, history and geography. At present he is teaching music at Auburndale two days a week. He would like to continue teaching music after graduation in a school in southern Wisconsin.

Charlie is a member of Chi Delta Rho social fraternity and currently is pledging Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity. This is in addition to being a member of Alpha Kappa Rho, the honorary music fraternity on the campus. It's easy to see that he has "been around."

In addition to music, Bart likes book and antique collecting. He is quite a fancy-Dan on the tennis court as this writer can attest after playing with him once. This is written in the face of the fact that it doesn't take much of a player to make said writer look like a stumble-bum. Charlie's favorite pastime is reading biographies. His favorite work is Dante's "Divine Comedy."

His pet peeve is people who don't practice what they preach. Charlie is very personable. He seldom is at a loss for words and always manages to season the topic under discussion with various and sundry observations which you never thought of. If you haven't met him, try to, because as they say in military circles, "He's a pretty good Joe."

Pointer's Squad Ready to Try Luck on Hardcourt, Nov. 22

During the past week and following the last football game of the season at DeKalb, the sports scene at Central State has switched from the gridiron to the hardcourt. The tempo of basketball practice has increased to the extent that, out of the scores of fellows reporting, an organization of precision is beginning to develop. Out of the juggling and sifting of candidates, some 20 odd men remain.

Coach Hale Quandt, in his second year as head basketball mentor, has five lettermen back from last year who, no doubt, be used as a nucleus for the 1948-49 season. The men who are back and who did more than their part in helping the Pointers win a share of the championship last season are: Senior Bob Hartman, of Stevens Point, who last year held down a regular berth in the guard position; George Flugaur, another Senior from Stevens Point, who last year was the other guard on the Pointer team; Joe Haidvogel, Junior from Point, who did a bang up job playing both center and forward last year; Tommy Curry, second year student from Tomah, who really did his share as one of the speediest forwards in the conference; and, last but not least, Dick Lund of Bryant, who this year should see plenty of action.

Other men who are out and who are showing a great deal of promise include: Bruce Menzel, Stevens Point; Dick Lorenzen, Racine; Don Hoeft, Antigo; Bill Koch, Wausau; Philip Nelson, Iola and Henry Becker of Wisconsin Rapids. The above are all second year students. Among the freshmen who will probably wear the Purple and Gold are: Gene Fick, La Crosse; Bud Kadolph, Weyauwega; Chet Polka, Mosinee; Gene Polzin, Plainfield; Wilbur Nimz, Wausau; Dave Bliese, Wausau; Bill Conacher, Antigo; Ray Sodersten, Waupaca; James Christenson, Berlin and Don Schneider, Marathon.

Wisconsin Hunting Prospects Good; Game Animals Staging Come-Back

Although the world situation in general is in a bad state of affairs, the Wisconsin hunters have found something with which to console themselves. There are very good prospects of Wisconsin once again becoming a hunter's paradise. All of the game animals and upland game birds seem to be staging a strong comeback.

The ruffed grouse (partridge) increased considerably during the years of closed seasons. Hunting this fall was fairly good on the whole, although there are still a few areas where the birds are rather scarce. There's a very good possibility that in a year or two partridge hunting will once again compare favorably with that of the good old days.

Conservation Heads Attend State Isaak Walton Meet

Fred J. Schmeeckle and Walter R. Sylvester of the conservation department, attended the Isaak Walton League's semi-annual meeting in Green Bay last Friday. The program was made up of talks on conservation and especially the conservation of wild life.

Mr. Schmeeckle, who spoke at the meeting about a duck study he made in Canada last summer, stated that it was an outstanding program.

The Fifth QUARTER

Football, king of the fall sports, bowed out of the limelight in the State Teachers colleges this weekend as they drew the curtains on the 1948 season.

Five of the teams had ended their season before this last week-end and the others finished then. The remaining five teams found competition in our-of-state schools as Milwaukee played at Central Michigan, Superior at Duluth, Stout at Michigan Tech and La Crosse at Winona, while the Pointers were at Northern Illinois.

Highly favored Milwaukee bowed to Central Michigan 21-6. Two out of the three C. M. touchdowns came after they had intercepted Milwaukee passes.

At Winona, Minnesota, the La Crosse Teachers trailed for the first three periods to come back and score twice in the fourth and beat Winona 14-6.

Superior downed Duluth 21-6, while Stout lost to Michigan Tech 13-7.

NOTICE

St. Michael's Hospital in Stevens Point often has need for blood donors. This necessitates blood typing and arrangements have been made for students desiring to have their blood typed to report at the hospital during the week of November 29 any day from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock. No charge is made for this service and a donor customarily receives $25.00 for each pint of blood given.

De Kalb Defeats Pointers 28-13

On a mud laden field at DeKalb, Illinois, Saturday afternoon, the Pointers closed the 1948 football season by bowing to the Northern Illinois Huskies 28-13. Injuries and more injuries slowed up the hard hitting Pointers when such dependable as Emmerich, Fich, Hoeft, Brunsmann and Dehlinger were forced to watch from the sidelines.

DeKalb scored once in the first quarter, twice in the third and once in the fourth, while holding the Quantmen to two TD's. The Pointers scored in the third and four periods.

The first six points for the Pointers came in the third quarter when a pass from English on his own 48 yard line to Curry was good and Curry went over the goal line. His kick was low.

In the final stanza the Pointers started a drive on the DeKalb 47 and ended when Counsell went over for another six points. Curry's kick was good and the Pointers trailed 28-13.

ORGANIZATIONS

Margaret Guth is acting as general chairman, assisted by the following committees: Transportation, Leone Hein, chairman, Virginia Hansen; invitations, Janet Dupre, chairman, Marion Hummel, Joan Kenney, Mary La Marche and Mary Jane Rankin; entertainment, Geraldine Roberts, chairman, Lorraine Thatcher; decorations and favors, Ruth Finch, chairman, Jacqueline Hall and Helen Offerdahl. Jene Fumelle will be in charge of the initiation ceremony.

Chi Delta Rho

The hectic days (and nights) of lanterns, cowbells, paddles, burlap underwear and what-not will come to an end at 6 p.m. Saturday, November 20, when the lowly Chi Delta Rho pledges will be formally initiated into the organization. The fraternity dinner will be held shortly thereafter at Selcks' Burr Oak Inn.

The men with the blue and white paddles and the strange modes of dress this semester are Glen Sauter, Dick Kowaleski, Everett Hummel, George Gynn, Bob Stenson, Leland Brunner, Roland Rothman, Dick Greene, Bill Bart, Dick Lorenzen and Art Witalison.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

This week terminates the shenanigans that dominated the Phi Sig spotlight these past three weeks. The formal initiation for the prospective members will be held at 5 p.m. Saturday, November 20, at the American Legion club. After the initiation the actives, new and old, will adjourn to the Country Spa for their dinner.

Pledging the fraternity are Alan Bowers, Ralph Crain, Louis Jacobowski, Gerald Kitzrow, Larry McKinnon, Elliott Riggs and Donald Yahr.

Tau Gamma Beta

Pink and blue ribbons will fade into memories for the pledges of Tau Gamma Beta Saturday evening, November 20, as Beatrice Maliarik, Elizabeth Omernik, Irene Morris, Elizabeth Torzewski, Barbara Lewis and Marjorie Lodzinski are initiated into the sorority. The formal initiation ceremony will take place before the dinner, both being held at Nelson Hall.

After the dinner which will begin at 6:30 o'clock, Pat Lavers will introduce Phyllis Kasper, who will speak as a representative active; Mrs. F. N. Spindler will give her traditional "Tapestry Talk"; and Beatrice Maliarik will speak in behalf of the newly initiated members. Carol Collins will give a vocal selection to conclude the dinner program.

Committees for the dinner, assisting Phyllis Kasper and Janice Sisley, co-chairmen, are: Place and menu, Loretta Fenelon; decorations, Katie O'Connor, chairman, Carol Collins, Caroline Krogness, Betty Dietz; invitations, Ila Williamson, Lola Van Ornum; entertainment, Margaret Johnson, chairman, Mary Due and Lenore Arnette.

LSA

The LSA group met in the parish house of the First English Lutheran Church, November 11, for devotionals led by Carla Kruse. The Rev. Orville K. Wold conducted a candle light service for the formal installation of new members. The program continued with reports on the regional convention held at Camp Iduhapi, Laretta, Minnesota, from November 5 to 7.

Robert Ellingson told a few of the camp highlights. Hildegard Kuse gave a resume of the convention theme, "If We Obey Him." Beverly Berg spoke about the Bible study groups and Betty Swenson reported on the convention business meetings. Betty Swenson and Hildegard Kuse were the official delegates. Dick Schmidt sang a solo, "Consider and Hear Me." The devotional meeting closed with prayer and the group adjourned to the church basement for lunch, games and singing.

Radio Workshop

Today, at 3:15 p. m., the Radio Workshop Players present "Let Freedom Ring," an unusual type of radio drama. A large cast, directed by Marne Guth, will appear in the show.

The Music Album continues with the theme "Romance" by presenting recorded selections of the great artists who composed songs under this theme. Frank Kostuck, Beatrice Maliarik and Daryl Fonstad arrange the program.

Representatives from Nelson Hall will be guests on the "Our College" program on Monday, November 22. John Kowaleski is the announcer and Maurice Mead is the news commentator.

A children's story about a very thankful turkey will be narrated by Marne Guth to the students of the primary grades on Tuesday, November 23. Daryl Fonstad will be the announcer.

There will be no programs during the remainder of next week because of the Thanksgiving holiday recess which begins at noon on Wednesday, November 24.

OVER-A-COKE

Irony, isn't it? With the holidays coming 'spose it'll be even more evident. Old crutch "Caught in the rushing tide of humanity." Nuff said.

Looking forward—

32 shopping days 'til Christmas. 19½ school days — better yet!

Congratulations—

A daughter was born Wednesday, November 10, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kolstad, Mondovi. Mrs. Kolstad is the former Jackie Stauber, one time editor of the Pointer.

Harlan Stoltenberg was united in marriage to Vivian Ludwikowski, Stevens Point, at St. Paul's Lutheran church at 4 p. m. Wednesday, November 10. The Reverend W. R. Ludwig performed the ceremony.

Everett Humke served the groom as best man and the bride's sister, Wilma Ludwikowski, acted as her bridesmaid. The couple honeymooned in the northern part of the state. They are now residing at 1135 Clark street.

(Several of Harlan's brothers from the Chi Delta Rho fraternity and other well-wishers threw rice on the wedded pair and bystanders too!)
