Four candidates are now in the running for Homecoming Queen, Carrie O’Connor, sponsored by the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity, Irene Morris, secretary, Club Members of the Alpha Kappa Lambda and the Cheerleaders club, and Lucy Chappell, sponsored by the "S" club and Arisco Kromerov, the Alpha Kappa Lambda candidate, are in the running.

Polling is rolling. The halls are filled with unique signs, illustrative posters and clever slogans. Each organization is going all out to campaign for its candidate. The campaign is beginning with the final week of enthusiasm that has been noted around CSTC for several years. In a string of incidents, displaying poor sportsmanship, have marred the hilarity of the campaigning. Posters bearing the pictures of candidates have been torn from the walls of the halls that have had the pictures ripped and replaced with different pictures. The dull and disheartened practices tend to tear down the campaign in the very last days. It is suggested that the responsible individuals mend their ways immediately and give all the candidates a fair chance.

In-service Conference Scheduled for Grads

An important phase of homecoming week-end, for last year’s graduates, will be the second annual In-Service Teacher Training Conference to be held Friday, October 15, in the Training school and college.

This conference will provide an opportunity for last year’s students now teaching to confer with members of the Training school and college staff about the problems of their initial teaching experience. They will be able to offer suggestions that will increase the value of the training program and take back with them advice relative to the solutions of their specific problems. Prior to the conferences with staff members, they will observe classes at the Training school.

Letters have been sent to the superintendents of schools, where CSTC graduates are teaching, requesting their release for this one day conference. Also, letters have been sent to the principals of the schools inviting them to attend.

Classes As Usual during Milwaukee Convention

The college will not close for the Wisconsin Education Conference meeting at Milwaukee on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 4, 5, and 6. President William C. Hansen announced last Friday.

Instructors may attend the convention if they so desire and they will make arrangements for their classes to continue. They have the freedom of choice who do not choose to go will hold classes as usual.

Construction Lacking

Future plans call for the choosing of a committee to draw up the college’s constitution.

Associate membership in the club will include Freshman students and those upperclassmen who are not majoring or minoring in the social science group, but are interested in the problems affecting that field.

In the afternoon a concert will be presented by the A Capella Choir of the Senior High school directed by Miss Josephine M. Darrin. An address, “The Significance for America of Events in Asia,” by Dr. Walter H. Judd, Member of Congress from New York, will conclude the day’s proceedings.

Fred J. Schmeckee is a member of the committee on the absence of the association.

The convention will be suspended on Friday to permit the faculty to attend the convention.

Social Science Club Being Formulated for Majors and Minors in the Field

A new Social Science club is being organized at CSTC to augment the smaller International Relations club. It allows for a larger membership of social science students and its purpose is to provide an agency for members of the social studies to express their views and gain assistance in furthering their professional standing.

Students interested in the club may contact Maurice WLBL staffs and program descriptions — to appear soon.

State University Host For Education Meeting

President William C. Hansen, De Quincy Doudna, and Dr. Nels Oppegard will attend the National Education Conference at the University of Wisconsin, October 8, 9, and 10.

Dr. Raymond E. Goetham, director of Training and Placement, will also be in attendance at this conference on Saturday, October 9.

The conference will consist of general sessions in the mornings with several round table discussions being held concurrently in the afternoons. Among those speaking at the general sessions and leading the discussions will be the following University Professors: Edward E. Ford of Wisconsin, George D. Stoddard of Illinois, Robert B. Stewart, Vice-president of Palomar, L. A. De Bridge of California Institute of Technology, Frank T. Graham of North Carolina and Norman McKenzie of the University of British Columbia. Additional universities whose staff members will speak are: Princeton, Northwestern, Chicago, Iowa, Ohio, Syracuse, Columbia, and Washington State College. Firms, institutions and organizations whose officers or representatives will make contributions to the Round Tables are: The American Council on Education, Education Week.

You and Your Pointers

Save Your Pointers if You Want them Bound

Usually, at the end of the school year, the Pointers staff members are burdened with very large, unwieldy bound volumes of the Pointers which include all of the issues for the year. On the average, only 50 copies of each issue are saved, and these must be presented to the staff members and the advisers. There are rarely any copies left for students.

If any of the students would like to have a bound volume of this year’s Pointer they should save their copy of each issue as it is circulated (see POINTER, page 4).

Ted Thompson Leaving For Anchorage, Alaska

Ted Thompson, sophomore at CSTC and staff photographer for the Wisconsin Rapids Daily Tribune and星期, is a radio control tower operator at Anchorage, Alaska.

Is Vaucluse Really Dead?

"Politicians can come and go and from the mounting hodge-podge of our political scene it will seem that the gold rush of '29 has there been such an exodus from the east to the west. In '49 the pioneers were the forerunners, but now a century later, their descendants are out to 'fleece' the golden west. Transportation companies, if they relied upon the business from politicians, would have been飯店 deficit theirs to make up, now that the ugly gap left in the American scene by the death of vaucluse. In order to be a successful candidate in these times one must be a veteran trooper able to take the old "six-day" routine.

President Truman, who wants to tell the United States about his newly-cultivated phobia against Republicans, is causing headaches among the railroad yard superintendents by touring the west in a 17 car train in which he is riding, the panama hats, among the rear.

The Republicans claim that this is the best way to move around during the coming week-end rolls around in October 28, at which time new latter will be initiated. A special effort will be made to collect the votes of a dollar per member at that meet

Eau Claire’s Big Bad Bruins
Hand Pointers 13 to 7 Defeat

The Pointers ran into plenty of trouble Saturday night at Goehrke Stadium as the Eau Claire Bruins set the goal of CTC 13-7, for their second conference loss in as many starts.

In Trouble Early
The Quantmen found themselves in hot water early in the first quarter. The Pointers kicked off and reeled to let the Bruins get past their own 28 yard line. Washburn, Eau Claire’s first down, then gained to the Point 29 yard line and after a clipping penalty the ball was put down on the Point 13.

The boys from Eau Claire were anxious to get in the scoring column as Buckli carried the ball for five yards. Five more yards were picked up several plays later as Washburn caught a pass on the Point three yard strip. The Pointers dug in and held the Bruins on the three yard line for the first three downs, but on the fourth fullback Perkins tossed a short jump pass to Redinger to make the score 6-0. Emanuel converted and Eau Claire led 6-0.

The next scoring came late in the first half as the Bruins scored their first touchdown. As the quarter was coming to an end, Curry passed to Hanke to put the ball on the Point 13. Emanuel kicked and Eau Claire led 6-0.

Four teams remain undefeated in the Teachers’ College conference after Friday and Saturday’s games. Eau Claire stayed undefeated by winning over the Pointers 13-7. Milk- waukee shut out Whitewater 7-0 to keep a 1,000 point average. River Falls crushed 26-7, and La Crosse drubbed Platteville 33-12 to remain in the four way tie.

Superior downed Oshkosh 26-13 to win its first conference game and to knock Oshkosh out of the first place tie. Point, Whitewater, Platteville and Stout all are in the collar.

The vanishing American Redman has come back this season. We look for the Pointers to finally get over the win column by beating the up-stirrers in their third conference game.

Chi Delta Rhø

Preparatory Delta Rhø fraternity's part in the activities of Homecoming were discussed at a meeting last Saturday night.

After the business meeting the Chi Delta Rhø members had a potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. Mary Samter from the Training School. Several students from Mr. Knutz's class were present to enjoy the food and conversation. The food was delicious and the students had a great time. The meetings were semi-classical in nature and were enjoyed by all.
