

Seven Schools from Area Will Attend State Debate Tournament

Seven schools will represent this section at the State High school debate tournament to be held at Madison in two weeks. Wausau, Merrill, Wisconsin Rapids, Rhinelander, Two Rivers, Neenah and La Crosse Aquinas won at least four of their six debates held at CSTC, Saturday, to become eligible for the state meet.

Wausau was the high team in the 13 school district tournament as they won all six of their debates. Second place honors went to Wisconsin Rapids and Neenah with records of five wins and a loss. The other four victorious schools won four of their debates. The other schools represented were Tomah, Sparta, Menasha, Kaukauna, Appleton and Blair.

President Hansen to Attend St. Louis Meet

The American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education will meet February 24, 25, 26 at St. Louis, Missouri.

President William C. Hansen will be in attendance at this meeting of the college accrediting organization and will serve on the nominating committee.

Two Corrections Made In Social Calendar

Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, chairman of the calendar committee, states that two corrections have been made in the social calendar as printed in last week's Pointer.

The state convention of Gamma Delta will be held April 30-May 1 instead of April 22, 23. The Wisconsin Council of Geography Teachers will meet here Saturday, April 30.

Dr. Gotham Spends Week - End Visiting Wisconsin Schools

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham returned Monday from a week-end of visiting schools in Wisconsin. Among those visited were Spencer, Abbotsford, Phillips, Fifield, Park Falls and Butternut, where Dr. Gotham spoke to the high school Seniors with the purpose of interesting them in attending college.

Equal emphasis was placed upon the pre-professional, junior college, and teacher-training facilities offered

1949 Edition of Annual Phi Sig Style Show Is Very Successful

A number of good adjectives could be used to describe the 1949 Phi Sigma Epsilon vaudeville and style show staged in the auditorium last Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, February 15 and 16. To mention a few — the show was hilarious, boisterous, absurd, funny, comical, rare, etc., etc., but most of all, it was really enjoyable and entertaining.

The extravaganza opened with the Phi Sig band playing an overture of popular music. This aggregation of 11 musicians, under Jack Whitney's able direction, was one of the biggest hits of the evening. They rendered forth both "sweet and hot" and could play either equally well.

Following the overture, on came the Phi Sig Rockettes, who were as notable for their precision and flawless timing, as are their famous Radio City predecessors. Then, those immitable French actors, Louis "Shapiro" Jacoboski and Jim "Simone" Staus, gave a performance of unmatched excellence, interpreted by Larry McKinnon.

Leland M. Burroughs of CSTC and Walter G. Schmidt of Kaukauna were in charge of the tournament.

Lunch Served at Nelson Hall

A noon luncheon was held for the debaters at Nelson Hall. Speakers there were President William C. Hansen and Dr. Quincy Doudna of Central State. Norman E. Knutzen, of CSTC, led the group in singing during the course of the noon hour.

With the exception of one, the judges of the tournament were all instructors at the college. The judges included Robert S. Lewis, Dean Herbert R. Steiner, Frank W. Crow, Dr. Harold M. Tolo, Dr. Warren G. Jenkins, Mr. Burroughs, Mr.

Men's Glee Club to Present Concert Monday and Tuesday

Knutzen Will Conduct Program

Knutzen, Dr. Nels O. Reppen, Dr. Roland A. Trytten, Frederick Kemple, Nels R. Kampenga and Miss Pauline Isaacson of the college faculty and Mrs. L. M. Burroughs of P. J. Jacobs High school.

The timers for the tournament were members of Mr. Burroughs' classes. They included Phyllis Kasper, Janice Sisley, Helen Trewartha, Burnett Burch, Carman Lane, Priscilla Sullivan, Margaret Hull, Beatrice Malariak, Marge Kohler, Maurice Mead, Dorothy Brown, Delores Kosbab and Bill Wagner.

The Men's Glee club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, will present concerts on Monday evening, February 21, and Tuesday evening, February 22, at 8:15 o'clock in the college auditorium.

The program will begin with "The Purple and the Gold" followed by "It's a Grand Night For Singing," Rodgers-Hammerstein; "From the Land of the Sky Blue Waters," Cadman; a Polish melody, "Prayer"; and "Exaltation" by Gibb.

Harry Howland, tenor soloist, will sing "Because" by DaHardelot. Edward J. Plank, CSTC alumnus, who will play the organ for several of the concert numbers, will then present two organ selections, "Serenade" by Schubert and "The Lost Chord" by Sullivan.

The Glee club will continue the program with "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" by MacGimsey; a piano solo "Flight of the Bumble Bee" Rimsky-Korsakov, played by Bob Karsten with humming accompaniment; a Finnish melody, "Evening"; "Panis Angelicus," Caesar Franck; and "The Sleigh," Kountz.

Bass soloist, Thomas Koss, will sing "Deep River". Following this, tenor soloist Wayne Salter will sing "Summertime" from "Porgy and Bess" by Gershwin.

Request numbers will comprise the final section of the concert, beginning with "Surry With the Fringe On Top," Rodgers-Stickles; "Dry Bones," Russell Watson; "Ole Buttermilk Skies," Hoagy Carmichael; "O Susanna," Foster-Cain. The concert will conclude with the Waring arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Chi Delta Rho Will Hold Dance Friday

President George Whitney announces that the Chi Delta Rho fraternity will sponsor a dance to be held after the Milwaukee game, Friday, February 18, in the P. J. Jacobs gym.

Admission is free. Music will be by "Ray Cording." Remember to stay after the game for a session of dancing as you like it.

One Last Reminder — The Dance Is Saturday

Don't forget the Inter-sorority dance — the big affair that will be held in the American Legion Hall, Saturday, February 19, from 9 until 1 o'clock. Music for "dancing in the dark" will be played by Larry Woodbury and his orchestra. Admission will be $1.75 per couple.

Preceding the dance the sororities will attend dinners for the members and their invited guests. The Omega Mu Chi sorority dinner will be held at the Sunrise, and the Tau Gamma Beta sorority will have theirs at the Country Spa.

Committees for the dinner-dance are under the general chairmanship of Mary Connor and Janice Sisley. Co-chairmen of the various dance committees are: Decorations, Lorraine Thatcher and Mary Due; programs and tickets, Winifred Church and Julie Dean; orchestra, Pat Laucke and Mary La Marche; chaperones Pat Lavers and Pat Jones; clean-up, Joan Winter and Marjorie Finch; publicity, Betty Dietz and Lois Mouch; refreshments, Margaret Hull and Margaret Johnson.

Ruth Finch and Mary Ellen Gmeiner head, respectively, the invitation and dinner decoration committees for the Omegas, while Caroline Krogness and Phyllis Kasper are in charge of the invitations and dinner decorations for the Tau Gammas.

Tryouts for College Theater Start Today

Tryouts for the College Theater production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" are scheduled this afternoon from 4-5:30 p. m. in Room 207. The play will be directed by Leland M. Burroughs and will be presented in May.

The cast required is exceptionally large, typical of Shakespearian drama. There are 17 leading roles, mostly male, 10 court attendants and 20 characters for the fairy scenes.

New Fluorescent Tracing Table Added to Geography Department

A new fluorescent tracing table has been added to the geography department at CSTC. It replaces an older, less efficient home-made one that has been around the school for as long as some instructors can remember. Many students have either burned their hands or had sore eyes after using the old machine. These hindrances are a thing of the past thanks to the new ground-glass table top and the fluorescent bulb. The table is adjustable, allowing students to work at an angle.

The tracing table may be used by other departments, with permission from some faculty member

(The following note — and a box of candy — came from Mary Juetten, editor of the Pointer in 1946-47. She was graduated from CSTC in June, 1948, and is mathematics instructor and adviser for the school newspaper in the high school at Menominee, Michigan.)

Dear Staff:

Just finished poring over the latest issue of the Pointer, and after succeeding in making myself homesick for CSTC, decided to dash off a few lines just to tell you how much I enjoy getting, reading and re-reading the Pointer. It is so friendly, so home-like to read about the school, faculty, students and clubs you used to belong to while in college. Fun to note, too, the many new people holding down the "old" jobs.

My best to Art Witalison. May his reign in the editor's chair be as happy and as exciting as mine. Noticed that Marjorie Beawer is still reading proofs — and also that she has more assistants than usual. Wish I had several good proofreaders here. See, too, that the editorial staff needs typists and reporters. Wonder if Art could use one with a couple year's experience — sigh! — just pretending! Sure would like to drop in for a Monday night session.

OVER A COKE

"Ra" for short —

In Midwestern literature class a discussion evolved around local legends. One student to add an interesting bit for his particular topic went to the board and after writing five minutes stepped away to reveal — "RAHKAGEWINCHEMINITE-GONG" — the Indian name for Hemlock Isle located in the vicinity of Stevens Point. We refer you to the geography department. (The proof readers and the printers should have a holiday here!)

Let it speak —

"I am 25¢. I am not on speaking terms with the butcher. I am too small to buy a quart of ice cream. I am not large enough to purchase a box of candy. I'm too small to buy a ticket to a movie. I am hardly fit to tip — but believe me, when I go to church on Sunday, I'm considered, some money."

Congratulations!

We're beginning to think we'll have to establish a separate "Hearts and Flowers" column since never a week goes by but what some brave soul proposes.

To proceed —

Virginia Henthorne, former CSTC'er, of Wausau, is engaged to Francis Goode, Milwaukee. This happy event was announced at an informal dinner given by Doris Yeager, who attended CSTC at the same time Virginia was here. Doris is now at the U.

Eighth Graders Planning For Plays and Operetta

Almost every student in the 8th grade of Mary D. Bradford Junior High school is participating in the annual play productions to be given this year on February 25 at the college auditorium. Four plays will be presented. They are "The Creaking Stairs," "The Pampered Darling," "The First Party Dress," and "Elmer Cleans Up." The plays are under the general direction of Mrs. Edith Cutnaw. Student teachers who have assisted in the direction of the plays are Margaret Guth, Keith Fox, Melvin Berg, Althea Boorman, Carl Strassburg, Helen Trewartha and John Steeves.

The pupils of the Junior High school are already beginning to assemble their vocal and musical talent in preparation for an operetta they are planning to present in April. Miss Helen Heel, Training school music supervisor, has charge of the general direction of the production.

Inter-Faith Valentine Party Large Success

Square dancing, called by Bernice Yonke, was the main attraction at the Inter-faith Valentine party held in the Training school gym last Thursday evening, February 10. Prior to the set dancing, several of the religious organizations participated in a program. Phyllis Kasper played several selections on the accordion accompanied for a short interval by Phyllis Mykleby on a toy guitar, representing the YWCA; LSA put on a minstrel skit with Fred Hubbard in charge; Joe Moravec gave out with his famed "Caledonia" and encore; a skit, "Mellow Drummer," was presented by the Wesley Foundation Players with Lola Van Ornum as director; and to conclude the program Anne Hantzicker and Arlene Kromroy sang several versions of "Let Me Call You Sweet-heart."

Refreshments were served followed by social dancing for those who wished to stay.

Chairmen for the committees were: Refreshments, Beth Hughes;

Notes from Around the Circuit

Don't you often wonder what has been happening lately in our sister schools around the state? Let's do a little investigating — maybe we can find some interesting tid-bits.

"The Spectator" tells us that the students at Eau Claire State Teachers college had an exciting Frosty Frolic weekend in late January. Friday night there was ice skating on the college rink, sleigh rides, and a movie at the college. Saturday afternoon they had more of the same, plus classical and popular record parties. That night everyone attended the Eau Claire-Superior game and danced in the college gym later.

Whitewater State Teachers college has recorded some interesting entertainment also. We read that in early February, Ben Berger, "America's Funniest Magician" presented his "Just for Fun Revue" to a capacity audience in the college auditorium. This show, sponsored by the "W" club, included Mr. Berger's slight of hand performances, "The Flying Ziglers," a roller skating team, "The Torgi Duo," Marimba concert artists, and an explanation of the purpose of the show. The proceeds went into a "sinking fund" for needy students.

Lucky Students

With more investigating we discovered that in January a $15,000 home was bequeathed to Oshkosh State Teachers college to be used for a memorial union. Talk about luck — those OSTC'ers have it!

We took a peak at the "Exponent," the Platteville Teachers paper and noticed that the Pioneer college opened a new cafeteria for its students. The college also purchased an audiometer to help check faulty hearing.

River Falls Carnival

About this time, the students at River Falls are completing their plans for a big Winter Carnival to be held February 18 and 19. The weekend jollification resembles a homecoming but with a king instead of a queen, and with a bowling tournament and individual outdoor sports instead of a football game. There will be prizes awarded for outstanding ice sculpturing. The plans include the game with Superior Saturday and a dance following.

This is the result of our paging through the exchange papers. If you want to do some investigating for yourself, just stop in at the Pointer office. The files of exchange papers are just waiting for you to snoop through.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Gamma Delta

There will be an important business meeting of Gamma Delta tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the student lounge. Election of new officers will be held and plans for the spring convention will be discussed.

All Gamma Deltas are requested to be present, and any new Lutheran students are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Radio Workshop

This afternoon the Radio Workshop Players, directed by Ellsworth Gaulke, present "Conspiracy out of Space," based on the words of Socrates. When you are asked your country, never reply, "I am an Athenian" or "I am a Corinthian," but — "I am a citizen of the universe!"

On Friday Daryl Fonstad and Maurice Mead present the "Music Album" in a program of music appreciation.

The week of February 20-27 is Brotherhood week. The Lutheran Student association on our campus will present a program on Monday at 3:15 to begin Brotherhood week at CSTC. Wally Voigt is the announcer and Ed Pliska comments on the latest CSTC news and events.

February 22 is George Washington's birthday so Marne Guth will tell the children stories of the father of our country on the "Book Corner" program.

The College Round Table will discuss timely topics of international interest on their program on Wednesday.

Be sure to listen in each day to the programs broadcast from your college station through station WLBL.

Familiar Faces

A graduating senior, Don Vetter, is familiar to students and faculty for the laugh he always finds in a situation. Enjoying life as he lives it keeps Don alert scholastically also. His ability was early recognized when he was elected president of the Freshman class.

As Don advanced through college his interests broadened to include fraternities, College Theater, Glee club, Social Science club, Newman club, and the "S" club. His work in organizing and managing the auditorium stage is in itself a diary of achievement.

Primary Council

Miss Kathryn Ausman, the new kindergarten supervisor at the Training school, was introduced to the Primary Council group at a regular meeting held last Monday evening in the geography room. Other new members also introduced were Elizabeth Omerink, Thora Mae Fink, Esther Berndt and Jane Steckel.

Julie Dean, chairman of the Mardi Gras skit, presented the plans for the Council's participation in the Mardi Gras. The plans were accepted and the cast was chosen.

Mrs. Mildred Williams gave a brief talk and showed several pictures of her trip to Hawaii which she took last summer.

WRY CHAFF

One inspired soul, who evidently met with an unfortunate experience, has labeled the westmost water bubbler on the second floor, "Old Face-full."

The other afternoon we were walking behind a group of first graders from the Training school after they had been released from bondage for the day. The goings-on were very hilarious and one little boy was even so precocious as to put his arm around a little red-head of the opposite sex.

"Please," she expostulated as she shrugged herself away from his grasp, "it's a sin for boys to hug girls."

We would like to meet this vixen about 15 years from now and try to discover if her social concepts haven't changed somewhat during the interim.

If anyone ever tries to sell you the Brooklyn bridge or the Grand Coulee dam — buy it. But first, come back to CSTC and get the confederate money, issued during the Civil War, that is in the curio cases in the rural assembly. That ought to be a fair exchange any time.

Unification of Colleges Viewed

In the 11 November 1948 issue of the Pointer we ran a story on the proposal submitted by the state commission on the improvement of the educational system in which they advocated the unification of the state colleges and the university into an integrated system. Their tentative proposals have been incorporated into a bill which is to be put before the state legislature. It has the support of the commission, the governor and a goodly number of educators and, it is hoped by the proponents, the requisite number of legislators.

The principal parts of the bill are, briefly:

1. A cohesive university system with its center at Madison and branches at the nine teachers colleges and Stout Institute.
2. A board of regents consisting of nine members, two from the present board of normal school regents, two from the university board, one from Stout, one from the Wisconsin Institute of Technology and three appointive by the governor. The nine member board of regents would take the place of all boards now in existence.
3. The board of regents will have the power to reorganize and consolidate the system "in order to improve and equalize the educational opportunities of the people. . ."
4. The president of the university will head the entire system. University branches will be run by provosts appointed by the board of regents.
5. The regents will adopt a uniform system of teachers' tenure.

The proposition has also stirred up a hornet's nest of opposition, chiefly among our sister colleges, who feel that they may lose their autonomy in a system in which the university could control the board of regents. They feel, perhaps with good reason, that their interests would be subject to the will of the larger member, and that they might possibly be lost in the shuffle of "machine education."

A few pertinent questions come to mind when we examine the proposed system closely. In the first place, what is wrong with the present dual setup? Is it performing satisfactorily? Would the new system cut operating costs? Would it bring basic liberal arts courses within commuting distance of most sections of the state? Would it tend to exalt the university at the expense of other institutions of higher learning?

We don't have the answers to the questions, but we feel it fair and above board to speculate. It would seem that the underlying issue in the clash is whether higher education should be centralized or de-centralized. Critics of the present system are not hard to find, but it is hard to pin them down as to precisely what is wrong with it. They are very elusive on that score.

The university opposed the transformation of Superior into a liberal arts school feeling that her territory was being invaded. It is extremely doubtful if she will change her attitude once she is the hub of the educational system. At the present time, there are people who favor unification with an eye towards making the university the biggest in the country, whereas we feel that they should strive to be the greatest, and not necessarily the largest.

The innovation, as proposed, might not fulfill all the dire predictions of some prophets of doom, but the president and the board of regents would be under the influence of the university with its powerful alumni association and numerous other pressure groups. This in itself would lead to rigidity of operation in subsidiary branches because of the absence of personal contact with board members.

Another factor which looms on the horizon is the political implications of a board of regents subject to the control of a governor who wields the appointive power. In addition, administering the complex structure of such an educational setup would require the devoted service of a full-time board of regents.

One solution to the dilemma, and it is being developed, is voluntary co-operation between the two boards of regents. Unification has its merits and may have its place in the educational system of our state some day, but at present it appears badly misplaced if the present merger bill is indicative of the general trend.

Dorm Celebrates St. Valentine's Day in Romeo and Juliet Fashion

Not only the day, but the week preceding St. Valentine's day, was properly observed by the dormites of Nelson Hall. Imagine half the girls as Romeos and half as Juliets with love notes flying rapidly between them. Imagine also the Juliets finding love notes pinned to their doors, to pillows and bulletin boards, as well as finding good things to eat hidden in corners of their room and never knowing from whom they came.

President Hansen Leads Wausau Panel Group

President William C. Hansen served as chairman of a panel discussion on "What is Needed for an Adequate Youth and Recreation Program for Your Community?" at the Upper Wisconsin River Valley community leadership conference held at the Wausau hotel, Wausau, on February 15.

Business men and educators led this conference. Community leaders from Vilas, Oneida, Forest, Taylor, Lincoln, Langlade, Marathon, Wood, and Portage counties were in attendance.

A week of courtship was climaxed by the Valentine dinner Monday, February 14. The Romeos called for their Juliets in real he-man fashion and escorted them to the dining room. Some of the men represented cowboys and sailors and others came as characters from the funny papers. Entertainment for the occasion was given ad lib by the dormites as they were called on.

The dining room was gayly decor-

Eau Claire Bruins Crush Pointer Crowns Hopes with 65-54 Victory

After a close and hard fought first half, the Pointers last Thursday night fell victim to a delayed Eau Claire drive which left them on the short end of a 65-54 tally. This away from home conference loss was number four in a row for the Quadtmen and served to virtually eliminate them from any further chance at the league crown.

Both clubs were evenly matched in the first stanza, and for a time, the tilt promised to be a nip and tuck affair. The score was tied at half-time, 32 all, but Eau Claire, paced by center Jim Bos, broke away in the final period to pile up a lead which they held for the remainder of the contest. So far as scoring was concerned, it was Eau Claire all the way in the last period, except for a brief comeback staged by the Pointers midway in the final quarter. The Quadtmen clipped the margin down to five points with two minutes left to play before the Bruins bounced back with a volley of buckets to put the game on ice.

High scorer for the evening was Eau Claire pivot, Jim Bos, who collected 20 points on nine baskets and two free throws. Bob Hartman took the honors for Stevens Point by contributing 12 markers, eight from the field and four from the foul line. Bill Ludwig, whose invaluable rebounded kept the Pointers in the game, tallied 10 points for runner-up position.

By virtue of this, too, Point dropped into fifth place in the Teachers College conference with a .500 average, although they are still a half game ahead of the victorious Bruins.

The Fifth QUARTER

The basketball season is rapidly drawing to a close for another year. Several more weeks of conference competition still remain in the State Teacher's conference, but high schools throughout the state have completed their conference schedules and are anxiously awaiting tournament time. Some 250 high schools that have enrollments of less than 210 students started their first rounds of tournament play last night. The larger schools have another week before they compete.

Speaking of high school basketball, much credit must be given to little Rewey high school of Rewey, Iowa. It was the same old story last Friday night as Barneveld High beat the Rewey quintet 51-28. This marks the 17th consecutive loss for Rewey this season and 91st straight loss since January of 1943 when they won their last game. Most schools would have given up hope long ago.

Stevens Point played only one game in the State Teachers conference though previously scheduled for two this week. The game with Stout at Menomonie was postponed because of a conflicting schedule at the armory where all Stout home games are played. In the other scheduled game, the Eau Claire Bruins handed the Pointers their fourth conference loss in a 65-54 game.

Old reliable Nate DeLong came through again this week-end when he scored 84 points in a pair of games. He scored 40 points as River Falls rolled over Whitewater by a 87-53 score. He added another 44 points to his total as the Falcons whipped Milwaukee to the tune of 100-75.

La Crosse stayed in second place by beating Platteville 48-46 and downing Oshkosh 63-56. After losing to River Falls, Whitewater also dropped a 83-68 tilt to the Eau Claire Bruins. Milwaukee also lost another game after losing to River Falls when they bowed to the Superior Yellowjackets, 63-52.

Milwaukee Green Gulls to Test CSTC Home Win Record Friday

Friday night Coach Guy Penwell and his Green Gulls from Milwaukee invade P. J. Jacobs gym to face the Pointers in what should prove to be one of the most interesting games of the season for all of the fans in Pointland.

The Point-Milwaukee games of the past have always had that touch of rivalry that makes them interesting, and this interest was made even greater a couple of years ago when the Milwaukee team forfeited the game after Penwell was ordered to leave the floor during an argument with the officials and refused to do so.

To date the Green Gulls have not turned in a very impressive record as they hold down ninth place in conference standings, having lost six games and won only three. The Gulls dropped a pair of games this week-end when they bowed to Superior by a count of 63-52 and to Nate DeLong and River Falls by a 100-75 count. It is interesting to note that both games for Milwaukee were played on the road, and this makes six consecutive losses for the Green Gulls on their opponent's floor. One of the three victories that Milwaukee boasts was a 52-42 win over the Quadtmen at Milwaukee.

The Quadtmen hold a similar record for losses away from home. They have dropped all of their away-from-home games in the conference so far this season. The Pointers hold a better spot in the conference standings with four wins and four losses to hold down the number four position. As is the case with their downstate rivals, the CSTC's have not lost a single game on their home floor.

So the Milwaukee-Point game Friday night should really be one of interest to all basketball fans of this area. Point will be out trying to hold on to their record of not losing any games at home and to stay among the first division teams in the conference standings. Milwaukee will be trying just as hard to break the jinx of losing games on their opponent's floor and will also be fighting desperately to stay out of the State Teachers conference cellar.

ORGANIZATIONS

Home Economics Club

At a recent meeting, Ruth Olson and Dorothy Schmidt were elected delegates to represent the club at the province meeting in Chicago.

Dorothy Schmidt, president of the club, appointed committees for the second semester.

Lola Van Ornum is chairman of the social activities committee and Mary Jane Buss heads the program committee. Hermalinda Bohl has charge of the bulletin board for the month of February. The skit for the Mardi Gras is under the able supervision of Mary Jane Buss and Ina Wood.

Social Science Club

Miss Bessie Mae Allen will present an illustrated lecture on her trip through South America at the regular meeting of the Social Science club at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Room 106. In these days of unbelievable speeds and global thinking, the people in South America are our next door neighbors, so it's good to learn something about them. Visitors are cordially welcomed.

A short business meeting will precede Miss Allen's lecture.

"S" Club

A short address of welcome was given to new members of the S club by the president, Richard Lund, after he called the meeting to order last Wednesday evening, February 9, at the Campus Cafe. During the business meeting Ellsworth Gaulke was selected to choose a suitable gift for the girls who sold programs at the football games this fall, and Jack Judd was put in charge of the Mardi Gras skit.

Other business taken up was the election of a committee to choose jackets for the eligible seniors who have participated in athletic events at CSTC. Jerry La Fleur, Chet Drezinski and Ellsworth Gaulke are to head this committee. The executive board was also requested to write the athletic board requesting that the letters given this year be like those of previous years.

WSGA

The monthly meeting of the executive board of WSGA was held in Mrs. Elizabeth Piffner's office on Monday evening, February 14.

Delegates to the College Women's meeting at Whitewater, February 26, were chosen. They are Anne Huntzicker, president of the local WSGA, Harriet Hennig, Roberta Henderson and Ina Wood.

The board decided to have an all college women's banquet April 24 at the American Legion Hall.

OVER A COKE

Miss Helene Pikulik, Wood, Wisconsin, will be married to John J. Dzikoski, jr., of Stevens Point, on February 19. John was a former student here.

Marion Drewsen, a dormite, became engaged last weekend to Charles Fisher, Phillips, who is attending the U.

Now here is a novel way to announce the grand occasion. The following bit was written by Elaine Becker and came to the Pointer of- fice:

Critic's Report

Ironed Out News

by Steam Press

Stevens Point, Wisconsin, Feb. 9.

"A Ring on Her Finger" huge suc- cess.

Critics throw party for stars im- mediately following their perform- ance.

Both actress and actor showed great talent in their parts.

The critics are hoping for a sequel, "With Rings on Her Finger," by summer of 1950.

Elroy Huber, sophomore, took that first step on "that" road last week- end by becoming engaged to Harriet Bever of Marshfield.

Ramona Putnam, CSTC'er, was married to Gene Harder, of Stevens Point, some time ago. (We seemed to have slipped up in recording this one.)

Nelson Hall has a new ceiling —

In the dining room, that is. Don't become alarmed — the ceiling did not fall in, it was sound proofed so the noisy soup-eaters would not annoy their next-table neighbors. The rec room is scheduled to be next on the list. Several dormites have voiced the opinion that they hoped some of the rooms with exuberant occupants could be sound proofed also.

Thanks —

To Mary Juetten for her bite for our "sweet tooth" on Monday evening. Mary sent a box of "turtles" (candy) to show her appreciation for the Pointer! (No HINTS intend- ed.)

ing gum — some nook or cranny that doesn't have a plaster-of-Paris bust lurking in it.

On the first dark, dreary and blustery day, go to the third floor of the college building and step inside the French classroom. It is only there that the wind wails and moans through the ventilator shaft in such a way as to send chills up and down your spine. What with the wind and the rain and the gloomy grey light of day that limps through the windows, the atmosphere is wholly depressing. Whenever we go there — outside of class periods, of course — we keep thinking of the poem by Longfellow which ends —
"And the day is cold and dark and dreary."

We received many "large" valen- tines this year — only the paper was of a very inferior quality and the verses were nothing short of un- printable. However, here's a series of rhyming couplets that appear in a new collection of nonsense by H. Russell Austin, which we think you will enjoy:

"Der wee Fraulein Muffet
Ossniten der tuffet
Unpeaten der curders mit wehy.
Ein spider upsnook
Und tooken ein look
At der Fraulein and crawlen away."

FAMILIAR FACES

interests is music. Don is a four year member of the Glee club and one of the founders of the famed Chi Delta Rho "Firemen's Band." He enjoys singing and looks forward to each singing performance with as much anticipation as the more avid mem- bers of the audience.

In sports Don enjoys basketball and hunting. During the summer he also takes frequent trips from his home in Marathon to the northern lakes to fish the fighting "muskie." For a tasty dish (we're speaking of food now) Don chooses ham hocks and cabbage.

Don served in the United States Navy for two years. After his training period he sailed the Chinese waters as a radioman on the staff of Admiral Settle.

After graduation in the spring Don expects to teach. On the subject of romance, we can't exactly place the ex-sailor "at sea," for we believe that the debonair Don has a "dream boat" on some more or less distant horizon.
