Men's Glee Club Presents Usual Excellent Concert

Before a large and appreciative audience, the Men's Glee club of 65 voices, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, presented their thirteenth annual winter concert in the Drill Hall of the campus on Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week. The concert is noteworthy in the fact that it marks a condition that has become an old story with this veteran group.

To open the program, the entire Glee club sang a group of five selections under the direction of John D. Ford. Gold: "It's a Grand Night for Singing," Rodgers; "From It, Land of the Sky Blue Waters," Cadman; "Prayer," Polish melody arranged by Malin and "Exaltation," by Gorney and arranged by Edward J. Plank at the Hammond electric organ.

McKinnon Shows Promise

Larry McKinnon, baritone, carried on the program by singing two favorite Negro airs, "Jonah and the Whale," MacKinney and "Ole Man River," Jerome Kern. Besides possessing a voice of fine range and tonal quality, Mr. McKinnon is most expressive in his interpretations. He has made great progress in his solo renditions and shows great promise.

Edward J. Plank, local pianist, who is an instructor of the Men's Glee club and who is staff organist of the First Baptist church in Stevens Point, presented two organ solos on the new Hammond organ. His interpretations of Shubert's "Davidsbund" and "The Lost Chord" by Sir Arthur Sullivan, proved that his ability as an organist is on par with his ability as a pianist.

The opening group of the Men's Glee club presented the next section of songs including "Paris Angelica." "Marianin a," a wassailing and performers, and "Cosumed Cameos On Tuesday, the University of Wisconsin, is in charge of the school, is in charge of the music and art of the school, and is charged with the selection of student teachers of music to gain experience in this phase of the work.

In addition, certain students, not in teacher training, with special abilities have volunteered themselves of this experience.

Glee Club presents "Mardi Gras Date"—Set—Then Re-set

The date for the Mardi Gras production, which has been vacillating between February 28 and March 1, has been changed again and for the last time, it is hoped. The program is set for Monday evening, March 7.

The changes came as a result of conflicts with a revised basketball schedule. The Point-Oshkosh baseball game will be played on February 28. On Tuesday, the State Teachers College conference will face Beloit for the state championship.

These and other overtures forced the postponement of the Mardi Gras. The delay will enable performers to polish their techniques, so turn out in a big way for an evening of entertainment. Remember the date, March 7.

Sororities and Fraternities Start Pledging Activities

Rushing Parties Held This Week

As foreigners used to say of the ancient Hellenes, "The Greeks are at it again.

This week will see the beginning of second semester pledging activities among the two social sororities and the two social fraternities on the campus. Concerning these two phases of the national work of these organizations are Omega Mu Chi and Tau Gamma Beta for the lady Greeks, and Chi Phi and Beta Chi for the men.

Each semester, the sororities and fraternities have pledging seasons that run concurrently for three weeks. The pre-pledging season begins with a raising party by each Greek organization, followed by a pledge dinner at which time prospective members are officially accepted as candidates. The Tau Gamma pledge season which follows immediately.

The criteria for accepting candidates for membership differ according to the standards of the individual organizations and of the individual however, high scholastic standards are of prime importance.

The three weeks of pledging, (which will start on Tuesday, March 1, and end on one-act plays to be given by the Red Brick group, upon a variety of interest—depending on where you're sitting, if you're able to sit. The acts become natural-born tyros, insufferable snobs, existing fraternities, and other equally obnoxious forms of human endurance. The once-pledged pledges are perfect pictures of humility and abjectness as they try to please and please and please again. Their heart-beats are microscopical in comparison to the cardiac palpitations of Silas Marner.

New Twists Added to Old Pledging Routines

During these three weeks, each Greek organization has certain rites and rules which the pledges must have that have become traditional. Also, each year, new "twists" are added to the plebe schemes, caroused upon the monitory—for the actives, that is.

The Tau Gamma pledging season which follows immediately.

Assembly Program Series Continuing on March 3 With Renard-Lucas Team

The assembly program series will begin again on March 3, when Dorene Renard and Eliss Lucas will present their unique program of Famous Musicals.

These young singers have amassed a repertoire of colorfully costumed duets. Their program will be based upon four favorite musicals: "The Chocolate Soldier," by Strauss; "Showboat," by Kern; "The Student Prince," by Romberg; and "Annie Get Your Gun," by Berlin.

Of course, there is a reason for this phenomenon—there is a reason for their success in leading theater groups throughout the country. They recently appeared at Town Hall in New York and have been active in the veterans' hospitals entertainment programs.

The next date, March 3, at 8:15 p. m! Admission will be by activity ticket.

Miss Colman Slips on Ice; Fractures Wrist

Miss Susan Colman, head of the primary division at CSTC, suffered a fall which landed her on her seat-end and fell on the ice near her home yesterday afternoon. She is the second female teacher to break her fall this year. The first was Miss Colman's left elbow in a fall early in December.

Miss Colman is recuperating at home and will return to her college duties as soon as she can signal a left-hand turn from her automobile.
All Men Are Created Equal

The week of February 20-27 has been designated as National Brotherhood Week. It makes us rather angry to think that, after reading many idealistic treatises on the subject, and after going through four years of college, we find that one of the things as brotherhood exists. Perhaps it would do us well to define brotherhood.

For present purposes we will adopt the definition: "Brotherhood is an association of people of like mind, who have exchanged their thoughts and actions with the full realization that all men are created equal."

In this unsavory publication we won't tell you how to treat Jews, Negroes, Russians, Whites, Democrats or your next door neighbors. You can work that out in the event of another "oppression crisis."

Our forefathers formed a federal union which was grounded on the assumption that all men are created equal and have certain inalienable rights. The Declaration of Independence states: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

The solution of the problem rests with the individual. We can't give any formula to cure all the ills which result from intolerance, where the individual continues to contribute to the opinion of our forefathers, we'll get right out there. If it is true, we must urge a return to the idea of equality which has been the foundation of our nation, which now must be applied on an unprecedented scale. Any return to peace and normalcy must have its roots in the home, in the church and in the school. The church must re-open its doors to all men, regardless of color.

The solution is not easy. It will require every man and woman to work toward the achievement of the universal idea which is now the world's most important topic. It will be a long, hard job, but one that will pay dividends a hundredfold.

The problem of the individual is to educate himself. He must be taught to appreciate the values of equality and to realize that all men are created equal and that he is entitled to the same rights as any other man.

The Points last their first home game of the current season Friday night when they defeated a Birmingham squad 74 to 55 by a tall, sharp-shooting Milwaukee quintet on the floor of the Pointland gym.

The Green Gulls from Milwaukee led in all but the opening minutes of the game and chalked up 28 field goals, 10 of which completed the biggest score of the season on the high school floor in their localize district.

After the end of the first stanza, the Points had 20 points on the board against only 13 for the Gulls. Pointer's did come the bigggest 1"or 1rre so far while holding their opponents to a mere 15 points for the entire game.

The Titans lost to the Pointers by only 14 points, so far as the Pointland record is concerned with 13 points and eight points respectively. Schultz was high for the losers with 11 points.

In the preliminary to the Pointie-clash, the Collegiates easily turned back a team sponsored by church's Drugs of Wisconsin Rapids in a 45-35 game. The Point team led 19-11 at the half and had increased the score to 35-21 by the end of the period. In the final stanza, the Rapids team came back but was unable to overcome the Point lead. Bruce Menzel led the locals with 11 points and Kings of Rapids accounted for 12 of the losers' points.

According to Coach Specht, one game remains on the schedule for the Collegiates when they play the preliminary to the Point-Oshkosh game on February 28. Because of the change in date of the Point-Oshkosh game, it is not certain who will furnish the opposition for the Collete.

The Stevens Point chapter of the Women's Self-Governing association will hold a demonstration sale on Monday, February 26, at 7:30 p.m. The Women's Self-Governing Association, which is sponsored by the Whitewater Chapter and guests were present, alumni of CSTC. A luncheon of CSTC precedes the Inter-sorority dance. Dr. P. F. Nelson will give a talk on his second daughter's day. The Chi Delta pledge is further recognized by the “monkey” shield cap, his burlap underwear and the cowbell and red lantern which he has as constant companions during the galling days of Hell-week.

The “cane-paddlers” or Phi Sig neophytes also get their name from the official paddles which they carry in right and left. The paddle is long and creamy and coffee was served to the group.

We’re sorry, John.

Gilbert W. Fairbank, who was one of the “paddlers” at the Two Gax dinner last Saturday, sought to outdo his colleagues by arranging with the kitchen help at the Spy for a more appropriate background. However, he learned that know nothing about the scream that issued forth from the bar room as he spoke of his quiet day at home and behind the Olive’s front door.

To conclude—a loving thought—

Guests were served so much,” she said as she raised the revolver and fired shabbily.

The pledging season as a mark of distinction. The ribbons also serve as backgrounds for rows of buttons which are attached to the “Mads” make infusions of the lengthy list of pledging rules. They are also safety pins instead of buttons for their badges of honor and by the time pledging season is over, all of the pledges manage to look like fugitives from the madding crowd.

Skull-caps and Paddles

All this time the fraternities have been singing the pledge and the pledges have been singing the “meat-ate” boys or Chi Delta Rho pledges. For three weeks they must carry a replica of the fraternity paddle which is shaped like a canoe and is painted blue and white in an intricate design. The pledge paints his own paddle and spends a good share of his waking hours trying to keep a Phi Sig pledge from snapping it. The Chi Delta pledge is further recognized by his “monkey” shield cap, his burlap underwear and the cowbell and red lantern which he has as constant companions during the galling days of Hell-week.

Emerging in 1945 as a member of the Order of the Purple Heart. Two of his most vivid recollections are sleeping in Charlemagne’s bedchamber and defeating the Countess of Beauchamp in a game of chessers. Mr. Whitney entered Central State Teachers College in September, 1945. He occupied the editor-in-chief of The Pointer, the college newspaper. Mr. Whitney also was vested with the presidency of his fraternity, Chi Delta Rho. In addition, he was one time president of the Social Science club, a member of Sigma Tau Delta and the Student Council. Professor Whitney gained a major in history plus minors in English, French and social science in his undergraduate work. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in June, 1949.

At Dr. Whitney’s death and the two sons, George II and George III, and Victoria is yet to come. The blonde Mrs. Whitney made a striking picture with her handsome husband in the faculty reception last Wednesday.

This university is proud to have the talents of Dr. Whitney, a recognized leader in our community.
