

Several Important Changes Made By CSTC Curriculum Committee

During the past three months the curriculum committee, with Dr. Nels O. Reppen as chairman, has been busily engaged in revising the curriculum. In order to meet the growing demands for changes in the curriculum, considerable additions and deletions have been made affecting all departments. Hour values of certain courses have been changed and the titles of others have been re-stated.

One of the most important additions to the curriculum is a minor in art education which will be granted to students who present a minimum of 20 hours credit in that field. Two advanced courses in art education, Art 212a, Advanced Drawing and Painting and Art 212b, Continuation of Art 212a, each three credits, have been added to the curriculum, as well as an Education 225 course in art techniques.

Kindergarten Program

In the education department a training program for kindergarten teachers has been authorized. Details of the curriculum are not yet completed.

Additions to the English department include English 126, English and American Plays, two credits; English 219, Modern Poets, two credits; English 97, Remedial Reading, (a sub-freshman course required of all freshman whose scores fall in the lowest quartile on a suitable test of reading rate and comprehension.) The title of English 109 and 110 has been changed from History of English Literature to Survey of English Literature. English 220, The Age of Milton, has been changed from two to three credits and the title changed to Milton. English 121 and English 122, History of American Literature, has been changed from two to three credits and the title changed to Survey of American Literature.

It has been decided that a minor in library science will be made up of a minimum of 18 credits which includes the following courses: Elementary Bibliography, one credit; Teaching Through the School Library, one credit; Reading Guidance for Young People, two credits; Administration of School Libraries, two credits; Library Care and Organization of Materials, three credits; English 111 or English 113, two credits; Education 231, three credits; Education 203a or Education 233, two credits; Education 203c, or Education 225, two credits.

A three credit course, Mathematics 210, Solid Mensuration has been deleted and Mathematics 206, Solid Mensuration and Spherical Trigonometry, three credits, has been added to the curriculum of the Mathematics department.

Chemistry Revisions

Approved revision of the requirements for majors and minors in Chemistry are as follows: A major in chemistry shall consist of Chemistry 109a and 109b (or Chemistry 100a, 100b and Chemistry 106) and at least 20 credits in the department selected from courses numbered over 200. A minor in Chemistry shall consist of Chemistry 109 and 109b (or Chemistry 100a, 100b, and Chemistry 106) and at least five credits in courses numbered over 200. Chemistry 121a - 121b, Organic Chemistry, will be changed to Senior College status and given appropriate numbers. The credit value of Chemistry 215a and 215 b, Physical Chemistry, will be changed from four credits to an optional four or five credits per semester.

The credit hour value of History 224, Wisconsin History, will be changed from two to three credits. History 217a and 217b, American Social and Intellectual History, will be deleted from the catalogue, as well as History 219a and 219b, Recent American History. A new one semester course in Recent American History, worth two or three credits will be added to the curriculum. The credit value of History 222, History of Recent World Politics, is to be changed from two to three credits.

ing done by Kenneth Wege and Gerald Rued and includes replicas of the activities of CSTC. The mural for the recreation room is composed of illustrations from the girls' athletic activities. Lorraine Laszewski is responsible for the completion of this project. Carol Mularkey was her helper before she was forced to leave school because of illness.

Future work in these classes will pertain to making puppets and marionettes. Motivation for this project will be a puppet show put on by Mrs. Richard N. Piper, Superior, on Friday, March 18, at 10 o'clock in the art room.

The interior decoration class, Art 106, has projects on solving practical problems in evidence around the college. This includes decorating a cupboard for the second grade of the Training school and redecorating the sewing room of the college.

panel discussions with the smaller groups of those interested in each division. The CSTC students answered questions about the college, told of its social opportunities and extra-curricular activities.

A trip was made to Medford where Fred J. Schmeeckle showed conservation films in addition to the conference held. Those seniors going to Merrill were Margaret Guth, John Lobenstein, Caroline Krogness, Loretta Fenelon and Betty Dietz.

Hildegard Kuse, Lenore Arnette, Phyllis Peterson and Duane Counsell spoke at Medford.

Pledging Ends with Pan-Hell Dinners and Dance Saturday

A course called Elementary Logic of Junior college level will be added to the offerings of the Philosophy department.

Bulletins Issued

The curriculum changes mentioned above, as well as other minor changes were approved at the last faculty meeting. Details concerning the changes are available to students in the form of a bulletin that has been issued by the office of the dean of administration. The changes will also appear in the next college catalogue.

Dance to be Held at Legion Hall

At last, with a sigh of relief, all of the pledges of Greek organizations on the campus will be able to lay aside their tams, their ribbons and bows, their cowbells, lanterns and paddles. They are probably waiting for the end of Hell week more eagerly than anyone else, but the rest of the Greeks are looking forward to it, too, because it means another Pan-Hellenic dinner and dance.

The semi-formal dance, sponsored by the four Greek social organizations for their members and guests, will be held at the American Legion hall from 9 until 1 o'clock, Saturday evening, March 19. Benny Graham, with his 10-piece orchestra and girl vocalist, will furnish the music. Chaperones for the dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Crow and Mr. and Mrs. Arol C. Eppler.

Greek Theme

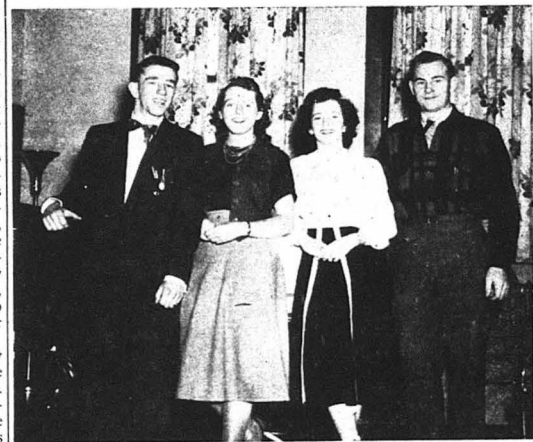

The decorations will carry out the Greek theme and will feature Greek symbols, classic pillars, sculpturing and murals. Committees for the dance are: Decorations, Tau Gamma Beta, co-chairmen Janice Sisley and Betty Dietz; invitations, Omega Mu Chi, chairman Joann Kenney; music, Phi Sigma Epsilon; and tickets and programs, Chi Delta Rho.

The climax of the pledging season will be the Greek dinners when the pledges will be initiated into their respective organizations. Tau Gamma Beta will have its dinner at Nelson Hall. This is to be quite an occasion, since the 40th anniversary of the sorority will be celebrated. Many alumnae of the sorority are expected to be present. Caroline Krogness is chairman of the dinner.

Omegas at Sunrise

Omega Mu Chi will have its dinner at the Sunrise, which will be gaily decorated for the occasion with the flowers and colors of spring. Miss Susan Colman will be the principal speaker. Lucy Chappell and Julie Dean are co-chairmen of the dinner.

Phi Sigma Epsilon will have its dinner at the Country Spa. Dr. Bernard F. Wiewel, Coach George R. Berg and Frederick A. Krepmler will be special guests at the Chi Delta Rho dinner which will be held at the Belmont hotel.

Students and Faculty Enjoy "Pop" Concert

The pop concert, presented by the CSTC band during last Friday morning's assembly period, was enjoyed by students and faculty alike. It is easy to see why Peter J. Michelsen's fine organization has been so well received in out-of-town performances.

The band played a great variety of selections, all especially likeable to a student audience. The program opened with a spirited march, "Am-parita Roca" by Jaime Texidor. Next came a march arrangement of "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise" by Alfred, which featured a baritone solo by Harry Hemstock and a cornet solo by Walter Peterson. Jerome Kern's "The Night Was Made for Love" was followed by "March from the Second Suite in F" by Holst and "Indian Love Call" by Friml.

A clarinet solo by Fred Brewer was featured in the next selection, "Sonnabula" by Thorton. One of the best and most spirited numbers on the program was "Turkey in the Straw" by Danmark. "Sextette from Lucia" by Donizetti was very capably played by Walter Peterson, Ralph Crane, Harry Hemstock, Jack Whitney, Bob Bestul and Alan Bowers, accompanied by the rest of the band.

Robert S. Lewis Seeks City Board Of Education Post

Robert S. Lewis, geography and visual aids instructor at Central State Teachers college and business adviser of the Painter, announced his candidacy last Tuesday for membership on the Stevens Point board of education. He has been a member of the college faculty since 1942.

Gilbert W. Faust, the popular faculty organist, played with the band in a Bach selection, "If Thou Be Near," followed by a snappy rendition of "Nola" by Arndt. The concert was traditionally closed by the playing and singing of "The Purple and the Gold."

Dr. Gotham Preparing Plans for Senior Day

Plans for the annual Senior Day to be held March 25 are going forward according to Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, general chairman of the event.

Letters have been sent to high school principals in this area inviting them to send those Seniors interested in college and the teaching profession.

Dr. Gotham states that the success of this program last year assures its worthiness as one effort in the solution of a perplexing problem. That problem is providing an adequate supply of well-trained beginning teachers.

A varied program of entertainment and conferences has been planned to acquaint these seniors with the life and studies at CSTC. The detailed program for the day will be announced in next week's Pointer.

In a statement to the Stevens Point Daily Journal, Mr. Lewis said, "My training and experience in the field of education, along with my deep interest in the education of future citizens, prompts me to seek membership on the board of education. Because I have taught in elementary and secondary schools and more recently have been engaged in the training of teachers, I feel that I can bring to the office a realization of the present day needs of education."

Hall Displays Are Samples of Art Students' Creative Work

Miss Edna Carlsten's art handicraft classes, 211 and 111, have been busily chip carving, etching, and doing metal tooling for the past few weeks.

Last week a display of chip carving was shown in the second floor hall near the west stairway. The carving included book ends, plates and jewel boxes. Some outstanding carvings were made by Bill Erdman, Wallace Ludwig, Jean Crosby, Winifred Church and Beverly Berg.

This week the display includes metal tooling and etched glasses. The tooling has been done on copper, aluminum and metal alloy with designs of animals, fish, insignia and figures.

Other work done in these classes consists of painting murals to be used in the girls recreation room in the college and in the Nelson Hall dining room. The one to be used in the Nelson Hall dining room is be-

Dr. Gotham and Students Speak at High Schools To Prospective Teachers

In addition to the faculty visitations at Wisconsin high schools, Dr. Raymond E. Gotham announced that he has taken several seniors from the various divisions of the college who spoke to the high school Seniors interested in the teaching profession.

In each school at a Senior assembly, Dr. Gotham first addressed the group and then introduced the CSTC seniors of each division who then led

Puppet Show Will Be Given Friday Morning

Mrs. Richard N. Piper, an amateur puppeteer, of Superior, Wisconsin, will produce a puppet show in the art room (212), Friday, March 18, at 10 o'clock.

The exhibition, mostly minstrel in nature, with Mexican and clown encores, will last for approximately 30 minutes. Two performances may be given within the hour.

This program has been arranged by the assembly committee to stimulate interest in puppet making, preparatory to that part of the art crafts course.

All interested members of the college faculty and of the student body are invited to attend.

Glee Club Group Gives Concert at Fond du Lac

A small group of members of the Men's Glee club accompanied Norman E. Knutzen to Fond du Lac, Tuesday evening, March 15, where they gave a concert before the Kiwanis club at a dinner meeting at the Retlaw hotel. The dinner was in honor of the international president of the Kiwanis and included guest delegates from a wide midwestern area.

Afternoon and evening concerts are being presented by the touring group of the Men's Glee club at Phillips today. Special St. Patrick's day music will be sung by Larry McKinnon and John Anderson.

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price $3.00 per year. Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1927, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Do You Belong in College?

The time might not be far off when colleges and universities will have to decide which students they will educate rather than how many they can process. Perhaps in the not too distant future, the state teachers colleges will be regulating the quantity and quality of students in several of the divisions or departments.

Just at a time when college enrollment throughout the country is at an all-time high, the Veterans Administration has issued a pointed warning, based on a survey by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, to the effect that several professional fields are getting more crowded by the moment.

Some fields of secondary education are jammed. Right now stiff competition is the rule in the engineering field. Chemists, personnel workers and others in related fields are beginning to feel the pinch. The inference is that more people should look to the trades rather than the professions for a means of livelihood.

The comparative ease with which a college education may be obtained has led to a vast influx of students. It has enabled some fine men and women to obtain a higher education who otherwise would have been financially unable to pursue their goal. On the other hand, it has brought out a succession of ne'er do wells who waste time plus parental or governmental cash in pursuit of a will-o-the-wisp. Both species may be found in every class that meets at this college.

Now that a buyer's market has been reached in most professional fields, it will do us well to look again at our own capabilities and aims in life. Regardless of the student classification to which we feel we belong, all of us are in the same competitive boat. No matter what has been said, some are bound to be hurt in ruthless competition. An equitable distribution of people in the trades and professions is the solution, and with this in mind, give your own status a little thought.

How to Stay in College

(The following is a reprint from the National Education Association Journal. Its author is Robert Tyson of Hunter College, New York. We pass it on to you for your consideration.)

How to Stay in College

1. Bring the professor newspaper clipping dealing with his subject. Demonstrate fiery interest and gives him timely items to mention to the class. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in any clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelieveably and shake it.

3. Nod frequently and murmur, "How true!" To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you're going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class.

5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match the books for size and color.

9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brother's second grade reader at that.

10. Call attention to his writing. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

As to whether or not you want to do some work, in addition to all this, well, it's controversial and up to the individual.

Training School's Young Thesians on Stage with Three Plays Friday Nite

Reserve Friday, March 18, as the day you will attend the plays given at 7:30 o'clock in the college auditorium by the seventh grade Dramatic club of the Training school.

The students will present "Promote the General Welfare," a serious one-act play, "Midge Goes to the Movies," a humorous one-act play and "Watch out for Spooks," a mystery comedy of three acts.

Though pupils of this age ordinarily do not attempt three-act plays it is reported that this group is doing a very fine job in producing a long play.

Student directors are Reuben Beike, Margaret Hull, Leore Marchel, George Whitney, Lorraine Thatcher and John Steeves, all student teachers of the integrated history and English course in the seventh grade.

WRY CHAFF

Polish well your newly-shedded shillelagh and amble forth to the spree—the great day is at hand! On this evening a million strongholds throughout the land will be lighted like Blarney Castle during a "community clog." We don't need a Gallup poll to tell us that a goodly share of the illumination will be purely human.

If you think you see a bird bath vaulting down the street, clothed in the green lawn upon which it stood, don't believe your eyes. It will be just a son of the "auld sod" decked out in the national color of good old Erin. He will be off to celebrate St.

Familiar Faces

Our campus consists of several stately buildings, cement walks curving through well cared lawns and innumerable historic markings, from the carved initials on the stone steps to the aging trees and ivy.

One of the more prominent landmarks on our campus is Nelson Hall. Pointed out to visiting firemen with pride, it is a scholastic and social center in our college as well as a home. A large share of the friendly atmosphere that distinguishes CSTC from other schools originates in and around the "dorm."

BETTY JANE DIETZ

Two weeks ago today a student resident of Nelson Hall was appointed to the position of assistant director of the dorm. She is Betty Jane Dietz of Marshfield, Wisconsin. It seems more than coincidental that Betty should personify the friendliness and the social-scholastic balance of Nelson Hall. Betty is also resourceful and efficient. To support this last statement we point to her position as corresponding secretary of Tau Gamma Beta sorority, more than just an honorary position in this busy fourth year of TGB. She is also past secretary of Primary Council and a member of Wesley Foundation and YWCA.

Betty is a Senior at CSTC and, as mentioned, a member of the primary division. She plans to teach kindergarten after graduation in fact, she already had a job in the Racine school system. This seems natural for Betty because she never has to look very far for a job... they usually come to her. Whenever help is needed to decorate, make posters, or "pretty up" a college function, Betty usually

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Primary Council

Plans for the Spring Luncheon to be held April 30 at the Baptist church were laid at a meeting of Primary Council last Monday.

The following committees for the luncheon were named: Co-chairmen, Elaine Ruffing, Barbara Higgins; hostesses, Joan Winter, Ila Williamson; invitations, Bonnie Babcock, chairman, Irene Morris, Beverly Berg, Eileen Knutson; decorations, Andrea Olson, chairman, Jane Steckel, Pat Harrison, Ila Frisberg, Lois Ihlenfeldt, Hildegarde Kuse, Pat Vroman, Pat Fox, Marjorie Meyers, Mary La Marche, Joan Fehrenbach.

Advertising, Julia Dean; entertainment, Kathleen O'Connor, chairman, Grace Peterson, Mary Kearns; favors, Rita Peabody, chairman, Carol Collins, Marjorie Lawrie and Mary Douville. Wanda Counsell will preside as toastmistress.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Miss Susan Colman spoke briefly on the conference at Green Lake which will be held in May.

Miss Roach's Speech Impresses Legislators

There has been much comment around the state about the potent speech which Miss Mary Roach, a member of the CSTC faculty for 34 years, gave before the hearing of the joint finance committee of the state legislature on the teachers college budget.

Miss Roach has a wonderful reputation as a speaker, and evidently Earl Kjer, president of the Association of Wisconsin Teachers colleges and a graduate of CSTC, had this in mind when he asked her to speak. She made the trip to Madison on Tuesday, March 8 along with President William C. Hansen, Raymond M. Rightsell and Fred J. Schmeckle. The hearing room in the capitol was packed with representatives of the colleges on one hand and those of taxpayer's associations on the other.

In his annual crusade for cutting expenses, the governor had slashed $2,734,890 or an outrageous (See MISS ROACH, page 4) heads a committee to add the fancy and unique touches that gives the affair a big send-off.

If Betty could change anything about CSTC it would probably be extending Easter vacations to about three weeks. Easter vacations, it seems, have been a jinx for Betty. One year she returned from vacation just in time to have her appendix removed and another year she had the measles. Better luck this year, Betty.

WAA

WAA Playday at La Crosse State Teachers college was the destination of 25 members of the Women's Athletic association of CSTC early last Saturday morning. The group was accompanied by its adviser, Miss Adeline Levin.

During the day the girls, together with members of WAA from other colleges throughout the state, participated in competitive games of basketball, volleyball, swimming, folk dancing and Apache relays.

Playday is an event sponsored annually by the Women's Athletic association at La Crosse State Teachers college. This is the second year the WAA of CSTC has been in attendance.

Home Economics Club

Miss Kathryn Heffron of the Wisconsin Public Service Corporation demonstrated the use of electrical appliances at a meeting of the Home Economics club last Monday. Among other things, she showed how to cook vegetables without water and illustrated the baking of an angel food cake with seven minute frosting.

After the demonstration a short business meeting was held. Phoebe St. John and Lorraine Goth were elected delegates to the state convention in La Crosse which will be held April 8-9. Joyce Krueger will go also since she is the vice-president of the Wisconsin Home Economics association.

OVER A COKE

Apologies—

To the YWCA for the for the typographical error (?) in last week's Pointer referring to the organization's Mardi Gras skit as that of the YMCA. The designation rather confused the issue after all these "Are you a girl?" signs that are posted around urging membership in the Y-Dub.

A new baby!

A new "baby" (doll) has the students in the child development class for foster parents. Its predecessor had resided with the home economics department for 30 years so we think it was about due for retirement. As yet no name has been chosen for the infant replica.

Here we go again!

Betty Furstenberg, of Marshfield, a former student, is engaged to John Valega, of Phillips. The couple plan to be married early in June.

Marilyn Jean MacElwee, granddaughter of Mrs. Joseph V. Collins and the late Dr. Collins, is to be married to Bruce Hamilton Throckmorton, on Saturday, March 26, at Swarthmore, Pennsylvania. Dr. Collins was the head of the mathematics department at CSTC from 1895 until his retirement in 1937. Marilyn is a junior at the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Congratulations!

James Samter, son of Mrs. Mary Samter, first grade supervisor at the Training school, is one of four high school seniors who have been awarded full tuition fellowships by Lawrence college, Appleton. The awards were given to those ranking highest in a competitive examination given recently on the college campus, in which 50 students took part. The awards are for $410 and are renewable each year, provided an honor average is maintained.

The implication!

Did you notice the theater advertisement this past week-end? It read "John Loves Mary," and underneath, "In This Corner," the co-hit. We noticed several pedestrians stop, glance up and grin broadly. The manager, no doubt, was oblivious of his unintentional humor.

Independent League's Top Honors Captured by Undefeated Raiders

The Independent Basketball league drew to a close last week with the Raiders posting an undefeated season to win the championship. The Peasants came in for second place, losing two of their 11 contests.

The Pointer league finished up this week with the ABC team taking first place honors.

A free throw tournament is now being held and a basketball golf tournament is scheduled for next week.

An Independent Volleyball league will get under way next week with either 10 or 12 teams competing. Included in the league will be the Faculty Flashes, a team composed of faculty men who have spent long hours in practice and are reputed to be primed for the league championship.

Several other intra-mural events are planned as the year progresses. George R. Berg, head of the men's intra-mural program, is very well pleased with the participation in the program thus far. In the Independent league alone, 127 men took part throughout the season. It is hoped that this fine participation will continue.

At present Mr. Berg is preparing a board containing all the medals to be awarded for intra-mural play. It is expected to be on display in the near future.

What Do You Like about Women?

Our Answer - - - Our Arms.

This week your reporter played with fire. He asked several college men the dangerous question, "What do you like or what don't you like about college women?" The answers were, in general, rather vague and evasive. Most of the fellows had that "Do you want to spoil my chances?" look on their faces as they contemplated the question. Then they usually came out with a compromise answer or a complimentary one.

Bob Frisch didn't need much time to think of his answer. He replied, with a smile, "Ah women! I like 'em all a pain in the neck . . . but I like aches and pains."

Eloy Huber, looking out for his own interests, muttered, "No opinion. I'm engaged."

John Platts answered with what sounded like a sneer. When asked what he meant by the sneer, he declared, "That was no sneer." But he wouldn't say what it was.

Bob Morgan exclaimed, "I don't think very much of 'em." And added hastily, "Of course I don't spend enough time thinking about them." Yet, as Bob was going down stairs, he saw a co-ed, partially hidden by the stairs, as she was descending. He said, "What I saw was good; I wonder what I saw was like."

Don Guzman eliminated any controvery with this answer, "I haven't had enough experience in that field."

Wilbur Gierl gave this simple response, "I like 'em all."

James R. Hicks of the faculty retorted with a question. He countered, "Does college change a woman?"

Apparently disappointed on week-ends, Bernard Sbertole gave this answer, "You never know what they're going to do on a week-end. They might go home . . . that's bad."

"They are mighty fickle," acknowledged Ken Garska.

Then there were the three chemistry students hiding behind the name of "Better Things for Better Bach-ors through Chemistry Society," who came out with this bitter message. They had apparently been disappointed in love recently. They responded, "Three years ago we entered this institution with great expectations — all we can say is the opposite sex let us down. Now we find we can synthesize better things in the chem lab." Don't get furious, girls. It sounds bad, but these fellows stopped part way through this statement to stare and admire a beauty who was getting some distilled water . . . and she wasn't synthesized in the chem lab.

David Lodzinski queried, "Why don't you ask me a political question?" (See INQUIRING REPORTER, page 4)

Track Team Holds First Outdoor Drill Sessions

Coach Frank W. Crow and his track team took advantage of the exceptionally warm weather last week as they held several practice sessions out of doors. When the weather does not permit the use of the outside track, the team has been holding its practice in the Training school gym.

Several track meets have been planned for the coming season, with several more meets still to be arranged. The first scheduled competition for the squad will be a dual meet with Oshkosh at the Oshkosh track on April 23. On May 14, the team will again travel to Oshkosh to compete in a triangular meet with White-water and Oshkosh.

The state meet, which includes competition from all of the State Teachers colleges, will take place at Milwaukee on May 28. On the tentative list is a triangular meet at Eau Claire with River Falls and Eau Claire. No date has been set for this trip. Other meets on the tentative schedule include St. Norberts and Winona, Minnesota, but no definite arrangements have been made at this writing.

The Fifth QUARTER

The coaches of the State Teacher's conference have announced their choices for the 1948-49 all-conference team. First place River Falls placed three men on the first team. Included in the first team is Nate DeLong, center from River Falls who averaged 24 points per game this season. Other choices include Benson and Lindholm of River Falls, Ritchie of Oshkosh and Schuman of La Crosse. On the second team Eckerman of Platteville, Stai and Polack of Stout, Schwanberg of La Crosse and Schumacker of Oshkosh were chosen.

Hope of having a baseball team here at Central State were set back this week when Hale F. Quandt reported that he was unable to schedule enough games at the spring meeting of the Conference Coaches association to make a baseball team feasible. Most of the state teachers colleges do not have teams and those that do already have a complete schedule. La Crosse and River Falls have a full schedule, mostly with Iowa and Minnesota teams. Platteville was willing to schedule a game with the Pointers, but the game had to be played here at Point and the athletic department here had to pay Platteville $200 for the trip. Mr. Quandt is still trying desperately to schedule enough games to make a team play. Now all we can do is hope.

The Coaches association also awarded the state track meet to Milwaukee and the tennis and golf tournaments to Oshkosh. Plans are being formulated for Central State to send teams to the different events. The track team is holding practice while the tennis team is still in the embryo stage. More details of these events will appear in next week's Pointer.

No sports column would be complete without at least mentioning the state high school basketball tournament . . . All we will add to the volumes that already have been written about the tournament is "Hats Off to Hurley!" Hats off for disregarding all pre-game dope, which didn't give them a ghost of a chance and for playing their hearts out and into the 1949 state championship.

The Campus Cafe keggers rose up and took two games from the high flying Grover-Nauta team in the feature event of the College Bowling league, last week. This defeat narrowed the first place team's lead somewhat, but they still enjoy an eight game lead over the second place Phi Sigs, who won two from Recreation Alleys.

Other pairing saw Alpha Kappa Lambda #2 win two from Nigbor Furs, Brunswick take two from Hannon-Bach and Alpha Kappa Lambda

#1 emerge the winner in two games over the Chi Deltis.

The Phi Sigs, with a 2418 team series, took high honors in that department, followed by Grover-Nauta, 2387 and AKL #1, 2376.

Grover-Nauta bowled the high team game of 880. Recreation Alleys, 851, took second honors, with third place going to the Phi Sigs with an 844 game.

Chick cracked out the high individual series of the afternoon, hitting for 525. Lanigan was one pin behind, 524, for second place. Other high totals were amassed by Minton, 519; Raddant, 510; W. Christian, 508; Schmidler, 508; Reed, 504; Formella, 501; and Ley, 500.

Ley's 208 game led the way in the individual game department. Carlson was second with 203 and Lanigan third with 202.

tion instead. But now that they're here we might as well make the best of it — just as the Irish do.

The Irish came to America in great hordes following the potato famine that struck Ireland in the middle 1800's. It was only then that the American Indian decided to give up the good fight.

In fact, a goodly share of the West was won by Irish soldiers, farmers, cowboys, laborers, businessmen, etc., who were aided and abetted by the rosy-cheeked, laughing colleens who had been the belles of the "great green way" that runs from Skibbereen to Londonderry.

The greatest aid of all was the frequent internal fortifications in the form of "Donegal Dew" and other equally potent nectars. The mystery of the ages is, How can the Emerald Isles consume so much amber-colored liquid? The second-phase mystery is, "Who Threw the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder?"

The sons of Erin have added greatly to our culture — sometimes against our better judgement. Some of them gave us songs and dances; others just gave us a song and dance! "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Hall" could well be the forerunner of the jukebox.

No modern American family is complete without its so-called periodic alterations. The Irish have been fighters from the word go and have had plenty of talent to give away.

Ireland was never very keen about the Lend-Lease program; she was afraid that we might slip some of her migrant sons back to her in the deal. She need not have been afraid of that. If we had done so, what would have happened to our police and fire departments throughout the land?

Until now, we haven't been too complimentary to the wearers of the green; but deep in our hearts we have a great fondness for those buoyant folks who can take a joke as quickly as they can make one. To paraphrase on the often-quoted statement of Abraham Lincoln we say "God must have loved the Irish, for he made so many of them," and begorra! they're all on hand on St. Patrick's day.

ORGANIZATIONS

Newman Club

At the meeting of the Newman club, held on Thursday, March 10, Sister Mary Cherubin, principal of St. Joseph's academy, gave a very impressive talk and showed slides on the "Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima." She was assisted by Sister Mary Juliana.

Refreshments were not served after the meeting and will not be during the entire Lenten period.

The question box will be the center of interest at the next meeting.

Gamma Delta

It was disclosed at a meeting of Gamma Delta last Thursday that Pastor E. W. Bertermann will be the main speaker at the National convocation to be held April 30-May 1. It was also learned that a new chapter has been formed at Eau Claire State Teachers college.

A bowling social is scheduled for Sunday evening, March 27. The list is on the bulletin board, so attach your name promptly to it. Watch the board for convention plans.

The meeting was concluded by a discussion of symbols by Vicar Brueggemann of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

LSA

One of the important matters of business at the LSA meeting, March 10, was the election of new officers. The following officers were elected and will take office at the next meeting: President, Art Witalison; vice-president, Fred Hubbard; secretary, Mary Moen; treasurer, Carla Kruse. A new constitution was approved and adopted.

Radio Workshop

Listeners were delightfully entertained last Monday when the Radio Workshop presented the initial broadcast of the Hammond console from the auditorium of CSTC. Gilbert W. Faust, a member of the faculty, played the following selections; "Berceuse" from Jocelyn, "In Summer" and "A Shepherd's Evening Prayer." It is hoped that more programs featuring the new organ will be forthcoming.

Today the Radio Workshop Players present another radio drama entitled "United Nations — Calling You!" The program will be directed by Daryl Fonstad.

The "Music Album," at 3:15 o'clock tomorrow will bring you "Music for Better Listening." The program is arranged and produced by Daryl Fonstad and Maurice Mead.

Senior Day at CSTC is the topic of the "Our College" program on Monday, March 21. Dr. Raymond E. Gotham of the Training school will interview some of the student teachers who have secured positions and will be entering the teaching profession next fall.

Friday, March 25, which is actually Senior Day, Dr. Gotham will interview Seniors from various high schools at a part of their visit to CSTC. The program will go on the air at 3 o'clock and will be followed by the "Music Album."

Tuesday, March 22, is Children's Day in the Radio Workshop when Marne Guth narrates stories to the children of the primary grades. This week "The Bear That Wasn't" will be heard.

On Wednesday, March 23, the College Round Table will discuss some topic of current interest. The program is planned as a follow up of the last two weeks discussion of "The Atlantic Pact."

Wesley Foundation

Mary Hartzell, a senior at Lawrence college, spoke about her summer experiences at a work camp in eastern Cuba, at a meeting of the Wesley Foundation on Sunday, March 13.

Rita Fontaine and Barbara Clark took part in the devotional preceding the program. Patty Harrison was in charge of the cost supper that followed. MYF's from six surrounding territories were represented at the meeting.

There will be a cabinet meeting at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon at the church.

Social Science Club

Raymond E. Specht of the geography department will present an illustrated lecture on geographic formations and historic sites from New England to the Rocky Mountains at the Social Science club meeting tonight at 7:30 p. m. in Room 106.

A brief business meeting will precede Mr. Specht's lecture. Visitors are welcomed to the meetings of the club.

MISS ROACH

29% from the teachers college budget. The college representatives were out to restore that cut since they realized the disastrous results it would bring about.

A vivid description of Miss Roach's talk is given in a syndicated column by John Wyngaard which appears in various state newspapers. The following is an extraction from that column. "A sparkling woman professor . . . held the hardboiled legislative financiers enthralled for half an hour as she amusingly and eloquently described the plight of the teacher in today's economy. She told about the house which was bought by her two sisters, also teachers, and herself nearly 20 years ago and which they have been trying since that time to remodel. Starting this year, they discovered that the wage they are paying the carpenters on the job is higher than their earnings as professional workers, and by a considerable margin."

When Miss Roach concluded her speech, it was obvious that the committee had been greatly impressed. Had they voted on the budget then and there, the cut would certainly have been restored.

Inquiring Reporter

I could answer that. But this—"

Gene Polzin, praying that his girl doesn't get wind of it, replied, "I've never seen a school with so many beautiful women."

As he walked away after being presented with the question, Ralph Hurrish threw this answer over his shoulder, "I don't see enough of 'em." Could he mean he wants to see more of them or did he mean that as an excuse for not answering the question???

Joe Okray, with a contented look, said, "As far as I'm concerned they are most enjoyable."

After replacing the pocket book edition he had been reading at the Campus Cafe, Tony Whelihan came up with this disappointing remark, "The majority of them are very nice, but I find it very hard getting acquainted."

And what does your reporter say to all this? Simply, "College is getting better every day." (Long drawn out whistle).
