Arrangements Made Made for Summer Session Programs

The assemblies for the summer session have been arranged with the hope of having a large group of students. Each week, making six programs in all, says Dr. Arthur S. Lyons, chairman of the assembly committee.

A male quartet has been engaged for one of the programs. Calling themselves the Master Singers, they are reputed to live up to their name.

Two of the assemblies are “repeat performances” of these which have already been given here. The first is the Hans Muenzer ensemble of two violins, viola, cello, organ, and piano. The ensemble gave a concert here this year which truly merited a return engagement.

The second “excellent” performers are Daraine and Ellis,轻 opera singers with their clever and animated renditions of all light classics from “Mignon” to “Oklahoma!” They are a vivacious, happily married couple with a wonderful repertoire.

The fourth of the scheduled programs will feature an impersonator. Taking famous characters from Charles Dickens’ novels, he will portray them in some of their most famous roles, and a few remaining weeks have not been scheduled. A lecturer has been contacted, however, and it is hoped that he will be able to lecture for one of these programs.

Dr. A. L. Crabb of Peabody Teachers College, Nashville, Tennessee, will be the guest speaker at the annual commencement program at Central State Teachers College on Thursday day morning, June 2, at 10 o’clock. Crabb has been selected to deliver the college hand under the direction of Peter J. Michelsen will play the processionals, “Pomp and Circumstance” by Edward Elgar.

An invitation by Reverend Edward C. Lewis of the Church of the Incarnation will follow the processionals.

Following the presentation of the degrees, a musical selection “Alma Mater” will be played by the band.

Benediction by Lewis

After the benediction by Reverend Lewis, the graduates will leave the stage to the strains of Pilgrim’s March by F. Mendelssohn.

Seniors in the Intermediate, Upper Elementary and Junior High Divisions will receive the Bachelor of Education degree including: Lenore Amette, Susie; Warren Carpenter, City; Jean Crossby, City; Mary Due, Clintonville; George Flugser, City; Thomas Howard, Bowler, Hardy, Howland, Waushara; John Lochen, Adams; Helen Randolf, Plainfield; Geraldine Roberts, Fond du Lac; Bertha Samuels, Monroe County; Margaret Scherz, Bryant, Ceci Schuhi, Monico; Josephine Vesely, Mosinee; Innocence (see COMMENCEMENT, page 3).

Copies of the constitution are being made for distribution to the students in January by virtue of his diploma or degree an alumus of CSTC and is eligible for membership in the association.

Officers of the Alumni association were elected at a meeting held in Milwaukee last November at the Wisconsin Education association conference. Dr. Virgil E. Herrick, professor of education of the School of Education at the University of Wisconsin, was elected president. Dr. Herrick is the son of Alfred E. Herrick, who formerly headed the CSTC training school.

At the End of the Road

Once more we have come to the end of the editorial trail at the conclusion of the year. The period of publishing the Pointer has been tedious at times, but contact with the few people who come regularly makes the work worth while.

Needless to say, we have made sins of omission and commission. These classics, what of the one or two hilarious laughter on the part of staff members. Perhaps there is some truth in the saying that, before you can scale the heights, you must first plumb the depths.

Beneath the obvious surface trends, we have discovered a few talented writers who could go far in journalistic pursuits if given the opportunity. In so doing we have fulfilled the primary purpose of a college publication.

In our modest way we have always attempted to sustain the college and what it stands for. We have helped, in a small way, in pressing our opinions. The student body has been remarkably tolerant in listening to what we wish to say. We wish for a good deal more work to entitle us to more attention.

In closing, we wish to extend a profound wish for the happiness and well-being of everybody and all the rest, to the rest of your summer be an enjoyable one. We'll be back pitching in September.

In So Little Time

Does it seem possible that next week we will observe the fourth Memorial Day? It seems inconceivable that people seem it yesterday that we listened with hated breath to the Editorials, and among the newspapers for word of the divisions in action. That is day.

A new era of conformity, not unprecedented in history, has been ushered in with a relatively dull and navy blue. During the war nothing was too good for "the boys." The national emergency has passed and once more the military man has his curiosity. As matters stand now, Rudyard Kipling's lines are as true today as on the day he wrote them.

"Oh, Tommy, Tommy, that 's chuck 'im out, the brute," But its'Savior of the world' when the guns begin to shoot.

The little boy in honor of the summer will know no other home than the soil for which they fought so valiantly. It would be fitting if we could honor our servicemen in life as well as death.

Most Successful Intramural Program at End

The most extensive and one of the most successful in the men's intramural sports activities is drawing to a close. The program, under the direction of the Athletics Director George R. Berg, has included five teams and four individual sports.

The program started early in the fall when the Athletics Department began the operation of the Intramural Department. The A-B-C team took first honors in the Alpha Lambda, with the Raiders capturing the top spot in the Independent League. An independent university will be formed by the Raiders and the Sweaters, in action against the Sweaters' league, to draw to a close. The league is divided into two sections with the championship to be decided Monday night.

Individual Sports

In the individual sports, John Barrett won the basketball-tournament; Keith Fox, the horse-shoe tournament; and Bill Bart, the tennis singles championship.

Even after this extensive program, Intramural Sports are still looking for suggestions for improvements in next year's programs and if any improvements should get in touch with Berg to bring up great programs coming to a successful close, Mr. Berg is already looking towards next year. Everything points to another great year for men's intramural sports.

College-Alumni Events

There is little news of any other, and the college but also to provide you with an instrument for actively influencing the development of public education in Wisconsin. The college is a public institution and can contribute significantly to the growth and strengthening of the humanities and sciences.

Out of Work

This week's news for the most part is not particularly good. The college continues to grow, but the number of students is not as large as expected. There are several advantages to this situation for Central State Teachers College Alumni Association.

We are now seeking new members. We welcome the opportunity to meet with you and to discuss our future plans.

We have been working on this

Taking stock of the past year's accomplishments, we are planning to hold a meeting to discuss our future plans. We hope to see many of you there. If you have any questions or comments, please feel free to contact us.

It also provides an opportunity for the "Big Sisters" to give back to the community and help new students.

The "Big Sister" program is open to all women entering CSTC this year. Interested students can apply for the program through the Campus Activities Office. The program aims to foster a sense of community and support among students.

FAMILIAR FACES

Nick "Blue-s" hooks up has often had the scoring in addition to playing a major role in the basketball club. His "sparkle" and quick smile has become an important part of the front row in the bleachers, and his enthusiasm on the floor he personifies on the numerous trips will soon be trumped by the older members of the team.

The other activities in the college which Bob belongs to the "S" club, Chi Delta Rho fraternity, and the Secondary division Forum. He also played one year of football and has gained campus-wide fame as a Little Leaguer. His favorite relaxation is swimming or playing a game of tenpin.

Moved from Ohio

Not a native of Stevens Point, Bob loved the country life while he was young and attended the local public schools. He has traveled extensively, having visited California and New York.

As previously mentioned, Bob is a member of the Secondary division. He has as his major study, geology, with a minor in history. Bob's dream ambition is to someday become a sports announcer.

Basketball Through the Years; Pointers Have Set Fine Record

Since basketball first appeared as a prominent college activity around 1902, the Pointers (for Stevens Point Normal School as it was known until 1919) has had an enviable record—a record that made it stand out among not only Wisconsin college teams but also among some of the hardwood's more prominent goalmakers as well.

In its early years, cage play was notably slower and less-sensational than it is today and spectator interest in the modern sense of the word was not as prominent. More than anything else defense seems to have been stressed and high scoring games were unusual. Scores of 11-4 and 20-12 were not in any way out of the ordinary. Plays were few and far between and the main object of the game seemed to have been to put the ball into the little hole in the fastest way possible, regardless of how many opposing players were knocked over in the tumult. Foul were extremely few and the brilliant team usage them.

First Championship

In 1915, Stevens Point Normal defeated Wisconsin State, 52-37, in the first northern division championship in the state. Although Normal won in the south so the two teams were pitted against each other.

The game drew the largest crowd ever to witness a normal school game—nearly 700 people! Stevens Point lost, 14-17, in the selection for them for what was yet to come.

The next year, 1918, again saw Stevens Point first in the northern division and this time go on to win the state championship from LaCrosse, 23 to 12.

In the early 20's, SPN met and defeated some of Wisconsin's giant teams such as Ripon, Lawrence and Carroll Soon After water had been added to the victory roster. The momentum was increasing.

- In 1930 Stevens Point had become one of the state's most prominent basketball teams.

But the climate did not come until 1951. Undoubtedly this year will be remembered as long as there is a college as the most sensational season in the history of Central State. No college in the state could weather the fury of the Pointers attack and when the smoke cleared at the season's end, CSTC remained the undisputed champion of the Teachers College conference. During this unexcelled season, the Pointers had a total of 19 wins and no losses. And the best was yet to come.

Meet Big Boys

And come it did on the night of February 28 in the Field house at Wisconsin Rapids. There the Pointers met the state's most powerful teams—University of Wisconsin. The Badgers and the spectators at the contest did not consider it a game at all—of course, it was merely an exhibition on the part of Wisconsin. The only minor event in the game was that after the game was over, and all the spectators knew that it was a battle, the fans found itself unable to cope with the Pointers' fire play and air-right defense. The half only point separated the two teams. Then the second stanza began and slowly, basket by basket, Stevens Point gained the upper hand. And the 5,000 howling fans arose as one when the Pointers emerged victorious—28 to 24. It was a fitting end to a great season.

In the follow-up, Pointers followed the same general pattern; two more games were stacked up by the Purple and Gold. The 1956 season was almost a repetition of 1955, for Stevens Point again emerged undefeated, winning 17 games and losing none. After 1955, CSTC was always a strong contender for the title and from 1951 to 1962 the Pointers never finished a season below second place in the teachers college conference.

War Comes

Then the war was called and basketball stopped almost completely from the picture. Teams were formed and games were played, but the Pointers could not hope to compete on pro- war standards because of the extreme shortage of basketball material. Since the war, the Pointers have made a good showing. They have displayed fine material and able coaching and they are slowly but surely grooming for another championship. It may not come this year or the next, but sooner or later there'll be another 1935.

Placement Service for Alumni Is Developing

According to Dr. Raymond E. Gautham, the placement office of CSTC is developing an alumni placement service for all CSTC graduates. Already a reasonable number of alumni have obtained fine promotions. More calls for teachers with good college records and outstanding teaching experiences are received that there are candidates to recommend. Several capable alumni have received administrative assignments through this placement service.

At the present time there is a need for county supervisors, city superintendents, grade school principals, special education teachers, specialists in subject areas and special subject supervisors, as well as experienced teachers at all grade levels and in several academic areas.

Quality for Promotion

To qualify for desirable professional opportunities, an alumni must have a strong academic and professional record; must have a commendable experience record and reflect the kind of professional attitude required of a teacher.

All alumni are urged to keep their credentials up-to-date and available so that when the opportunities are present, the credentials can be sent out immediately. On occasion an泩promises requests credentials so frequently, when nothing has been done with the records for several years.

It takes considerable time to prepare credentials from the beginning or to get them up to date if left in the files for any length of time. It is not a difficult procedure to keep them up to date if this is done regularly.

Dr. Gotham states that there is no charge for any services from the placement office of CSTC.
