

Here They Are—The Nominees For Queen—Take Your Pick

Nominations for Homecoming Queen have been closed for a week, a week that has seen the various school organizations lining up solidly behind their avowed candidates, and that has seen seven days of hanging posters and formulating slogans. Out of this week has grown the question of the day, one that will not be answered until Friday afternoon, October 28, at the Homecoming pep assembly. Who will rule over the 1949 Homecoming celebration?

The student body will have four coeds from whom to choose their leading lady. Nancy Sannes, Marjorie Finch, Carole Gilbertson and Joan Swan are the announced candidates of, respectively, the "S" club, Phi Sigma Epsilon, Chi Delta Rho and Alpha Kappa Lambda.

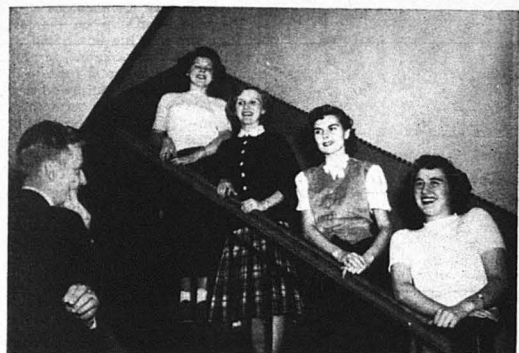

Nancy, who is from Scandinavia, is a Sophomore in the junior college.

She has the distinction of being the only out-of-town candidate. Her extra-curricular activities include cheerleading and working at the Campus Cafe.

Marge is in her third year at CSTC and is enrolled in the primary division. This active Stevens Pointer is a member of the YWCA, Omega Mu Chi, Iris, Primary Council, the Girls' Glee club and Mixed Chorus.

Carole is a Sophomore and she, too, is a home town girl. She is enrolled in the junior college with home economics as her intended major. Carole is also a cheerleader in addition to being a member of the Home Ec. club.

Joan is the only Freshman in the group. Another Stevens Pointer, she is looking toward a political science major.

OUR APOLOGIES

The Pointer sincerely apologizes to Jerry Moede, newly elected Sophomore class president, for spelling his name Molde in last week's Pointer. There's nothing "moldy" about Jerry, who is full of vim and vigor.

Activity Tickets Are Admission to Games

Dr. Bernard F. Wiewel, chairman of the faculty athletic committee, has the following message of interest to all CSTC students:

It has come to our attention that some students of CSTC are not aware that their activity tickets will admit them to our home athletic contests, so in the interest of better student attendance we are publishing our regulations regarding student admissions.

1. CSTC students upon presentation of their activity ticket will be admitted to all our home athletic contests. Activity tickets are not transferable and students "leaving their tickets at home" must pay regular student rates.

2. Husbands and wives of CSTC students will be admitted at college student rates. This rate is fifty cents for football games.

3. Students from other Wisconsin state teachers colleges will be admitted at college student rates.

4. All other college and university students must pay adult admission prices unless their school's team is the visiting team; in this case college student rates prevail.

See you at Homecoming, Athletic Committee

Miss Hanson Attending Better Radio Listening Conference in Madison

Miss Gertie Hanson is in Madison today attending a conference on Better Radio Listening being held at the YWCA. As her part in the conference, Miss Hanson will discuss "The Small Station and Your Community."

In a later discussion group Mrs. Walter Brummond of Appleton and Mrs. Philip Falk of Madison will lead in the discussion of questions such as "When are Radio Give-Aways Lotteries?" and "Can Wisconsin Set a Precedent in Devising an enforceable Law?" Mrs. Falk is the wife of a former president of Central State Teachers college.

Dr. Doudna Will Speak At WFT Luncheon Meeting

Dr. Quincy Doudna, dean of administration at CSTC, will be one of the principal speakers at the seventeenth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers in Milwaukee on November 3 and 4. The convention will be held at the Knickerbocker Hotel and is the first time a full two day program has been arranged.

Dr. Doudna, runner-up in the election for state superintendent of public instruction and one of the recognized leaders in education, will speak at the noon luncheon on Friday. His topic will be "Sizing Up Wisconsin Education."

Centennial Art Exhibit Here Until November 8

The Gimbel Wisconsin Centennial art collection has arrived at CSTC and will be on exhibit in the art room until November 8.

The collection consists of 32 oil paintings by Wisconsin artists commissioned by Gimbel's to paint phases of Wisconsin in commemoration of the centennial anniversary of statehood. The exhibit was completed in 1948 and at that time was the only such group of paintings of one locality painted by its residents.

The range of subjects chosen by the artists is wide. "Paul Bunyan and His Blue Ox Babe" by James Watrous brings out the mythology of the state, while "Ore Freighter" by Edmund Lewandowski and "Foundry" by Charles Thwaites depict examples of modern industry. Mr. Lewandowski was awarded the first prize of $1,000, and Franklin Boggs received the second prize of $750 for his painting "Wisconsin County Fair."

At present the collection is on a tour of Wisconsin, and at the close of the tour it will hang in the Metropolitan War Memorial in Milwaukee.

Enrollment Increases In Elementary Field

The enrollment in the various educational divisions shows that the understaffed fields are beginning to draw students' attention. The three divisions of the elementary field have an increased enrollment over last year. There are now 269 students compared to last year's 184.

The rural division of this field is the smallest, with 76 students entered. This is followed by the intermediate and upper elementary division with 93 students, and the primary division with the largest number—100 students.

Another division that has increased its enrollment is the junior college. This division, the largest in school, now has 428 men and women. The only decrease in enrollment, from 230 to 199, occurs in the secondary division.

Veteran enrollment follows the national trend and has decreased—very slightly at CSTC—from last year's 258 to the present 240. This fact, plus the presence of more women in college, seems to indicate a return to the pre-war level of enrollment.

Sheridan's "The Rivals" to Be Alpha Psi Omega Presentation

Sheridan's "The Rivals," a costume play of the 18th century, will be presented by the Alpha Psi Omega dramatic fraternity and the Speech 226 class on January 11 and 12. This play, which was originally scheduled for November, is under the direction of Leland M. Burroughs.

"The Rivals," a classical comedy, is noted for its character sketches and lively repartee. Mr. Sheridan has given every character very clever lines.

Costumes Make Play Colorful

Although the scenery is very simple, the authentic and picturesque costumes will make the play colorful. These costumes, rented from a professional costume company, will be effectively displayed before the dramatic department's new cyclorama curtain.

The characters in Sheridan's "The Rivals" will be portrayed by the fol-

Official Chicago Ballet Company

The famous Page-Stone Chicago Opera ballet is coming to CSTC for a concert on Monday evening, October 24, in the college auditorium. This company is annually contracted as the official ballet of the Chicago Opera company for the Chicago season, as well as for all tour engagements.

The star, Ruth Page, has toured the world for several seasons as one of the world's finest solo recital dancers, and on her visit to Stevens Point she will co-star with the premier danseur of her Chicago company, Bentley Stone, one of America's leading classical and character dancers. They are a total company of 20 people, carefully selected from the finest of her Chicago company.

Miss Page and Mr. Stone appeared at CSTC in a joint dance concert in October, 1948 and were enthusiastically received by a large audience of students and faculty.

The program will feature the full ballet, "Beauty and the Beast," with music by Tchaikowsky, which was performed in a shorter version as the most successful number in the Broadway musical, "Music In My Heart." In addition, "Harlequinade, or 'Love Is Not So Simple,' a ballet-play in the style of the commedia dell'arte, will be presented, together with a group of dance solos by both Miss Page and Mr. Stone.

Dance of the Hours

The performance will include the famous "Dance of the Hours" from the opera "La Gioconda," as presented at the Chicago Opera, and various other incidental numbers.

The entire performance is one designed to present not only full-length ballets but also varied incidental numbers from comedy to tragedy, from the traditional classic

Like Good Organ Music? Listen In at One O'clock Monday Through Thursday

Students who would like to relax to good organ music can now tune in WLBL from 1 to 1:15 o'clock, Monday through Thursday, when CSTC broadcasts a program of organ melodies.

The Radio Workshop, under the direction of Miss Gertie Hanson, is sponsoring the program, which will feature organ music played by Gilbert W. Faust and by music students of Peter J. Michelsen.

Grace Peterson initiated the series last week. This week Mr. Faust is organist, next week Barbara Clark will be at the organ and for the week of October 31, Muriel Held.

The program originates in the CSTC auditorium on the Hammond electric organ which the college purchased last spring.

This ballet will make its first appearance in many years on October 29 at the Pabst theater in Milwaukee. Reserved seats at the Pabst range in price from $1.20 to $5.

dance to the modern forms of contemporary ballet.

Just as an American, Isadora Duncan, was a pioneer in the now accepted field of interpretative dancing, Miss Page is showing the world how the often harsh movements of the modern dance may be made more beautiful and infinitely more appealing when combined with the grace and artistry of the classical toe ballet.

Miss Page is one of the few dancers on the concert stage who have had wide experience in the classical ballet, as well as modern dance training and experience.

A Globe-Trotter

She has been a persistent globe-trotter, giving concerts in practically all the countries of the world. She has danced for the Emperor of Japan and the Royal Household of Siam, as well as for the workers of Soviet Russia. She has toured the Orient, India, Europe, South America and North America. Ah! He's Here — Now We Can All Relax

The Pointer is proud to announce the birth of the "heir to its editorship" in the person of James Arthur Witalison, seven pound, six ounce son of Editor and Mrs. Art Witalison, born on Saturday, October 8, in the Door County Memorial hospital at Sturgeon Bay.

Proud poppa Art can now rest more easily after enduring months of anxious waiting. Incidentally, on Art's excuse from Dean Steiner there was written as reason for his absence, "Son and heir; sure we approve!"

Concert Is Postponed

The concert by the college band, which was scheduled for Thursday evening of this week, has been postponed to November 29.

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price: $3.00 per year. Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1927, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Printing, Premiums and Playboys

A considerable portion of the printing cost of each week's issue of the Pointer is borne by our advertisers. Their reasons for advertising with us are probably twofold.

The businessmen realize that it is simply a matter of good business tactics to advertise in a medium which reaches a considerable portion of the "spending" population of the city. Another reason is the desire to give the college a boost. In Stevens Point, as in any college town, the betterment of the school always enhances the position of the city.

This year, as always, we have good reason to thank these local business houses for their co-operation. Remember, if you need a tire for that jalopy or a tie-rack to keep your ties off the floor, patronize our advertisers.

For veterans, perhaps the biggest financial news since the mustering out pay disappeared in line of duty was the announcement this year that the government would pay out over three billion dollars in insurance refunds to the holders of National Service Life Insurance.

Veterans who were 40 or under when they took out service insurance will receive a dividend amounting to 55 cents a month for each $1000 of insurance carried from the time of the policy's inception to its anniversary date in 1948.

Any person who held a policy prior to January 1, 1948, and kept it in force for at least three months may apply for the refund.

The journalistic word received word last week that the notorious Sigmund "Sam" Engel was released from jail. Engel, who stirred the yellow tabloids into a frenzy, is under bond on charges of having swindled members of the fair sex who fell for his 73 year-old charms.

The aging Lohario stated that he was going into business as the "Engel Producing Corporation" to produce movie and radio scripts which "will be about my experiences." With his sensational playdip in the newspapers, it is no wonder that farm boys leave home and staid school teachers kick over the traces and desert that honored profession.

It may be that, when the days of decreasing school enrollments fall upon us, it will do us well to get a Sam Engel or two on the staff to help fill the lecture halls to capacity. Then newspaper editors can go back to a quiet evening at home, puffing at a mellow meerschaum, while cynically reading the editorials in the New York Times.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Alpha Kappa Lambda

Freshman conservation students and regular members of AKL heard I. O. Hembre, chief of the education division of the soil conservation service, speak on new conservation practices and theory at their meeting on October 12. Mr. Hembre emphasized the need for intelligent youth who will use wise conservation methods, thus insuring the welfare of future generations.

Joan Swan, AKL's candidate for homecoming queen, was introduced to the group.

A watermelon feed concluded the meeting.

Gamma Delta

"Science and Religion" was the topic of a lecture given by Dr. Edgar F. Pierson at a meeting of Gamma Delta last Thursday evening in the recreation room at Nelson Hall.

In the business meeting preceding the lecture Homecoming plans were made. Members chosen to decorate the float were: Ralph Storm, chairman, George Negley, Betty Kusserow, Dolores Kosbab and Jean Yaeger.

The international convention to be held at Minneapolis on November 11, 12, and 13, was also discussed. Ralph Storm was appointed official representative. Any members wishing to attend this convention are requested to sign the list on the bulletin board.

Refreshments were served. The remainder of the evening was spent in good conversation, playing ping pong and singing.

Newman Club

Reverend John F. Nowak, of Knowlton, gave an inspiring talk concerning student Catholics and patriotism at the Newman club meeting last Thursday in the Knights of Columbus hall.

Ed Lightbody of the University of Wisconsin, a CSTC graduate, spoke to the group about a forthcoming Catholic newspaper.

The club is invited to a potluck supper in the Legion hall on November 10, sponsored by the Catholic Women's club.

La Crosse Newman club has invited the CSTC Newman club to attend their meetings whenever possible.

The committee for the homecoming float is Warren Lenzmeyer, chairman, Dave Van Hecke, Joanne Guth, Bob Lewis, Ann Phelan, Mary Seales, Frank De Guire, Nancy Redfield, Dave Varney and Barbara Baum.

Wesley Foundation

Reverend Jans J. Vander Graff was the main speaker at the Wesley Foundation candle-light service last Thursday night. Following his talk, a short business meeting was held. The Methodist Student Movement conference is to be held at Superior, Wisconsin, November 11, 12 and 13. Anyone from the group desiring to attend should sign the list on the Wesley Foundation bulletin board.

YWCA

Last Sunday evening, October 16, the Y-Dubs initiated 19 new members into their organization. The initiation ceremony and party were held at Bukolt Park.

Plans were made at the meeting for a candy sale on November 8 and a rummage sale on November 12. The YWCA will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the dorm rec room.

Social Science Club

Miss Frieda Schlueter, the new supervisor of the upper elementary social studies, will be the guest speaker tonight at the monthly meeting of the Social Science club. She will show slides taken while she was principal at one of the American Dependents schools at Augsburg, Germany. The meeting will be held at 7 o'clock in Room 106. Everyone is invited to attend.

President Don Sprise announced that anyone who is working for a major or a minor in any social science may still join the organization.

From the Band Room

Plans for an active participation of the band in the Homecoming festivities are now in full progress. Walter R. Sylvester is assisting Peter J. Michelsen in practice for marching, letter formation and other stunts to be performed at the game. Mr. Michelsen states that he hopes the Oshkosh college band will arrive in time to take part in the Homecoming parade. CSTC alums will also play

Can't Stop To Concentrate

Did anyone notice the players' resemblance to vegetables at the Superior-Point game? (Orange pumpkins and golden corn changing into baked squash in the pile-ups.)

Instead of hearing the usual fashion talk about campus, this past weekend ushered in duck hunting garb and now the word is "How high are your hip boots?" Chuck Lanigan, famed CSTC hunter, divulged his technique for retrieving ducks. One fell into the water just out of reach so Chuck went in head first — his hip boots filled up with air and kept him afloat — he says. (This is a nice way of saying he fell in.)

The warm autumn weather lately has provided weekenders who stay in town with a pastime other than just sleeping. The local parks have been swarming with hikers, picnickers and cyclists who intend to settle down to study after the first snowfall.

Bill Joanis was sadly walking up the stairs to second floor, moaning softly. "What's the matter, Bill?" asked a kind hearted friend. "I am going to part with all my earthly possessions," he replied. "I forgot to take this reserve book back this morning and now it's almost noon."

Miss Wright had carefully explained the finer points of two digit divisors in Education 213, and with a sigh of relief was ready to proceed to the next topic. Bob Spees raised his hand and said, "I suppose this is stupid —" "Yes," she agreed, "but that's all right."

"From the mouths of babes" — Several incidents occurred during the past week at the Training school. In the first grade class the teacher was discussing birthdays. One helpful boy raised his hand and said, "My birthday is December 25." The youngster sitting in front of him turned around and glibly snorted, "Well, if it isn't little Jesus boy!"

In the 5th grade animal study class a lad explained to Charlie Eschenbauch, the student teacher, that his daddy had told him that some animals never saw each other except during mating time and that fish were even worse! The male waited until the female was through laying eggs and then he came over to "insulate" them. Charlie went on to the next page.

Two little girls were arguing about Miss Doris Ubbelohde's name. One (See CANT STOP, page 4)

Fur and Game Farm at Poynette Visited by Biology 109 Students

A field trip was taken to the Fur and Game farm at Poynette, Wednesday, October 12, by the Biology 109 class. Thirty eight students, under the leadership of Dr. Bernard F. Wiewel, observed a number of native game birds and animals, together with a few exotics. They were also shown a number of rare trees in an arboretum.

Dr. Wiewel thought the observance of the capercaillie, an exotic bird flown in from Sweden, was the high point of interest on the trip. The black grouse, also of Sweden, was shown. The black grouse weighs from four to six pounds while the capercaillie is reported to weigh from 12-17 pounds.

The state conservation department is trying to acquire a quota of 40 black grouse and 60 capercaillie. These birds have applied themselves to Wisconsin's natural habitat in an amazingly short time. When, and if, the much hoped-for quota is attained, they will be released.

To make the excursion complete, the class visited the trout hatchery at Wild Rose on the return trip.

Mrs. Ellsworth Has Been "Mom" To CSTC Co-eds for 26 Years

There aren't many people who can say they've been a part of CSTC for 26 years. Mrs. Percy Ellsworth, 1003 Normal avenue, is one who can, for she has taken in college roomers for those two and a half decades and intends to do so for a long while in the future.

"I'd get lonesome without them," she said. "I had six children of my own, five boys and one girl, and they are all married and gone now. The house is near the college and the rooms would only stand idle, so why shouldn't somebody get the benefit of them?" Because of her reasoning, eight co-eds from CSTC live in her home.

MRS. ELLSWORTH

The rooms are clean and light, appropriately decorated with college insignia and men's pictures. Radios blare out with each one's favorite program. In the little kitchenette which all the girls share sumptuous meals of varying sorts are always in all stages of preparation.

Mrs. Ellsworth thinks that girls like to stay at her home because she doesn't bother them too much. "I don't tell them how many baths to take," she smiled, "and I think they can stay happier without being nagged. I've always found that the best policy to follow concerning sympathizing with girls is this: Never talk over one girl with another." Evidently this philosophy is a good one, for no complaints have ever come in from the rooming house where everyone is part of a big happy family.

Many women in town consider it more advantageous to rent to college men but Mrs. Ellsworth doesn't share this opinion. She thinks boys are sometimes too rough and that girls appreciate more the little favors done for them. Since she has raised five of her own sons, she may have considered that enough. However, she likes to reminisce over some of the tricks the girls play on each other. Alarm clocks going off at odd hours after they have been placed in even odder places is a standard favorite.

One night she helped the girls clothe a dress form with male garments — overcoat, scarf and hat. They placed it outside the door on the porch, then called to one of the girls who wasn't in on the joke, telling her that her boy friend was waiting. In the meantime, Mr. Ellsworth came home, said hello to the young man waiting on the porch — and didn't receive an answer. He came inside mumbling about the impoliteness of the younger generation. (Nor was the girl too happy when she discovered the deception.)

Mrs. Ellsworth is an unassuming silver-haired, cheerful person that anyone would be proud to call "Mom" and she's proud of her girls, who have changed through the years but always for the better.

New College Radio Program Making Its Debut Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon, Friday, at five o'clock, a new radio show will make its debut through the facilities of the college studios. The program will hit the air under the name of "Meet the College," and there are at least two things which will set this production apart from the others.

First and foremost, the show, while originating in college studios, will be heard through Radio Station WFHR, and WFHR-FM, the commercial station of Wisconsin Rapids, which maintains offices and studios in Stevens Point.

Show to Last Half Hour

In the second place, the show will last a full half hour. That should enable listeners to get a fairly complete picture of the week's activity at

CSTC.

Pete Thomas, a 1949 P. J. Jacobs High school graduate, has been placed in charge of the program. Don Sprise, a Senior from Wisconsin Rapids, holds the position of planner-producer, a post which involves a good deal of work which often receives little credit from listeners.

Tomorrow's program will be the end result of over a month of planning and hard work. Since this program is to be carried by a commercial station, it involved the complicated process of being cleared by the college. Things have been worked out satisfactorily, though, and Friday at five, things should proceed as scheduled.

Dean of Men Will Speak

Each individual program will be built around some college organization. Tomorrow you'll have a chance to meet and hear the Dean of Men, Herbert R. Steiner, who will give a short introductory talk. John Kowaleski, president of the Student Council, will let you know more about the functions of that organization, and especially about the plans for Homecoming. Bob Westenberg will be at the piano.

"Credit is due to certain individuals and organizations which have helped in the production of the program," says Pete Thomas. "The Radio Workshop deserves all praise for its co-operation. Miss Gertie Hanson has gone out of her way many times to help the staff over rough spots. Maurice Mead has worked during his 'spare' time to iron out technical difficulties."

Students are asked to tune in for WHAT: Meet The College; WHEN: 5 o'clock every Friday; WHERE: WFHR and WFHR-FM (1340 on the radio dial); WHY: To let people of Central Wisconsin know a little more about our college; WHO: Dean Steiner, John Kowaleski, Bob Westenberg, and Pete Thomas.

Dr. Gotham to Attend Leadership Conference

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham has been chosen as representative of this college to attend a leadership conference sponsored by the Department of Public Instruction from October 19-22. The conference, to be held in Madison, will convene in Great Hall of the Memorial Union and will continue its meetings in rooms of the State Capitol.

The purpose of the conference, to try to identify techniques of educational leadership in working with local school staffs, is indicative of the fact that the department has made great advances recently.

Five formal discussion groups will be formed dealing with five individual and separate areas of education. Dr. Gotham will serve as a resource person in the group entitled "The Purposes of Education."

An advance meeting of resource persons will be held on the evening before the convention of the conference. This pre-session meeting, also in the Union, will begin at 8 p.m., October 19, with Dean John Guy Foulkes presiding.

CSTC Gridders Out to Wreck Platteville Homecoming Plans

This week Coach Quandt's Pointers face a tough situation: 1 — How to beat the Platteville Pioneers, a team beaten only once this season, and 2 — How to beat a team celebrating its Homecoming. These should be problems enough to keep the Pur-golders at a peak, but let's look at a comparison of the two teams.

Offensively, Platteville has scored a total of 31 points in its three games, while Stevens Point has notched 39. Defensively, the Pioneers have given up only 13 points in three games! Point, on the other hand, has had 28 points tallied against it. The record speaks for itself, and the Pointers have a definite job cut out for them this Saturday at Platteville.

Pioneer Coach "Butch" Leit's squad, in keeping with the general trend of things these days, is air-minded. Evidence of this was Platteville's 24-0 victory at River Falls last week when Webster and Wainright of the Pioneers launched four successful touchdown aeriels between them. Yackels, Debrun, and newcomer Tom Koch will be watching in the Platteville ground attack.

Superb Against Superior
Besides the River Falls win, Point's opponents have beaten Oshkosh 7-0, and have dropped a 13-0 decision to the La Crosse Indians — generally conceded the best of this year's Teacher elevens. As for Central State, there is no denying their superb play against Superior last Saturday. CSTC racked up 19 first downs and held the Yellowjackets to four. Apparently Point's vaunted ground attack has reached mid-season form, and barring any practice injuries, these same guns will be trained on Platteville come this Saturday.

The game shapes up then, as a struggle of ground against air power, with the team best able to stop the other's attack most likely to win.

Last Week's Captain

The captain for last Saturday's hectic game with Superior was Bill Koch, towering end for the Pointers. Bill received his preliminary training under Coach Win Brockmeyer at Wausau high and also played with Ben Bendrick, former Wisconsin star, on the same team.

While serving in the army Bill had an opportunity to play some service football for the Aberdeen Ordnance Base in Maryland.

At the present time Bill is a second semester Junior majoring in history and minoring in physical education and social science.

Upon being questioned as to whether he has a favorite hobby, Bill said that he likes to listen to classical music. He also said, "If Jimmy Koehn had admitted his desire to knit, then I would have owned up to the fact that embroidery is also one of my pastimes."

When asked about prospects for this Saturday's game with Platteville, Bill offered this: "They are all tough in the league and it is difficult to compare teams by past performances. However, the only important thing is that we come through with a victory."

La Crosse Indians Outrun Pointers by 17-39 Score

La Crosse scored the least number of points and beat CSTC!

That's how cross country track is scored, and that's how Coach Frank W. Crow's thinly-clad lost 17-39 to the more experienced Indians last Saturday. Tesnow and Plumb of La Crosse jogged the 3½ mile course in 19 minutes, 54 seconds — not bad, if you've ever tried it. Felton of La Crosse ran third.

Central State's Bob Gilbert trailed Felton by four seconds as the clock goes, and his time was a smart 20:22. He was the only Pointer who placed among the first six as Point's favorites failed to come through. Strand and Bjorn of the Indians ran fifth and sixth, followed by Havitz, Polka, Green, Olson, and Simonson, all of CSTC.

Coach Crow expressed no disappointment over the Point performance, and rather, was pleased with the spirit the boys showed in spite of

The Fifth QUARTER

Paul Williamson, Chicago Sun-Times grid forecaster, is battling 500 for his prediction on the last two Pointer games. Williamson forecast an Eau Claire win over the Point aggregation, and then, probably satisfied with that call, picked Superior to beat the CSTCers.

Humor was at its best following the Wisconsin-Navy game. After the Badgers scuttled the Sailors 48-13, one spirited fellow remarked, "It's no wonder they're trying to unify the armed forces."

A sure sign that it won't be long before action switches from the grid-iron to the hardwood is the report that the Milwaukee Teachers are holding basketball practice. Thirty-five candidates, including ten letter-men, reported for the opening session.

CSTC basketballers are having daily informal practices in the college gym.

Fred Carpenter, former CSTC basketball player, is attending the 'U' at Madison. He's in first year medical school.

Oshkosh lost their homecoming tilt to Milwaukee in a wild 13-10 affair. A free-for-all took place in the third quarter between players and fans before officials and policemen restored order.

All of you sport enthusiasts should take advantage of the local Bleacher Coach meetings. Here's a chance to get some first hand information from the high school and college coaches plus a chance to see some interesting movies. their inexperience. This week the team journeys to La Crosse for a return meet to be run between halves of the La Crosse-Stout football game on Saturday. With a good week's practice under their spikes, the Pointers are expected to be out for revenge.

Pointers Move in Second Place Tie with Platteville Pioneers

The Pointers moved into a second place tie with Platteville by virtue of a 12-7 win over the Superior Yellowjackets last Saturday night at Goerke Field. Inability to cash in on scoring opportunities almost cost the game for the Pointers.

The first touchdown came on a seven yard flip from Samelstad to Potter. Prior to this pass Jimmy Koehn placed the ball in the shadow of the uprights with a 22 yard effort around end. Kulick's attempt was wide. The Pointers nursed this six point lead till late in the third quarter when the Yellowjacket's quarterback, Wally West, found right end good for 62 yards and six points.

Tackle Walt Matthews then put the visitors ahead with his perfect conversion.

As the minute hand progressed on referee Bud Lowell's watch, the crowd had visions of another one point defeat. Ken Kulick remedied this and, after personally accounting for 33 yards of the 50 yards covered, crashed to pay dirt over right tackle. About 30 seconds remained in the game.

Statistically the Pointers had a huge edge over the Northerners. Quandt's company rang up 19 first downs while yielding only four and also gained 240 yards net rushing as compared to 115 yards for Superior.

"The Mississippi Mud Boys" cleared another hurdle in their bid for the conference title. The final score — La Crosse 14, Eau Claire 7. Platteville warmed up for the Pointers with a convincing 24-0 win over River Falls. Stout edged Whitewater 7-6.

Intra-mural Football, Tennis to End Soon; Basketball Next Sport

The touch football league is fast drawing to a close. The schedule was completed Tuesday evening and now make-up games are being played. They are expected to be completed early next week.

The tennis tournament is also nearing completion. The four finalists are Bill Bart, Chet Polka, Erv Korth and Bud Rued. These men are playing a round robin schedule, with the winner to be decided by the number of wins.

Thoughts are now turning to intra-mural basketball. According to George R. Berg, physical education director, the season is expected to get underway on November 7. Two leagues will again be in operation this year. However, a slight change has been made regarding time. The Independent league will play Monday and Thursday evenings, while the Alphabet league will play on Tuesday and Wednesday after school.

Sign Up Now

Men interested in getting a team in the Independent league should start rounding up their players now. A list with each player's signature must be turned in to Mr. Berg before the season begins.

All men are eligible for the after school league. The men are divided into teams according to the first letter of their last name.

A complete schedule for both leagues will be posted later on the intra-mural bulletin board.

Parents Attend Kindergarten; Meet Children's Playmates

Parents went to kindergarten last Thursday evening, and met Miss Elsie Grime, new Training school kindergarten supervisor. The occasion was a parents' meeting, designed to acquaint fathers and mothers with their children's classmates, to share experiences with other parents and to learn what their children are doing.

Representation was far above the anticipated attendance. There are 25 children in the morning kindergarten, 12 girls and 13 boys, and 16 in the afternoon class, 11 boys and five girls. Of the total of 41 children, all but three were represented. Since the meeting was in the evening, fathers were able to attend also.

Parents Introduced

Parents introduced themselves and gave their child's name in order to familiarize everyone. Miss Grime then told of the purpose of kindergarten, its methods and aims.

Student teachers in the kindergarten were present and were thus able to become acquainted with the parents of their students. Dr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Gotham, Miss Susan Colman and Dr. Quincy Doudna also attended the meeting. Interest in such meetings was evident, for many parents expressed a desire for similar ones, possibly one a month.

Similar Meeting Held Oct. 3

A similar parents' meeting was held October 3 in the first grade of the Training school under the direction of Mrs. Mary Samter, first grade supervisor.

Of general interest was the subject which Mrs. Samter presented, that of the first grade reading program. Student teachers present at the meeting were Mary Connor, Joyce Jensen, Hildegard Kuse, Carol Radichel, Carol Emmerich and Joyce Zastrow.

had it correct and the other kept shouting, "It's Uboloney!"

Ray Venn, Pointer composition editor, mentioned that he would like to start a dating bureau in order to earn some money so he could take his fiancée out. Some 13 years ago there was such a bureau in existence here. Their advertisement was: "We are not following a 'Grab Bag' policy. Blind dates are to be avoided entirely."

Speaking of Ray, he has his thoughts so much in the future that he even headed the first semester social calendar, "Calendar for Second Semester Announced," in last week's Pointer.

There's a lot going on now and some of it costs money. In the words of the Ritz Brothers, "If you can't make both ends meet — make one vegetable."

gagements were joint recitals with Harald Kreutzberg, famed dancer.

During her travels she has studied native dancing and native life as an inspiration for the dances which she creates for her concerts and for the ballet of the Chicago Opera.

In 1938 Miss Page and Mr. Stone, organized the Page-Stone Company. Mr. Stone, whose prior experience included the leading role in a Broadway musical, had joined the Rambert Ballet in London the season before and had danced leading roles on its summer tour of the continent. Composed of over thirty dancers, the Page-Stone company toured over 4,000 miles in its first season in 40 performances. In 1940 it was the first American ballet company to tour South America. Except for the war years, the company has toured each year since. Miss Page and Mr. Stone have also toured in duo-recitals throughout the United States.

"Frankie and Johnny"

In 1945 Miss Page choreographed the ballet "Frankie and Johnny" for the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, and this has since been part of its

During the autumn of 1949 the Page-Stone company is making an extensive tour of the United States, including her appearance next Monday at 8 p.m. in the CSTC auditorium.

Activity tickets will admit students and faculty to this outstanding evening assembly number.
