The Nominees For Queen—Take Your Pick

Nominations for Homecoming Queen have been closed for a week, a week that has seen the various school organizations lining up solidly behind their avowed candidates, and that has seen seven days of hanging posters and formulating slogans. Out of this week has grown the question of the day, one that will not be answered until Friday afternoon, October 28, at the Homecoming pep assembly. Who will rule over 1969 Homecoming celebration?

The student body will have four choices, three those whose leading lady, Nancy Sannens, Marjorie Fish, Carol Gilberson and Joan Swan are the announced candidates, of the "S" club, Phi Sigma Epsilon, Chi Delta Rho and Alpha Kappa Lambda.

Miss Joan Stone, a sophomore in the junior college, has the distinction of being the only out-of-town candidate. Her extra-curricular activities include cheerleading and being a member of the Campus Cafe.

Margie is in her third year at CSTC and is enrolled in the primary division. This active Stevens Pointer is a member of the YWCA, Omega Mu Chi, Iris, Primary Council, the Greek Glee club and Mixed Chorus.

Carole is a sophomore and the too, is a home economics girl. She enrolled in the junior college with some economics as her intended major and Carole is also a cheerleader in addition to being a member of the Home E. club.

She is the only Freshman in the group. Another Stevens Pointer, she is looking toward a political science major.

The program will feature the full ballet, "In the Hours" of the famous "La Giacchonda," as presented at the Chicago Opera, and various other types of dance.

The entire performance is one designed to present not only full-length ballets but also varied incidental numbers from comedy to tragedy, from the traditional classic ballet to the modern versions of contemporary ballet.

The Pointer wishes Ida Saunders, a pioneer and a real pointer, good work in her ballet, and all other dances on the program, a great success.

Activity Tickets Are Admission to Games

Dr. Bernard F. Wieland, chairman of the faculty athletic committee, has the following announce of interest to all CSTC students:

It has come to our attention that some students of CSTC are not aware that their activity tickets will admit them to our home athletic contests so in the interest of better student attendance we are publishing our regulations regarding student admission:

1. CSTC students upon presentation of their activity tickets will be admitted to all home athletic contests.
2. Activity tickets are not transferable and transfer of tickets "at home" must be regular student.
3. Husband's and wives of CSTC students will be admitted at college. The student must present the ticket at a feeble for games.
4. Students from other Wisconsin state colleges will be admitted at college student rates.
5. All other college and university students must pay full admission prices unless their school's team is the visiting team; in this case college student rates prevail.

Page Stone Opera Ballet Group in Concert Tonight

The famous Page Stone Chicago Opera ballet is coming to CSTC for a concert on Monday evening, October 28 at 8 p.m. This company is annually contracted as the official ballet of the Chicago Opera company for the Chicago season, as well as for all tour engagements.

The star, Ruth Page, has toured the world and is one of the world's finest solo dancers, and on her visit to Stevens Point she will co-star with the premier dancer of the Chicago Opera, Stone, one of America's leading classical and character dancers. They are a total company of 20 people, carefully selected from the finest of her Chicago company.

Miss Page and Mr. Stone appeared at CSTC in a joint dance concert in October and were enthusiastically received by a large audience of students and faculty.

Like Good Organ Music? Listen In at One O'clock Monday Through Thursday

Just as an American, I sadora Duncan was a pioneer in the now accepted field of interpretative dancing, so Page has been in the forefront of the often harres motion of the "prize dance" and "dance" may be made more beautiful and infinitely more appealing when combined with the grace and skill of the finest ballet. The Pointe Page is one of the few dancers on the concert stage who have wider experience in the classical ballet, as well as modern dance training and experience.

A Globe-Trotter She has been a globe-trotter, giving concerts in practically all the world's great cities, and has danced for the Emperor of Japan and the Royal Household of Siam, as well as for the viewers of Soviet Russia. She has toured the Orient, India, Europe, South America and North America. Many of her performances are included in the program of the ballet, under the direction of Miss Hansson, is the only one in which the students may participate. This ballet will make its first appearance in many years on October 29 at the Pabst theater in Milwaukee.

The Pointe is proud of the students who have already received their "Bob blotter" en trance tickets and many more will be on their way. The students can now tune in the "Radio Workshop," under the direction of Miss Hansson, as they present programs each Monday through Thursday at 15 minutes.

Sheridan's "The Rivals" to Be Alpha Psi Omega Presentation

Sheridan's "The Rivals," a costume play of the 18th century, will be presented by the Alpha Psi Omega dramatic group. The play, which is regularly scheduled for November, is under the direction of Leland M. Burroughs.

This play is noted for its character sketches and for its clever and amusing dialogue. It has given every character very clever lines.

Costumes Make Play Colorful

Although the scenery is very simple, the costumes of the principal characters are quite elaborate. These costumes will make the play colorful. These costumes, rented from a professional costume company, will be effectively displayed before the transfixed attention of the campus' cyclic curtain.

The characters in Sheridan's "The Rivals" will be portrayed by the following CSTC students: Dolores Kondab as Mrs. Malaprop; Phyllis Peterson as Lucy; Wayne Sather as There's No Fun in Faulkland; Donna Alderson as Lady Languish; Fred Wendel as Peg; Phyllis Strand as Tobias; Walter Peterson as Sir Anthony Absolute; Lawrence McKinnon as Bob Acres; John Gruman as Sir Lucius O'Trigger; Fred Brewer as Captain Jack Absolute; Jean Robertson as Julia Melvile; Lillian Judy as the chambermaid; and Richard Meddings as the porter. Bernice Ling and Bernard Shurtle are student coaches and understudies.

Centennial Art Exhibit Here Until November 8

The Gimbel's Winter Centennial art collection has arrived at the art room and will be on exhibit in the art room until November 8.

The collection consists of 32 oil paintings. Seven of the paintings are now on exhibit, and the other 25 will be displayed on November 8. The second prize of $750 has been assigned to the Wisconsin County Fair. This year's selection is on a tour of Wisconsin, and at the close of this departure the Gimbel's has a contract to present a program of paintings of one locality painted by its artists.

The range of subjects chosen by the artists is wide. "Paul Bunyan and His Blue Ox Babe" by James Watrous brings out the mythology of the state. "Comrade of the Badger" by Maud Lewandowski and "Foundry" by Charles Thwaites depict examples of the industrial life of Wisconsin. "Jerry" by Marge Mil- s was awarded the first prize of dramatic personalities and the speech from the famous "The Rivals"at the Pabst theater on October 31, Muriel Held.

The program originated in the CSTC auditorium on the Homestead electric organ on which the college purchased last spring.

Concert Is Postponed

The concert by the college band, which was scheduled for Thursday evening of this week, has been post- poned to November 29.

Our Apologies

The Pointer sincerely apologizes to Jerry Morley, newly elected to Sophomore class president, for spelling his name Molee in last week's Pointer. There's nothing "nobby" about Jerry, who is full of vim and vigor.

Student Senateете the candidates for Homecoming Queen, who are from left to right: Joan Stone, Marjorie Fish, Carol Gilberson and Nancy Stone. It is expected why Student Council President John Kowalski is in such deep contemplation or may be (it's libration) over this foursome of CSTC beauties.

The Pointer is proud of the students who have already received their "Bob blotter" en trance tickets and many more will be on their way. The students can now tune in the "Radio Workshop," under the direction of Miss Hansson, as they present programs each Monday through Thursday at 15 minutes.
Printing, Premiums and Playboys

A considerable portion of the printing cost of each week's issue of the Pointer is borne by our advertisers. Their reasons for advertising with us are probably twofold.

The businessmen realize that it is simply a matter of good business tactic to advertise in the Pointer because the newspaper has the 'spread' or 'spending' population of the city. Another reason is the desire to give the college a boost. In Stevens Point, as in any college town, the betterment of the community is beneficial to the college.

This year, as always, we have good reason to thank these local business houses for their support. We are reminded of our ties with the dumpy or a tic-tac to keep your ties off the floor, patronize our advertisers.

For veterans, perhaps the biggest financial news since the mustering out pays expense in lieu of the announcement this year that the campus has three billion dollars in insurance refunds to the holders of National Service Life Insurance.

Veterans were 40 or under when they took out insurance policies. Those policies are worth approximately $1000 and the interest on that sum is certified.

Any person who held a policy prior to January 1, 1948, and in force for at least three months may apply for the refund.

The business men in town consider it more advantageous to rent to college men than to pay rental to the city. This is the opinion. They think boys are sometimes too rough and that girls appreciated being in a place like this.

One night they liked the club the best and they didn't want to stay for the town. Since she has raised five of her own sons, she has con sidered that enough. However, she likes to remember some of the times the girls play off after hours. Alan clocking off at old hours also places older ones is a standard practice.

One night she helped the girls change their 'forbidden' items - overcoat, scarf and hat. They placed it outside the door on the lawn. A man walking around, a girl wasn't in on the joke, telling the policeman that he was waiting. In the meantime, Mrs. Ellsworth came home, said hello to the young couple and didn't receive an answer. He came to the door and found the politeness of the younger generation. (Not was the girl too happy when he came home.)

Mrs. Ellsworth is an unassuming silver-haired, cheerful person that is called "Mom" and she's proud of her girls, just like any mother in the world but always for the better.

New College Radio Program
Making Its Debut Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon, Friday, at five o'clock, a new radio show will make its debut through the facilities of the college studios. The program will fit the air under the name of "Meet the College," and there are at least two things which will set this production apart from the others.

First and foremost, the show, consisting of college students will be heard through Radio Station WFHR, and WFHR-FM, the station of Wisconsin Rapids, which maintains offices and studios in Stevens Point.

In the second place, the show will have several unusual features. First, the evening's entertainment to get a fairly complete picture of the week's activities at

CSTC.

Petre Thomas, a 1949 P. J. Jacobs High School graduate has been placed in charge of the program. From his spot on the radio, WFHR-W, Wisconsin Rapids, holds the position of planner-producer, a post which involves a good deal of responsibility. He con tributes little credit from listeners.

The show is conditioned to the end result of over a month of planning and hard work. Since this program is a first in the college station, it involved the complicated production of the college radio program.

Things have been worked out satisfactorily, though, and Friday night's show should proceed as sched

Dean of Men Will Speak
A meeting of the student council will be built around some college organization. Tomorrow night you'll have a chance to meet and hear the Dean of Men, Herbert R. Steiner, who will give a short introductory talk. John Kowaleski, president of the Student Council, will give a short talk about the functions of that organization, and especially about the plans for Homecoming, which will be held at the piano.

Dean of Men John W. Gurgel, a native of Wisconsin, graduated in 1936, and is now teaching at the group about a forthcoming Columbus community.

The club is invited to a potluck supper in the Legion hall on November 10, sponsored by the Catholic Women's Club.

The Newman Club has invited the CSTC Newman club to attend their meetings whenever possible.

The committee for the homecoming float was Warren Lenzmayr, president; John H. Guts, Bob Lewis, Ann Flehan, Mary Yocum, Frank De Guire, Norma Redfield, Dave Varney and Barbara Baum.

The Newman Club meetings, attended by the college staff, will be held at 7 o'clock in the room where the club meets.

CSTC Gridders Out to Wreck
Platteville Homecoming Plans

This week Coach Quantal's Pointers face a tough situation: 1 — How to beat the Platteville Pioneers, a team beaten only once this season, and 2 — How to win by more than a margin. These problems enough to keep the Pur-golders at a profit but lack the composition of the two teams.

Quantal's Pointers have scored a total of 31 points in its three games, while Stevens Point has notched 50 points in all games! Point, on the other hand, has had to work to get those points tally against it. The record, however, has a definite job cut out for them this Saturday in Pointers vs. Platteville.

Lefty Quinlan's squad, in keeping with the general trend of the day, is undecided.

Paul Williamson, Chicago Sun-Times grid forecaster, is batting .500 for his prediction on the last game. Williamson forecast an Eau Claire win over the Pointers, and then, probably satisfied with that call, picked Superior to beat the CSCers.

La Crosse Indians Outrun
Pointers by 17-39 Score
La Crosse scored the least number of points and beat CSTC.

That's how county track team is scored for the week. W. Crew's thinly-clads lost 17-39 to the experienced Indians last Saturday. Tennon and Plumb of La Crosse jogged the 3½-mile course in 19 minutes, 20 seconds, a time you've ever tried it. Felton of La Crosse ran third.

Parents went to kindergarten last Thursday evening, and met Miss Elise Grimm, new training school kindergarten supervisor. The occasion was a parents' meeting, designed to acquaint fathers and mothers with their children's classmates, to share experiences with other parents and to learn what their children are doing.

Representation was far above the anticipated attendance. There are 35 children in the morning kindergarten, 12 girls and 13 boys, and 10 in the afternoon class, 11 boys and five girls. Of the total of 41 children, all but three were represented. Since the meeting was in the evening, fathers were not represented also.

Parents Introduced

Parents introduced themselves and gave their child's name in order to familiarize everyone. Miss Grimm then told of the purpose of kindergarten, its methods and aims. Student teachers in the kindergarten were present and were then able to become acquainted with the parents of their students. Dr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Rothman, Miss Susan Colman and Dr. Quinn Doudna also attended the meeting. Interest in such meetings was evident, for many parents expressed a desire for similar ones, possibly one a month.

Similar Meeting Held Oct. 3

A similar parents' meeting was held October 3 in the first grade of the Training school under the direction of Mrs. Mary Samter, first grade supervisor. Of general interest was the subject which Mrs. Samter presented, that of the first grade reading program. Student teachers present at the meeting were Misses Combs, Hormbrey, Joyce, Hilgerd, Kuse, Carol Radich, Carl Olmerich and Joyce Zastrow.

Ballet

Gangments were joint recitals with Harold Kreutzerberg, famed dancer. During her tour she studied native dancing. Her life is an inspiration for the dances which she creates for her concerts and for the ballet of the Chicago Opera. In 1938 Miss Page and Mr. Stone, organized the Page-Stone Company. Mr. Stone, whose prior experience included the leading role in a Broadway musical, had joined the Rambert Ballet in London the season before and had danced leading roles on its summer tour of the continent. Composed of over thirty dancers, the Page-Stone company toured over 4,000 miles in its first season in 40 performances. In 1940 it was the first American ballet company to tour South America. Except for the war years, the company has toured each year since. Miss Page and Mr. Stone have also toured in duo-recitals throughout the United States.

"Frankie and Johnny"

In 1945 Miss Page choreographed the ballet "Frankie and Johnny" for the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, and this has since been part of its regular repertoire on all its American tours. Its success was such that she later choreographed Poe's "The Bells," with music by Milhaud, "Billy Sunday," in which the famous evangelist delivers and exacts its sermon on "Temptation," and in 1949, the ballet "Love Song" to Schubert's music.

During the autumn of 1949 the Page-Stone company is making an extensive tour of the United States, including her appearance next Monday at 7 p.m. in the CSTC auditorium.

Activity tickets will admit students and faculty to this outstanding evening assembly number.
