Pan-Hell Dance Friday Night At Legion Hall

The Pan-Hellenic formal dance, sponsored by the four Greek social organizations at CSTC will be held at the American Legion hall, Friday evening, March 31, from nine until one. Music for dancing will be furnished by Benny Graham and his orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert W. Faust, are the dance chaperones.

The pledging season will be climaxed by the individual ceremonies and dinners of the Greek societies and by the Pan-Hellenic dance. The Chi Delta Rho members plan to have their dinner at Kalka's Steak House and the Phi Sigma Epsilon brothers will have theirs at the Country Spa. The Hotel Whiting will be the scene of the Omega Mu Chi dinner and the Tau Gamma Beta dinner will be held at the Sunrise Cafe.

Attention!

Because of Easter vacation from Thursday, April 6, to Tuesday, April 11, there will be no Pointer until April 20. In the meantime — Happy Easter!

After 33 Years

Mrs. Jonas Leaves CSTC March 31

One day in 1917, when John F. Sims was president of CSTC, Miss Bessie May Allen inspected her home ec domain and decided that only one thing was missing — a janitress. Therefore she went to Mr. Sims' office and asked him for one, explaining that she needed someone to clean the kitchens and would much prefer a woman in that post. However Mr. Sims just laughed, and so did all the other male members of the faculty, who thought she was joking.

"Finally," Miss Allen recalls, "they realized I was serious. George Nelson, the regent, came forward and said that the woman who cleaned his law offices would be just perfect for the job."

The woman that Mr. Nelson, for whom Nelson Hall is named, had suggested was hired the next day. Her name — Mrs. Jonas. Now, after 33 years at CSTC, Mrs. Jonas is retiring from her position as of March 31, leaving a vacancy not only in the maintenance staff but in the hearts of the people at CSTC.

When someone like her, who is practically an institution here, leaves a college, some of the traditions and memories go also. However, Mrs. Jonas is herself quite a memorable person. Miss May Roach in her speaking trips in the state has noted that many of the alumni of CSTC she talks to wonder about what has

Semester's Last Assembly Features Slocum and Charles

Mildred Slocum, soprano, and William Charles, bass, will present the last of the semester's assembly programs on Thursday, April 20, at 8 p.m. They will sing duets and give a joint solo recital.

After sharing radio broadcasts, each gave a solo recital in Kimball Hall in Chicago. Mildred Slocum's recent joint appearance with Jesus Sanroma, noted pianist, and the Omaha Symphony have won her wide acclaim.

William Charles, a former Army Air Corps major, has received praise from the Chicago Tribune critic, Claudia Cassidy.

ROYALTY EYES ROYALTY — The camera has caught a mirror into which the Junior Prom royalty, Queen Muriel Neerhof, acting president of the Junior class, and her escort, Bob Cook, just happen to be looking. According to physics, not all of the image is reflected by the mirror, but that which is makes for a very delightful picture.

60 High Schools Will Be Represented at CSTC in District Speech Contest

Two hundred students representing almost 60 high schools will converge on Central State Teachers college this Saturday, April 1, for the district speech contest, sponsored by the Wisconsin High School Forensic association. All those entered in this contest have previously won "A" ratings in league competition.

The day's activities will commence at nine o'clock in the morning with president William C. Hansen giving a speech of welcome in the college auditorium. Following the welcome, the contests will begin and continue until 12 o'clock. A special luncheon will be served to the contestants at Nelson Hall at 12:30 o'clock. The various contests will resume at 1 p.m. and be completed at 4 p.m.

The seven contests which will be conducted this year are: Original oration, non-original oration, humorous declamation, non-humorous declamation, extemporaneous reading, extemporaneous speaking, and a four

WSGA to Sponsor Easter Assembly with Reverend Hanson as Guest Speaker

Reverend Orvis M. Hanson of the Trinity Lutheran church will be the speaker at an Easter assembly sponsored by the WSGA. The assembly program will be held in the college auditorium at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, April 4.

Harriet Marking will act as mistress of ceremonies for the assembly. The program will include selections by the Mixed Chorus, "My God and I" and "Bless This House," organ selections by Barbara Clark, and an appropriate reading by Dolores Kosbab. A sextette composed of Muriel Held, Gretchen Holstein, Joan Fehrenbach, Suzanne Swanke, Betty Mehne and Julie Dean will sing "Fairest Lord Jesus."

The committee responsible for the program is headed by Harriet Marking. Dolores Kosbab, Ilse Hirzy and Phyllis Janick are in charge of the publicity and Norma Mayer will take care of the floral decorations.

High School Seniors Here for Annual Program on Friday

To Interest Capable Students

The CSTC annual Senior Day program will be held on Friday, March 31. The program has been designed to interest capable high school seniors in attending college and seriously considering the teaching profession.

The program will begin with registration at 10 a.m., followed by a general assembly at 10:15. There will be group singing, a concert by the college band and organ melodies by student organists. At 11 o'clock the introduction of staff members will take place. President William C. Hansen, the deans, directors and department chairmen will be presented.

Neerhof and Cook Are Royalty for Junior Prom

Muriel Neerhof and Bob Cook will reign over the annual Junior Prom to be held April 15 at P. J. Jacobs High school gymnasium. Faculty, students and guests will dance to the music of Richard Kent from 8:30 until 1 o'clock.

The biggest event on the social calendar of the Junior class will be open to all students. The admission is $1.75 per couple, including tax.

Committees for the gala affair are as follows: Tickets and programs, Allen Braem, chairman, Ray Venn, Harry Johnson; publicity, Norvin Holm, chairman, Helen Offerdahl, Fred LaLeike, Maurice Mead; music, Allen Bowers, chairman, Don Douglas; theme, Eileen Dahner, chairman, Don Hendricks, Bob Karsten, Jack Moore, Harriet Marking.

Refreshments, Mary Jane Buss, chairman, Carla Kruse, George Mooney, Ted Dowd; invitations, Lucy Chappell, Virginia Gmeiner, Isla Mae Friberg; decorations, Betty Gilbertson, chairman, Nancy Boehme, Galin Parkinson, Robert Putzier; and chaperones, Joan Winter, chairman, Barbara Lewis and Lloyd Peterson.

Junior class officers are Muriel Neerhof, acting president, in place of Richard Kowaleski, who has withdrawn from school; Betty Mehne, secretary; and Ed Furstenberg, treasurer.

George R. Berg and Robert S. Lewis are class advisers.

Mrs. Garten to Present Book Review on April 18

An interpretation of Catherine Drinker Bowen's biography of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, entitled "Yankee from Olympus," will be given by Kathryn Turney Garten in the college auditorium on Tuesday, April 18, at 8:15 p.m. The review will be sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club, which last year sponsored a review by Mrs. Garten of "Woman with a Sword" by Hollister Noble.

A certain number of tickets will be available to college students. Miss Marie Swallow, secretary at the Training school, is president of BPW.

Welcome High School Students

Central State Teachers college is glad to welcome to its campus this week two large groups of high school students from our college area. The one we are, of course, most immediately interested in is the senior group on Friday. You young people have been wrestling for some years with the problem of what you would like to do when you finish school and have, perhaps, had some difficulty arriving at some decision. This is not unusual. Your trip to our campus has been arranged for the purpose of giving you an opportunity to see what Central State Teachers college might do for you in your plans after high school. We welcome you, and we hope you enjoy your visit here and want you to feel free to make use of every opportunity to have your questions answered.

The second group meets here on Saturday in a Speech Contest. We welcome you to our campus. We hope that you will receive a favorable placement, and that at least you will have profited by your experience in your Speech work. Perhaps it may be our privilege to see you here again.

William C. Hansen,
President

Mr. Burroughs Announces Cast for "Years Ago"

The cast for Alpha Psi Omega's production of Ruth Gordon's "Years Ago" has been selected by Leland M. Burroughs, director. The play will be produced on May 3 and 4.

Melvin Berg will play the part of Clinton Jones, the father; Dolores Kosbab, Annie Jones, the mother; Donna Alderton, Ruth Gordon Jones, the daughter; Dorthianne Rebella, Katherine Follett, the daughter's best friend; Elmarie Sbertole, Anna Whitman, her next best friend.

William Joanis, Fred Whitemarsh, a beau; Dick Francis, Mr. Sparrow, a man who owns a wagon; Don Douglas, Mr. Bagley, from the YMCA; Shirley Jacobson, Miss Glavin, a physical education instructor; and Punk, the cat, a cat.

Jean Robertson and Barbara Bea have been selected as student coaches.

The setting of the play is in Wollaston, Massachusetts, in the early part of the year 1913.

A full synopsis of the play and the complete technical staff will be run at a later date.

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price $3.00 per year.
Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1927, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

A Word to the Visiting Seniors . . .

It is presumed that all of you who are visiting the campus of Central State Teachers college are interested in higher education — some of you in the teaching profession and some in other professional fields.

You start your career work at an opportune time. Peace, progress and prosperity obsess the nation. Wages are good in most trades and professions, education is modern and complete, and the first flush of post-war college enrollment is past, which means less crowded facilities. Opportunities beckon everywhere.

You show a good deal of foresight in looking ahead to a college education. At the present rate, advanced schooling will soon be a prerequisite for most types of employment, a price we must pay for specialization.

While you are inspecting our facilities at CSTC don't forget to ask questions regarding course offerings, scholarships, activities and the like. Above all, don't forget to eat a hearty luncheon at Nelson Hall.

Whether you enter CSTC or not, always remember that, as Rudyard Kipling might have said, if you can keep your wits about you in the classroom when all about you are losing theirs . . . you'll be a college graduate yet, my son. We extend our best wishes to you as you prepare to join the fraternity of the best educated generation of the century.

FAMILIAR FACES OF CSTC

The title of this column should more appropriately read "Familiar Voices," for the subject of this short biography is the possessor of a voice that, during the past four years over WLBL, has become increasingly familiar to the students of CSTC and many residents of central Wisconsin.

Daryl Fonstad, who has been the assistant director of the Radio Workshop for the past three years and a member of that organization for four years, began his radio work as a member of Uncle Sam's Navy. After graduation from New London High school in 1943, he enrolled at Central State Teachers college but was here for only a few months before joining the Naval Air corps. During a desire to be a member of a committee to protest the proposed action.

A corner room, 108, down the hall of first floor north at the dorm, has been elevated to the position of Nelson Hall's No. 10 Downing street, for it is the room of the dorm president, Arlene Kromroy.

Those who happen to walk down the hall will very likely find the prexy and her cabinet relaxed on the beds and engaged in a heated bridge game. (Canasta has not entered this domain as yet.)

Third In Her Class

Arlene was born in Amberg (a town north of Green Bay) for a geography-minded who have never heard of the place) and spent 17 years of her life there. After graduating from Amberg High school — she ranked third in her class — Arlene came to CSTC. Here she immediately became well known as a girl with a pleasant voice and a great imagination.

Listening to that pleasant voice answer this reporter's questions, Arlene's room mate, Phyllis "Mick" Mykleby, chimed in to help. Of note was her comment on Arlene's pastimes, "When she isn't sleeping, she's out with 'Mo' Mead." (Arlene has the faculty for sleeping at any time and for any length of time.)

his term of enlistment he served as a radioman on a patrol bomber in the United States, Hawaii and the Philippines. Upon receiving his discharge he again entered CSTC in 1946.

Daryl, a member of the secondary division, plans to graduate in June with an English major and history and Spanish minors. He is at present practicing teaching seventh grade English at the Training school. As head of the Junior Radio Workshop he finds an additional outlet for his directing talents. He is currently directing two plays for the Junior broadcasters in addition to one in his seventh grade English class.

Married
Daryl is married, his wife is also from New London, and he has a 16 month old girl, Darilyn.

In addition to his radio work he has also been active as a member of Chi Delta Rho fraternity for the past three and a half years. He did some part-time work as an announcer for the local radio station, WTTW.

Daryl, after four years of Radio Workshop participation, has a definite soft spot in his heart for that organization. He is very much opposed to the present State Radio Council's plans for WLBL and has expressed

Mick also added that her room mate disliked being interrupted when she was talking. So without further interjections on the part of the writer, the story goes on.

A Yodeler

She has been on the make-up committees for seven college play productions and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, the dramatic fraternity, where she works hand in hand with Mo Mead. She became a member of Omega Mu Chi, social sorority, as "Hepcat" Kromroy a year ago, and it was then that she displayed her

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Radio Workshop

Radio Workshop programs this week offered a wide variety of music for WLBL listeners. Gilbert W. Faust, Mrs. S. G. Peterson, Frank Wesley and Grace Peterson entertained during the noon hour, while on Monday the Campus Variety show under Pete Thomas and Maurice Mead offered a musical program combined with campus news.

The final program of the week The Music Album, which will be heard Friday at 3:15 o'clock, will bring listeners Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloee." These programs have received fan letters expressing appreciation for the fine entertainment received from CSTC studios.

The following is the April schedule of the Organ Melodies program:
April 3, 17, 24, Gilbert W. Faust;
4, 11, 18, 25, Robert Karsten; 5, 12, 19, 26, Frank Wesley; and 13, 20, 27, Muriel Held.

Newman Club

Final plans for the annual Easter time communion breakfast were completed by the members of the Newman club, who met in the Knights of Columbus Hall last Sunday evening. The breakfast will again be held at St. Stanislaus Church and the date has been set for next Sunday, April 2, at 9:45 a.m. All Catholic students and faculty members are invited to attend. Ken Veselak and Jerry La Fleur are in charge of the arrangements.

Wesley

The Wesley Foundation opened its meeting last Thursday evening, March 23, with a Lenten devotional. The Wesleyans sang several of their favorite Easter hymns to conclude the devotional part of the program.

Rev. Jans J. Vander Graff spoke and led a discussion period about social problems which confront today's youth.

Refreshments were served following the discussion.

Alpha Kappa Lambda

Dr. Przedpelski, assistant agricultural agent of Portage county, spoke to AKL members after a short business meeting held Wednesday evening, March 22.

Dr. Przedpelski gave a very interesting comparison of conservation methods of his native country, Poland, and of the United States. He pointed out that although Poland had a very highly perfected forestry plan, there was a lack of proper mechanics in soil conservation such as terracing, contour plowing, etc.

He also gave an account of his own farming practices there on an experimental basis. A very intricate system of fish husbandry ponds was one of his highly successful achievements. After his talk, he gave some very informative answers to questions presented by his audience.

What Is "It"?

This is "IT!" The first 16-page issue of "IT" — the magazine of college humor — is now rolling off the presses and will be out next Monday, April 3. The brainchild of a group of enterprising CSTC fellows, "IT" is the result of long weeks of planning and hard work on their part, plus the close cooperation of interested business groups in this area, who for the most part consented to advertise in "IT," sight unseen.

"IT" is not a news magazine nor is it a joke book. It consists of articles, all in a humorous or satirical vein, written by staff members or anyone wishing to contribute. Incidentally, contributions are welcome from any CSTC student. The magazine is not an official college publication, but many of the articles pertain to CSTC campus life. This first issue is specially dedicated to the Junior Prom.

Can't Stop To Concentrate

If you'll pardon us for a moment, we'll deviate from the usual realm to say "Hi" to the visiting high school seniors, and also add a note of greeting to the speech contestants who will be on our campus this week end.

Last year we ran a column of advice to potential freshmen. But the idea is — do these 12 year seniors wish to have a fatherly word given them? Rather, we'll wait to write our advice long about next fall, a week or two after school has been in session. Then is when the freshman will need to be shown a way out of their confusion and the murmured thought, "High school was never like this." But before we paint a cloudy picture — Cheer up, college is fun, college is work, college is stimulating, college is developing, college is what you make it! Think of that, and don't complain if you think you're overburdened with assignments now. Just wait until you're a 16 year senior!

Of late, Mr. Burroughs' classes in Speech 100 have been studying the technique of giving speeches with "clearness" as an end. Last week after most of the students had delivered speeches on good but common subjects, a freshman, Bob Radtke, went to the front of the class to announce his subject — sword swallowing. It was a rare subject and, according to some of his fellow students, the less squeamish in the class were imagining a demonstration. However, they thought, this was out of the question, but Bob fooled them. After delivering his speech on the simplicity and technique of the art, Bob took a regular table knife out of his portfolio, and apologizing for its meager length, proceeded calmly but deliberately to swallow it. He withdrew the knife and asked for questions. The audience seemed to be mutually awed. Was that "clearness?"

Note: Bob just started to learn the art a few weeks ago but said he would be glad to help anyone interested in learning along with him.

Byron Crowns, a former CSTC student, and brother of Donald (Jim) Crowns, was married to Miss Gail Lee of Rice Lake on February 2. Mrs. Crowns is chief dietitian at Van Hise, men's dorm, at the U. of W. Byron is in law school there.

Another late report — Mr. and Mrs. James E. Reed of Essex Junction, Vermont, are the parents of a son, James E., Jr., born Saturday, February 4. Mrs. Reed is the former Carol Ockerlander, graduate of CSTC.

With the round of flu which seems to be striking student and faculty

WELCOME TO CSTC

Central State Teacher's college extends a cordial welcome to the seniors of the high schools in our service area to our Senior Day activities. You'll find on the campus, a friendly faculty who will be interested in each individual's interests, and ready and willing to give any assistance they may desire in planning their college education.

On this campus you may train yourself for a worthwhile profession, may develop special talents and enjoy the wholesome, friendly relationship with a fine student body.

Director, Training School

"IT" will be a monthly magazine, coming out on the first Monday of each month during the school year. The first issue contains 16 pages but the magazine will increase in size as the budget allows. "IT" is printed by the Worzalla Publishing company of Stevens Point and will be sold in the school and on various news stands in this area.

LOOKING DOWN — Don't say the camera can't get all angles. The Pointer camera-man had to do some fancy acrobatics, but he got this very unique shot of the CSTC in a practice session.

The Easter Bunny

Where Did He Get Such Long Ears?

"If winter comes, can spring.....?" It's a doubtful question with the changing weather conditions from which all have been suffering. Luckily the calendar dates pay little attention to the weather, so Easter has decided to come at the appointed time.

Even with snow and sleet falling, fair damsels have been darning in and out of stores to outfit themselves in regalia of colorful covering with which to attract the depressed male who is having his "spring slump." The male retaliates by purchasing a flashy tie, pastel shirt and striped socks so he won't be entirely outdone by his female counterpart.

What started this spring awakening? This renewed feeling of wanting a pleasant appearance? This startling change from drab raiments, on inner thoughts and outer frame, to a fresh and new outlook on life? The human copied it from Nature and it can best be illustrated by the timely "Big Man On Campus" . . . Mr. Easter Bunny.

The story goes like this:

Once Upon A Time

One day, late in March, Mother Nature peered down from above the tree tops and like any other woman, felt the need for a change of costume. She looked down at the world and saw that the human beings were all inclined to boredom with each other and that they resembled her sudden, gray dress. "I wish I could help them!" she murmured. He heard her prayer and had Nature help herself.

At the time a lonely Mother Rabbit was looking for a place to nest. She found a roomy spot at the base of an old cottonwood tree, but just as she was gathering in her bunch of bunnies, a coyote howled. In startled desperation she leaped into a hollow of the cottonwood. She looked around for her family. They were not there. What had happened? She crept cautiously to the opening. No bunnies! She heard a swishing sound and looked up in the branches of the tree. There were her offspring hanging by their large hind feet bathing the cotton puffs back and forth with their ears.

Mama was incensed. Of all the idiotic things! She scampered out of the hollow and up the tree as fast as she could — and that was quite a feat as rabbits don't make a habit of climbing trees. She grabbed the two naughty bunnies nearest her by their ears and ordered them to get down in the hutch like obedient youngsters. She pulled and they held on — the only result, longer ears.

What to Do?

"Oh! What to do?" she wailed. "I'll do anything to get my bunnies back on the ground." And He answered her, saying that she and her bunnies were going to brighten Mother Nature and through this they would revolutionize and freshen the thoughts of humans each spring. And He said that Easter morning would be the best time for this to happen because thinking people would associate it with something else. Then He whispered His plan to Mother Rabbit and her bunnies and both it and they have multiplied since.

Mother Rabbit saw all her bunnies' ears wiggling at this and she knew they were ready to carry out the plan. She urged them to come down and they readily complied. And together they all flew to the corners of the Christianized earth, using their big ears as propellers.

A Plan

They talked to birds and received gifts of eggs to help them with their plan. They set up a little workshop and made each little egg a work of beauty, decorating it with a special name or flower or saying which would do good if people believed it. On Easter morning they started out to deliver these symbols of goodness

Dorm Girls Plan for Annual Easter Dinner

The annual formal Easter dinner planned for the girls of Elson Hall and their invited guests will be held Monday evening, April 3.

Several committees have been appointed to make arrangements for the dinner. The committees are: Entertainment, Gertrude Wegman, Nancie Goebel, Betty Rae Warner, Lila Elmer; first floor bulletin board, Dolores Kosbach, Letitia Brunner; second floor, Reta Fontaine, Barbara Clark.

Third floor, Joan Fehrenbach, Suzanne Swanke; living room decorations, Angeline Wittman, Carol Emerich; and lobby decorations, Colleen Schroeder, Dolores DeRouchey; invitations, Eunice Rothweiler, Doris Zimplemann.

Concert and Dinner Highlight Fifth Band Homecoming Weekend

A dinner Saturday night and a concert Sunday afternoon highlighted the fifth homecoming of alumni band members of CSTC last weekend.

The dinner was held at St. Paul's Methodist church with 100 persons, including alums, present. The two college deans, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner and Herbert R. Steiner spoke and several alumni gave brief talks. Dr. Raymond E. Gotham spoke on the college alumni association and Peter J. Michelson, CSTC music director, thanked band members and alumni for their help during his recent illness and hospitalization.

Michelson Ill

The Sunday afternoon concert was given with Peterson in charge, in the absence of Mr. Michelson, who on Sunday became ill with influenza.

Several of the alumni acted as guest conductors. The program, in addition to the band numbers, had several selections by the mixed chorus and band, directed by Jack Whitney, Grace Peterson and Betty Mehne. Soloists were Richard Schmidt and Joan Fehrenbach. A brass quartet, Walter Peterson, James Whelihan, Beverly Barnes and Lee Miller, played a selection with band accompaniment.

The Alpha Kappa Rho breakfast scheduled for Sunday morning was canceled.

Saturday afternoon all alum officers were re-elected for two years. They were Mr. Abrahamson, Med-

Letters to the Editor

(The following letter came from a '47 graduate, Franklin Pearson, who had been teaching at Appleton, but who has been in the Riverview Sanatorium at Kaukauna for several months.)

Dear Friends,

Each Saturday's mail includes "The Pointer" which I enjoy reading and pass along to others.

Your staff includes several people whom I know. Special greetings are extended to Janice, Phyllis, Ed, Miss Glennon and Mr. Lewis.

This winter has been quite unusual for me. Thus far I've never had to wear an overcoat, rubbers or galoshes and have not felt the icy chill of snow down my neck, nor experienced the exhilarating sensation of a sudden fall on an icy spot. Stating it more simply, I am still reclining prone for 24 hours each day.

Thank you for your thoughtfulness in letting me enjoy part of your college life.

Sincerely,
Franklin Pearson

(The following letter arrived from a correspondent in Wisconsin Rapids.)

Dear Editor:

I am interested in your school and would like the remaining issues of your school paper. I have heard many flattering compliments on your paper and am wondering if you could send me them.

I would like to know how often it's published and price per copy.

Mary Ellen Wittier
Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin

Faculty Members Continue Addresses

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham and several faculty members are continuing their program of speaking to graduating high school seniors and various service clubs. Dr. Gotham spoke at Rhinelander last Thursday to seniors and to the Lions club. Miss May Roach and Fred J. Schmeckle have been at Clintonville, Norman E. Knutzen at Marinette, Oconto, Lena, Gillett, and Herbert R. Steiner at Wautoma.

ford, president; La Verne Oligney, Park Falls, vice-president; Gerald Eyster, Port Edwards, secretary-treasurer; Frank White, Barron, corresponding secretary.

Officials Continue Interviewing Visits

Superintendents from many of the schools in this area are continuing their interviewing visits to CSTC. The Marathon school superintendent, J. C. Gillmann, as well as W. F. Waterpool, of Marinette, Victor Erickson, Birmamwood, Everett Martin, grade superintendent at Tigerton, Roland Klaus, Edgerton, and Lloyd Thompson, Rothschild, have been at the Training school office recently.

Several placements have been made as a result of these interviews. Everett Humke is teaching the seventh and eighth grades at Spencer and George Boneske will teach sixth to eighth at Athens. Warren Lensmire will teach at Marathon, Archie Parker at Pittsville, Carol Radichel, second and third grade at Edgerton, Marilyn Bobbe, home economics at Weyauwega and Gertrude Wegman, kindergarten—first grade at Janesville.

Discover Atomic Ore Within Ten Miles of Stevens Point

Dr. Josef Muller, an official of the National Mineral Research Laboratories, division of Essential Materials, disclosed Saturday that carnotite, a source of uranium oxide, has been discovered in Wisconsin's terminal moraine area near Stevens Point.

The lode of carnotite, which is a bright yellow mineral, was found by an unidentified Wisconsin geologist last June 27 and is located approximately ten miles east of the city in an outcropping of the terminal moraine. The geologist was led to the discovery because he believed that "the poor radio reception in the Stevens Point area indicated that there might be fissionable material somewhere in that region."

This discovery supplements a similar find which was made recently in upper Michigan and serves to substantiate the supposition that many other deposits still remain undiscovered in the Wisconsin-Michigan-Minnesota region. "Carnotite is, next to pitchblende, the most important source of uranium oxide, the chemical from which U-238 and U-235 are obtained.

According to Dr. Muller, the deposit "contains the (uranium) oxide in a percentage ratio favorable for extraction." He added, however, that mining proceedings most probably will not begin until the spring

Eagle River Camp to Be Scene of First Annual Conservation Workshop

The "Trees for Tomorrow" conservation camp near Eagle River will be the scene of the first annual Conservation Education Workshop from June 26 to July 29, sponsored by the Wisconsin State Teachers colleges.

The Workshop is open to advanced undergraduate and graduate students, teachers, administrators and workers in conservation. Junior standing or graduation from an approved institution or equivalent preparation is required.

A maximum of six credits may be earned during the five week course. The curriculum will consist of the following: Field botany, field zoology, conservation education, social studies, and elementary education workshop. Ample provision is made for in door classroom and laboratory work as well as out-of-doors work.

The camp can accommodate 50 students, 42 residents and eight commuters. Fees for camp residents will total approximately $121.25. Application must be in not later than June 1, 1950. Veterans should apply early so that their records can be cleared.

President William C. Hansen is chairman of the Teachers college presidents who are in charge of the Eagle River Workshop. Other faculty members on the Workshop staff are Fred J. Schmeckle, director of the camp, and Norman E. Knutzen, special consultant in English.

Miss Hanson to Address Radio Listening Group

Miss Gertie Hanson, director of the Radio Workshop, will speak on "What Are The Facts?" at the Nineteenth Conference on Better Radio Listening to be held April 14 and 15 at Madison.

Mrs. Leo Merkel, president of the Wisconsin association for Better Radio Listening, will serve as general chairman. The meeting will be held at the YWCA in Madison.

District Meeting of Science Academy Held At CSTC on March 25

About 100 people attended the Stevens Point District meeting of the Wisconsin Junior Academy of Science which was held at CSTC on Saturday, March 25, under the sponsorship of Sigma Zeta, national honorary science society.

Robert Morgan, president of Sigma Zeta, presided over the meeting. Otto L. Kowalek, member of the Council of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, welcomed the group.

Students from high schools at Wisconsin Rapids, Appleton, Ashland, and Ladysmith gave short demonstrations and talks on topics in the field of science in which they are interested.

From among the students participating in the district meeting here, four were chosen to present their work at the state meeting to be held at a later date. The names were not announced, but winners will be notified individually.

After the meeting Sigma Zeta prepared refreshments for the visitors, who included 45 students from Wausau Junior High school.

PROM MUSIC — Promenaders at the 1950 CSTC Junior Prom, to be held Saturday evening, April 15 in the P. J. Jacobs High school gymnasium, will dance to the music of Richard Kent and his popular orchestra.

In Spring a Young Woman's Thoughts Lightly Turn to New Fashions

Now that spring is coming, the minds of the CSTC'ers, like those of people the world over, are fairly preoccupied with thoughts of love and the new spring fashions. Since falling in love is dependent on being attractively dressed, at least according to clothing manufacturers, thoughts of the new spring fashions are probably the most important.

The latest spring styles for women are new and revolutionary. The new silhouette can be seen in a suit with a skirt that is somewhat shorter, and sheathlike in its extreme slowness, causing the female stride to be cut down to a mincing step this spring.

The jacket of this slightly fantastic suit is very short and about as bulky, full and top heavy as can be imagined. It probably has short sleeves and an off-shoulder neckline which is worn with a pastel colored polka dot blouse.

New Look Modified Here

Since the CSTC'ers are mid-westerners of moderate means, the new look will probably be somewhat modified when it makes its appearance here. Top styles in suits for the mid-west are smartly tailored conservative classics with long, high-buttoned jackets. They are dark in color and of a warm material that doesn't rush the coyly reluctant spring. The short coat, which is considerably shorter than such coats have been in the past, promises to be popular here. The success of the voluminous barrel sleeves and broad bat sleeves remains to be seen.

The most style-wise color this spring is a bright tangerine, but various shades of pink come in for their share of honor, too. Checks are big news and can be big and bold or small and timorous. Skirts with accordean pleats which hang slimly but flare out in a ten-yard whirl seem destined to be quite a rage.

Take Your Choice

That new spring bonnet can be anything this year. Sailors, cloches, hoods, caps and almost anything else are acceptable. Probably a potential spring bonnet can be discovered by rummaging in the attic, and it might be acclaimed as something which "looks just like a picture I saw in Vogue."

Although men more or less cling to the same conservative styles year after year despite the efforts of fashion designers to induce them to wear bright yellow suits with red flowered shirts, there are a few things which can be said about spring styles for men. Pastel shirts, including pink, are popular especially when they have plenty of saddle stitching. Two-toned gabardine shirts with elasticised cuffs and waist bands and removable mock T-shirts at the neck are beginning to make a hit not only with the boys but with their sisters as well.

It will be interesting to watch the progress of the fashion trends in the rotogravure sections of the metropolitan dailies this spring season.

in some spots, quite colorful. The walls are pastel and her furniture is uniformly dark. Here and there are lovely pieces of lace that her daughter, who is now married, has made. The drawers are filled with mementoes Mrs. Jonas likes to bring out and handle. She loves to hold the rosy Miss Allen brought to her from Europe and is especially proud of the old hats she keeps and re-makes.

CSTC Won't Forget

Even as Mrs. Jonas can't forget the past, CSTC won't forget her. Chief maintenance man Lawrence Davis, who, like everyone else, has "nothing but good to say about her," will always remember the way she tried to get him to say "Dobsha" (his own spelling), a Polish greeting to her.

"I couldn't ever get it just right," he smiled. "And I won't forget either the 'vacations' she took — she used to show up every morning to water the plants. Now I suppose we'll have to hunt all over for someone else. These days it'll be quite a job, but we'll have to find somebody."

But, then, how can you replace the best?

alike, it would be an excellent April Fool's joke if the little bug would just take its pack sack and move up north to the Arctic circle. Everyone is too busy to take time out for a visiting "bug" anyway — it says here in print.

Of course, it isn't the cough that carries you off; it's the coffin they carry you off in.

Let's hope spring comes to stay and maybe your writer will become more inspired to chatter on in the lighter vein of nonsense. This off and on weather is as wearing on us common folk as it is on the person who headlines the weather reports for the Daily Journal.

On the less morbid note — We also hope the Easter bunny's ears are large enough to keep him afloat so he can deliver his Easter greetings in good condition. And Happy Jelly Beans to you too!

Class Day Assembly Proposed at Meeting

The WSGA called a meeting Friday, March 24, of the advisers and the presidents of all student organizations to discuss the proposal of a Class Day or recognition assembly. This Class Day would be a second Awards Day and would recognize students from all organizations and all classes for their participation in extra-curricular activities. Suggested procedure was that each organization would choose two to six members from its group to be recognized.

After much discussion pro and con, Roberta Henderson, president of WSGA, who presided, adjourned the meeting and instructed presidents of the various activities covered by the eight divisions, music department, publications, athletics, religious groups, student government, speech departments, special interest groups (Home Ec club, etc.) and social organizations, to discuss this plan within the organizations and report the results at a future meeting.

Last year's homecoming brought quite an honor for her; she was chosen as one of the candidates for homecoming queen. This year she's dorm president and is at the present pledging Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity.

At the end of this year Arlene will have a degree in secondary education, with a geography major and minors in math and English. She has no definite plans for the future to comment on at the present time.

Koehn and Samelstad Honored At Annual Athletic Banquet

Jimmy Koehn and Walt Samelstad were named CSTC's football and basketball players of the year, respectively, on Tuesday night, March 21, at the annual athletic banquet. The two winners of the awards were elected by the members of their respective squads.

The banquet, honoring 103 college and high school athletes, had as its guest speakers Bud Foster, Wisconsin basketball coach, and Roundy Coughlin, sports columnist of the Wisconsin State Journal.

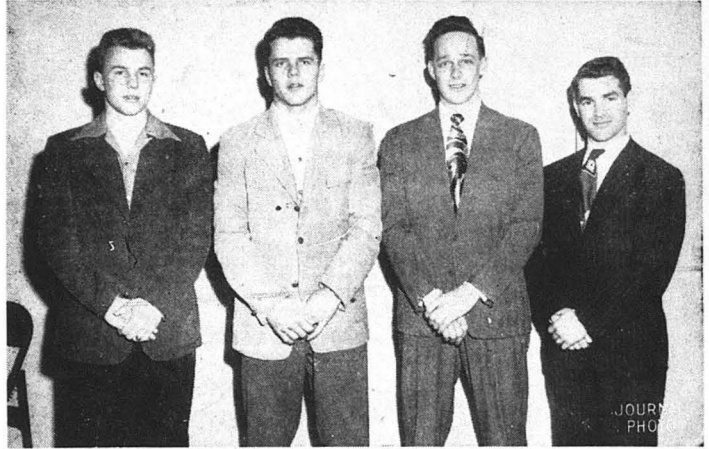

College Officials Introduced Coach Hale F. Quandt started the show rolling by introducing President William C. Hansen, a former CSTC President, Frank S. Hyer, and Dr. Bernard F. Wiesel of the college athletic board. Members of the college football and basketball squads were then introduced individually.

After the high school athletes were honored, Ken Willett, toastmaster for the evening's festivities, then persuaded Roundy Coughlin to enlighten the 400 odd spectators with a few sagas of the game. The Madison Brahmin promptly obliged with a barrage of wit ranging from an attack on capitalism to a tribute to the youth of the country.

Following Roundy, the main speaker of the evening, Bud Foster, continued to hold the attention of the crowd. The Wisconsin coach presented one of his prize pupils, Jim Moore, a former Stevens Point High school star who played on the Badger basketball team for three years. The main text of Foster's speech revealed the advantages of attending the mother institution at Madison.

Succeeding Foster's talk, Toastmaster Willett closed the meeting and the record book was shut for another year.

HONORED ATHLETES — These four athletes have been selected by their teammates as "players of the year" and were presented awards at the annual athletic banquet held Tuesday, March 21 at the Legion hall. Left to right are: Carl Wiemann (basketball) and Norbert "Nubbs" Miller (football) of P. J. Jacobs High school; Walt Samelstad (basketball) and Jimmy Koehn (football) of CSTC.

The College Bowling league is all knotted up again as a result of Dutch's dropping a pair to Recreation Alleys. AKL took advantage of the leader's slump to move into the tie by winning a pair from Knudtson's. In other meetings Campus Cafe took two from the Phi Sigs; the Chi Delts swept a series from the Branswick; and the Recreation Restaurant captured a brace from the Tune Inns.

The Recreation Alleys turned in the second high team series of the season, cracking out a 2647 series. Dutch's rolled a 2580 series for second place honors followed by the Chi Delts with a 2299.

Dutch's hit the second highest single game of the campaign, hitting 916, followed by Recreation Alleys with 895 and the Chi Delts, 861.

Marv Johnson and Russ Alderton tied for the high individual series of 546. Other highs were bowled by Ken Kulick, 542; Gil Chick, 541; John Christian, 534; Kirby Krbec, 530 and George Boneske, 517.

John Christian rolled a 212 single to take top honors in that department for the evening.

Intra-Muralers Toss Out Basketball and Bring in Volleyball

With the basketball season at an end, volleyball has taken over the limelight as far as intra-murals is concerned.

There are twelve teams entered in the league this year and some very spirited games are being played. The teams entered are the Blackhawks, Cadavers, Chi Delts, Ghosts, Fireballs, Meat Axes, Raiders, Six Footers, Sox, Tangle Feet and the Zip-pers.

The teams are playing twice a week, with medals to be awarded to the first and second place winners.

The finals in the free throw contest and the basketball golf contest are also being run this week. Plans are also under way for a wide variety of spring sports for the men.

Six Week Summer Session Begins Monday, June 19; Closes July 28

The 1950 CSTC summer school session will open on Monday, June 19, and close six weeks later, on Friday, July 28, according to Dr. Quincy Doudna, Dean of Administration.

An institute on Driver Education will be held June 12-16, the week before the opening of the summer session, sponsored jointly by the college and by the Safety Division of the State Motor Vehicle department. Advance registrations may be made with Raymond E. Specht.

Workshops in elementary education will again be conducted this summer. Miss Lulu Kellogg, principal of the county normal school at Wautoma, will direct the workshops, assisted by Miss Lois Garlick, supervising teacher of Marquette county schools.

It is also planned to repeat the popular three-day art workshop. A few students will be admitted to this who are not enrolled in the summer session. Dr. Doudna will take advance registration for any of these workshops.

Kindergarten Techniques

Other features of the summer session will include a course of techniques of kindergarten teaching, designed to meet the needs of primary teachers desiring to qualify for kindergarten work. In the field of physical education, classes will be held in folk dancing, social recreation and recreational leadership, for both men and women.

Chemistry 101, basic chemistry, is to be offered this summer. This course, along with Physics 103, will meet the laboratory science requirement for a B.E. degree. The Physics 103 course will be given in the summer session. Also new this summer is Physical Education 165, a two-credit course in camp leadership designed to train people to be camp counselors, waterfront directors, etc. For further information, see Miss Adeline Levin.

A new faculty member of the summer session staff, besides Miss Kellogg and Miss Garlick, is S. J. Knezevich, principal at Port Edwards, who will teach Educational Psychology. Another instructor to teach Co-operative Marketing and Psychology will be engaged soon.

Regular CSTC faculty members who are on leave of absence this summer are Kenneth W. Boylan, Frank W. Crow, Miss Mildred Davis, Miss Leah Diehl, Gilbert W. Faust, Miss Helen Heel, Miss Pauline Isaacson, Norman E. Knutzen, Miss Helen Meston, Dr. Edgar F. Pierson, Dr. Nels O. Reppen, Raymond M. Rightsell, Miss Margaret Ritchie, Dr. Harold M. Tolo, Miss Harriet Wright and Miss Gladys Van Arsdale.

and stopped on the way to open flowers which were still sleeping and cheered birds who couldn't find anything to sing about on that glorious morning. They left behind them a truly colorful pageant.

So each Easter morning the Easter bunnies hop about and brighten the countryside. People who understand the significance go out among their fellow men and brighten the way if they can. They do not lose sight of their hearts under their man-made finery either, but let their clothing be a symbol of the way they feel inside.

May He continue to inspire the bunnies to do their work.
