Fred La Leike Named Editor of Pointer for Next School Year

Dr. Wievel on Summer Staff at St. Cloud

Dr. Bernard F. Wievel has accepted a summer teaching position at the St. Cloud State Teachers college located in St. Cloud, Minnesota. He will teach two sections in general biology during the first session, which runs from June 12 to July 21.

Holstein and Venn Also Selected

Fred La Leike has been named editor of the Pointer for the school year 1950-51. Gretchen Holstein and Ray Venn have been selected as news editor and composition editor respectively. Announcement of the appointments was made by Miss Bertha Glennon and Robert S. Lewis, advisers of the Pointer.

La Leike has been a reporter, assistant composition editor and composition editor of the Pointer. He has lived in Stevens Point for the past three years but formerly called Stoughton his home, having graduated from high school there in 1944. An ex-serviceman, Fred served in Europe with the 11th Cavalry Group.

At CSTC, the new editor is a first-semester senior in the secondary division with a major in geography and minors in Spanish, English and history. He has been active in Chi Delta Rho and the Forum.

From Stevens Point

Gretchen, who comes from Stevens Point, is a 1948 graduate of P. J. Jacobs High school. She has served two years on the Pointer staff in the capacity of reporter and assistant news editor. She is active in Omega Mu Chi, Student Council, Mixed Chorus, Girls Glee club and Sigma Zeta.

Venn, who hails from Elcho, is also an ex-serviceman, having served with the XXIV Corps in Korea following his graduation from Foreman High school in Chicago.

At CSTC, Venn is a junior in the secondary division with a major in math and minors in chemistry and physics. His extra-curricular activities include Sigma Zeta and the Forum.

The new editorial hierarchy is currently undergoing on-the-job training preparatory to assuming their new positions in September.

The new business manager and his assistants have not been announced as yet, but their names will be published in next week's Pointer.

Mr. Hansen to Give Commencement Address At Oxford High Tonight

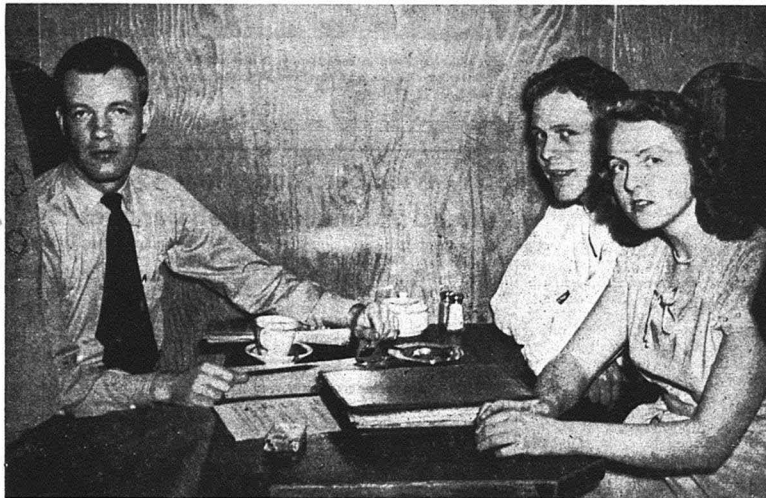

President William C. Hansen will deliver the commencement address at Oxford High school this evening, and on Friday and Saturday he will attend a committee meeting of the Council on Education in Milwaukee.

Mr. Hansen has an interesting speaking assignment on Friday, May 26, when he will talk at the commencement exercises at Milltown High school. Mr. Hansen will not only be returning to the school where he was principal from 1917 to 1922, but he will be marking the 25th anniversary of a commencement address he gave in Milltown on May 25, 1925.

Conservation Classes Make Last Field Trip

The Conservation 107 classes made a field trip to the Forest Products laboratory at Madison and the Fur and Game farm at Poyette, Wisconsin, yesterday. This trip is the last field trip of the year sponsored by the conservation department.

CSTC's conservation department is busy at the present time planting 15,000 trees on a plot of ground owned by the college. This planting will complete the reforestation of 60 acres of land. Fred J. Schmeckle, conservation head, says that the college is now looking for more land which they can develop in the same manner.

Annual Banquet Held for Iris Staff and Guests

Yellow and orchid irises and yellow tapers decorated the tables at Kalka's Steak House, Monday evening, May 15, for the annual banquet of the Iris staff and their guests. Dr. and Mrs. Harold M. Tolo, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert W. Faust and Miss Harriet Wright.

Ruth Finch, lay-out editor of this year's Iris, presided as toastmaster of the after-dinner festivities. She introduced Harry Johnson, editor, and Virginia Gmeiner, associate editor, who both expressed their appreciation for the cooperation shown by this year's staff.

Suzanne Swanke, associate editor of the 1951 yearbook, introduced the other leaders of next year's Iris. Dr. Tolo, Mr. Faust and Miss Wright each spoke a few words to the group. Nancie Goebel sang "In A Green Cathedral" accompanied by Suzanne Swanke. At the conclusion of the program Harry Johnson distributed awards to those students working on the 1950 Iris staff.

Arrangements for the dinner were made by Phyllis Kasper. Norma Mayer and Dona Dahm had charge of invitations. Janice Sisley was in charge of transportation, and Mary Douville and Rosemary Leahy headed the decorations committee.

Senior Tea Will Be Held This Saturday

Pale pastel colored candles, flowers and favors will provide an attractive setting for the annual Senior Tea to be given by Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, dean of women, on Saturday afternoon, May 20, at 2:30 p.m. in the home economics parlors.

Colleen Schroeder has been chosen as general chairman and will be assisted by the sophomore home economics food class. Virginia Gmeiner, Muriel Neerhof, Mrs. Raymond E. Specht and Mrs. James R. Hicks will pour.

Assistant hostesses will be Harriet Marking, Betty Mehne, Mary Douville, Maxine Buchanan, Nancie Goebel, Joanne Altenburg, Mary Pfiffner and Roberta Henderson.

The Next Is the Last

The next, and last, issue of the Pointer for the current semester will roll from the presses on Thursday, May 25. Persons or organizations wishing to publish notices or announcements in the paper before the end of this school year must have them in the Pointer office on or before Monday evening, May 22, in order that they may be printed in the final issue.

Five Students Pledging Dramatic Fraternity

Five students became pledges of Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic fraternity, at a ceremony Monday afternoon, May 15, at 4 o'clock. Virginia Gmeiner, Dolores Kosbab, Barbara Bea, Bernice Dehlinger and Fred Brewer received the blue and gold ribbons, the symbol of the fraternity.

The pledging season is somewhat late this semester because of the time-consuming play activities. However, a regular pledging period will take place.

Beaver Dam Band Gives Very Excellent Concert

Tuesday morning brought quite a treat to CSTC students when the Beaver Dam High school band presented a concert in the college auditorium. In addition to their fine musicianship, it is interesting to note that their director, Fred Parfrey, is an alumnus of CSTC and has done exemplary work in the music field ever since his graduation.

The band began its concert with the usual stirring marches but soon swung into the unusual in music. A number titled "Stratosphere" with various floating and ethereal themes depicting earth and sky was an excellent example of the new modernism in composition. The band also displayed its talent on two catchy Brazilian numbers, complete with gourds, tango rhythm, and muted trumpets. "Valse Triste" was another outstanding number on the program. Mr. Parfrey related the story connected with the composition—that of a woman in a frenzied dance with the specter of death. This

WAA Holding Annual Play Day Saturday Come Rain or Shine

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs will invade the CSTC campus come rain or shine Saturday, May 20, when the WAA will sponsor its annual Play Day. The general theme of this event will follow the Snow White story, for the baseball, basketball and volleyball teams will be named after these story book characters.

Carol Radichel, chairman of the invitations committee, has invited GAA participants from high schools within a radius of 70 miles to be guests of WAA. The object of the get-together is not for competition but for the sheer joy in playing with others.

The WAA has decided to award a gold cup to the high school earning the most points during the day's activities. Although Play Day is an annual affair, the girls have never before awarded trophies. The school winning it will be allowed to keep it for one year—that is until next Play Day. If one school should win the cup three years in succession, it becomes theirs by victors' rights.

The day's program will begin at 9 a.m. when the high school guests will be divided into teams, with the WAA girls serving in the capacities of team captains and officials. In the case of rain, an indoor program has been arranged to substitute for the scheduled baseball, basketball and volleyball games. Arrangements have been made for the visitors to dine at Nelson Hall for the mid-day meal. The day's activities will be concluded in the auditorium with a program including dances by Mrs.

Carman Lane's dance group from Stevens Point High school, the awarding of the trophy and group singing.

Carol Mews is in charge of the activities, Bonnie Babcock will handle the food angle and Beverly Berg is chairman of the decorations committee. Miss Adeline Levin, WAA adviser, is general supervisor of Play Day.

Geographers Travel Far And Wide on Lab Tours

Wanderlust has hit the geography department. This wanderlust, according to Raymond E. Specht, is strictly educational in nature and not spring fever. Tours during lab periods have taken the classes to the Isaak Walton farm and the glaciated area east of Stevens Point.

Monday, May 1, and Monday, May 8, were all day field trips. Both trips covered the three basic physiographic regions of Wisconsin, but the major stops of the first were at the Cave of the Mounds and Little Norway with a brief stop at Madison. The second tour visited the Wisconsin Dells and Devil's Lake region. The students also had a chance to see the ferry at Merrimac.

Lectures were given during most of the trips and the objectives of the tours was to transfer classroom theory to actual contact with physiographic features. The geography students studied maps and aerial photographs in connection with the tours.

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price $3.00 per year. Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1927, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Bless 'em All

We propose that an honorary degree be awarded to the wives of CSTC students for meritorious service above and beyond the call of duty.

These self-effacing women have methodically parlayed a meager income into three square meals a day throughout the fiscal month with enough left over for a modest degree of entertainment after all the essentials are accounted for. In many cases the wife works to supplement the family income.

If the marriage has been blessed with children, the mother does the endless round of routine tasks with a minimum of complaint. She tries to keep the children quiet at night when Dad is at his irritable worst while trying to understand the law of probabilities. She rejoices in her husband's successes and sympathizes with him in his defeats. She persists in thinking that her husband is the greatest man in the world when he knows better.

When their husbands obtain positions after leaving these cloistered walls, may the wives realize the fulfillment of their fondest dreams (within the limits of a teacher's salary, of course).

"AND THEREFORE" — Janice Sisley, Pointer news editor, is shown in her capacity at toastmaster at the annual Pointer banquet held last Thursday evening in Nelson Hall. Amateur psychiatrists may now proceed to discern (through facial expressions) the impression Jan is making on those banqueters visible.

FAMILIAR FACES OF CSTC

Working in a library has been described as boring, useless or just plain fatiguing. Well, if that were so, why would one of CSTC's foremost librarians, Roberta Henderson, be in such an itch to write a book about her experiences in this library?

As she says, "You'd be surprised at the different types of people you meet. And the things they say!" Quite a number of students have weird excuses for bringing in books late. Either that, or they want reserve books before 8 p.m. One boy said that his landlady wouldn't let him take a bath after 8 and he couldn't go out after a bath, so he'd have to get his reserve book now!

Maybe it's clairvoyancy, or more likely plenty of experience which makes Roberta skeptical of stories she hears from students in the library. At any rate, she can safely assure most students that the books they insist Moser and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner are the faculty advisers.

Main Purpose

Roberta feels that the main purpose of the organization is achieving unity among all the women of the college, whether they be dormites, town girls, or out-of-town students living in private homes.

"Our job is to make things easier for the women students; we are now issuing a handbook of questions and answers which will be sent to freshman women the summer before school. We also sponsor a Fellowship Bureau and this year we gave a senior banquet."

WSGA is able to indulge in banquets and other school activities because of its neat method of making certain every woman student will pay her fifty cents a year dues. None of the girls can leave the registration rooms each semester until they do.

Summers Spent as Waitress

Bobbie spends her summer at a country club in northern Wisconsin — as a waitress. The highlight of her stay last summer was serving General Wainwright, a guest at the resort.

"He was terribly thin and sickly. He loved to fish but couldn't catch much of anything. That made the rest of us feel quite bad because we used to pull them in regularly, even from canoes," she explained.

Roberta is a member of Sigma Tau Delta and has worked on the Iris for two years. Her plans for the future are naturally nebulous but she does intend to teach, and probably relax from a busy and varied college career.

Tom Sawyer Operetta Presented by the Junior High Students

"Tom Sawyer," a childhood classic which people of any age enjoy, was presented as an operetta May 10 and 11 by the Mary D. Bradford Junior High school. Under the direction of Miss Helen Heel, Grace Peterson, and Beverly Barnes, the seventh and eighth grade students admirably reenacted the gruesome graveyard scene, the scene on Pirate Island, the exciting action in the big cave and the gay scenes in Tom's front yard. The actors and actresses made these scenes of Tom Sawyer's boyhood refreshing and humorous.

The sets were created by the students themselves and the realistic skeleton and sunflower costumes were designed and made by Miss Edna Carlsen's Art 211 class.

Between acts the Junior High school orchestra, under the direction of Harry Hemstock, provided interludes of music.

Can't Stop To Concentrate

As of this writing at the first of the week the "joyous spring" has "looked out and smiled." To paraphrase what a famed radio character says — Let's hope it "keeps smiling." The change in people's outlooks is quite evident — Note the strolling students, the happy faces (attributed either to the sun or the nearing of the end of this school term), the gaily-colored cottons of the gals and striking color combinations in the fellows' T-shirts (in fact, some of them hit you in the face, as the expression goes). At last we can go out into the invigorating air of beautiful Wisconsin without our woolies.

Wish we had been of the grade school crowd age this last Saturday when the city flushed out the water mains and let the water flow from various hydrants throughout the city. The youngsters, oblivious to their frustrated mothers' shrieks, were doing everything from wading in the gutter rivers to riding their trikes and bikes through it at top speed.

Something new in the light of modern invention came to our attention recently. The younger generation of this age is no longer content with the super-equipped-operated-by-the-feet bicycle. Instead, to imitate the sound effects of the fast becoming prevalent motor bike, the youngsters have rigged up a clothes-pin-cardboard affair that when attached to the front or back wheel of a bike makes the noise of a motor. The more clothes-pins and cardboard one uses, the greater the number of cylinders to the motor.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Berg became the parents of a nine pound, 10 ounce boy, James Brian, last Thursday. (This answers the concluding statement in the feature write-up about Mel in last week's edition of the Pointer.)

A Training school pupil has the right idea about preserving wild life. This lad has written a poem which we would like to quote, spelling and all:

"When you're walking in the woods And hear little animals Don't say hears where I came to hunt some mammals Say hears where I came to have some fun But not with a gun."

Mrs. Williams, of the Training (See CANT STOP, page 4)

Sixty Members and Their Guests Attend Annual Pointer Banquet

Sixty members of the Pointer staff and their guests attended the annual banquet held last Thursday evening in the Nelson Hall dining room. The tables were attractively decorated with clever crepe paper bluebirds and bluebird place cards designed by Hildegarde Kuse, Pointer reporter. A centerpiece of white and yellow daisies and yellow tapers completed the decorations.

Janice Sisley, news editor of the Pointer, was toastmaster for the evening. Guests were President and Mrs. William C. Hansen, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Boylan, Frederick A. Krempel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Lewis, Miss Berna Glennon, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Sword and George Whitney. President Hansen, Mrs. Pfiffner, Mr. Sword, city editor of the Stevens Point Daily Journal and a former editor of the Pointer, and Mr. Whitney, editor of the 1948 Pointer, spoke. Gretchen Holstein, assistant news editor, played an original piano composition.

Miss Glennon, editorial adviser, presented certificates of honor to the following members of the editorial staff: Arthur Witalison, editor; Janice Sisley, news editor; Gretchen Holstein, assistant news editor; Fred La Leike, composition editor; Ray Venn and Dave Van Hecke, assistant composition editors; Dick Turzinski, sports editor; Joe Boettcher, assistant sports editor; Phyllis Kasper, Lucy Chapell, Hildegarde Kuse, Bill Worzalla and Barbara Bauman, reporters; Irene Beaver, proof reader; Dick Francis, photographer; and Norma Mayer, typist.

Members of the business staff presented certificates of honor by Mr. Lewis, business adviser, were: Ed Pliska, business manager; Elmarie Sbertole, advertising manager; Jim Wood, circulation manager; and Elaine Ruffing and Barbara Higgins, members of the circulation staff.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Wesley Foundation

Gordon Sorenson, the new president of the Wesley Foundation, had charge of the Wesley Dude Ranch party on May 11 in the dorm recreation room. He was assisted by Muriel Neerhof, Margaret Thirkill, Gertrude Collum and Janice Gruen, who are the new committee chairmen.

Everyone was put in the western mood by an atmosphere created by music, pictures and costumes. Rev. Jans Vander Graff told the Wesleyans of plans for next year.

Newman Club

Father Wagner, editor of the La Crosse Register, was the main speaker at the intercollegiate Newman club party held in the club rooms of St. Stephen's school last Thursday evening, May 11. Members of the La Crosse club were present as guests of the local organization.

Rev. Stanley Chilicki, club chaplain, in addressing the group, congratulated the graduating seniors and expressed the hope that he would see an even larger group at next year's meetings. Following the meeting movies and square dancing were enjoyed by those attending.

The final social event of the year, the annual picnic, will be held next Sunday at Iversen Park. Activities will start at 3 p.m. and supper will be served at 5:30 p.m. There will be dancing in the evening. Those planning to attend are asked to sign the notice on the Newman club bulletin board.

WSGA

Glenna Clark was elected a member of the WSGA executive board at a meeting of the house presidents on Wednesday, May 10. It was also decided that next year senior girls may have a reasonable increase in the number of late pers each semester. Otherwise the hours will remain the same.

The WSGA is planning a Big-Little Sister program for next year. The Big Sisters will write to their Little Sisters this summer, be on hand to welcome the newcomers this fall, introduce them to other students and faculty, and go with them to some parties which are being planned. Anyone who is interested may sign up on the sheet on Mrs. Pfiffner's bulletin board.

A committee is working on a handbook for freshman girls. The book will have the hours listed, housing regulations, hints about teas, suggestions as to what clothes will be needed, expenses, how to get excuses for readmittance to classes and a program of the activities that are planned for next fall. These are to be sent out this summer with the name of the Big Sister. The booklet is to be very informal and will contain jokes and cartoons.

Senior girls were guests of the WSGA at a banquet held on Tuesday, May 16, at Nelson Hall.

they have not taken out are in their bookcases at home or in some similar hide-out.

Biggest Shock

Roberta's biggest shock in her work to date was the time a fellow bounced into the library and said sharply, "I want to see a real librarian!" Without much reflection, Roberta flashed back, "Well, I don't look artificial, do I?" My, to think what a spark or two could do in that pile of books!

"Bobbie," from Mosinee, is now a junior majoring in English, with French and biology minors. She has been a librarian since her freshman days and is working toward a library certificate. However, WSGA has been her biggest job and favorite hobby this year.

Roberta's career in WSGA has been as confused as the association, since it is a new group on the campus. Although there are chapters in most teachers' colleges, they are not nationally organized. At CSTC, the association was organized in 1949. Roberta was the junior representative. She was elected president in February of 1950. Miss Miriam

Grand Daddy of Track Meets Will Be Run at La Crosse Saturday

The grand daddy of them all, the state track meet on Saturday, May 20, is next on the list for Coach Frank W. Crow's track team. The Franking will take place at La Crosse and will feature the track teams of the state teachers colleges.

Strongest opposition is expected from the Milwaukee Teachers. The beer city boys, with the added advantage of several indoor meets, have fared well against strong opposition. La Crosse, the host team, presents a squad of unknown strength. White-water, victor in the triangular meet with Point and Oshkosh, should make a respectable showing, with their ace man Dick Bailey leading the way. The Oshkosh Titans will probably rely upon their two miler, Schumacher, and javelin hurler, Ritchie, to count up points.

Indication from previous meets shows the main Pointer strength in the weights. However, Coach Crow possesses some fine runners and he may inspire one of them by post time on Saturday and gain some unexpected points.

Pointers Lose in Close Meet To Houghton Tech, 70¹ to 60²

The Pointers lost a close decision last Saturday to Houghton Tech, 70 1/3 to 60 2/3. Frank W. Crow's crew could only win four firsts out of the 15 events.

A few hundred fans were on hand to view the proceedings but their exact purpose of attendance was doubtful. The viewers stretched their torsos on the green football field and took in the warm rays of the sun. Only the crack of the starter's gun awoke the drowsy sun worshippers and if the event didn't look particularly interesting the ole sol soakers rolled over and went back to sleep.

Berndt's "Whites" Beat Koehn's "Purples" 18-14

Football fans were treated to a sneak preview of CSTC's fall football team when an intra-squad contest was held on Monday afternoon. Dick Berndt's "Whites" beat Jim Koehn's "Purples" 18-14.

Regulation time and officiating were included in the contest, which ended spring football practice. Vern Paulsen, scored the first "Purple" touchdown on a short jump pass from quarterback Walt Samelstad. The "Whites" came right back with a marker that covered about 65 yards. It came via a Kulick to Leichtenberg pass.

The game was hard fought and Four top notch coaches are heading a football and basketball clinic at River Falls in June. "Ivy" Williamson, football coach at Wisconsin, Milt Bruhn, line coach at Wisconsin, "Ozzie" Cowles, Minnesota basketball coach, and Herbert Read, former Western Michigan coach, will be present during the four day session.

Congratulations to Members of the Golf, Track, and Tennis Squads!! Your faithful and persistent efforts must be appreciated by every student on the campus. From the standpoint of huge cheering crowds and rousing pep assemblies the spring sports are not exactly glamorous.

However, some of us have watched your matches and meets and know that just as much effort and sacrifice goes into any tennis, track or golf match as goes into any of the other major sports.

We realize that much valuable time has been put into these sports. A winner does not always count, but the reward for good solid effort and good sportsmanship does. Congratulations again, fellows.

from all indications football fans really have something to look forward to next fall when Coach Quandt's gridders defend their championship title.

Pointers Capture First Place Over River Falls and Eau Claire

The Pointers gained their first track win of the season on May 10 by decisively trouncing River Falls and Eau Claire. The final score was 78 points for CSTC, 46 for River Falls and 38 for the host team, Eau Claire.

The Purple and Gold tracksters netted eight firsts in the 15 events. The "beautiful body brigade" gave the Pointers vital points in the shotput, discus, and javelin events. Harold Pinther scored in five events including two firsts and "Tex" Polzin scored three times, including a first in the pole vault.

Second Graders Give Mother's Day Tea

A Mother's Day Tea was given on Friday, May 12, by the second grade of the Training school, under the supervision of Mrs. Mildred Williams and student teacher, Kathleen O'Connor.

The invitations and the pastel colored place cards and nut cups used at the tea were made by the children. Refreshments were served under the direction of student teachers Adeline Kijak, Carol Radichel, Rae Guenther and Pat Harrison.

The children presented their mothers with "traveling bottles" which they had decorated. The tiny bottles will hold cold cream and other cosmetics.

Invited guests were Miss Susan Colman, Mrs. Nelis R. Kampenga, Mrs. Raymond E. Gotham, Mrs. William C. Hansen and Miss Bertha Glennon.

Preceding the tea, four groups of students read for their mothers in a demonstration of their reading ability. These groups were supervised by Marjorie Myers, Edith Phillips, Harriet Hennig and Bonnie Babcock. The children also presented an original play. They had been given the history of Mother's Day as well as special customs of the day with which to create the play.

school staff, visited in Madison last weekend and had the privilege of seeing and hearing President Truman, who was there for the dedication of the Credit Union National association headquarters. She remarked that the President is a good looking man, and contrary to the unflattering photographs, Margaret is a very pretty and attractive girl.

We can well appreciate the latter part of that statement as we too shudder when the family album is brought forth.

When one is a senior and a student teacher, one begins to feel the pangs of age coming on. We chaperoned a Training school party recently. One gallant student condescended to ask a student teacher to dance. Said student teacher prides herself on her dancing ability, so she smiled happily. She added hopefully, "Or don't you dance?" The illusion of youth vanished.

Keep an eye out for "Words Worth," Sigma Tau Delta's high class "It," which will be out for sale very soon.

Incidentally, "It" came out again.

And if Joseph Stalin receives a copy behind his iron curtain we'd better make plans for a large economy-sized wake.

Dormites Honor Mothers At Saturday Luncheon

"An Old Fashioned Lady" was the theme of a luncheon given by the Nelson Hall girls in honor of their mothers on Saturday, May 13, at the dorm.

Mrs. Margaret Angel, director of the dorm, welcomed the mothers and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner introduced the past officers of Nelson Hall as well as the newly elected officers. Muriel Neerhof, new dorm president, welcomed the guests. Mrs. Mykleby and her daughter, Phyllis, gave short talks and Mrs. Hennig and her daughter, Harriet, also spoke briefly. Harriet and Phyllis representing the graduating seniors. Carol Emmerich then read a poem to mothers. Edith Phillips acted as toast-organization moved from classical to swing with the greatest of ease when six trombone players stood up and gave a rendition of "Trombone Blues" in true Dixieland fashion. The spotlight then turned upon the organist who hadn't been doing anything spectacular; he rose from the organ and walked to the concert grand piano. His interpretation of "Le Rouge" which followed was amazing for a High school student.

Some of our own musicians showed their podium skill when Peter J. Michelson and Walter Peterson took the stand to conduct two numbers.
