Students' Achievements Honored At Annual Awards Day Program

Several New Awards Presented

Main Speaker at Commencement Will Be DeanFowlkes of U. of W.

Dr. John Gay Fowlkes, dean of the School of Education at the University of Wisconsin, will be the main speaker at the annual commencement program to be held on Friday morning, June 9, at 10 o'clock, in the CSTC auditorium.

The college band, under the direction of Peter J. Michelsen, will open the program with the traditional processional "Pourr and Circumstance" by Edward Elgar. Rev. Bertram Davies of Friends Memorial Presbyterian church will give the invocation.

Plans are now being made to broadcast the CSTC commencement program over the entire Wisconsin State network. If the plans are carried through, the AM broadcast coming from WBLI will be picked up at the transmitter at Auburndale and carried by the AM station. At the same time, the state FM transmitter will carry the entire two-hour program, regardless of whether present plans go through or are not fulfilled.

This type of program can set a precedent for future-wide broadcasting of other significant functions at CSTC which would be of interest to all the people in the state.

John Kowalski, a graduating senior in the secondary division, will be the tenor soloist, "Desert Song" by Sigmund Romberg, accompanied by Frank Wesley. Following this, Dean Fowlkes will give his address. The valedictory from "Fingal's Cave" by Felix Mendelssohn, will be played next by the band.

To Present Grads

President William C. Hansen will introduce Dr. Quincy Dougal, director of rural, intermediate and upper elementary education; Miss Susan Colman, director of primary education; and Raymond M. Rightell, director of secondary education, who will present the graduates. Mr. Hansen will present degrees or diplomas to the 128 candidates in these divisions:

Since the playing of singing of "Alma Mater," Rev. Davies will give the benediction. The graduates will then leave the auditorium to the strains of "Hymn to the Camp and Chivalry" by Charles Robert Cohn.

Seniors in the Intermediate, Upper Elementary and Upper Secondary divisions will be recognized.

In the afternoon, the university commencement exercises will be held.

Workshop Broadcasting To Continue In 1951

Plans are now being made to continue college broadcasting over radio station WBLI until July 1951. Programs will come from the CSTC Radio Workshop studios in the college hall. According to President William C. Hansen, the State Department of Agriculture, which operates station WBLI, is cooperating in this enterprise and will furnish personnel for program directing.

The plan in general are that the college will be responsible for a half hour and a half to two hours of broad casting per week. The broadcast will be carried by direct telephone wire to Auburndale and retransmitted from there. The present WBLI studios in the Training school will be closed after July 1, 1950.

After July 1, 1951, if the arrangement is continued, the college budget will have to provide the financial support. The Columbia Broadcasting System will be consulted as to the best means of making this support, and the broadcasting will be made on this matter within a few days.

Letters to the Editor
Dear Pointer Staff:
All during the present school year the undersigned has received a complimentary copy of the Pointer through the courtesy of the staff. I wish to assure you that this was a very gracious thing to do and also that this act has given me as an alumna much more pleasure. Therefor, I wish to extend to the entire staff of the Pointer the many thanks for its kindness. Much future success to each member of the staff is the fervent wish of an old grad of 1902 and a former member of the CSTC faculty from 1912 to 1949.

My best wishes for the continued success of the Pointer and CSTC.

Sixteen Regular Faculty Members Will Take Vacations This Summer

Sixteen members of the regular College faculty will take a total of sixty-eight definite days off this summer, as it is their "summer vacation" vacation.

The popular Keepers of the University of Wisconsin, where they will work at a PhD thesis. Miss Helen Meston, aside from a trip to New York, is the only faculty member to plan but will do just as the "spirit moves." The following are going on vacation but their plans are not definite as yet:

Miss Leah Diehl and Kenneth W. Boylan.

Plans Near Completion For Room Reorganization

Plans are near completion for several major changes in rooms organization at the Training School, according to Dr. Raymond E. Gathman, director of the school.

On the first floor alone and two smaller rooms are being contrived to be used for the first grade. The present first grade room will be divided in order to add two smaller rooms for practice purposes for the second and third grades.

The sixth grade will be moved from the second to the third floor of the building. This will provide additional room for the fourth and fifth graders on the second floor and adequate room for the sixth grade on the third floor.

After the closing of the WLBQ studios, the additional space in the Training School will provide splendid opportunities for the visual education and music departments. An art room will also be equipped for use.

FAMILIAR FACES OF CSTC

There are husband and wife teams in practically everything these days — radio, stage and screen — so it's only reasonable that CSTC has a pair too. Dick Berndt from Wausau and Esther Muritz from Stevens Point enrolled in CSTC in 1946, unknown to each other but in the same room. Esther introduced Dick into her world, and took him to church. Dick graduated from high school in 1943, the same year he entered the army. He fought in the liberation of France, and picked up a Japanese sword and pistol, and a watch that once belonged to a Navy admiral. He now says, "I won't be back for the two years during the war, and we may have kids. I'd like Esther for one night only!"

Changes in Training School
Staff Announced by Dr. Gotham

Several changes in the Training school staff have been announced by Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, director of the school.

William B. Knox, who has had the position of supervisor of the sixth grade for three years, plans to return to the University of Wisconsin this fall to continue his work for his doctorate in the field of elementary education. He has finished nearly half of his work and expects to complete the requirements within the next two years. Mr. Knox has a home in Madison which will make it very convenient for him to work at the university. He will also, however, continue in his present position during this summer session.

The Geography, kindergarten supervisor, is also leaving, following the summer session. Miss Grine, whose mother died recently, is going to St. Paul so that she may be with her father and grandmother, who are living there.

Miss Schleuter Leaving
Miss Frieda Schleuter, who filled the position vacated by Miss Mary Ullman, as social science supervisor of the junior high, is leaving in June. Miss Ullman, who has been on leave of absence for the past year to complete her doctorate at Columbia university, will return to her service at the Training school, Miss Schleuter taught in the occupied zone of Germany where she met Miss Gladys Van Arsdale of the Training school staff.

Mrs. Frank W. Crow, substitute fifth grade supervisor, is also leaving, Mrs. Crow has been filling the position vacated by Miss Doris Ubben, who left to be married and Christmas time.

Candidates for these positions are now being considered by President William C. Hansen and Dr. Gotham.

Council Recommends Dance Hours Change
The Student Council voted at its meeting Thursday evening, May 16, to go on record as recommending that college formal dances last from 7 to 12:30 without intermission. This was the action taken on the first of a series of proposals made by a CSTC faculty member.

The other proposals, which were designed to reduce extra-curricular activities on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, were discussed thoroughly. It was decided that the proposals are too far-reaching to act upon at this time and an interim student-faculty committee was appointed to formulate and recommend definite action to be taken next year.

The meeting was attended by many students and representatives of organizations affiliated by these proposals.

Eimer Debot, 10th Main St. in the absence of Mrs. Debot, who is ill, Mary Davoul and Mary Piffner acted as hostesses. A May pole scene of pastel colored crepe paper adorned the table.

A group of girls sang an original song dedicated to the seniors, then each senior was called upon to tell her plans for the coming year. A fruit punch was served before the entertainment and a buffet style lunch concluded the party. Marjorie Myers was general chairman for the party. The national dramatic organization, Alpha Psi Omega, had its second semester outing in the form of a picnic at Iverson Park, Thursday, May 18.

The members of the fraternity asked as their guests all those who had participated in the last play, "Years Ago," who are too far-reaching to tell her plans for the coming year. Several CSTC men are participating in America's favorite pastime — baseball. Recently Jack Potter pitched a no-hitter in the Classic league. Pointer athletes were very much in evidence at the Bancroft-Fancher game last ball. Bill Bart started with the pitching assignment for Bancroft while Ken Kulick caught. During the course of events Bart decided to bat and Kulick toed the rubber while Judd, class '49, slugged the catching equipment.

Bancroft won, 5-4.

The much heralded Nate De Long has signed a contract to play baseball with the Sheboygan Redkins. It will be interesting to watch De Long in the fast company of the professionals. Here's wishing you best of lucky, Nate!!

That cloud-touching fellow you might have seen walking around town is none other than Gene England, former great Wisconsin baseball player and, of late, professional player. Gene is working for the Hardware Martals.

Howard (Chick) Kostol, husband of the former Jackie Seaboor, one time Pointer editor, will be there to work the next game at St. Patrick High in Eau Claire next year.

He has been coaching at Mon-dovi.

CSTC athletes who played under Athletic Director George R. Berg when he was coach gave him a perfect gold-colored jacket just to reminder him of his present illness. The are hoping that he will be well enough to wear the jacket very soon.

Seeing that this is the last issue of the Pointer we the sports staff want to thank the readers, coaches and players for all the help and information they have given us.

Our first thanks to our readers for their helpful suggestions, hints and encouragement. It is, however, rather difficult for us to know what to put up on the sports page from time to time because we don't know what the readers

want. If our page is to be readable we must have suggestions from the reader body — this not only applies to the sports department but also the entire paper.

The sports staff total amount of income for the entire year was three letters — but not one of them coming from a sta-dent. So, next year, let's have letters of all shapes and sizes and then the sports page will truly become yours.

Our next round of thanks goes to the coaches. Their valuable information has been of utmost importance. The players, themselves, have aided us tremendously in bringing you readers a little of their pasts and presents.

A quick glance into the future reveals that in about three months CSTC's championship football team will be on the gridiron. Only a few weeks. So here's hoping we can repeat as a winner. See you next fall!

In New Orleans, Louisiana, a favori-

Ask for it everywhere...trade marks mean the same thing.

A Fairy Tale

For "Educated" People Only

(Editor's note: The following "fairy tale" was written by Susan Coleman of the Advanced Writing class. Several Painter staff members read this story; even the most jaded among us were impressed by its imaginative, factless allegory. It is presented below."

Once upon a time there was a big ugly beast of a man. He had a head which was too big for the rest of him, and a body, and over his bulging eyes were glasses which made him look even more frightening. In his ears were plugs. He stretched quite tall, and as he glanced around him, he seemed to notice no corner which side you looked at. His feet were, in fact, all too big, and it was often enough to keep up with his head.

His name was Education, and he was the same kind of creature as the children who were human crumpled up, fried, and then given a chance to grow in all directions without limits. INTEREST ran to tell little UNDERSTANDING about what he was reading, but nobody could find him any place. And, no wonder, you will say, when you see where UNDERSTANDING was. He was hanged from a chandelier in the library, someone had plugged him inside the bowl to retrieve an arrow which he had shot up into it. All of a sudden ... and whoosh!

INTEREST was telling down. He landed like a streak out of the sky on the shoulders of the landscape "PROFESSORS". The PROFESSOR was so frightened that his tongue, which hadn't been used in ages, came unroldeed from the roof of his mouth and he gave a big scream for help. Nobody paid any attention to him, since each one was in his own world. After the PROFESSOR saw what had landed on him, he went around and loosed all the holders' tongues with a crowbar, and they began to put their good knowledge to use to stop little rogues from running around there when there were so many good ways in which to use them. Surprisingly enough, the learners learned the same thing, little by little, too.

This was a day of great changes. EDUCATION didn't know what to do with his wife dressed and insisted that the stopping wear so many veils over the rest of the world. Alternate days were spent in from running around when there were so many good ways in which to use them. Surprisingly enough, the learners learned the same thing, little by little, too.

Well EDUCATION did. And COMMON SENSE and THEY BOTH LIVED HAPPY EVER AFTER IN AN ENCHANTED CASTLE. There were no tears, no preaching, and no worry about fairy tales. It was just going to keep from hearing unpleasant things wherever he went out.

This is National Foot Health Week to take care of your feet because, as you know, more people walk on their feet than any other way.

Miss Isaccson received a bouquet of yellow roses as a tribute on May 7, the Norwegian Independence Day. The donor remains anonymous, although Miss Isaccson has some suspicions as to the identity of said donor.

In case there are still a few of you who aren't familiar with the personage behind this column, now is the time to straighten out. The printer news editor for the past three years has been responsible for the driver and somebody who comes to you under the guises of "Over a Cake", "McALEEN" and "Steps To Concentrate". To leave the journalist "we" for a moment, I wish to thank those students and faculty members who have contributed on occasion the interesting and amusing snippets they have contributed to them. Special thanks go to Philip Ritter, who took over the column in several instances. (Of particular note was when I was in the hospital with an appendectomy and Philip, together with some of the other more clever staff members, arranged a little dirty about my "coming out party".) It's been a pleasure to find something somewhat unusual to write about each and every week. And I'm sure you'll agree that it isn't always unusual. It's been educational, as well. I won't ask what I should've done without me, I'll extend my wishes to them anyway.

Third Graders Give Tea In Honor of Mothers

Last week, the Third Grade class gave a program and tea in honor of their mothers. The program, which included short stories and skits, was based on a unit of fairy tales which they had been reading. In accordance with the theme, the walls were covered with murals of Brer Rabbit, Brr Rabbit, and the Seven Dwarfs, and the gingerbread house of "Hansel and Gretel" fame, while the tea tables were decorated with wooden fairy figures.

Student teachers who assisted in the arrangements for the tea are Mrs. Helen Egglebury, Kathy Brown, Viola Heaf, Pat Vroman and Barbara Hale. Miss Gladys Vardell, third grade supervisor, was in general charge.

Cambridge, Mass., since Sept. 1, 1940.
Miss Jane Livingston, class of 1928, has recently been named director of the Door-Kewaunee county regional library at Sturgeon Bay. Miss Livingston was chief librarian of the Sturgeon Bay Public library prior to her appointment. All three are graduates of the University of Wisconsin Library school.

The Wauwapa High School War Memorial library, dedicated to the 27 high school boys who died during World War II, was given special recognition in ceremonies conducted on Friday, May 12. The memorial library is a project of Miss Sopheila Kerkowak, class of 1928, and the library of the school. The project has been carried out by the junior class; the furniture was made by the industrial arts students; an honor bell was donated by the Latin club; and a flower vase was given by the sophomore students.

Among alumni who have had outstanding experiences is Jeanette Gier, class of 1940, who is in government service. She recently received an appointment as education supervisor of the army education program for the air force at the Green Bay base command at Narsarsuk, the southern tip of the island. Miss Herick’s work in Greenland will be similar to that which she did in Japan, prior to her return to the United States last December. She has also had experiences in education work in Korea. One of her prided possessions was a citation as an “Honorary Teacher of Korea,” presented by the National Department of Education in recognition of outstanding service to Korean education as instructor of the American Language Institute.

Two interesting and worthwhile radio programs, “The Battle of Books” on WJJD and “Carnival of Books” on WMAQ are the contributions of Mrs. Ruth (Hetzel) Harsaw of Winnetka, Illinois. Mrs. Harsaw, class of 1910, was formerly of Almond, and is a noted author and lecturer. She is author of “Council of the Gods,” “Reindeer of the Waves” and “What Book Is That.”

News of CSTC alumni has no bounds in the mid-century year of 1950. The Guam News reported the birth of triplet daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fortune, Stevens Point, on January 4. Mr. Fortune is a 1940 graduate of CSTC. There are four other children in the family, Michael jr., 3, Pat, 5 and Richard and Ronald twins, age 2. The Creation Milk Co. is furnishing one year's supply of milk for Sandra, Susan and Sharon.
