

Men's Glee-Club Will Present Annual Spring Concert Tonight

The fifteenth annual spring concert will be presented by the CSTC Men's Glee club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, this evening in the college auditorium beginning at 8:15. This concert, is being planned primarily for the townspeople. An assembly concert for the student body will be held at a later date.

A somewhat different method of presentation will be used by the glee club for its last group of numbers. That group, which is entitled "Songs in the Twilight," will include songs like "Just Singing Along," "Halls of Ivy," "In the Gloaming," and "Now Is the Hour," and will be sung with the men grouped informally in a living room scene.

As its guests the club will have a family quartet from Plainfield called the Llewellyn Brothers who will sing two selections.

Soloists for the evening will be Norvin Holm, Tigerton, baritone; John Bruha, Weyauwega, bass; Don Schulz, Colby, baritone; Robert

Dr. F. A. Marrs, Former CSTC Physician, Dies

Dr. Fred A. Marrs, who had served as attending physician at CSTC since 1926, collapsed and died at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, March 20. He had been in failing health for several months and, after being hospitalized for two weeks in December, he resigned his post in the college student health service, intending to leave for Atlanta, Ga., for his health.

During the years since he came to Stevens Point in 1917 he was a member and past president of the Portage county Medical society and the Ninth Councilor District Medical society. He was also affiliated with the Wisconsin State Medical society, the American Medical association, the Soo Line Surgical society and the Tri-State Industrial association.

He attended schools at Paris, Ill., his birthplace, the school of pharmacy at Purdue university, and the Northwestern university medical school. After his graduation there in 1912, he served a one and a half year internship at Chicago Wesley Memorial hospital.

Dr. Marrs was also active in social organizations in this city. He was a charter member and former president of the Kiwanis club and the Whiting Country club. He was also a member of two local Masonic bodies and was a member of St. Paul's Methodist church.

He is survived by his wife, a son, Robert, of Atlanta, Ga., two granddaughters, and two brothers, James, living in Pasadena, Calif., and Asa, Paris, Ill.

The Pointer, on behalf of the CSTC student body and faculty, wishes to extend its deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Kathryn Garten Will Speak to Local Women

Kathryn Turney Garten will speak next Tuesday afternoon, April 10, at 2 o'clock in the college auditorium. Her subject is "The Art of Becoming a Woman."

Already 285 reservations have been made by the following schools: St. Joseph's Academy, Pittsville, Amesher, Wild Rose, Wittenberg, Rosholt, P. J. Jacobs, and Merrill. All college women will be excused from their 2 o'clock classes on April 10 in order to attend the assembly.

Immediately following the program, a social hour will be held in the auditorium. Arrangements have been made for the visiting senior girls to have conferences with division directors and to make a tour of the campus.

General chairman of the activities is Janice Gruen. Verna Schaeffer is in charge of the refreshments, Mary Douville is chairman of the hostesses, and Shirley Kubisiak is the publicity chairman. Mrs. Garten's appearance here at CSTC is being sponsored by WSGA.

Karsten, Stevens Point, piano. Two additional numbers in the twilight group will be sung by the glee club quartet, which is comprised of Arlen Parkin, Hancock, Don Schulz, Robert Gilbert, Hancock, and Gordon Fairbert, Pittsville.

The glee club has sung 15 out of town concerts already this year and will continue appearing in neighboring communities for another month. On Sunday evening the group will travel to Wittenberg for an 8:15 concert.

Kathryn Turney Garten Will Review "Joy Street"

Monday evening, April 9, is the date reserved for Kathryn Turney Garten's book review of "Joy Street." She will speak at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium.

Last year her review of "Yankee from Olympus" was very well received here at CSTC. This year her review is to be given on "Joy Street," a popular novel by Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes.

The locale of this romantic novel of the present day is the aristocratic Beacon Hill section of Boston. Roger Field and his young wife, Emily Thayer Field, are both members of old Boston families and Emily has wealth as well as assured position. They hope to bring together in their home on Joy Street all the different social classes represented by the junior members of the law firm where Roger works — the Italians, the Irish, the Jews — and have them merge and enjoy each other in harmonious surroundings. Joy Street is concerned with what happened to the idealistic plan and to the people concerned.

Free tickets for the review are available from Miss Marie Swallow, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, and Miss Carolyn Rolfsen for the first 100 students who request them and present their activity tickets. The review is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club of which Miss Swallow is a past president.

Eleven Piece Band and Feature Acts Put Over Phi Sig Show With a Bang

Packed houses greeted the annual Phi Sig Vaudeville and Style Show presented Sunday and Monday nights in the auditorium.

The show, packed with laugh a minute acts, proved to be another rousing success in the long line of style shows put on by the fraternity.

Backed by an 11 piece band, with special arrangements by Bob Bestul, the acts of the show ran off in style and were well received by the audience.

Highlights of the show were the specialty acts called "April Fool," "Kappa Klub" and the "Cultural Corner" as well as the curvacious chorus line and Esquire girls.

Cornerstone Laying Set Tentatively for April 11

Announcement was made today that Wednesday, April 11, has been tentatively set as the date for the cornerstone laying ceremony at Dellzell Hall, Central State's new men's dormitory. Work is progressing quite well on the building, and although no completion date has been set, it will probably be finished by September.

President William C. Hansen will do the masonry work at the brief ceremony. Various articles, such as copies of the Pointer and Iris, as well as other important documents, will be placed in the stone. The public is invited to witness the event. Details as to the time of the ceremony and the program will be announced soon, according to President Hansen.

Gail Shepardson's Band To Play for Junior Prom

Chet Polka, chairman of Junior prom committees, has announced that Gail Shepardson's eleven-piece orchestra from Green Bay will be on hand to provide music at the prom which is scheduled for May 19 in the P. J. Jacobs High school gym.

Couples will dance in an atmosphere decorated according to the chosen theme, "The Sea of the Moon." Various committees are at work on preparations for the event.

WSGA Members! Vote!

Wednesday, April 11, the WSGA will hold a general vote on the activity to be sponsored by this organization. The members will vote for one of the three suggestions which were discussed at the last general meeting. They are: sending a sum of money to the Foster Parent association for the support of a foreign child; giving a scholarship to a sophomore or a junior girl at CSTC; or remodeling of the dormitory recreation room into a student center. The WSGA would be in charge of operations there. All members are requested to vote.

Draft Deferments for College Men Will Be Based on Aptitude Tests

Student deferments will be based, not only on scholastic performance, but also on a capacity to learn as demonstrated by the results of a nation-wide aptitude test. This test will be given at 1,000 examination centers. Central State has been selected as one of these centers.

A student can take the aptitude test only once. But an official has said that a student making the prescribed score will be considered for deferment without regard to his class standing. Conversely, anyone who has maintained the prescribed class standing will be considered for deferment regardless of the score he makes in the test.

Senate sources last week forecast a liberal system of draft deferments for college boys during the next school year.

A new deferment directive, which President Truman told his news conference yesterday was being prepared, may permit next year's student deferments to equal the 570,000 granted this year, it was believed.

Some lawmakers said they expect the new policy to defer almost all freshmen who have entered college this fall, all sophomores who ranked scholastically in the upper half their first year, all juniors who were in the upper two-thirds their second year, and all seniors who were in the upper three-fourths their third year.

Alpha Psi Installs Six New Members Last Week

After four weeks of pledging duties, six CSTC students became active members of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic and speech fraternity on Thursday, March 29, in the student lounge, Louis Jacoboski acting as pledge-master. The new members are William Cable, Richard Francis, Dorotheanne Rebella, Ralph Roberts, Donald Helgersson and Shirley Jacobson.

As pledging duties the pledges had to wear their ribbons at all times, memorize twelve lines of Shakespeare and the Greek alphabet, put on a short skit at the initiation and had to know the national and local officers of the fraternity.

Notification was received last week by President William C. Hansen that Central State Teachers college has been accepted for membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Plattville's application was also approved, which now makes all nine state teachers colleges members of the organization.

Membership in the association authorizes Central State to certify its own graduates for teaching positions in any member school in the group. Previously, certification by the University of Wisconsin was required.

Students will probably remember the two gentlemen, President John Emens of Ball State Teachers college, Muncie, Indiana, and Dean M. J. Nelson, Dean of Instruction at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, Iowa, who comprised the evaluating committee which visited CSTC on January 4 and 5. Their favorable report was a necessary part of the admission procedure.

Driver Education Meet To Be Held Here April 14

A driver education institute for the benefit of driver education teachers will be held here on Saturday, April 14. Specialists in insurance and safety engineering enforcement and experienced teachers of driver education will speak at the institute.

A movie, "Your Permit to Drive," will be previewed. The driver education institute is being held here through the cooperation of Raymond E. Specht, who is in charge of CSTC's driver education program.

Music Notes

Peter J. Michelsen, director of the music department at CSTC, has been invited to judge the Chicago high school band competition at Chicago the evenings of April 11 and 12. Miss Helen Howe, director of music in the public schools of Chicago, was the person responsible for asking Mr. Michelsen.

The Girls Glee club is planning to sing concerts this month at Bowler and Adams-Friendship. The College band is planning tours to Nekeosa, Colby and Port Edwards in April, also. There will be no trips scheduled in May.

The Stevens Point Symphony Orchestra, whose members are CSTC students, faculty, and other interested musicians from Stevens Point and near-by cities, will play a concert for the public on Sunday afternoon, April 22, in the college auditorium.

Let's Have an NSA Speaker

We overheard a conversation in the men's smoker the other day and it had to do with the pertinent question of the National Student Association. On hearing some of the snatches of conversation, we stuck around and listened to hear what the general trend of thought was.

The general consensus of opinion seemed to be that no one knew enough about N.S.A., as yet, to successfully answer all the questions that are being asked about it. Even the pamphlets in the library are vague and hard to understand. The members of the Student Council can't give the answers either. As a result, there is a great deal of apprehension on the part of the student body toward joining the N.S.A.

Now these fellows didn't think that this was exactly giving the N.S.A. a fair trial. They felt there must be some good points about it, because over 300 schools belong to it. However, to go on as we are now is bound to be bad. We might join it and then find out we really stuck our foot into it, or we might pass it up and then regret it.

They thought something should be done about it and we are with them. The only type of student body that can make a wise decision is an informed one. Now the Student Council is writing to other colleges and getting their views on N.S.A. If these colleges are members, the S.C. wants to know just why they joined and vice versa. In this manner, they hope to get some arguments, both pro and con, on the subject. If these replies are made public it should help a lot. But that still won't be enough. Something else should be done.

We think that an executive from N.S.A. should be brought up here to speak to us and answer our questions. We understand that a speaker can be gotten very easily and it won't cost us too much. There is some resentment on the part of some students about the cost of getting a speaker here, but we feel it's about the only solution and the good it should do in informing the student body will make it worthwhile. Naturally his remarks are going to be prejudiced toward N.S.A., but college students can think for themselves and make a decision. At the same time they can get a lot of questions answered. We feel it would help clear up this maze of confusion surrounding the N.S.A. topic. The N.S.A. issue has been stalled for three months; let's do something about it now. It'll just die a natural death otherwise.

FAMILIAR FACES

This week the face pretty familiar to us all is the very pretty face of Ila Williamson. Ila has been around here for four years now and will graduate in the primary division this July. However she's one of the luckier ones. There's a signed contract in a safe at Manitowoc to the effect that she'll be teaching either second or third grade.

Ila is 22 years old and came here from Brandon, which is the latest of the many towns she's had. She rooms with Connie Callisen at the David Krems home. Her father attended school here some time in the dim past, and earned a B. E. degree during summer school just eight years ago.

Besides primary courses, she has studied a good deal of history, English and philosophy. And it wouldn't be exaggerating too much to say that she enjoyed every minute of it. However, she definitely enjoys music. "Ferde Grofe's 'Grand Canyon Suite' is my favorite," she says, "but I think Mario Lanza and 'Be My Love' are okay (gulp) too."

Ila ought to like "Only a Rose" if only because she has sung it so often at Tau Gau functions; she joined the sorority in her freshman year and has been an officer a number of times.

Ila learned how to knit this winter and if she ever finishes her first sweater she'll have a new hobby. As it is now she keeps normal and sane by bowling, singing, with or without an audience, or reading biographical sketches and Time. Her friends say there are other activities, but since these come under "vices" they won't be mentioned here. Summer sports and good movies are favorite pastimes, but she dislikes second features and 8:15 classes, all of which makes her a fairly normal girl.

During her college career, Ila has joined many organizations. In addition to the ones mentioned, she belongs to the Primary Council, Pointer circulation staff, Mixed Chorus, WSGA board, and Wesley. If this doesn't keep her busy, Ila retires to the library, and when she isn't there, she's at the Campus Cafe.

In the realm of probabilities, Ila says, "If I weren't going to be a teacher I'd be a stewardess." One of her best friends, Joan Winters, is enjoying that kind of work right now. She sends Ila tantalizing letters describing her travels. Although Ila still plans on teaching, she has developed a yen for seeing the world, particularly Hawaii. Beyond these thoughts she leaves her future in the hands of the gods — except for one thing.

"I will never," she coughed, as a gust of chlorine blew into her face, "go into a chemistry lab again. Not even for an interview, picture in the paper or no!"

FACULTY NOTES

Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, dean of women, attended the annual meeting of the National Association of Deans of Women which met in Chicago from March 26-29.

Leaving and returning by Wisconsin Central Airlines, it was Mrs. Pfiffner's first experience in going by plane and she is sold on that means of travel.

Miss Harriet Wright, Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, Dr. Harold M. Tolo and Frederick A. Krempel represented the school at a conference on the motivation of learning which was held in Minneapolis last Friday and Saturday.

The conference, sponsored by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools, was held in Coffman Memorial Union at the University of Minnesota.

Fred J. Schmeckle attended a meeting of the High School Conservation Workshop planning board on March 29. A total of 44 high schools and 622 students are expected to attend the workshop at Eagle River this year.

Mr. Schmeckle is scheduled to speak on "Conservation in the Schools" at a county teachers meeting at Loyal on April 9. On April 11 and 12 he will attend the Eagle River workshop and on April 25 he will be at a Wisconsin Rapids Conservation Club meeting.

The Walter R. Sylvester family now has a new member. Last Thursday, March 29, the stork presented the proud parents with a baby boy, their third child and third boy.

★ FIRE AT WILL ★

By Zick

Let's see now, what is today, Tuesday or Friday? That deal just before Easter vacation got us so balled up we took two baths that week. Were we disgusted!

Having nothing better to do, four of the local high school's most boisterous egomaniacs were killing time in a downtown drug store one sweltering July evening.

They were juggling coke glasses, bellowing moose-like melodies and cracking wise at the expense of any customer who was unlucky enough to come within their range, when in walked four attractive and unmarried young ladies. The boys immediately unleashed a devastating barrage of insults and wisecracks, each of which was followed by an uproarious outburst of coarse laughter. Though naturally annoyed and embarrassed, the four remained very calm and lady-like, ignoring the offenders throughout. As they got up to leave, a parting jibe of "Hey, wait for me" was hurled after them.

Obviously disgusted by this display of familiarity by a kid young enough to be her son, one of the young ladies snapped, "How long about five years?"

We had originally planned on submitting this to the Saturday Evening Post in hopes that it would be published in the "Perfect Squelch" column, but the crushing disappointment which we received recently in a Burma Shave slogan contest has caused us to become very embittered and disillusioned about the whole thing. We are even thinking of turning Communist.

About that Burma Shave contest, we saw in the paper that the Burma Shavers needed some new road signs so we decided we'd think up a couple for them. We bought two tubes of Burma Shave in order to get the necessary box tops and submitted these two loo-loos: Drink — Drive — Man Alive — Awfully Lucky — To Survive — Burma Shave! — Dance? — Romance? — Not a Chanteuse — Girls Refuse — He Oughta Use — Burma Shave! We never heard another word from Burma and the next Christmas we got an electric razor. We've still got all that icky Burma Shave around the house as a heartbreaking symbol and remembrance of our foolishly extravagant and overly ambitious undertaking. So come on, all you lucky people, here's a chance for one of you to send in that squelch and become fabulously wealthy and famous overnight.

The President of Oklahoma University used a new pitch on the legislative appropriations committee recently. He told them, "We're trying to build a school the football team can be proud of."

If anybody should happen to get that Perfect Squelch published and collect the $100 for it, you will remember where you saw it first, won't you?

Miss Juetten's School Paper Receives Honor

Miss Mary Juetten, former Pointer editor, and now adviser for the Maroon News, high school newspaper at Menominee, Michigan, received word recently that the News was given a first place award by the Columbia Scholastic Press association.

Winners were selected from 1300 newspapers entered in the annual contest sponsored by Columbia university. Wisconsin senior high school printed newspapers in schools from 1000 to 1500 students that also received first class ratings were the Tower Times, East High school, Madison and the Aquinas News, Aquinas High school, La Crosse.

Miss Juetten was editor of the Pointer from 1946 to 1948 and has been teaching at Menominee since her graduation from CSTC.

High Schools Come Here; Annual Speech Contest

Central State will be bursting with activity this Saturday with an addition of at least 200 students who will be here for the annual high school district forensic contest. These high school students represent 11 leagues in all phases of forensic work and the events will be run as follows:

Humorous declamation, section I, 9:30; section II, 1:30, auditorium. Non-Humorous declamation, section I, 9:30, rural assembly; section II, 9:30, room 255; section III, 1:30, room 255. Four minute speeches, section I, 9:30, room 207. Non-original oratory, section I, 9:30, Training school; section II, 1:30, Training school. Extemporaneous speaking, section I, 10:00, room 107. Original oratory, section I, 1:30, rural assembly. Extemporaneous reading, section I, 2 o'clock, room 207; section II, 2 o'clock, room 255.

The contests will be judged by Norman E. Knutzen, Miss Pauline Isaacson, Dr. Harold M. Tolo, Leiland M. Burroughs and three or more visiting judges. The judges were chosen by Harry Bender, a graduate of Central State, who is principal of the high school at Colby and is district chairman.

Mr. Burroughs has been in charge of all local arrangements and Joe Boettcher is student manager of the spring tournament. The students of Miss Isaacson's Speech 102 class are responsible for the topics for extemporaneous speaking and the selections for extemporaneous reading.

The contestants receiving "A" ratings at the district contest will represent their schools in the state meet to be held on April 14 at Madison.

Frances Gerber Honored; "A Pebble" in Anthology

Wordsworth and Shakespeare will have to hold tightly to their laurels in order to keep their places in the hall of fame. The literary annals have been invaded by Frances Gerber, of Adams, who has had one of her poems published in "The Poetry Digest Anthology of Verse." Frances has been writing poems since she was twelve and has seen many of them published in local and Madison papers. "A Pebble," the poem published in the anthology, originally appeared in "The Capital Times," and came to the attention of the Digest staff in that way.

WAA Becomes Women's Recreation Association

The Women's Athletic association of CSTC has officially changed its name to Women's Recreation association. It is hoped that with the new name more girls will become interested in participating and that it will also enlarge the field of activities, says Miss Adeline Levin, adviser.

The W.R.A. will play their all-star game in basketball soon. The teams will be posted, so watch the bulletin boards.

Scandinavian Winners Present Speeches Here

High school forensic winners from Scandinavia were guests of Miss Pauline Isaacson's advanced speech class here last Friday and gave their speeches before the class.

Pupils who came were Marjorie Gjertsen, Eleanor Simonson, Lois Larson and Keith Caldwell. They were accompanied by their teacher,

Coffee Confab

By Chuck

Things are looking up! College men will have a chance to get deferred. CSTC has been accredited by the North Central association and we now can get a liberal arts degree. We also did a good job on the budget problem with results forthcoming.

This isn't news to most of us but it would be fine to see what all of it means. School spirit should be given a "shot in the arm" because the men can now feel more secure and the student body, as a whole, can feel proud.

As long as we have been at Central State, everyone has talked "Liberal Arts" while the work progressed. Now we have it! It's a big step forward. Now that North Central has accepted us, our degrees will mean more and transferring will be much simpler. It's another step forward for our college.

It all adds up. Whether we realize it or not, when something is wrong and we speak up, put our shoulders to the wheel and employ a little patience, we do get results! CSTC is alive and growing!

Deferrals

Men! We really have gotten a break. Did you see the spread in the Journal on testing for college deferrals? "Coffee Confabbers" (anyone who likes coffee and talks) seem to think it is a good deal. We question the need for such an elaborate system for giving the tests but, if they turn out to be comprehensive and fair, it will surely be the opportunity we have been looking for. We had better perk up, stop feeling sorry for ourselves and sharpen our wits. We'll see you May 26, or June 16, or June 30 and good luck.

In addition to all of this elation, who knows, maybe spring may arrive one of these years and we will throw away our bottle of HADACOL.

We would like to begin the practice of closing each week's column with a selected quote that seems timely. Here's the first:

"It is one thing to show a man that he is in error and another to put him in possession of truth."

—John Locke

Sigma Zeta Takes Eleven New Members Into Fold

Four new active members and seven associate members were initiated into Sigma Zeta, honorary science fraternity, at the last regular meeting. Barbara Lewis, Alan Bowers, Martin Hansen and James R. Hicks of the faculty were taken in as active members. The new associate members are Barbara Bauman, Phyllis Jarneck, Donald Visser, Eleanor Curtis, Frank Hoffman, Oliver Andrews and Amy Kampenga.

The trip to the National Conclave at Anderson, Indiana on April 19, 20 and 21 was discussed. Refreshments were then served.

Miss Hilda Peterson.

The college students, under the leadership of Ronald Jarvis, offered constructive suggestions to the Scandinavian pupils.

NOTICE

These will be cheerleading tryouts April 11, at 8:00 in the training school gym.

Sport Editors' Study Shows Draft Will Hurt Athletics

The current draft situation will have a decided effect upon the quality of play and the amount of available manpower in the State Teachers college conference according to a study made by the sport editors of the various member schools.

The general consensus of opinion is that the following conditions will result:

1. Athletics in general will be curtailed for at least the next two years.
2. Freshmen and veterans will be called upon to form the nucleus for teams during this period.
3. After two years those who were drafted in 1951 will return to the campuses to take up the slack and competition will again be on a normal basis.
4. For the present football will be the sport hardest hit by the draft. Lack of manpower may force abandonment of the sport at some schools although the conference is going ahead with schedule arrangements.
5. Other sports will also be curtailed but will not be hit as hard as football. Some schools may continue the spring sports program on an intramural basis only.

Phi Sig's Chick, Belke's Shatter Bowling Records

Since the last publication of the Pointer two records have been shattered in the College Bowling league. Gib Chick, bowling for the Phi Sigs team, fashioned games of 181, 211 and 231 for a new three game high of 628, and the Belke Lumber company team broke the old team record for one game, a record formerly held by the Phi Sigs, with a sizzling 949 total.

In the last week's results the Belke five kept pace with the leading Bill Conachen again led his team with a 200 game 510 series followed closely by Dick Promen's 509 series. Frank Schmidler blasted a 211 game and 519 series to pace the losers.

The Phi Sigs kept up their battle from the basement by twice whipping Don's Coney Island. "Itch" Roberts with a series of 534 and Gib Chick with a 502 led the fraternity five. Former Valley Track Men Show Plenty of Promise

As Coach Frank Crow's track team enters the fourth week of practice, things are starting to shape up in preparation for the coming scheduled meets.

The Pointer cinder mentor is looking hopefully for added strength from the freshmen ranks. Three former Wisconsin Valley conference stars will compete in the running events. They are Norbert Miller, Bill Cook, and Ed Jacobson. Miller will participate in the dashes and the broad jump while Cook will continue in his specialty of the hurdles.

In last year's state meet at Madison, Cook finished fourth in the high hurdles. Coach Crow also expects to pick up some points on the merits of Ed Jacobson. The petite miler was clocked at 4:40 in his best mile run in high school and he indicates he is prepared for many repeat performances.

Seven lettermen are back from last year's squad. They are Jim Luhm in the dashes; Don Olsen in the middle distance events; Chet Polka, Bob Gilbert and Ed Havitz in the distances; Kenton Stewart in the low hurdles and Eugene Polzin who competes in the pole vault, high jump, and javelin.

Other squadmen who show promise of being point winners are Oliver Andrews who puts the shot; Pete March in the quarter mile; Norris Lindquist, a distance runner; Jerry Jelinek in the shot; and John Mundt in the discus.

Coach Crow's evaluation of the team at this stage of preparations is that the Pointers will be stronger this year in the hurdles and distance runs, weak in the sprints, and fair in the field events if new men come through as expected.

May 22 — Carroll College relays at Waukesha (CSTC will enter if it has relay material)

Polka and Dehlinger Are "Players of Year"

Chet Polka, versatile basketball star and Bob Dehlinger, Point line-man for the past three years, have been named CSTC's basketball and football "players of the year."

Polka, a mainstay for the Pointer cage team during the past three years, enjoyed a very successful season. In addition to his 273 points he was a "bear" on defense.

Dehlinger, despite numerous injuries performed very creditably during the past football season. Bob, a graduate of P. J. Jacobs High, received a similar award for his play during high school.

Hats Off to Collegiates For Slam Bang Season

This is quite frankly a tribute, long due, to our Collegiates, who will be the Varsity of tomorrow.

Composed of freshmen, sophomores, and those ineligible for the Varsity, the Collegiates played the preliminary games, games too many of us didn't watch as we should. They had no stars or exceptional scorers; they played only as a team and that is the way games are won. If one player was "hot" the others would feed him the ball but no man tried to "hog" the show. Each knew his part. The team-work, their defensive playing, their love for the game itself, their coaching by Coach Edgar W. Pieper are the main reasons the Collegiates won 23 games while losing only five and that is a lot of games to play.

Another laurel to add to their record was the winning of the St. Peter's Major League championship. They defeated Paul's Bar, 62-51, on March 20.

All of the Collegiates are of draft-age. Three, Mehlum, Davis, Lawton, are already in the Air Force. But we hope, with the new Presidential order on drafting of college students the remaining Collegiates will be here to play basketball next season. In the Collegiates we have a good team building for the future.

The Only Man in the Place--Reporter Thoroughly Enjoys Girls' Basketball

Very few CSTC students realize that some of the fairer sex are also interested in sports. One such sport event, the WRA basketball tournament, was brought to a close last night.

As far as we know, there have been no boys or, for that matter, many girls in attendance at these thrilling exhibitions of feminine prowess. And that is a fact to be sadly lamented, for these games furnish the onlooker with many a laugh and thrill.

To publish exactly what was seen by the brave male Pointer reporter at the fifth tournament game a week ago Wednesday in the Training School gym would rock the Pointer to its very foundations. Therefore we will stick to the bare facts.

One thing over which we were quite dismayed was the lack of originality shown by the girls in naming their teams. The boys dreamt up such names as "Cadavers" and "WCTU"; but all the girls could manage was "Team Number One," "Team Number Two," and so on. There are four such power-laden teams. Since the girls couldn't think up any intriguing names, (Something on the order of "The Hip Waggies" would be nice.) we will refer to the teams by number and the name of the captain.

Team One is captained by Phylis Gertschen; Team Two by Rae Sturzl; Team Three, Donna Morgan; and Team Four, Gertrude Collum.

Gertschen's team has finished its schedule and is the champion with one victory over each of the other teams. Sturzl's team beat Collum's game and lost the other two. Morgan's six and Collum's team played last night. They have respective records of 1-1 and 0-2.

In the one game the Pointer was privileged to cover, Gertschen's team grabbed an early lead and came out on top of Morgan's team by a score of 23-15. Rose "Kris" Christoffersen dumped in seven buckets and two free throws for high scoring honors with 16 points. Norma Herrington scored eight points for the losers and Captain Gertschen counted with seven for the winners. Harriet Obinger is the WRA girl in charge of this tournament.

And now here's the news which could be big news a week from now if a certain group of boys have the nerve to accept the challenge: Miss Adeline Levin, woman's athletic director, has announced that an all-star girls' basketball team will challenge the boys' intramural champions (Ramblers) to a basketball game (?) April 13. To offset the advantage the girls will have — the game must be played according to girls' rules — the offensive boy players will have the privilege and added protection of wearing boxing gloves.

Any boys not understanding the girls' basketball rules alluded to in this story are referred by us to the nearest feminine sportster.

Pledging Ends With Dinners and Dance

Fairy Tale Theme Carried Out at Pan-Hell Formal

Gaily colored fairy-tale figures decorated the American Legion Hall last Saturday night at the Pan-Hellenic formal dance. The Greek organization members and their dates danced to the music of Larry Woodbury's orchestra.

The 99 couples entered the decorated ball room through a large orange pumpkin which further carried out the theme of "Fairy Tales."

Decorating the stage were the brightly colored figures of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs; and various other story book characters such as Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella, Jack and the Beanstalk, and Rumpelstiltskin adorned the walls. Along the end wall were the letters of the five Greek organizations.

Chairman of the affair was George Mosey, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Lewis, and Frederick A. Kremple and Miss Patricia Carver were chaperons for the dance. Other guests included Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Faust, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tolo, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kerst.
