Five teachers will be dropped as a result of budget slashing.

Lecture-Discussions on Asia to Be Given Soon
Dr. Haridas Muzumdar, eminent Hindu scholar, will give a series of lectures at Stevens Point. The details of this series and the dates have not been released. The first lecture will be given on April 25 at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium. Alpha Gamma, science social fraternity, is in charge of arrangements for his appearance. Subsequent lectures will be held on May 9 and May 16.

Curriculum Will Stay the Same
CSTC will lose these full-time teachers as a result of the recent reduction in the college budget by the state legislature. In addition the vacancy in the physical education department created by the death of George R. Blakely will probably not return next semester.

Drop in Majors
Dr. Walter H. Jenkins, chairman of the faculty will be Frederick A. Kemple of the history department, James R. Hicks of the chemistry department and Walter L. Stiver of the conservation department. Mr. Kemple and Mr. Hicks will continue with graduate work next year. Miss Hansen, who has been teaching mathematics and education, will be transferred to the Stevens Point campus. Edgar W. Pieper is the instructor who has been filling Mr. Berg's position for this year. Mrs. Warren Blech, English department, is the part time teacher who probably will not be retained.

Student Council Votes To Table Action on NSA
Two important actions were taken in a meeting of the Student Council on Monday, April 9. After a detailed discussion, the Council voted to table NSA business until next year. This year's investigating committee was instructed to hand in a complete report of their findings to avoid any unnecessary action next year.

Bob Cook was appointed to investigate the absence of a certain class on April 6. He also instructed himself to look into the matter of the possible building of new dormitories and whether or not it was feasible to erect it.

Several students have been added to the council this year.

Technical Majors
Faculty members have been increased, a part time instructor has been added, and the local Trades and Labor Council have come out against the reduction.

Schmeeckle Protests Cut

The recent action taken by the Board of Regents should be most carefully scrutinized. The plan to cut funds for the Teacher Training College, as approved by the Regents, is in direct violation of the agreement. This action is therefore a breach of contract. The teachers of Wisconsin are not going to remain in the field of education if their training in this field is curtailed. They are going to demand justice. The Teachers Colleges Demand Justice.

Let's spread the word of this to the teachers colleges. We have one more chance to keep the school closed. Three years as a student is not enough. There is still time for action. The Young Republicans showed us how to do it. If we want to come back, there is no need to be afraid of the Board of Regents. The State Senate is waiting for a chance to help the teachers. They are not going to remain in the field of education if their training in this field is curtailed. They are going to demand justice. The Teachers Colleges Demand Justice.

Accomplishments of CSTC Alums Bring Many Honors to Alma Mater

Projects of Local Alums Interesting

CSTC can be proud of the excellent quality of teaching which several alumni are renderig at the Elementary schools of Green Bay and Portage county. Mrs. Geneva (Foster) Borden '26, principal and kindergarten teacher of the Brillion school, is a graduate of the project on the school grounds since last November. All of the children have participated in the project by hanging popcorn, cranberries, sweet, and other accomplishments under the direction of Mrs. Borden. A note pad and pencil is kept in a wooden box under the sign, "Write to Your Friends." The high school, also, has directed the children in making their own unique band. Crude drums were made from furnished scraps of real sheep skin stretched taut to make the drum heads. Tamborines were made from old pet bottles and cage tops which the kindergarten teacher, Musical sand blocks were made from wood scraps secured from a local manufacturing company which the children visited.

Four Alumni Are Officers of Teachers Association

Four CSTC alumni are serving at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin supervising teacher yesterday. Miss Frances Ursula '39, supervisor of the Menominee county, is president of Group 1. Mr. Robert Thompson '26, former supervisor of the Monroe county, is secretary of Group 1. Mrs. Mary Blitchey '35, supervisor of Wisconsin Dells, is president of Group 6. Mary Doyle '35, supervising teacher of Waushara county, has been elected to the board of supervisors of the Dept. of Education for the upcoming year.

Alums Take County Posts

At a recent meeting of the Portage county superintendents, Robert Piekanski '30, teacher in the elementary school at Alma, was elected president of Group 1. Mrs. Mary Oxley '39, supervisor of the townships, was re-elected as vice-president. Vincent Slussar '42, supervisor of the Superior county, is second vice-president and Mrs. Mary (McGinley) Sell '31, principal of Superior, is a member at large.

I Now Pronounce You

Margaret Guith and Ellsworth Goetsch are the newest graduates of CSTC. Miss Guith was a teacher at the Des Moines, Iowa, high school for five years, and Mr. Goetsch was a teacher at the Beaver Dam high school. They will be teaching in the local district.

Mr. Schmeekle's Bald Eagle Is Here to Stay

CSTC's Conservation department picks up new additions in the oddest ways.

Several months ago, the last thing Baldy the eagle was worrying about was looking Fred J. Schmeekle in the eye. After all why should he worry? Food was plentiful and there was no animal that argued with an eagle with seven feet of wing spread even if he is only two years old. Baldy made one mistake though. He overlooked the fact that his size made him a perfect target for someone one who worried about neither Baldy's legal protection nor his harmlessness.

What happened next is something of a mystery. Anyway, Baldy eventually came to CSTC with the compliments of Horatio Stahl, Plainfield taxidermist.

Now the question is what is Mr. Schmeekle going to do with Baldy? Is he going to teach Baldy to pick pockets and thus enrich the Conservation Department, or is he going to kick Baldy's older cousin out of his case on the third floor? Whatever he does, we know that Baldy has come to CSTC to stay.

on April 21, 1950 at Madison, will long be remembered by his colleagues and former students at Central State. After serving as librarian at the college from May 29 to Sept. 1929, Mr. Allen accepted the position of assistant director at the University of Wisconsin Library School. Three years later he was made director of the school. Under his directorship, the Library School reached "new peaks in teaching, research, and public service."

A George C. Allen Memorial Fund has been established by alumni of the Wisconsin Library School to perpetuate his memory. Because Mr. Allen strove to develop a feeling for books as a basic part of the philosophy of librarianship, the committee in charge of the fund chose books and related illustrative materials as the goal of this effort. Contributions to the fund are not restricted to Wisconsin Library School alumni only. Friends may mail their contributions to the George C. Allen Memorial Fund, The Library School, 813 State Street, Madison, Wisconsin.

Roving Reporter Asks—

Attention, all girls! At last this reporter has come up to the question of whether gentlemen really prefer blondes to darker haired beauties. The results weren't too surprising. The gentlemen usually prefer blondes. But considering their choice of hair color — you pin me the petticoat battle, mother, here are the answers:

Don Benz: Of course we do, Wally Cacic. Right now I have no choice, but...

Charles Robinson: I prefer blondes to Luxikes, 2 to 1! Tony Brylski: Yes, but Hollywood's too far away.

Curt Taylor: She wouldn't let me say that I do. Ray Sommers: It depends upon...

John Bruha: Definitely. In fact, I haven't the same color hair her. Don Herrmann: Only natural.
