Fine Turnout at Polls

It was very much heartening to witness the fine display of school spirit that was exhibited in last Thursday's voting. Over 560 ballots were cast, and although the number was less than the 766 we looked for, it was still a mighty fine showing.

We congratulate our sincerest congratulations to John Barabara, a really wonderful Homecoming queen, and also to the victorious candidates in the elections for class officers and student council representatives.

Languages: Key to Understanding

Last week the Pointer carried an article which appeared in the University of Oregon report on the importance of studying a second language. We here at "Central" state must take a vital interest in the teaching of foreign languages, for we live in the field of literature.

With the advent of extensive air travel we find ourselves incomparably closer to the people of other lands, and it is only through the knowledge of the languages of peoples that we can gain adequate understanding of these peoples. In the years to come isolationism in the world will come to an end, and the study of foreign languages now becomes imperative. It is important that we develop a broader outlook and a deeper understanding of the relations in all fields, making the recurrence of present conflicts unlikely. It would be a serious mistake to overlook the study of foreign languages. Without this, the facts and the instructions that our government feels are of the utmost importance will pass us by.

It is not only the Americans among the most provincial people, and that we regard ourselves as somewhat superior to other nationalities. This charge is probably true in the case of the average citizen, but the average citizen has never been outside the United States, nor has it found necessary to speak or understand any foreign language.

Probably more important than anything else is the clearer understanding of our own language that one obtains through the study of foreign languages. We are certainly now taking a more comprehensive knowledge of English in order to be better able to express ourselves.

The university has this to say about the study of languages:

"The languages we have to offer have much to contribute in the field of international understanding, for a man's language is the key to his ways of thinking and to an intimate insight into all of his cultures."

Pledges Are The Lowest of Animals - It's a Dog's Life; But It's Fun

Cracking up! No, those weird looking people walking around the Wilson campus are not the pledges of the five Greek societies. All are钻王 entertainment. We have up-to-date pledge books, and also fulfill daily 'duties.'

Cracking up! No, those weird looking people walking around the Wilson campus are not the pledges of the five Greek societies. All are钻王 entertainment. We have up-to-date pledge books, and also fulfill daily 'duties.'

The Psi Beta Psi pledges are Ginger Parke, John Hare, Linda Borden, Virgil Schwartz, Warren Coffin, Mary Sasuma, Lillian Lovellah, Verna Schaefer. Bettie, president of the Psi Beta Psi, has this to say about the study of languages:

"The languages we have to offer have much to contribute in the field of international understanding, for a man's language is the key to his ways of thinking and to an intimate insight into all of his cultures."

Pledging Ten Gamma Beta are Glynn Brown, Lillian Lawlor, Dorothy O'Neill, Rose Marie Christoferson, Rose Keenan, Barbara Winter, Joyce Zellinger and Dorothy Johnson. Their pledge mistress is Mary Leahy. These "Mals" must wear their pledge pins and blue and pink ribbons on which they bear the names of their minions. They too, have to give a tea.

The Phi Sigma Epsilon pledges are Roger Del彻r, Everett Mueh and Dwaine Dull. Their pledge mistress is Ray Zwolinski. They are clad in the traditional painter's hat and red bow tie and carry a Phi big paddle. They have to have a day and nor also have a cartoon on the bulletin board. They are not allowed to talk to a girl unless they are given permission throughout the pledging period.

The Chi Delta Rho pledges are George Goodwin, Betty Grant, Bart McCorman, Dick Keathley, Connie Parper, Royce Wade and Harold Zablocki. Their pledge mistress is John Mallow. These pledges wear red slin­gle hats with green feathers, wear arm bands and carry the traditional blue and white paddles. They have to have a cartoon on the bulletin board each day and must perform duties also. They are not allowed to talk to girls without permission.

As you observe these lowly pledges, just remind yourself not to laugh too hard at them because they are really fun enough even at times they agree with Ethel Jacobson, who says:

"To give heart's ease. All musts sight and - even fun.

Glee Club Concert

Climaxing Homecoming

Airing the Hawaiian theme activities Sunday afternoon was the annual Homecoming Concert sponsored by the Men's Glee Club under the direction of Mr. K. Rusten.

Forty-four pots of coffee that were brought were Bill Caball and Jeanne Searle. Among the guests who attended were Piano Man Sherry Layton, piano, and railroad to mud; in the midst of it all.

The Phi Beta Psi program was presented by Jack Bolling. He has this to say about the study of languages:

"The languages we have to offer have much to contribute in the field of international understanding, for a man's language is the key to his ways of thinking and to an intimate insight into all of his cultures."

Bert Davies here confided in me that he had some research in the field of Latin Clinton and has come up with the following gem:

"Latin is the most difficult foreign language in the world. MERICAN: The Latin language is the most difficult foreign language in the world. MERICAN: The Latin language is the most difficult foreign language in the world.

PATERIAL: Of little feet.

BATT DUGGS: We have all the nail on the thumb.

TENET: What do you think of your watch in the pawnshop?

MIZHELL, EUGENE; KEEPER OF KEY: We are going by a square index.

The top hand interrupted an impassioned rendition of "Rebecca." "We're going Tom Lind and Ethel Parler said high, for the last time I heard her doing a "classics" stuff as veepma as you told him to. I have no objection to Rebecca being down, but if I hear the strains of "The Tube with the Horn" again my big toe is going to become a door followed by a corset, base drum of a locomotive, and the impressionist art of Whistling "After the Brawl Through Rose-Colored Eyeballs." It triumphed over DaMaurice and The Soot."

Women — to arm! There's few alley play! About every member of the new Stated Council might not be. We can't let Susan B. Anthony and her suffragettes take their votes in vain. Heaven knows what they'll try to railroad through Congress without a single feminine representative.

As fate would have it, pledging fol­lowed lowly pledge songs and a bit of hilarity, so we'll be wearing all the colors of the rainbow for at least a few days. We should be ready for black creep — Bob Bi­ngall;

"Climax" by Louis Armstrong, spiritual arrangement by Jim Hall; "Hobo's Fate," by Jack Prince; "Hobo's Fate," by Jack Prince; "Wake, Awake!" by Nicolás Bach; "Pious" by Walt Disney. This is sponsored by Sheila Sackett, "What the Duck!"

Pointers Come From Behind Twice; Tie Gulls in Year's 3rd Deadlock

"Central State's" football team did its best to please an excellent turn-out of Homecoming fans last Saturday afternoon after Goethe park by racking up 29-14 over the University of Milwaukee. However, the Pointers had to come from behind to gain the victory when they led the tying touchdown midway in the final period. The ideal weather conditions allowed the Green Gulls to use their passing attack to its full advantage. The game opened with the Pointers kicking off, and the Gulls gained 40 yards back to the Gull's 24 yard line. Then on a series of running plays and passes, the Pointers reached the Gull's 1 yard line, and Jack Brandt again bucked over the scoring line. Al Dief tied the game by converting the extra point. Neither team threatened after that.

Late in the third period the Green Gulls began to move. They marched 88 yards from their own 1 yard line, and with Ken Carey scoring again, this time from the one. The conversion by Dief was good. This put the visitor on top of the Pointers. 29-20.

Dave Bliss gave Stevens Point a break in the fourth period, when he intercepted a pass on Point's 43 yard line. A series of running plays and pass plays, the Pointers sealed the win. 29-26, and Take Brandt again bucked over the scoring line. Al Dief tied the game by converting the extra point. Neither team threatened after that.

This was the third straight time the Pointers have develop enough to spill the Gull's defense. This is also true of the Pointers' close games of the season.

Klacks Out Front in Intramural Football

There were no games played in this week's intramural football league, last week because of rain and a muddy field.

The schedule this week follows the regular schedule for the league.

Point to Play Pioneers In Season's Last Game

The 1951 grid season for the Pointers will be climaxed here on Saturday afternoon, October 21, when Central State plays the Pioneers in what is called the "Big Game." So far this season the Pioneers have one win, two losses and one tie. They beat Oshkosh, lost to Whitewater and Storq and tied Superior. The record so far does not include their Homecoming game on October 27 with Milwaukee. Last year the Pioneers beat Northwestern in three overtime periods in conference standing.

Coach Lester Latil has built his 1951 squad around a nucleus of 12 lettermen who will use a split T and single wing offense, while on defense they will use a wishbone formation.

Stevens Point fans will probably see the following players starting the Pioneer defense and offense: John Smith, defensive tackle and captain with Tom Koch, fall back and leading ground gainer last season for the Pioneers; Dale Marquett, fast and able back, who gained 86 yards in eight attempts against Lewis Institute; Charlie Abrahamson, 210 pound tackle, who shares pass rushing duties with Stan Zing, leading spark plug of the Pioneers. A big blow to the Pioneers' hopes for a high place in the 1951 conference standings is the fact that the Pointers are going into the last game with the Pioneers.

The last big break in the Pointers' schedule will be an easy one for Coach Latil's boys, as they are in the basement in the conference standings.

Link Calls 'Em

Again this Saturday afternoon the University of Wisconsin will play the role of "Central State." For the second time this year the Northwestern Wildcats and Wisconsin Badgers will meet in another record of the two teams thus far, we find Northwestern with four wins and one tie while Wisconsin has three victories and one loss. The Badgers have one loss, one tie and two losses and are always ready to upset the home team.

The Pioneers of Stevens Point, a small college, most of Purdu's tell the sports world what they think of the Wisconsin Badgers. We quote: "Wisconsin has the best team we have played so far."

And then Jack Brandt supplied all the rest of the story. The win for the Pioneers is always a big event when the Pointers play Northwestern, and we look for the upset of the day to occur. The Indiana Hoosiers will play the University of Illinois. On paper the Illini seem to be the strongest, but the tremendous intensity of the battle over Ohio State last week and the Homecoming and the Hoosiers on enough to victory this Saturday afternoon. We're pulling for Indiana to win by one point.

Michigan State--We will help select Michigan over Minnesota, although the Gophers (11) are not in the best of shape. Minnesota is the most impressive. The Michigan Wolverines have something going moment in every game so every Saturday pass and could be a great factor in determining whether or not Wisconsin will play for the Big Ten. We hope from Ann Arbor by 14 points.

Michigan State at Ohio State--If the Buckeyes have really given the sports scene a mystery. Rated by many sport writers as the tops in the Big Ten in pre-season review, the Buckeyes have shown Welcome Back, Students You'll find us in the Sport Shop Bldg. BERENS BARBER SHOP

Gala Gay Homecoming Over for Another Year

The noise has died down. The confu­sion has vanished. Yes, Homecoming was indeed one of the great days that all waited for all. The Alumni, the students, everyone was there. The queen is at last in the center of all, crowned with glory and honor. The parade is finished, and now the only thing left is the celebration. The last thing they need is to let the party go on all night long. Everyone returns home to their families, to their jobs, to their lives.

The Milwaukee Site of WEA Convention

Several members of the WBC faculty will be among the 15,000 teachers expected to attend the annual Wisconsin Education Association convention being held in Milwaukee on November 1, 2, and 3 at the Auditorium and the Arena.

Reducing the number of smoking students is one of the goals set by the WBC faculty.

Officials of the Wisconsin State College of Education announced that over 600 students are expected to attend the convention, which is one of the largest in the country.

The program also included a special session on the teaching of English as a second language, which was attended by over 400 teachers.

The Milwaukee Site of WEA Convention is another example of the growth of the organization. In recent years, the organization has expanded its membership to include teachers from all over the state.
