Men’s Glee Club to Give Spring Concert

The 16th annual spring concert of the Men’s Glee Club will be held on Monday, April 18, in the college auditorium this evening at 8 o’clock. The concert is primarily for the public and a special student audience will be given later. The 50 voice Men’s Glee club, under the direction of Ancus E. Kerstens, will present a varied and enjoyable program. Several outstanding guests will also appear.

Four etres from Mauston High School, the Barber Shop Pour, will sing; a father and son duo, Edward Planck Sr. and Edward Planck, Jr., will present a piano duet. Mr. Planck, Sr., was an active member of the Glee club when he was in school here, while Edward Planck, Jr. is singing with the group now.

The Merrill Boys’ Glee club will also be featured, under the direction of James Cory, an alumnus of CSC and a member of the Merrill faculty. In addition, the Junior High School Glee club from Cronold will be present.

Central State’s own quartet, composed of Gordon Palbert, Robert Gilbert, Arlton Parkin, and Frank Wesley, will sing several numbers for the concert. The Glee club will be accompanied by Frank Weller and Ray Kratowsky, former Glee club members, who will be back to as-

Dr. Vonder Graft to Speak at Easter Assembly Tuesday

Dr. Jan V. Vonder Graft, minister of St. Paul’s Methodist church, will deliver an address when the regular Easter assembly is held in the auditorium at 10 o’clock, April 19, at 10 o’clock to sing in the auditorium at a regular assembly program. The students who sing are taken from light operettas such as “Alabama,” “Showboat,” and “Pub- lic School.”

These two delightful performers will be presented by the Hodger-Hammonter musical, “Oklaoma.” His success in the starring role of “Curly” led to leading roles in a series of Broadway musical shows.

June Brown, coloratura soprano, began her musical talent about age 11 in a church choir, and at 15 was driv-ing 50 miles to take singing lessons. The lessons paid off quickly, for she won a WLV radio contest in Cin-cinnati and that led to an appearance as solist with the Fort Wayne Symphony.

She soon came to Chicago for fur- ther vocal study. Both Mr. Cobb and Miss Ebright studied several years with the Chicago vocal instruc-

Popeck Announces Prom Committees

General chairman for the prom committee, Junior Prom, which will be held in the college auditorium on Saturday, May 17, is Rose Anna Knehans, the Junior class counselor. The committee appointees were announced last Friday by Jack Popeck, Junior class president.

The committee includes the following: Easter reading, the entire student body will then join in an Easter hymn, which will then be followed by the benediction.

Ever since the home economics students built their cottage, Miss Allen had made it her home there. This has helped to give them the feeling of ownership, which will be held in the college auditorium on Saturday, May 17, is Rose Anna Knehans, the Junior class counselor. FAMOUS FACES

As a logical sequence to last week's familiar face, that of All Long, we shall delve into the lives and times of a student and friend, Norma Mayer. Norma is a senior in the Junior Class, and the younger sister of Mrs. Martha Lee, Class of 1926. Norma was born on November 13, 1924, in Lima, Ohio. She attended high school there for two years and then transferred to Stevens Point for her final years. As a senior at P. J. Jacobs, Norma was awarded the first Business and Professional Women's scholarship, which consists of first semester fees at CSC.

The Mayer name is not a new one at the college. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mayer, parents of Norma, are well known to most of the students here. Mr. Mayer, teacher of English, has a distinguished record at the Fighting Panthers, his high school alma mater. Mrs. Mayer is a past president of the Women's Auxiliary and the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Lima, Ohio. The Mayer name is not only one of history, but also of fame. "Ode to Panthers" by William Clark

The following ode was written in the frenzy of a sports dilemma two weary spirits from Central Valley, Zink and Zink, is dedicated to the Panthers and all those who truly appreciate a good fight.

Fare Ye Well

Central State loses faces this year to two well-known and beloved faculty members, Miss Heavis May Allen and Miss Helen Wilson, who announced their resignations, effective at the end of the present school year.

They will be gone but not forgotten, and it will be for more than merly the loss of service that the people alike will remember them in the future. During their many years of teaching here at Central State, they have developed a deep and lasting affection for the students and the institution.

In these days of economic depression, the students of Central State are faced with a difficult decision. They must choose between continuing their education and seeking employment. The choice is not an easy one, and it is one that THEY must make.

However, in light of the current situation, it is important to recognize the contributions of William Clark, a member of Central Valley, who has dedicated his life to the college.

In conclusion, we wish the students of Central State success in their future endeavors, and we express our gratitude for the service of Miss Heavis May Allen and Miss Helen Wilson.

What Is Golf? Pleasant Picture
Presented by Prospective Player

By Tom Lund

A great many people regard golf as a game requiring unusual skill. years of practice, lack of money, or a type of patience bordering on the supernatural. If none of these requirements are lacking in a man or woman, he or she need only hire a caddy and start out. That's what people think. Actually there is much more involved in playing a game of golf than meets the average citizen's eye.

First of all, very few people ever hear the caddy shout "Fore!"
the plight of those million or more obese-timers who every Saturday afternoon plod the green highways for hours on end only to find themselves suddenly back in the ruts in a house of complete exhaustion, quitting all sorts of arts and hardening connections.

It isn't a pleasant picture, is it?
If golf isn't all that it's cracked up to be, then how does the average golf addict explain his glowing admiration of good sound sports? Probably the reason consists often in the game's healthfulness. Healthfulness.

Indeed! The hospitals and sanitariums are filled with men and women who thought golf was a healthful recreation, men and women with fractured skulls, sand-laden lungs, tender ligaments, and endotracheal stroking. (Perhaps we are thinking too lowly.) Others have played or been led into permanent, blurring insanity trying to get the ball out of a trap or log. And if we mention the word FORE it meant something to the average golfer, then it is also a quaint expression meaning: "gone or forever hold your peace;" and the novice considers it a necessary expression, or the only thing which he has to shout. "Fore!" every other shot or just as long as on the safe side.

Probably the greatest menace on the golf course are the players who say "Boy!" as golfers know him. As the old Professor observed, "It is the sound of a steel shaft cutting air, ascen-

Freshmen List Reasons For Attendance at CSC

Students of Central State have many reasons for choosing to attend this college. The reasons include the accessibility of the school to their homes and the reasonable financial cost. The school here is first and foremost according to freshmen who were questioned on reasons for coming here. This is not too surprising. For the fact that two thirds of the students enrolled here live in Portage county or one of the six counties which border the school.

Of the 299 students who wrote paragraphs entitled, “Reasons for Choosing Central State,” 116 mentioned the reasonable cost of an education at CSC. In the first two years of college, it is possible for college students to see the factors influencing students to enter the teaching profession which may assist them in their efforts to influence potential college students to enter the teaching field and to make this decision.

In 129 lists of the freshmen inquired that the “satisfied customer” is the best advertisement for the college. Many freshmen said that the Primary division had been highly praised and the good reputation of the Home Economics department was noted by 15 students. At least 15 students on campus are here because of the previously mentioned New Letters and Science division. They feel that they can receive here the academic training for pro-professional training by attending CSC for one or two years before going to a college or university further from home or because some have not yet decided what they intend to study. At least 18 freshmen feel that the first two years are comparable in any college to which they might eventually transfer.

Forty students chose CSC because it is a teacher college. Some like the friendly atmosphere of the school, the reputation of the faculty, the student faculty relationship and the fact that the college is a commuter college. (This is not too surprising.) Eighteen specified that they were coming because of a desire to teach.

In addition to her home economics degree, Miss Meeton has also taught English. She particularly enjoys English because of the reason she is interested in the subject, but it broadens her acquaintances with students outside the home economics department.

Mrs. Meeton is a member of the following organizations: the Council of Wisconsin Home Economics, in which she has been a member of the Council of Wisconsin Home Economics, in which she has been a member of the Central State Home Economics Association, the district, state, and national Home Economics associations. Delta, Kappa Delta, Gamma, honorary education society, and Sigma Zeta, honorary science society. She has been secretary of the Eastern Pennsylvania Home Economics club, where she was also the president of Delta, Kappa Delta. Mrs. Meeton is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Gamma Beta, social sorority, for eight years.

She is a member of the Polytechnic Society, holding the offices of president and state treasurer and has also been a member of the Business and Professional Women's club.
