

Bus Breaks Down Before Starting; But Trip to South Ends as a Success

A replacement part for the college bus had to be flown in from Chicago and almost kept the Winter Field trip from getting started on schedule. The part arrived at 9:30 the evening before departure and 15 passengers set off for the south, with an audible sigh of relief, on Saturday morning, December 20.

The group making the trip included 13 women, "Tex" Polzin, ('52) the driver, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Specht. Sally Scribner was the only campus student to make the trip. Most of the others were off-campus students taking the field trip course for extension credit. Most of them are teachers. Mr. Specht conducted the course, which carries three credits in geography.

Tour Cotton Belt

Saturday night was spent in Bloomington, Ill. and Sunday night in Cairo, Ill. at the juncture of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. The next day found the travelers in the cotton belt of the St. Francis Basin along the Mississippi where they saw the last of this season's cotton being picked. The route continued on through Memphis, Tenn. to Clarksville, Miss., another overnight stop. At Vicksburg, Miss. the superintendent of the National Military park lectured to the group, using an effective electric map he had devised to illustrate the story of the battlefield. He also toured the park with them pointing out the monuments of interest, especially Wisconsin's "Old Abe" now being renovated at our state's expense after having been struck by lightning.

The U. S. Waterway Experiment station, a federal engineering project also at Vicksburg, was another interesting study. Here working models of America's waterways are studied by experts for purposes of flood control.

Visit Natchez

Natchez, Miss. was the next stop. Here, a beautiful antebellum home, Stanton Hall, was visited. At Baton Rouge, La., the state capital with its beautiful formal gardens was seen.

New Orleans, the chief destination of the field trippers, was reached on the afternoon of Dec. 24. Three nights and two days were devoted to seeing the sights of the city and its environs. A Christmas dinner was eaten at Antoine's world famous restaurant, complete from Oysters ala Rockefeller to flaming crepe suzette. The students took a harbor cruise to the New Orleans harbor with its international dock facilities, toured the French quarter or "Vieux Carre" as it is more properly called, and visited the International Trade mart.

A former CSC teacher and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Loutz Gage visited with the group. The Gages, who now live in Dallas, Tex., were also in New Orleans for Christmas.

See Bellinrath Gardens

After New Orleans the next stop was at the lovely Bellinrath Gardens near Mobile, Ala. The group was greeted by Mr. Bellinrath, one of the founders of the Coca Cola company at his home. He invited them to see a movie of the gardens, with the film showing their beauty throughout the year. Camellias were in bloom at

"Hot Cement" Helps Library Progress

The new library has been progressing remarkably in spite of the zero weather Stevens Point is having. Nels R. Kampenga, head librarian, reports that although the CSC library was started there those at Platteville and River Falls, the local building has progressed much further. The factor favoring the school here is the ability to get heated cement from nearby Custer. This product cannot be obtained in Platteville or River Falls, so work has had to cease there.

The interior basement wall under the front two-story section has been completed, and now a floor is being laid over it. Contractors are pouring footings for the back section of the basement. The section above this will hold the stacks.

While contractors always give a completion date for a building, it is frequently not adhered to. However, it looks as if Hoepner-Bartlett Company of Eau Claire will have the building completed in the fall of '53 as previously announced.

the time of the visit, with the azaleas just beginning.

Mobile, Tuscaloosa and Birmingham (the steel center of the south) were the Alabama cities visited. Then came Chattanooga, Tenn. with a trip up Lookout mountain, from which vantage point seven states can be seen on a clear day. It was on Lookout mountain that the Battle of Chichamaqua took place.

Hermitage Visited

The Hermitage, Andrew Jackson's plantation home, near Nashville, Tenn. was paid a visit. Mammoth Cave was explored on the following day with movies of other national parks shown to the group at the Cave hotel in the evening.

Louisville, Ky. and New Year's Eve coincided. The New Year was celebrated by watching it arrive at Times Square, via television. While at Louisville, the Seagram's plant was toured. (No samples!)

The Palmer House at Chicago was the last stop. Here the group saw the Rose Bowl classic on television. In the evening, those who were not too exhausted saw either Katherine Cornell in "The Constant Wife" or Robert Young, Dane Clark and Nancy Kelly in "The Country Girl."

Home Jan. 2

A weary but happy group arrived home on Jan. 2, safe and sound. Everyone had a good time and in general, the weather was fine. Once all hands had to push the bus out of some "Mississippi mud," but nothing more serious waylaid the bus, which attracted favorable attention all along the way.

Sally Scribner says, "It was a tremendous trip. I'd do it again anytime."

Gimbel's Wisconsin Art Exhibit Here

Central State College students and residents of Stevens Point still have an opportunity to see the 1950 "Wisconsin at Work" Gimbel Art Collection in the College art room. The 18 canvas collection of paintings by outstanding Wisconsin artists will remain at the college through January 27. They may be viewed every day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Subjects of the paintings range from industrial to rural scenes, from still life to modern fantasy, all representing the various work-day activities of Wisconsin.

The first prize canvas, "Interval of Adjustment," was painted by Franklin Booga, artist in residence at Beloit college, and represents the impact of the machine age on Wisconsin farm lands. The second award was won by Alfred Sessler of the University of Wisconsin faculty, with his "Track Watchman," while Lester O. Schwartz, Ripon College artist in residence, received the third award for his "Fox Farm Fantasy."

Among other prominent Wisconsin artists represented in the collection are Joseph Friebe, Santos Zingale, John Wilde and Karl Pribe.

The group of paintings has been touring the state since its first showing at the 1950 Wisconsin State Fair, and has been seen by thousands of the state's residents throughout the year. "Wisconsin at Work" is part of a program sponsored by Gimbels, Milwaukee department store, to encourage Wisconsin artists and expand the audience for Wisconsin art.

Laubin's Indian Dances Next Assembly Program

What a terrific way to start the new year — of college assembly programs, that is — with the ancient American Indian ceremonial dances to be presented by Reginald and Gladys Laubin in the CSC auditorium at 8 p.m. on Thursday, February 5.

The Laubins' repertoire is one of authentic dances, songs, and music of the American Indian. The costumes used are beautiful as well as colorful. John Martin, the New York Times critic, wrote: "The costumes are gorgeous, making Scheherazade seem downright drab in color... the most rewarding dance performance of the season."

The Laubins appeared here during the 1951 summer session, and many who saw them perform then have expressed pleasure at the opportunity to see their colorful and exciting dances again.

Dr. Clifford Morrison Joins History Staff

Dr. Clifford A. Morrison of Put-in-Bay, Ohio, has accepted an appointment to the faculty of Central State college. As a member of the history department, Dr. Morrison will begin his duties here at the start of the second semester in the position temporarily filled by Mrs. Leila Tolo since the death of her husband, Dr. Harold M. Tolo on September 25.

The new instructor is a graduate of Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio, holding three degrees from that school. He received his PhD degree in 1950. He has also attended Denison university, Granville, Ohio.

Dr. Morrison taught for three years at Ohio State university as a graduate assistant. He served in the U. S. Army during World War II as a radio operator and as a photo intelligence sergeant.

Since June, 1951, he has been employed in the United States Air Force historical program at Wright Patterson Air Force base in Dayton, Ohio.

His academic work includes majors in history and social science and minors in German and mathematics. His dissertation for the PhD degree concerned "The Earl of Sandwich and the Failure of the British Naval Administration in the war of the American Revolution."

He is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history organization. Sigma Alpha Epsilon is his social fraternity.

Legislative Members At Faculty Dinner

A faculty dinner was given January 7 at the Training School at which six members of the Wisconsin state legislature and their wives were honored guests. The main purpose of the banquet was to acquaint the legislative members with Central State college. Legislators honored were Senator Oscar W. Neale, Stevens Point; Senator W. W. Clark, Vesper; Assemblyman Donald Relland, Wisconsin Rapids; Assemblyman John Kostuck, Stevens Point; Assemblyman Martin Lueck, Hamburg; and Assemblyman Fred Rust, Medford.

Speakers for the evening were President William C. Hansen and Senator Neale. Senator Clark introduced the special guests. A program consisting of solos by Mary Ann Smith, accompanied by Gloria Sukow, and songs by a quartet composed of Ruth Talmadge, Janice Grun, Joann Wysocik and Barbara Nelson added entertainment for the occasion.

Preceding the banquet there was a conference hour at which the administrative officers of the college and the legislative members discussed matters concerning prospective legislation at the 1953 session. Of particular interest was legislation which might affect higher education in the state of Wisconsin.

Helen Jones Chosen As a 4-H Delegate

More honors for award-winning Helen Jones of Friendship! Last week Helen received word that she had been chosen as one of the four delegates from Wisconsin to attend the National 4-H Camp in Washington, D. C., for three weeks in June.

Helen, a Sophomore in Rural, attended the Club Congress at Chicago for a week in December where she received the National Community Relations award.

Limerick Surprise; Lyness Takes Prize

A nervous young fellow named Hance, Once traveled abroad with his ance;
When he came home from France
He continued to dance
As if he had ance in his pance.

— A. S. L.

The above first prize limerick was thought up and written by Dr. Arthur S. Lyness, CSC's biology professor, who will receive the fantastic sum of $3 from the Pointer treasury.

The Pointer staff was well pleased with the turnout of 63 excellent limericks offered by the student body and the faculty. The selection of the three top limericks was a hard choice to make.

The staff chose for the second prize, ($2 in Pointer money) the following limerick written by Jim Skasko, a Freshman.

An Indian whose tribe was Sioux
With his maiden he wanted to coux.
With room for just toux
In his birch-bark canoe,
It was fun but dangerous to doux.

Who ever knew what genies there are at CSC? Jerry Bartosz, winning third place, (all of $1) came up with this brilliant little ditty —

A certain young man from Port Knox
Had particular delight in his stox!

'Tis sad to relate,
At this later date —

That now he is crushing stone rock.

The next four limericks received honorable mention. The Pointer staff enjoyed them and they hope you do, too.

Broke, but Happy, Rose Bowlers Return Home

"Snow and cold weather again, Ooh!" That was the statement on the lips of most of the 10 present and past CSC students when they returned from an eventful two car trip to Southern California and the 1953 Rose Bowl during the Christmas vacation period.

Interesting stories and varied accounts of happenings were not lacking with the group of experienced travelers, who braved a typical attack of northern weather as they drove through ice, snow, fog and slippery roads in most of Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

"Sea Daddy" in Ditch

The crew of "Sea Daddy" Bob Flint's car, Gene and Bob Paulson; Jim Mayek and Frank DeGuire sadly recount the cold, wet Friday night spent at the bottom of an icy hill on highway 151 west of Madison and the discomfort of sleeping in the chairs in the lobby of the Platteville Hotel.

From Oklahoma on it was clear sailing on the beautiful, wide, western highways. Monday morning, December 22, found the fellows taking in the scenery of Arizona's "big hole," the Grand Canyon. It was here that the two cars met for the first time on the trip. Jerry "Jelly" Jelinek and his crew, John Malow, Bob Ullsperger, Don Benz and Harry Zukowski arrived shortly before noon.

From there it was a stop at Hoover Dam, and then "On to Las Vegas." The night spent in the metropolis of the night clubs and gambling everywhere complained of sore right arms. Must have been from the battles with the one-armed bandits.

Ride in Death Valley

On Tuesday it was a ride through Death Valley, a couple of mountain ranges and into Los Angeles, the heart of Southern California. A little place overlooking the ocean on Laguna Beach was picked as headquarters and the next few days were spent doing nothing while getting rested up from the strenuous trip.

While awaiting the big day of Jan. 1, the boys visited a number of places of interest in and around Los Angeles, such as Hollywood, Santa

One day on a street in Racine

(Ed. note: We can think of no greater fate.)

The Pointer staff had great fun Reading 63 limericks — each wun.

It was pleasant to do
Hope you found it so, too.
And now our contest is dun.

Anita race track, Knott's Ghost Town and Tijuana, Mexico. (Details of this trip cannot be printed here. As for the racetrack, ask Flint about Top Turret in the sixth.)

Of course the big events were the Rose Bowl parade and game in Pasadena. The parade was probably the more outstanding of the two. The fellows arrived in Pasadena at approximately 4:30 a.m. after being the guests of the Miller Brewing Company at a New Year's Eve party in downtown Los Angeles. At that time the route of the parade was lined with spectators huddled in blankets or sleeping bags, or stretched out on a row of chairs or a folding cot. By the starting time of the parade, 9:15 a.m., over a million people had assembled to witness the event.

Parade "Fabulous"

The Rose Bowl Parade was something really fabulous. One has to see it to appreciate the full beauty and amount of work that it takes to put on such a show. It took two and one-half hours for the entire parade to pass and there were no large spaces between the units. Each of the 62 floats was covered with gorgeous flowers and beautiful girls. One of the rules of the parade is that not even a wire may be used unless it is covered with flowers or foliage of some type.

The other parts of the parade were bands, equestrian units, including Hopalong Cassidy and Wild Bill Hickok and Jingles, and flower bedecked automobiles carrying high officials.

Wisconsin Plays Well

While Wisconsin did not win the afternoon football game, the fans were treated to some outstanding football and interesting half time activities by the bands of the University of Wisconsin and the University of Southern California. The Rose Bowl is quite a place in itself and Don Benz got to see his 100,000 screaming fans.

It was a tired group of fellows that pulled into Stevens Point on Sunday, Jan. 4, but they were happy and well-satisfied with their experience.

Home Stand; Eau Claire And Stout First Foes

Eau Claire and Stout will try their luck against the Pointers when they bring their teams to the P. J. Jacobs gym on Thursday, January 17, and Saturday, January 19, respectively. It will be the first two games of a five-game home stand which will feature four conference games and one non-league tilt.

Eau Claire has yet to gain a win in conference play and sports a 2-6 overall record for the season, while Point has earned an over-all showing of eight wins and three losses and a 2-1 conference count. Eau Claire lost quite a few men from last year's mediocre squad and it is doubtful that they will pose a threat to the conference leaders this season.

Stout has played three loop contests thus far this year, winning one and dropping two. A below par 1-6 record is all they have to show for all games played by the Blue Devils thus far. In the three conference tilts Stout has played they have been far outscored by their opponents 188 to 219.

The Pointers will be out to avenge the defeat suffered at the hands of Oshkosh and would like nothing better than to take both Eau Claire and Stout to camp. Coach Quandt will probably start the five which has started the last few games. Those more likely to start are Ray Anderson and Dick Bechard at the guard posts, Les Thompson and Bob Bostad at forwards and Bob Blomley at the pivot.

Side Lines

by Jerry Baerenwald

A short, stout man with an overabundance of personality and basketball know-how seems to be the central figure in professional basketball circles these days. He is jovial Abe Saperstein, head mentor of the phenomenal Harlem Globetrotters. According to all indications the National Basketball association pro league is headed for a disastrous season as far as box office returns are concerned, and many league clubs are turning to "Abe" for advice as to how to curb their respective slumps.

If anyone is qualified to lift the Pro ranks from their financial doldrums it is certainly Mr. Saperstein. Building from almost nothing but an idea, to what now amounts to a multi-million dollar enterprise, the Trotters are enjoying exceptional success. Every engagement "Goose" Tatum and company plays is a complete sell-out. Crowds flock to Globetrotter games not only to see the Trotters clown around, making the game seem fantastically easy, but they also come to see an excellent brand of basketball which the Professionals in the N.B.A. can't seem to duplicate.

"Abe" has already offered some advice, stating that "players' salaries are too large in proportion to the clubs' income," and that "defense has fallen so far behind the offense that baskets come too cheap." Whether this or other advice that "Abe" may offer is the entire solution is questionable, but it is no sheltered fact that many a Pro coach would like to have the "Saperstein Touch" of drawing crowds.

It's a crime! Yes, it's a crime that Oshkosh has to be the only Wisconsin State conference school easily accessible to Pointer rooters. If the crowd that followed the Purple and Gold to the Titan's floor is any indication, Point fans could dominate the sidelines if distances weren't such a barrier. But as it is, Oshkosh will probably remain as the favorite haunt of traveling fans who like to see the Pointers on the road.

Roger Kuss of River Falls and Derrick Walker of Superior may be the class of the Wisconsin State conference, both with scoring averages hovering around 30 points per game, but their efforts seem meager indeed compared to one being compiled by six-foot nine-inch Clarence (Bevo) Francis of Little Rio Grande college. Thus far Francis has accumulated 903 points in 18 games for an average of 50 plus markers per game. In his latest outing he scored 47 field goals and 22 free throws for a total of 116 points as his team won its 18th straight game, 150-85. Needless to say, he set a new national scoring record.

No Bowling Tonight In College League

There will be no bowling tonight for teams participating in the college league because of the college varsity basketball game with Eau Claire. The next bowling session will be on Thursday, January 22.

Pointers Find Foes In Un-holiday Mood

Predictions were that the Pointers would face stubborn basketball competition over the holidays. How right those forecasts were! Of six games played during the past three weeks the Purple and Gold could manage to salvage only three of the skirmishes. Three of the contests were conference tests, the foes being Milwaukee, Whitewater, and Oshkosh. Non-league battles were staged again Lawrence, Ripon and St. Norbert.

On December 13, the Quandtmen journeyed to Milwaukee for their first league contest of the year. In what probably has been the most exciting game the Pointers have played thus far this year the locals staged an 18 point spurge in the final three minutes to wipe out a seven point deficit and win going away, 78-67. Heroes of the drama were many, including Jerry Boldig, Dick Bechard, Bob Bostad, in fact everyone who played sometime during the game, but the really outstanding player in the last "clutch" minutes was Erv Redding, who scored seven straight points in the waning minutes. High point-getter for the locals was Les Thompson with 17. Bob Bostad followed with 14, and Fred Schade-wald poured in 13 markers.

Whitewater Stopped

Whitewater furnished the next opposition for the Pointers on December 18, when they clashed in a loop contest on the P. J. Jacobs floor. The Quakers proved to be better than their poor record had indicated and gave the Purple and Gold a stiff battle before succumbing, 72-60. Bob Blomley grabbed game scoring honors by netting 19 points.

The following night, December 19, the Pointers played Lawrence on the Vikes' home court and tasted defeat for the first time this season. Up until then the locals had won six straight games, but the Midwest conference aggregation proved themselves far superior by squashing the Quandtmen, 76-58.

During the Christmas vacation, January 3 to be exact, the locals stepped into the Midwest conference once more and received their second trouncing in as many outings. A terrifically red-hot Ripon five plastered a 90-67 defeat on the Pointers. Coach Quandt's outfit played one of their better floor games but could not keep pace with Ned Lufrano and company.

Whip St. Norberts

On January 5, the Pointers regained their winning ways by whipping St. Norbert, 66-52 on the P. J. Jacobs floor. The game featured many fouls and few field goals as both teams sported low shooting percentages from the floor. Bob Blomley and Les Thompson both accounted for 13 points.

Then came Oshkosh! In a conference game played Saturday, January 10, at Oshkosh the locals met an unusually inspired and previously winless team which used its home-court advantage to the utmost to hand the Pointers its first conference loss, 78-73. Bob Blomley played a standout game, dumping in 26 points. Bob Bostad followed with a 23 point total.

Pointer Matmen Drop First Two Contests

CSC sport fans had their first chance to see Pointer wrestlers in action last Wednesday, January 7, as the local grapplers met Ripon in the Training School gym. It was the first match of its kind in the history of Central State and the Pointers made a very impressive showing before bowing to a well-trained Ripon aggregation, 19-13.

Probably the most exciting match of the evening was in the 157 pound go between the Point's Ronny Wislinsky and Ripon's Juel Lapevsky. After a lively first two rounds Ron pinned his man after seven minutes and eight seconds of the match had elapsed. Results of the entire match were as follows:

123 — Obara (R) decisioned McMahon (P), 3-1; 130 — Langton (P) won on forfeit, 5-0; 137 — Wong (R) decisioned Junior (P), 8-0; 147 — Bill Ihssen (R) pinned Seefeldt (P) in 5:11; Wislinsky (P) pinned Lapevsky (R) in 7:08; 167 — Peot (R) decisioned Hermann (P), 2-1; 177 — Hurlbut (P) decisioned Yukon (R), 8-3; Heavy — Ade Hansen (R) pinned Hunter (P) in 5:50.

Lose to Lawrence

In a match which featured two draws, CSC dropped their second contest of the season to a strong Lawrence eight, 20-12. The meet was staged on the Vike's home mat Saturday afternoon, January 10, before a packed house.

Bernie Junior at 137 and Ron Hunter, wrestling heavyweight, had to be satisfied with split decisions. Dave Hurlbut pinned his man for five points and Ron Wislinsky decisioned his man to round out Point's scoring.

Ralph Seefeldt forfeited his match when he received a cut on his eye after about one minute of his bout had elapsed. Doctors halted the match because of the injury and the bout was awarded to the Vikings.

The locals now have a two-week lay-off from formal competition, the time which can be devoted to further conditioning and toward preparation for the coming meet with Carroll. A meet with Milwaukee State which had previously been tentatively set for February 21 has since been canceled, leaving four matches yet to be played in this year's schedule.

January 31 Carroll — there — 7:30
February 10 — Ripon — there — 7:30
February 12 — Lawrence — here — 7:30
February 25 — Carroll — here — 7:30

LES THOMPSON

One of the standout players on this year's edition of the Pointers is

Thompson

Pointers, earning his first monogram last season.

Nineteen years old, Les is a sophomore in Letters and Science. The Wisconsin Valley conference town of Tomahawk is the site of his prep career, where he was nominated to the all-conference first team in his junior year and to the second team in his final year.

BOB BOSTAD

Another consistent starter on the local college five is sophomore Bob Bostad. A six foot, three inch forward,

Bostad

Bo also plays end on the defensive football squad. He has accounted for a goodly portion of the team's scoring thus far this year, a left-hand drive-in shot being his specialty. Bostad is a local product, playing his high school ball at P. J. Jacobs.

FRED SCHADEWALD

One of the "oldsters" on the squad is spectated Fred Schade-wald. A third year man,

Schade-wald

Fritz stands 6'2" and plays the forward position. Specializing in tip-in shots, Fritz is a two-year letterman. Fred did his prep- ping at the local high school where he played on the Panther varsity squad.

A math major, Fritz is in the second- ary division. He is twenty years old and lives in Point.

Six Unbeaten Teams Pacing Intramurals

Six teams, three in the National league and three in the American league, remain unbeaten in the college intramural basketball circles. National unbeatables are the Ghosts and Manglers, both with 3-0 records, and the Olympians with a 2-0 count. The Seven Day Wonders and the All-Stars remain the class of the American division with 3-0 marks, followed by the Ramblers with a 2-0 record.

American league games will be staged Tuesday, January 20, instead of tonight because of the varsity game.

Trip to Orphanage Proves Rewarding

By Peggy Figel

The recent Primary Council "Sparta project" was a great success. Christmas presents, purchased with money donated by CSC students and faculty, were wrapped and ready. On a crisp, bright Wednesday morning before vacation, a group of five people from our college, Dr. Quincy Doudna, Sharon Sutton, Beverly Ziebarth, Peggy Figel and Jean Sackbacher, left for Sparta to play Santa for a day to the children at the Wisconsin Child Center there. All five returned a bit sadder, a bit happier and with this to tell you:

We had filled the trunk of Dr. Doudna's car with box after box of brightly wrapped gifts, a large box of popcorn balls and some old Christmas cards. Peggy was clutching the money the primary grades at the Training school had given. We were on our way and all were feeling warm inside with anticipation of the happiness we were delivering. The car was filled with light-hearted chatter as we drove. (Dr. Doudna had a hard time competing with four women).

We arrived at the Wisconsin Child Center about 11:50 a.m. and found that Miss Mary Pfeiffer had arranged for us to eat dinner with them. We had a delicious dinner served by some of the older girls at the center. After dinner we toured the grounds. Our first stop was the cottage for boys from six to 14. It was an old brick home and was managed by an middle-aged couple, in order to give, as nearly as possible, a normal home life to the boys.

Visit Cottage

Next we visited the cottage for teen age girls. It was an old brick home but much statelier in appearance than the last. When we arrived, the girls were busy cleaning in every nook and cranny and we soon learned, from the two women who were in charge, that the next day was to be inspection. The girls had a large room which was well furnished with well-kept furniture. There was a big fireplace at one end of the room which made it feel very homey.

Our next stop was the school. We visited the manual training and home ec departments and were very much interested to note the comparatively young age at which the children began work in these fields.

It was now time to unload our precious cargo. We had no sooner begun to carry the boxes into the school than we were surrounded by small children who greeted us with a stream of chatter. They showed us their rooms, their desks, their Christmas tree and everything else they could think of. The words most important to them are the ones that tell of things they have, because they want so badly to feel security.

Present Program

The children of the primary and special room had been preparing a Christmas program to give for the workers and staff of the center so they invited us to see it. They were quite thrilled to have an audience and performed very well. When they had finished the program we gave them the popcorn balls we had brought and explained that the gifts were to be saved for their party on Monday.

After the program the children in the special room showed us the cookie batter they had made, an experience intended to give a background for reading with understanding, and Miss Pfeiffer asked one small boy what they had put in their cookies. He said "Injum." She asked him to show us and he picked up the can of Calumet baking powder with the Indian head on it. (The special room is for the emotionally disturbed and mentally retarded children.)

The children had already started receiving cards from some people in our college and were just as thrilled as they could be to receive — "a letter all my own; the mail man brought it and it had my name on it and —" When we said we had to leave, all the older children wanted our names and addresses so they could write to us and we all had to promise to write to them. We looked back as we drove away and the children were still standing where the car had been, waving, each with a smile on his face. It was a long while before any of us said a word. I know that I was not the only one with a tear, in my eye and a big lump in my throat.

Primary Council members and Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, adviser, wish to give their thanks for the generous help from the following people and organizations: Psi Beta Psi, for a $10 gift, Home Economics Club for a $10 gift and a donation of popcorn balls. Dr. Quincy Doudna for so graciously giving his time to take us and our gifts to Sparta, and to the entire college for their contributions and Christmas cards.

★ ★ Around the Circuit ★ ★

Hi! Here we are again. We're back on the circuit with LAST YEAR's news from around the state college campuses.

Just to get the new year off to a right start, we'd like to quote this little story from the column entitled "Mix-Master," as taken from the Oshkosh Advance: "Students go to college 14 days out of every year, according to the Southeastern, at Southeastern State College, Okla. Here's how the paper figures it: Out of 365 days a student sleeps a third of this — eight hours a day. This leaves 243 days. Then there are 52 Sundays. Take at least half an hour per day off for lunch and three months for summer vacation. This leaves 91 days. Now subtract 52 Saturdays and a couple of weeks for Christmas vacation; throw in spring vacation and the Thanksgiving weekend. We're left with two weeks of school each year." Oh me, but we're tired of school!

Just to show you unbelieving souls that you never know what you will find in a school paper office, we'd like to list the things recently discovered in the editor's desk of the Exponent at Platteville. There was information on several foreign countries, a copy of an insurance policy (three weeks overdue), a slightly used box of salted crackers and some remains of something that looked like Swiss cheese, and, of all things, a mouse named Henrietta. It seems that Henrietta and Mr. Moon had been living in the drawer for many happy years, until they were disturbed. Unbelievable? — just ask Ripley!

The students at Whitewater have chosen an appropriate date to hold their junior prom, February 14, and the theme "Frozen Fantasy" is very catchy.

A group of students from Eau Claire recently had the good luck to travel to Chicago for a week. While there they saw five major Broadway productions, and took tours and visits to Chicago's museums and education buildings.

Inquiring Reporter Asks:

What's Wrong With the Other Sex?

It's been said that there's always room for improvement. Just to support this statement the inquiring reporter asked CSC girls what was wrong with CSC boys and vice versa. Here are the varied remarks:

Don Herrmann, "Nothing, nothing at all."

Felisa Borja, "Boys make girls feel like wall-flowers at dances."

Alice Allen, "They're too stubborn!"

Jim Mayer, "No comment."

Rose Marie Christoffersen, "They're nice to look at."

Harold Zukoski, "They're all right."

Gloria Suckow, "Lots of things!"

Tom Wirkus, "Not a thing!"

Rhody Marquard, "I'm speechless."

Psi Beta Psi Holds Afternoon Tea Party

Delzell Hall was the scene of the Psi Beta Psi tea which was held from 3 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, January 11, in the student lounge there.

The decoration scheme was "angelic." Little angel candles floated on fluffy clouds on the main table and other smaller ones, and light blue tapers on a white linen cloth, newly-purchased by the sorority, completed the "heavenly" theme.

Those pouring were Mrs. John McComb and Mrs. Burdette Eagon, patronesses, Miss Jessima Keyser, adviser, and Mrs. Raymond Specht, patroness.

Bonnie Kalepp was in charge of the guest book, and Nancy Pautz, president, Vivian Hofman, vice president, Arline Meister, corresponding secretary, Winnifred Pierre, and Kathryn Allen, historian, made up the reception line.

The many guests that attended the tea were entertained by Radine McIntee who sang "I'll String Along with You," and a dance interpretation of "The Souvenir" by Penny Bullock and Dolores McLees, who were dressed in angelic costumes of peach and green, respectively, the sorority colors.

The committees for the tea were as follows: Decorations, Bonnie Kalepp, chairman, Helen Isbener, Marlene Zastrow, Penny Bullock, Vivian Schultz; food, Janice Thurston, chairman, Dolores McLees, Mary Ann Panke, Caryl Edmund; clean-up, Winnifred Pierre, Radine McIntee and Beverly Guzman; publicity, Vivian Hofman, Nancy Pautz and Beverly Ziebarth; and invitations, Bernadelle Polivka.

Persons not wishing to be involved in the battle of the battle of the sexes made comments such as: "Teach them to dance." They're too giddy," and "They should get the lead out of their shoes."

Maybe we should initiate a new course here at CSC called, "How to Get Along with the Opposite Sex." Who was it that said women are never satisfied?

Christoffersen, Buggs Take WRA Tourneys

Rose Marie Christoffersen and Myra Buggs captured first places in WRA's recent badminton and ping-pong tournaments. Miss Christoffersen proved to be the best at ping-pong, with La Nore Stertz taking consolation honors. Miss Buggs was the top badminton player and Mary Bartlett won the consolation.

Psi Beta's Elect New Officers For Semester

Election news in the air: This time it's Psi Beta Psi who held their collection of ballots Tuesday, January 6. Elected were Vivian Schultz, president; Dorothy Gerner, vice-president; Marlene Zastrow, recording secretary; Delores McLees, corresponding secretary; Helen Isbener, treasurer; Janice Thurston, assistant secretary; Winnifred Pierre, historian; and Nancy Pautz, member-at-large.

There was a fine teacher named May, Who went for some fishing and play. She caught one ker-smack, But fell flat on her back! 'Twas her first and last catch, by the way.
