

Three Famous Stage Productions Slated By Internationally Known Dramatic Group

Central State College will be fortunate to have the famed and distinguished Dublin Players present three stage productions — "Pygmalion," "Playboy of the Western World," and "Shadow and Substance" in the college auditorium this spring. Shaw's "Pygmalion" will be given on Monday evening, May 3, Sygne's "Playboy of the Western World" on Tuesday evening, May 4, and Carroll's "Shadow and Substance" on Wednesday evening, May 5.

The Dublin Players have made many tours in Ireland, England, Europe, and America and have pleased their audiences wherever they have played. Their director and founder is the very capable and distinguished leading Irish actor who has "been the pivot of Dublin's theatre, for years," Ronald Ibbes.

He is especially famous for his excellent portrayals in Shakespearean roles, in Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple," in "Pygmalion" and in "Shadow and Substance." Besides an actor, he is a star of radio and TV. Many times he has teamed up with his wife, Maureen Halligan, and together they have become Ireland's leading actor-actress team.

The Ibbes have gathered the best performers from their touring companies to tour America. Their cast consists of well known and lovable characters of the Irish stage as Anna Eldsen, James Kenny, Gervaise Mathews, Phyllis Ryan and Harry Webster.

Each student of the college will have a chance to see one of these three outstanding plays and will be given a ticket for whichever play he chooses. Robert S. Lewis is making arrangements for these student tickets, which will be issued upon presentation of the student activity tickets at a time to be announced by Mr. Lewis. If any student desires to attend more than one play he may purchase additional tickets for one dollar each.

These plays are also open to the general public. Anyone wishing to secure tickets may send his orders to Mr. Lewis or Miss Cecilia Winkler at the college. General admission price is one dollar, while tickets for a reserve seat area will be $1.50. Already 21 tickets have been ordered by Wisconsin Rapids High school and it is expected that many other schools will do the same.

Student members of the sales and promotion committees are Marge Gerhard and Larry Cook respectively, while Dr. Alf W. Harter and Henry M. Runke have charge of general promotion.

The Dublin players are being brought to Stevens Point through the efforts of the Assembly committee.

Results Of Korean Student "Show" Good

Ed Jacobsen, president of the Student Council, has announced that the prospects are favorable that Miss Wha Shim Han, a Korean student, will be attending Central State college next year, as a "guest" of the students and faculty.

In a campaign for funds conducted at the college last week, $250 was collected from students and faculty members. As 50 cents was asked from each contributor, the amount collected indicates that 500 persons responded. Jacobsen reported that several business firms have called the college to offer contributions, and that many letters and checks are coming in from individual townspeople. Letters to service groups and business establishments asking for pledges were mailed out a week ago today. The Student Council hopes to reach its goal of $500.

The College Eat shop donated the gross receipts from coffee and soft drinks consumed during the popular hours for these beverages, excluding meal time, on the days of the campaign.

Like An Easy "Buck"? Conservation Contest For All CSC Students

How about putting an extra 10 bucks in your wallet? All you have to do is load your fountain pens and write on the topic of "What Conservation Means To Me." The Alpha Kappa Lambda conservation fraternity is sponsoring a contest with a $10 prize for the best essay on conservation.

Follow these easy directions to that money. Put your name on a slip of paper and submit it to the conservation office if you intend to try for that prize winning essay. Then write in 60 words or less on the subject of "What Conservation Means To Me." The contest will last until April 8, at which time all essays must be turned in at the conservation office. All students in college except AKL members and conservation majors and minors, are eligible to enter. The essays will be judged on "clearness, expression and thought."

AKL's purpose in sponsoring this award is obvious. They wish to promote an awareness of the necessity for conserving our natural resources. Light and knowledge must be brought to bear on the subject of soil control, reforestation, wildlife management and many other resources so they will not be needlessly squandered. The people in every walk of life must realize the significance of good sound conservation principles. AKL believes that this contest is one of the steps that will bring us closer to our goal of good conservation, understood and backed by all the people.

Ralph Sluis, Featured In LIFE, Returns From The Sea To CSC

Ensign Ralph "Mick" Sluis and his wife Betty, with a rank of Sergeant, found that even married couples have to live in the caste system which exists between officers and enlisted personnel. Their story was a feature and cover picture for LIFE magazine on March 19, 1951. Now that they are both out of the Navy, Mick is back at Central State finishing out his education, and everybody is on an equal basis.

Mick and Betty were both stationed at the Naval Air Station in Jacksonville, Fla., at the time the story was written. It all began when LIFE magazine called to see if there was anything of special news interest going on at the Station which could be used as a feature article in the magazine. Then the fun began.

Mick says, "The man who took the cover picture was so fussy that we sat in exactly the same pose, turning only our heads or changing our expressions, for three hours while the photographer took 95 different shots." Naturally, the Sluises were thrilled about being "front cover material," although they both agree they wouldn't like a steady diet of it.

The next weekend the photographer came back to take a picture of a reporter to assist him, and they put Betty and Mick onto a "lost weekend" of beach parties, movies, shopping, dances and breakfasts in bed, while everywhere they went the photographer and reporter with their equipment went too. Mick laughingly spoke of the movies they attended. "We didn't see much of them, because the photographer kept jumping up and shooting off his flash bulbs. The people around us were really confused."

Mick met Betty in April (eventing in a swimming pool, at that) and in August they were married in the Chapel at the Station. Betty's captain gave her away. They were together for nine days and then Mick took off on a cruise of the Mediterranean and was gone for five months.

In September of 1946, Mick joined the Navy, immediately after he graduated from high school. The Navy then sent him to school here at CSC for two years and then he went into navy flight training. He was stationed at Pensacola, Fla., for over a year and then he took advanced flight training at a base in Texas. With his discharge from the Navy this year, Ralph came back to Central State for the remaining two years of his education. His majors are English and French. When asked if he liked school he said, "Well, I was sort of worried about whether I could get back to studying again, but I guess I'm doing okay. I have a little more reason to work hard now than when I was just out of high school."

When asked if he had any hobbies, he grinned and said, "By the time I play with Becky and Gus (the dog) and do my school work, there isn't much time left for hobbies."

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Mick plays both mother and father to Becky, who is one year old, while Betty holds down a part time job as receptionist at the Laurel Motel. (Note to instructors: Mick suggests no homework on those nights.)

Miss Roach Honored As "Great Teacher"

Miss May Roach, associate director of rural education at Central State college, was upheld to 4,500 colleagues as a living example of a great teacher when she was speaker at a conference of the Southern Wisconsin Education association held in Madison on Friday, February 19.

The story was covered by a staff writer in the Madison State Journal and was as follows:

Miss Roach spoke to the younger teachers and shared with them the wisdom of her nearly one-half century in Wisconsin schools.

"The most important thing is not how you teach reading or how you handle social studies or whether you use a circle or a square," she said. "All those things are important. But the most important thing is knowing this:

"When a human being is born, he comes onto earth as a little bundle of abilities that have to be developed—and so much depends on how we teach to develop those God-given abilities!

"The world is looking here to America. America must look to the children. And the children are what we dedicate them to be. If they are selfish, it's because we let them be. We teachers must build fires under our pupils!"

For 47 years, Miss Roach, has taught in Wisconsin schools.

Dean George Walter of Lawrence college, who spoke at the conference, singled Miss Roach out as a symbol of the true teacher who has spent a lifetime "giving of herself in service to other people and to our Creator."

On Friday afternoon she addressed several hundred teachers at a sectional meeting on the intermediate grades. She told "What Education in Wisconsin Has Meant To Me."

She emphasized her points with anecdotes and quick vivid gestures. She spoke with a radiant love of her students and her profession.

Some of her observations were as follows:

"I feel 50 per cent of the native ability our Lord sends onto the earth is never developed."

"I want to say to each class: 'Boys and girls, you have come here bringing something God has given you — your job is to develop that native ability. The school and teacher are here only to help you do that!'"

Isaacson Announces Two Summer Aud. Show Titles

Miss Pauline Isaacson has announced that "The Theatre of Mr. Poe" and "Three Artists" are the titles of two of the evening assembly programs to be presented at the college this summer.

Directed by Paul Shyre, a veteran director of various stock-company productions across the country, "The Theatre of Mr. Poe" was judged an "engrossing and stimulating experience" by Variety, theatrical trade paper. A company of four, including three Broadway actors, will endeavor to portray the humor and pathos of Poe as expressed in such of his works as: "Dr. Tarr and Professor Fether," "The Sphinx," "The Cask of Amontillado;" and "Annabel Lee," as well as many others of Poe's works.

"The Three Artists" is a rather unique program, combining the talents of Daniel Nagrin, a dancer, Ronald Gould, a drummer and David Shapiro, a pianist. These three artists present in solo, duet and trio a rich variety of original dance portraits, rarely heard French compositions for drums and piano, and several full ensemble works especially created for the tour.

In addition to these two evening programs, a morning program featuring Marion Perkins, pianist, has been planned. Miss Perkins has performed both in Europe and the United States, and has met with the highest critical acclaim. A newspaper in Germany described her performance as "an unforgettablely beautiful, lofty evening." In our own country she has been spoken of as "one of today's rarely daring pianistic gifts."

Whiting Hotel Is Scene Of Senior Ball

Large silhouettes of dancing figures, glittering hearts and engagement rings and huge crepe paper "orchids," provided the setting for "Sweethearts on Parade" Senior Ball held on Friday, February 26, at Hotel Whiting.

Exchange Teacher Tells Of Norse School System

Sports do not take the prominent place in the schools of Norway that they do in the American schools and there is no such thing as a pep assembly there. "However, I cannot say that I do not enjoy the pep and enthusiasm shown here."

An audience which gathered at Central State college Monday night, February 22, was told this by Dagfinn Westberg, a Wausau exchange teacher from Norway, who described the school system in his native country.

In Norway, only seven years of elementary education is required, he said. After that, a higher education is the choice of the student, as high school is not essential. In describing the other schools, a student may choose after completing seven years of elementary education, the speaker said he may then go directly into a continuation school, a trade and business school or a vocational school or he may go to high school after which a college or university education is open to him. In rare cases, a student may be eligible, after an examination, to go into an engineering college without a high school education.

In explaining the methods of teaching, Mr. Westberg said that students taking the same course remain in the same room and the teachers for the different classes "come to the students instead of as here, the students go to the teachers."

Christian knowledge is included in the Norway school curriculum. In explaining this during a question and answer period after his talk, Mr. Westberg said that there is a state-church system there, as 98 per cent of the population is Lutheran. If the students belong to another church, they have full freedom of remaining away from the religious instructions in-school.

The speaker was introduced by Margie Gearhard. His hosts during the afternoon was Nancy Monson, Wausau. Mr. Westberg was entertained at dinner at Nelson hall where other guests were President William C. Hansen, Miss Cecelia Winkler, Miss Monson, Miss Gearhard, Ray Cook, Larry Cook and Miss Pauline Isaacson. After his talk, Ray Cook took him to Wausau.

Monday night's program was one of a series sponsored by the college assembly committee of which Miss Isaacson is chairman.

IF

(With apologies to Kipling)

If you can fool your prof without his knowing
That you are shooting him a line of bull.
And, while this bull from you is freely flowing,
By degrees you get with him a pull;
If you can force yourself by mighty effort
To laugh when he dispenses his stale jokes
And, when all your fellow students miss a question,
You read the answer calmly from your notes.
If you can fill the unforgetting hour
With fifty minutes worth of spoofing done,
Yours is the course, and three hours credit with it,
And, what is more, you'll make an A, my son!

RALPH SLUIS AND HIS WIFE, Betty, are shown here in the old and the new. In December of 1951, Mr. and Mrs. Sluis were subjects of a feature story and a cover picture for LIFE magazine. They were then stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., and were featured as a service couple. Ralph now attends Central State, and his wife stays home to take care of their baby, Becky, and their dog, Gus.

Gulls Tip Pointers With Torrid Shooting Johnson, Koepke Star Again For CSC

The Green Gulls from Milwaukee were just a little bit too much for CSC as they dropped the Pointers 82-42 in a game played at Milwaukee on Saturday, February 20.

Point was very much in the game during the first 15 minutes due largely to the 11-point effort of Bob Johnson in the first quarter. Milwaukee jumped off to an early 11-4 lead, but Point rallied on two baskets by Johnson and one each by Koepke and Wieman to take their only lead of the game 13-12.

Koepke played his usual outstanding game on the boards. Johnson was the Pointer's leading scorer with 16 points, followed closely by Wieman, Koepke and Roloff with 12, 11 and 10 points respectively.

The Pointers enjoyed their biggest scoring spree in the third quarter, scoring 20 points, but so did Milwaukee which shot about 80 per cent to scorch the nets with 29 points, taking a 67-44 lead at the end of the third quarter.

CSC outscored the winners in the last quarter as both teams used reserves much of the time.

Pointer Wrestling Team Bows To Wisconsin JV's

Central State wrestlers dropped their second match in six starts, 18-12, to an undefeated Wisconsin Junior varsity squad before a large crowd here in the college gymnasium on February 16.

The Pointers performed creditably against a very tough opposition although they were without the services of their ace wrestler, Dave Hurlbut, who was unable to compete. John Langton, CSC's 130 pounder performed well in shutting out his opponent for a 9-0 decision. In the 147 pound class Bernie Junior did an excellent job in pinning his opponent early in the final round.

Probably the most evenly matched bouts were Ralph Seefeldt's and John Boyne's, which both ended in draws.

The Pointers lost the first match as CSC's Terry McMahon was pinned midway in the second round. Don Smith put up a swell battle but lost to his taller opponent by a 6-0 score. Dave Jersey, substituting for Hurlbut in the 177-pound class, fought a defensive battle and lost by a deci-

Hosted by Kappa chapter of Stevens Point, teams from Stout, DeKalb, Milwaukee and Whitewater participated. Games were held Saturday morning and afternoon in the college gym, with the championship and consolation finals held in the Training school gym at night.

The first round found the locals winning from Whitewater, 76 to 40. Milwaukee put up a good fight, before bowing to Stout, 42 to 44 in the second game. The second round in the afternoon saw the beginning of the consolation series as Whitewater defeated Milwaukee 37 to 27. DeKalb, which had drawn a first round bye, put up the most hotly contested battle of the tourney before Point nosed them 45 to 43.

The consolation championship saw DeKalb trounce Whitewater 63 to 21. The final game saw Kappa chapter walk off with the laurels of their own tourney as the result of a 79 to 41 championship conquest of Stout.

Leading scorer for the contest was Point's own Don Kott with 60 points in three games. He was followed by teammates Ray Anderson with 38 points and Bill Schroeder with 36. Leading scorers for the opposition were Bob Sharkey and Jim Oths of Stout with 26 and 28 points respectively. Jack-Onsager of Whitewater with 24 points and Bob Rivera of DeKalb, with 20 points followed.

Following the presentation of the travelling trophy to the Kappa chapter, the participants were guests at a party sponsored by the local group. A breakfast at the College Eat Shop Sunday morning wound up activities of the tourney.

Ralph Seefeldt, CSC's 157 pound Sophomore wrestling star, is due to report for induction at Milwaukee. Ralph left school today after having been the guest of honor at a party given for him at Delzell Hall last night.

Gene Sodersten, former CSC basketball player, reported to the New York Giants' baseball spring training camp recently. Gene entered the service after completing one semester here at Central State two years ago.

A large group of fans followed the Pointers to Oshkosh Monday night, March 1, to watch their team battle the Titans in the final game of the season. The Quadt-men may not be a title contender this season but the turnout of fans has been exceptional all season long.

One of the classic stories about payment of college football players concerns the star halfback who asked his coach for $500 to go to a movie.

"Why do you need $500 to go to a movie?" the coach asked. "It's a drive-in," explained the player, "and I haven't got a car."

Point Cagers Topped By Pennant Hungry Pioneers

Pointer fans got an eye-ful of some outstanding shooting as a red-hot Platteville team bumped the Central Staters 76-54 on February 17. The game was played on the P. J. Jacobs floor, and was the second loss of the season for the Pointers to the Pioneers from downstate.

It was the fifth defeat in nine conference outings and ended a four game conference win streak. The pennant bound Pioneers have won 10 and lost 1 in conference play for at least a share of the title.

The first quarter was nip and tuck and the score was tied five times and the lead changed hands on as many occasions during the first period. At the start of the second period Ken Roloff hit on two long ones and Point had a 18-14 lead when the beginning of the end came. The Pointers failed to hit another one from the floor in that period while Platteville caught fire and their 19 straight points were only interrupted by Fritz Schadewald's three free throws with the half ending 33-21, Point down.

This was an outstanding Pioneer ball club. Their shooting was far above average and their ball handling and team play left little to be desired. Ernie Vogler, who has been a thorn in the Pointers' side for several seasons now hit 20 points and was helped by Royce Reeves with 17. All five starters of the Platteville club hit 10 points or better.

Ken Roloff played himself a nice ball game, hitting for 18 markers

CSC Grapplers Top Gulls At Milwaukee

The Pointer wrestling team was at top form as they soundly trounced highly rated Milwaukee, 26-8, on the Green Gulls' home grounds February 20.

The match, which was the fifth victory in seven attempts for Coach John Roberts' boys, was climaxed by three straight pins in the heavier weights by John Boyne and Ken and Dave Hurlbut. This turned the match into a rout after Bernie Junior's pin and the decision by Johnny Langton and Fred Bohm had given the local squad a slight 11-8 advantage.

In the opening bout, Terry McMahon was pinned halfway through the final round, but Langton put the Pointers into the scoring column with a hard earned 2-0 decision in the 130 pound class.

Roberts' grapplers then forged ahead when Fred Bohm scored a lopsided decision and Bernie Junior turned a reversal into a pin midway in the second round of his 147 pound bout. Ralph Seefeldt ran into more than he could handle and was shut out in the 157 weight.

The stage was then set for turning the victory into a rout and Boyne promptly proceeded to pin his 167 pound foe in two minutes of the first round. Dave Hurlbut then followed with his twelfth straight collegiate win when he pinned his man with one second remaining in the first round of the 176 pound encounter.

After being behind in the first round, Ken Hurlbut, the CSC heavy-weight, reversed his huge 6'4", 240 pound foe and pinned him with a little more than a minute gone in the second round to complete the victory.

The CSC squad will finish their season's schedule March 2; when they travel to Decorah, Iowa, where they will meet a fine Luther College wrestling team.

and being credited with three assists well as many rebounds and recoveries. He got most of his support from Bob Johnson, Orv Koepke and Chuck Neinas. These four Pointers hit for 49 of the 54 points that the Quadtmen collected. If these four could have spread out their consistency in shooting the game might have been a little different in color.

Pointers Bow To Quakers In Last Home Contest

A 28-point final period by the Quakers shot to pieces the Pointers third quarter lead of 10 points at P. J. Jacobs, Saturday February 27, and dealt them their tenth defeat against nine wins for the campaign and their seventh of 11 Wisconsin State College conference outings. CSC had disposed of Whitewater, 62-57, in a January battle on the road.

Loss of Bob Johnson and Orv Koepke for portions of the battle and the eventual ejection of both on personal fouls in the last four minutes had a bearing on the outcome of the game. Koepke and Johnson, in addition to scoring half the points, did most of the rebounding. However, the Pointers in general lacked the spark it has shown at times this year and also had extreme difficulty with its shooting eye.

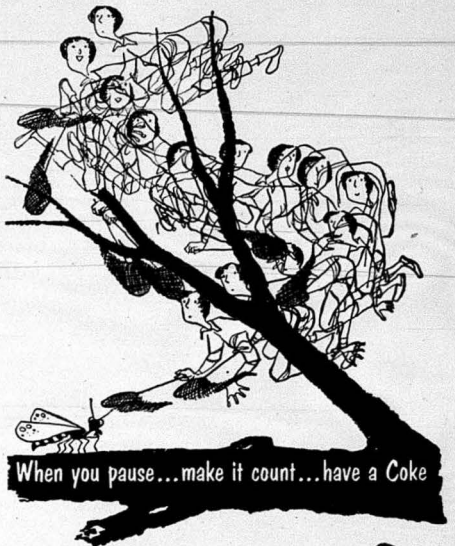

The first half was a see-saw affair and the lead changed hands seven times before the Pointers took a 32-23 advantage at the intermission. The Pointers steamed ahead to leads of 41-31 and 42-32 by the time the second half was five minutes old but then the Quakers took over and doubled the Pointer effort the rest of the way.

Daniels, Quaker forward, converted 13 of 18 free throws and added five field goals for a game-high 23 points.

Orv Koepke was high point man for the Pointers with 16 points followed by Bob Johnson with 15 points.

BERNIE JUNIOR of Central State is shown about one second before the end for Ralph Neale, University of Wisconsin Junior varsity 147 pound wrestler, who is in the process of being pinned. The finish came at 6:55 of the Junior-dominated scrap and gave the Pointers an 8-5 tie, but the Jayvees went on to win, 18-12.

A Rainy Day

By Homer Plumb

Out of the black nothingness I heard the soft sweet roll of a muffled drum. It was the rain gently beating against my window. I pulled the covers up around my neck, and thought to myself, "What a wonderful day to stay in bed." I rolled over and peered at my watch. Good heavens! I was late for my 8:15.

I quickly dressed, put on my rain coat, and hurried toward the campus. When I reached the front walk, I stopped dead in my tracks. I rubbed my eyes, but the sight that I beheld did not disappear. I found myself standing in a huge wooded lot on the outskirts of town. The college stood directly in front of me, but its east and west wings had disappeared! Not only that, but at least six blocks of the residential district had vanished with them. Where was Nelson Hall, the Training school, the new library, St. Stan's and the hospital? Great jupiter, have I lost my mind, I thought.

The rain was coming down faster now, and I hurried toward the college. I opened the large white door, walked into the main hall, and shook the rain from my hair. Gas lamps seemed to flicker and glow everywhere I turned, but the weird dimly lighted halls and rooms were deserted. As I moved cautiously on down the hall, the echo of my own footsteps sent a shiver up my spine. I turned the corner and walked into the Pointer office. The newspaper articles were all typed up and ready to go to press. I sat down in the editor's chair and began to read them. I read the first column and my eyes bulged from their sockets. Good Lord, I must be crazy. It just couldn't be true!

The editorial started out as follows: "Will President Cleveland's special commission to Venezuela avert war with England?" I thought to myself, "I sure hope so, because Russia would like nothing better than to have us fighting with one of our allies, especially so close after this Korean police action."

I skipped over to the sports page and began reading. "Purple and Gold winds up successful football season with upset over Lawrence University." The scores for the season followed. Point 46 . . . Green Bay 0; Point 8 . . . Appleton 0; Point 20 . . . Eau Claire 0; Point 0 . . . Whitewater 10; Point 24 . . . Lawrence University 12.

It seems that the coach would like more boys to volunteer for the gridiron next year because "it has been discovered that football develops muscles that are found only in an undeveloped embryo."

The advertisements in the "Pointer" caught my eye next. "For careful drivers and First-class rigs, it's the City Livery Stable. R. B. Finch, Proprietor." For heaven's sake! Did the Vet Cab Co. change their name? This is getting more mixed up by the minute. I thought, "What's this? Our college debaters won their fifth straight contest in the arena upstairs." Well what do you know! Bully for them.

Just as I suspected, this is an outrage! "President Pray announced today that those attending our college and not planning on entering the teaching field will have to start paying a forty cent per week tuition fee," the Pointer said. I think our college president has gone too far this time! I'll get Ed Jacobson to write a letter of protest. I mused.

Hmm, it seems as though we have a budding genius on our faculty. "Prof. Sylvester (not Walt) is measuring the posture of the students here in the college to see if their posture affects their mental capacity. He has great expectations that his experiment will produce some startling new facts. "Well! This is the last straw. I'm getting out of here before I really crack up. Maybe our football captain "is planning on going to the Olympic games to be held in Athens," but if I don't get out of here now I'll be planning on going to the nuthouse on Lake Mendota.

I put on my raincoat and dashed out of the Pointer office. As I passed by the main bulletin board I noticed the school calendar. Its title read "State Normal School, Stevens Point, Wisc., December, 1895".

Whew! What a relief. No wonder everything's so crazy around here.

College Students At La Crosse Play Day

Several Central State college students, accompanied by their adviser, Miss Jessiemae Keyser, were in La Crosse on Saturday, February 27, to participate in play day activities arranged for students of state colleges.

Making the trip with Miss Keyser were June Brunner, Marge Smith, Pat Sroda, Margaret Christ, Mary Bartelt and Virjean Drexler.

The all-day activities included basketball, volleyball, general activities period, skits, stunts, Apache relay, swimming demonstration and free swimming.

Today is Saturday, and everyone knows that there is no school on Saturdays.

CENTRAL STATE STUDENTS who donated their 50c to the campaign to bring Wha Shm Han to CSC next fall, are shown here at the big benefit dance held at Delzell Union. The 20 piece swing band played and everybody had "real fun." Were you there?

AN EXTRA SNOWSCOOPER had to get out and get to "Workin'" as the unseasonal (at least according to the kind of weather we have been having) snowfall of almost five inches piled up around Central State. It does look sort of nice though, doesn't it?
