Welcome, CSC Graduates

Mr. Specht Publishes Article on Taconite

Central State College

Greetings, fellow alumni!
We're pleased to have you back on the campus for some of our Homecoming activities—the football game, the parade, the dance, the receptions and dinners, and the concert on Sunday afternoon. Our college is rolling along in good shape this weekend.
"The Mining of Taconite, Lake Superior Iron Mining District, Mr. Specht’s collaborator on the issue was Clyde F. Kohn of State University of Iowa.
Dr. Kohn was Mr. Specht’s advisor at Northeastern University while he attended that school on a leave of absence from CSC during the 1956-57 school year. Mr. Specht submitted the paper to Dr. Kohn as an independent study. Dr. Kohn edited it and sent it to the Geographical Review, which is published by the American Geographical Society.
Taconite is a low grade of iron ore which has caused it to become a current issue in the state especially in the Butternut area where a plant site is being proposed. Taconite is found in northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.
Last Easter vacation Mr. Specht did research in the Mesabi area and photographed the numerous plant and mine sites. Some of the maps that he made and samples of the ore and finished pellets of ore are on display on the second floor in the display case outside of office 258.

Mr. Goodman, Man of Many Talents

Mr. Goodman looks forward to skiing this winter on Rib Mountain.

Mr. Goodman obtained a share of his knowledge at a famous Ivy League college, Dartmouth, New Hampshire, which he attended for three years. His education continued at the University of Chicago where he earned his M.A. degree and plans eventually to work on his Ph.D.

At the mention of the Ivy League Mr. Goodman commented, "The schools are good ones. I had a lot of fun there, but I prefer the greater emphasis on scholarship here at the University of Chicago." Mr. Goodman’s most treasured memory is of the summer of 1955 when he, his family and friends, including British labourers in a rented car, then flew to Paris. From there Mr. Goodman continued along the Riviera and through Italy with the greatest enjoyment. Mr. Goodman mentioned that this was probably because Eastern towns are predominantly mill or college towns and Stevens Point is a combination of both. Point’s traditions were described by him as "always friendly and accommodating."

Our new English instructor has also noticed the friendliness at CSC, particularly up the street to New England towns was noted by Mr. Goodman. He mentioned that it was the presence of the local chairman, Miss Isaacson.

Welcome Back, Alumni

Homecoming is here again. To you, Alumni, the Pointer extends a gracious welcome to our homecoming festivities. We hope it will bring back pleasant memories of your days at CSC.

Onward, Purple and Gold

Homecoming is the big event of the fall school season. The setting, nature provides makes the homecoming festivities much more colorful and flavorful to the activities. However, all of these activities are not created by themselves, they need the ingenuity, labor and cooperation of the CSC students. Join in the activities and you will find that they are more enjoyable. Let’s make this a Homecoming 1965.

Robert Hanes

Robert G. Hanes, a second semester senior, has been named Homecoming King. He is from Amherst Junction. Amherst high school claimed Bob’s talents during his four years at school. He earned ten letters in track, baseball and basketball, claiming the chance to represent Amherst High twice at the state level. Success as a president of his senior class are outstanding memories of “Red’s” high school days. He also served on the student council.

Robert Hanes

The Students' Voice

Dear All,

Two elections and three meetings in a two week span have kept your student council busy. The turn-out for the class elections was encouraging and the campus has a new president. It is still short of sensational. You may want to remember that the student council would do part of the paper and evaluate them for you.

For those homecoming have taken the spotlight at the last meetings. The student council was interested in the campaign managers of the organizations sponsoring the events. The purpose of the meeting was to review the rules in effect for the Homecoming events. The council also made a written list of the rules in effect. The rules state that the candidates are punishable by the loss of 20% of their campaign funds.

Arrangements were made to locate the polka for the homecoming pep rally in the Pointer office. It is assumed that where location where voters’ names are taken will be printed on their ballot on a writing surface is much more a voting atmosphere than the situation at the regular voting booth. You hope it will work and justify the change by an increased response.

Many new members have been added to the organizations. You may want to appear to be as capable as they are charismatic. You’ve elected them to represent you and it’s your duty to see that they do a good job.

Many homecoming have been planned and are waiting to be executed. However, all of these activities are not created by themselves, they need the ingenuity, labor and cooperation of the CSC students. Join in the activities and you will find that they are more enjoyable.

Meeting adjourned.

Corporal CSC

I hate to locate myself too deeply in the “almost-alum” group, but I can remember when people knew it was Homecoming at CSC a whole five days before the blossoms even opened. Even so, seriously, this delayed-until-the-last-week advertising for the Queen candidates slashes at least half of the school spirit which even CSC was able to churn up for the Homecoming festivities. And the regulations binding even this feeble advertising? No pictures to be placed anywhere on bulletin boards or hung from the molding? Only 16 posters for each candidate to hang in the main building! Limitations for WHEN pictures can be hung? Penalties for WHEN posters are taken away? This is not a regulated event, it is executed for each school the regulations — penalties in the form of fines, and time taken away from the girl candidate! That’s why the Student Council may be trying to “organize” an event which has shown occasional glorious symptoms of disorganization, it looks as if it has succeeded only in painting an aura of unpleasantness and resentment about what used to be a warm-hearted highlight of the first semester.

This general “freeze-up” — or a sudden frightening adulthood of the CSC population — has also resulted in posters and pictures so sophisticated that the casual visitor may be too smart to be swayed by even. In fact, the really casual viewer might find himself confused by these bits of “agency-type-advertising” with that distinguished row of official portraits outside the college auditorium, except for the tendency to beards in the latter. I’ve done my share of complaining about scrawled signs, sloppy lettering, and general advertising carelessness, but this expenditure of the polar regions freezes everything, all the way to my desire to vote. At least the Siasefis have their hula hoops. And me my memories.

As long as dramatics are on the upswing here, there is anyone thought of encouraging some competition — or at least starting — between CSC and the other state colleges. It wouldn’t cost much to begin one of the college productions here, and it would be interesting to see that another amateur group is doing. Or perhaps a one-set play contest — with student-written scripts.

Evidently even the beamings curtainless windows of Steiner Hall couldn’t discourage the two ten-sen-vote who rambled through Garfield High school here in Point last week and left us a whole generation. These crowds brought with them the spirit of the next day ... the real tragedy of it was that two kids had to take out their own problems on four teachers and 115 children. Those of us planning on entering the education field can take it as a point to ponder.

Since Shakespeare seems to be coming into his own this year, with two sections of him (not summer-visit) offered in English this semester at CSC, plus the “As You Like It” performance of the Canadian Players in January, and then possibly the man. It’s “Shakespeare Without Tears” by Margaret Webster, and it combines a history of Shakespeare’s theatre, the plays, and modern productions into a well-worth-the-$30-a-night-vote 250-seat blackbox volume. Excellent for both the present fans of the Bard and for her fans-to-be.

Tell me honestly, citizens — public spirited or not, was there ever such awful poetry as in school songs? But you still have to learn the words before you can recognize it.

Campus Opinion

By Gil Green

There are students here at “Point” who suffer from an acute case of “suitcase-litis.”

We are told that “There isn’t anything on campus to stay here for,” and we hear echoes that “We have to see our high school team.” However, you are no longer high school students although, of course, there are exceptions. This is the college campus, but it’s not as far as it may appear, in that we here at Point are steadily increasing in size. It has been stated that all the students here at Point one-third of them would stay on campus for a week-end, we would have 500 students here. If this number met in the student union for a “record listening” session I’d venture to say that this could be a topic of discussion.

“It is the opinion of the campus” that each and every CSC student has an obligation to fulfill, and that this obligation is “to belong to and support our college.”

With Homecoming week-end approaching, this would be as good a time as any to酝酿 the suitcase, and begin to be a college student.

Teahouse of the August Moon

The hit Broadway play "Teahouse of the August Moon" will be presented in the evening, November 12 and 13, by the College Theatre group under the direction of Mary Ann Camber assisted by Carol Bashkin.

The author of "Teahouse of the August Moon" outlines the career of a

Army of Occupation stationed in a remote town in Okinawa, his duty is to teach democracy to the natives, but there is a tense and stupid Colonel breathing down his neck to insure the strict enforcement of the Manilam of Occupation. However, the young officer has discovered a unique method to carry out his mandate.

He finds himself the owner of a Grade A Geisha girl; the material sent him by his superiors. His idea is to use his position to build a teahouse and himself, in an effort to improve the economy of the village, has taken to a tax-free territory, to all the surrounding Army and Navy officers' clubs.

The gala opening of the teahouse is, of course, the moment chosen by the

Colonel to make his inspection of the village, unfortunately the Colonel murdered and the Colonel deposed, but at this crucial moment word arrives that Congress, dear old Congress has decided that this is the most progressive village on the inland, and all is forgiven.

The starring roles fall to: Sakini, Tom Gruman; Capt. Fish, Gary Montefiel; Col. Purdy, Rod Justeson; Lotus Blossom, Pat Pros; J's Shop, Joss; Mrs. J's Shop, Janie Roes; J's Shop Chick, Josc; Bonk; Ancient Man; Yong Soo Kim; Siklo, Siwars Pochanjan; Sumata, Sherman Iversen; Sumata's Father, Ken Schmidt; Mr. Keera, Bob Schwartz; Mrs. Clark, Old Woman, Judy Rass; Old Woman's Daughter, Stephanie Orslad; Ladies' League for Democratic and the Volunteers, Tom Koons and Roger Gruman.

The cast of the play is an excellent group of actors who will keep the audience in suspense and on the edge of their seats. So, mark these dates in your calendars. Tickets may be purchased at the box office from the clubs or from the President, Jane Martinson.

Young Dems Conduct Poll

The Young Democratic party held its first meeting on October 2, in the Main street room of the student union. The meeting opened with the reading of the minutes of the last meeting. It was then announced that Miss Hanssen's house would be the polling place. The membership of the club was then called for.

Miss Hanssen's house includes seedwork, dogs, music, and reading. Her thoughts turned to nursing when she was a child. After graduation she went into the field, and seemingly has no regrets.

Miss Hanssen has done private and general duty in Madison, as well as in the Cardi. In addition to this, after the completion of her training she practiced for a year and then joined the army and went overseas.

What drew her to Point? Miss Hanssen lists several factors. Her parents living here is one important element; and she is also very inter-

As far as her other role as housemother, her reaction is affirmative and thinks being a full time housemother might be a fulfilling job.

Wisconsin Touring Group Performance Great, "et cetera."

An enjoyable version of the perennial hit, "The King and I," was seen in the college auditorium Wednesday, October 15. The music by Richard Rodgers and the play and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II were effectively interpreted by the members of the Wisconsin Touring Theater. Since no setting was used except for an occasional bench and a pale backdrop, much was left to the audience's imagination. This was no drawback, however, thanks to the skill of the cast.

Some of the memorable songs were "Getting to Know You," "We Kiss in a Shadow," "Hello Young Lovers," "Song of the King," and "Shall We Dance?". All of these were beautifully accompanied by the pianist, Rosemary Williams.

Teaching in Siam can be very fascinating and extremely different or maybe YOU dancing?". All of these were beautifully accompanied by the pianist, Rosemary Williams.

The crowd approximated 160 persons. The Conservation faculty was invited to the group in tones of seriousness and with a sense of humor. Fred Schmoecker's suggestion was to study hard and to apply all of the lessons. He had a question. A good remark to all non-members of the A.R.L. was "You are imbibing Coca-Cola. No mystery about why Coke is the world's favorite beverage. ••• such taste, such sparkle! Yes, my dear Watson! From the happy look on your face, I can see that you are enjoying the bottle. Central State Camera
Club Well Underway

The former Portage County Camera Club has reorganized and is now known as the Central State Camera Club. The club has had three meetings this fall; the first two were devoted to organizational problems and to critical discussions of members’ pictures. At the last meeting, Mr. Lewis showed slides which he took during the CSC tour of Europe last summer. Future plans of the group include possible sponsorship of a nationally famous photo exhibit.

The club is open to all CSC students and to any interested adults from this area. Whether you use a Baby Brownie or a Leica, feel free to come to the Central State Camera club meetings (every other Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. in Room 256). Watch the Photo Salon bulletin board (opposite the administration office) for details of future meetings and for examples of club members’ work.

The Pointers were out to spell the Warhawks' bid for a seventh consecutive conference championship. They ended the opening game of the season when they scored a touchdown. After that point, the Pointers continued to pile on the points, with 22 points in the game, and it may well be that this game could not be won.

Whitewater was leading 14-6. The Pointers had a fumble recovery in the second touchdown 16 plays later a six yard shunt off tackle by Lademann.

The second drive started on the Christianson 9, after the Pointers had recovered a Warhawk fumble. Few points were scored in the first half of the game, the climax of a 40 yard run by Lademann.

The Pointers started another drive and two in the fourth quarter led them to the Warhawks' end zone. They scored a touchdown with 4:03 by Bob Maedke, a 100-pound guard from Manitowoc, has done a great job for the Pointers. He stands only 5'9", but is a big reason why Point was successful.

Look at men like Dale Schallert at center, Don 'Duck' at guard, Owen Schwertfeger, Ron Klindt, Clarence Koehnke, and right down the line, you will see why the Pointers have a winning team. Why are they good? Because they have spirit, drive and desire, and in football that's what counts.

The Offense was "Defense" from Rapid's that make Score total of 240 pounds and is exceptionally fast for his size. He is a hard runner and tackles in the Milwaukee dish.

Eau Claire - Pointers Meet Saturday

The Pointers play host to Eau Claire State College Saturday afternoon. Eau Claire has won their last five games and has beaten UW-Milwaukee 6-0. Stevens Point has won 17, lost 14, and tied two of the 33 home games to date.

In the game Saturday the fans won't have to worry about reseating a duel which started in an action and doesn't count in the standings.

The last time CSC played the Blue-Golds here for homecoming was in 1952 but that was in non-conference action.

The Pointers have drawn 7,400 fans and 6,400 fans on the last six were won by the Pointers.
