For an "Enchanted Evening"

SORORITIES PLAN ANNUAL FORMAL

CSC's three sororities have combined efforts to make January 31 a date for all CSC's to remember — the annual Inter-Sorority formal. This year dancing will take place in an "Enchanted Evening" to the music of Larry Woodbury, from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. at Pacelli high school.

Each year the committees rotate this and each year Tau Gamma Beta sorority is responsible for the theme and chairman of the decorations. Omega Mu Chi is in charge of tickets and programs and Alpha Sigma Alpha is responsible for invitations and chaperones.

Dancing will be in a setting of pastel Christmas trees, stars, and snowflakes worked out by representatives from each sorority: Jo Marvin and Eunice Millard from Omega Mu Chi, and Carole Emerick from Tau Gamma Beta. The representatives from Alpha Sigma Alpha have not been selected.

Sorority members and their dates will begin the evening with a formal dinner. Omega Mu Chi's will be in the Coca-Cola Fish shop, the Tau Gamma/Beta's have not decided yet, and the Alpha Sigma Alpha's will be at the Hot Fish shop.

Tickets are $1.50 per couple.

Best Foreign Film
Of '56 to Be Featured

An Italian actress, a "mixture of Imogene Coca and Mae Laurele," stars in the Academy Award winning film "La Strada" which will be shown in the Library theater January 29 and 30.

"La Strada," translated "The Road," is the story of a cheerful half-wit, played by big-eyed Giulietta Masina, and a carnival strong man (Anthony Quinn), who travel the Italian highways in a motorcycle trailer. The tale, with its brutal climax and tragic consequences, is skilfully directed by Fedor Fellini.

"La Strada" has received highly favorable notices from discriminating viewers. Arthur Knight of Saturday Review called it "...a modern morality play, set in one corner of our urban society. What Fellini is saying through his parable-like, yet human, people is "John Donne's 'No man is an island.'" - Archer Winston, New York Post, stated "...it not only expresses joyfully the weak and wandering mind but also the world's great dazzling beauty."

Besides winning an Academy Award as "Best Foreign Film of 1954," "La Strada" received the New York Film Critics foreign film award, and the Golden Globe Awards for the best foreign film: actress and director.

College Women Invited
To Hear Sorority Panel

At 4:15 p.m. Wednesday, February 4, all college women interested in the sororities on campus are asked to attend a panel discussion given in the auditorium by the Inter-Sorority council.

At this time, representatives from Omega Mu Chi, Tau Gamma Beta, and Alpha Sigma Alpha will talk on sorority life in general, its cost, its benefits and the amount of time involved.

Mrs. E. Pfiffner, Dean of Women, and Sue Reitz, Inter-Sorority President, will also contribute to the meeting.

Semester exam time can bring about a change in the facial expression of students. It is reported that lack of too much sleep, the caffeine habit or silk stockings will produce this appearance.
The Students' View

Dear Editor:
The committee system in the student council has given us some interesting results. I'd like to discuss the idea of faculty representation.

The committee on committees has met with a large number of faculty members. It has been the policy for students to bring any items of concern or problems to the faculty for action. The only problem I see is that the student council is a part of the faculty and has no representation from the student body.

A committee meeting was held on Wednesday evening, and the faculty was represented by President Norman E. Parks and Professor John A. McDonald. The faculty members discussed the problems of the student body and the solutions that have been proposed by the student council.

It is important that the student council be represented in the committee system, but it is equally important that the faculty be represented in the student council. The committee system is a way to bring the students and faculty together and to work on problems that affect both groups.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Corner at CSC

My list of heroes has shown a progression in the last 15 or 16 years. Starting with Roy Rogers, it moved through Cisco Kid, my high school English teacher, Eddie Fisher, on to anyone with a library of more than four thousand volumes. It has now reached a high point, which I think will maintain it for a long time. His name is Sir Laurence Olivier. "Richard III" was the recent creation of Shakespeare's text, superb musical perfection. Produced, directed, and starred in by Sir Laurence, it achieved one of the most perfect unity of magnificent acting by everyone present, beautiful stage effects in harmony with the story, a judicious re-arranging and setting of Shakespeare's text, superb background, masterly emote phants and "pointing" of the significant lines - EVERYTHING! For three hours, I was held spell-bound in this utmost in dramatic virtu... and even the high school viewers said it "wasn't as bad as we thought it would be."

Anytime the Windows turn their train of succession over to the Olivers, I'll become a monarchist myself.

The Canadian Players were good too, but anything seems pale after "Richard III." Their material was continued to be a vivid personal virility which charms the audience and does no harm to the role being played. However, the last act is in minor parts; one of the most glaring being the 1920's interpretation of Phoebe in "As You Like It." ("Do you suppose they staged this especially for the CSC, and asked my parents for the evening.) Ted Follows and Donald Greenhalgh did very well and made enjoyable watching. Outstanding in the master interpretation of his role on both evenings was the man playing Jacques and Anthony Anderson - I since my copy of the program has been swallowed up in our chaotic household.

On the whole, a cultural concentration such as the Arts Festival seems a good idea in the theater, but for the CSC, I think it is a little early. CSC being CSC is at the beginning of the battle for the public, and this battle is almost always within, but I jump at outward signs as much as the next one.

We, chilhens, allow this old confessor to bid you a happy-resolved exam week. This is your last CSC semester. I set my sights on June - even more than the rest of you.

Campus Opinion

By GIL GREEN

Since this article commences the end of the semester, it is the opinion of the campus editor that I'll confine the discussion on past opinions and the opinions that have been written in this issue.

There have been no opinions on exams, evidently all is peace.

There have been no opinions on exams, evidently all is peace.

Opinion is high on the method in which the Union Board is selected and there is an urgent plea for correction of this system of election, or is it selection?

HELEN MATSUOKA

Among those graduating this semester will be Helen Matsusaka, Hawaii's contribution to the international group here at CSC. Helen came to Stevans Point from Walnus, Hawaii, three and a half years ago to major in intermediate education. She chose a University college because of the experience she gained in the range of experience, and she felt CSC could offer her this.

Music is one of Helen's great interests. She is a member of the basketball team and plays the ukulele. While in Hawaii she took part in the Japanese dancing competition, among the various towns of the islands.

Another interest is the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority of which she is a member. She became a member since her Freshman year. She also plays golf to land Club.

In the immediate future Helen plans to enter a teaching career in the J. E. Jones school in Milwaukee. Eventually she would like to return to Hawaii and teach there.

Corinna, a member of her class, says "I'm really glad I came here now. It's been such a wonderful year for me, especially my Freshman year; I'm really glad I came here."

The photo exhibit is at Belo College at the present time and will go to the University of Minnesota after leaving CSC.

To be serious for a moment, we certainly hope that Jiggs will be up on his feet soon and back in the old swing of things. I especially hope he's back in a hurry because I'm an assistant on the sports staff and the sooner he gets back the less work for me.

No, this is not a man from the run or passenger of Machiak, nor is it the face of your semester exam prof, but it can be called the "Pointer Flashman." Failure to recognize the resemblance may be due to the insanity or fatigue attributed to semester exams or a generally bad routine.

ANIMAL JIGGER

By now every student and adviser who knows Jiggs Meuret, and who doesn't, that he is spending this week in the hospital recovering from a wrestling injury. Some people go to a lot of trouble to skip finals!

The typists around the Pointer office feel especially sorry for Jiggs. He's Sports Editor and his paper is due this Friday night. Since Jiggs is a serious man, we can't imagine how he'll be able to make the deadlines.

They hit for 15, 13, 12, 9, 8, and 8 points respectively. Bob Spangler led the Redmen with 27 points on nine field goals and four free throws.

Seven Feted by CWA

A banquet given by the College Women's Association in honor of mid-year graduates was held Thursday evening, January 8, at the Hot Fish shop.

A ham dinner was served at a table enhanced by pink and white chrysanthemums and candle light. Everyone attending wore a corsage matching the dinner's color scheme.

The banquet was attended by seven officers of the college, all to be graduating this month. They were Helen Matonka, Karen Bree, Mary Lauritzen, Pat Decker, Sue Leigh, Shirley Smith, Therese Costigan and Mrs. Herberg. Unfortunately, two women were unable to attend.

Also present were Mrs. Pfiffner, one of CWA advisers, and Sue Leigh. Therese Costigan and Boomer, officers of the CWA.

At the January 7 meeting of CWA a social hour for the coming semester's new women students was discussed. Betsy Deehome was appointed chairman for the event.

The date for the Annual Songfest has been set for March 16. CWA members will elect officers when they pay their dues during Registration Week.
