I. S. O. Organized

CSC has given birth to a new group, the International Students organization, I.S.O. Composed entirely of foreign students and any interested American students, the organization was formed with the purpose of helping foreign students to get experience in American culture and to allow the foreign students to introduce their country to Americans.

The first meeting was held September 29. A temporary chairman, Charles Chwae, was elected as well as a committee composed of Colette Disher, Jutta Mausbach and Sharon Kust to draw up a constitution. Two successive meetings were held with discussion and approval of the organization's constitution and by-laws.

A fourth meeting was held November 11. Officers were elected for the present year. They are chairman, Firooz Soulati; vice-chairman, Akbar Mahboubi and secretary-treasurer, Sharon Kust. A general committee composed of Jackson Isige, Rae Carolyn Barnes, and Tomas Liu was elected. Discussion was held on annual events to be held by this group. A Christmas and spring banquet were decided upon.

Plans for future meetings include talks by students from different countries followed by discussion and informal discussions on any subjects aimed at promoting the friendship, understanding and social interests of the members.

A cordial invitation is extended to any persons interested in joining our group or to anyone wishing to attend any of the meetings.

Dorm Residents Will Sponsor Yule Tea

Nelson Hall girls are sponsoring an open house and a tea on Sunday, December 13.

The dorm will be open to the public from 2 P. M. to 5 P. M. Sunday. Refreshments will be served in the main lounge.

Judy Ungrodt, dorm president, and Johanna Clark, vice-president, are co-ordinating the various committees.

Five Travel to New York for ACP Press Convention

By Mary Haugsby

Car, bus, taxi, train, plane, boat and subway were modes of transportation employed by Mr. Joel Mickelson, Gertrude Ann West, Marilyn Roth, Mary Haugsby and Lloyd Mertens who represented CSC's publications, Pointer and Iris, at the ACP conference in New York city, November 11-15.

Upon arrival in the big city some of the first people we met were also representing Wisconsin—Whitewater and Eau Claire. As more and more students and advisers arrived at the Hotel New Yorker, eastern accents were confused and mingled with those of the west, south and north; however, ideas were conveyed, publications were contrasted and compared. In an effort to get as much as possible out of the opportunities offered, we attended meetings separately and spent noons and evenings sharing our new ideas. In general, I believe we will agree that Norman Cousins, editor and vice-president of the Saturday Review, was the outstanding speaker. The concluding thought of his "Russian Report" was, "War is an invention of the human mind. The

CENTRAL STATE COLLEGE

"Sister Angelica" to be Presented

The music department will present an opera on Tuesday, December 1, at 8 P. M. in the college auditorium. The presentation, "Sister Angelica," is one of a trilogy of one-act operas including "Il Tabarro" and "Gianni Schicchi" by Giacomo Puccini who is considered one of the greatest of the Italian composers. His more famous works include the famous "Madame Butterfly" and "La Boheme."

The scene of "Sister Angelica," premiered at the Metropolitan in December, 1918, is in a convent. A noblewoman forced into the convent by her family, Sister Angelica receives a visit from her family after seven years of separation. The plot is concerned with the implications of the visit.

Members of the cast of the CSC production include: Sister Angelica, Connie Smoodie; The princess, Sister Angelica's aunt, Grace Sommers; Sister Genevieve, Faith Bidgood; Monitor, Pat Van Sant; Mistress of Novices, Kay Casberg; Abbess, Mary Trantow; Sister Osmia, Jean Pacholski; Sister Dulcina, Marilyn Wernberg; Nursing Sister, Cleo Van Straten; Touries, Jackie Reddin and Lona Anderson; Novice, Dorothy Corn; Lay Sisters, Rosemary Youngerman and Pat Waterman.

Mr. Wendell Orr is in charge of musical direction and staging. Accompanist will be Kathy Carstens. Stage crew members are Merle Colburn and Bob Wald.

Mr. Sessler Exhibits Graphic Art at CSC

Have you noticed the most recent exhibit in the Library theater? This is the third in a series of nine exhibitions sponsored jointly by the art department and the library. The exhibitor, whose work was set up November 16 and will be on exhibit through December 18, is Mr. Alfred Sessler, currently professor of Graphic Arts at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Sessler's show is composed of 32 works, in three media — woodcut, lithograph, and etching.

Mr. Sessler, a native of Milwaukee, received his B.S. degree at Wisconsin State college, Milwaukee, and M.S. at the University of Wisconsin. He also attended Layton School of Art in Milwaukee. He appears in Who's Who in American Art and Who's Who in the Middle West.

He has had exhibitions all over human mind can invent peace."

The Pointer is not apt to be printed in geometric design with e. e. cummings headlines, but the keyword at the convention seemed to be "experiment."

In addition to attending meetings, most of us took advantage of the opportunity to view the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State building, and Greenwich village.

Anyone interested in hearing enthusiastic accounts of a trip to a convention—meetings and all—in New York city, just ask one of us. We'll be reliving our experiences for quite awhile and will be trying to put into practice some of the multitude of new ideas we learned—some of the suggestions we received. Meanwhile, we will keep in mind, "the more truth, the more liable;" "You find the apathetical talking about apathy;" and "We may not agree with what you say, but we'll agree with your right to say it."

Mr. Sessler's work is included in many collections, both public and private. Some of these are the Gimbel collection; Milwaukee Art Institute; University of Wisconsin Maynard Walker, New York city; Dr. Ernest Miller, Milwaukee; Mr. James Plaut, Director of Boston Museum of Art; Malcolm Whyte, Milwaukee; Mrs. George L. Craig, Pittsburgh; The Library of Congress; Lawrence college, Appleton; Beloit college, Beloit; Frank Oeschlager, Chicago.

Mr. Sessler had much to do with a film made by the U. S. State department about the Rural Art program in Wisconsin. He has been the subject of articles in the London Studio art publications.

His work has won him over 80 awards, the latest two being the Purchase award, 7th Annual National Exhibit of Prints, Bradley university, Peoria, Illinois, and the Purchase award, Annual Printmakers exhibit, Depauw university, New Castle, Indiana.

Will You Give?

You Should Know --

Fellow students, I am enraged! Perhaps you would be too if you realized what is going on in our school — what the Student council, our voice on campus is doing for us and to us! Control seems to be the number one plank in this year's platform. Yes, I too am a member of the council, but it takes more than one may vote. Students, if you read "The Student Voice," submitted to the Pointer by the Student council president, Paul F. Becht, you will notice perhaps the use of the word, "control" twice in the first paragraph.* In the second paragraph you will notice further reason for rage. This idea of having the Pointer controlled by the Student council, which is essentially what the council seems to be striving toward, may seem insignificant to the average student, but look below the surface. Fire may spread slowly too at first, but it, nevertheless, destroys. First "control" over the "S" club sponsored Homecoming dance,* then over the Pointer, then what? The time to stop this is now! Why should approximately one-eighth of the student body "control" everything?

After attending the ACP convention in New-York city my suggestion for solving this problem, in regard to the Pointer at least, is the formation of a Publications board. As proposed at the convention, this board would consist of students, perhaps two elected from each class in our situation, and at least one faculty member. The students serving on the board would not be members of a publications staff. This board would then meet every other week with the editor, business manager and advisers of the publications to discuss problems, gripes and suggestions. The board would also be empowered to select the editor and business managers for the publications. Students would be encouraged to submit their names for the positions and represent themselves before the board. Then past editors and business managers and the advisers would submit their recommendations to the board which would have the final word as to the selection.

This is my opinion and that of a few other members of the student body. What's your opinion? Should the Student council "control" or should it govern?

We do accept "letters to the editor" so don't be afraid to voice your opinions. How else, but through you can we hear the true students' voice? Contrary to the opinion of several student council members, no copy has been cut from this year's Pointers. We are doing our best to present the students' opinions. Why should we be accused unjustly? To be published, "letters to the editor" must be signed when they are submitted; however, your name can be withheld from publication if that is so desired. Come on, students, let's hear from you!

*After being informed by another council member that the motion for "control" of Homecoming, including the dance, had been withdrawn from the minutes, our council president proceeded to rewrite his "voice" in an effort to state more exactly the council's proceedings. If the leader of this organization can not recall for one week what was approved or disapproved by the council, how can this group then justly seek more control — more administrative power?

President Interviewed

President William C. Hansen smiles fondly as he recalls the forty-six years that he has been associated with various school systems.

An alumnus of CSC, President Hansen attended Stevens Point in 1910 and 1911. He returned again in 1940 as its president.

After Mr. Hansen's graduation from CSC, he taught mathematics and history in high school at Menomonie Falls. He attended the University of Wisconsin where he obtained his bachelor's degree in agriculture and then taught at St. Croix Falls and Milltown, where he was principal for five years.

As superintendent, Mr. Hansen spent several years at Neillsville, Oconto and Stoughton. From Stoughton Mr. Hansen came to Point to accept the position of president.

When asked how he felt about educational facilities at CSC as compared to other schools, Mr. Hansen replied, "In Stevens Point as in most other schools, the opportunity for learning is present. It is up to the student to take advantage of it."

The Hansens own an eleven acre home in Plover, about three miles from Stevens Point. Gardening occupies much of their time; Mr. Hansen takes care of the fruits and vegetables and Mrs. Hansen, the flowers. Mr. Hansen admits ruefully that the flowers probably receive the most attention.

Interested in community activities, Mr. Hansen devotes some of his time to his community as a member of the Plover school board and the Portage county school committee.

RELIGIOUS NEWS

InterVarsity

Our weekly Bible Study meeting was held Wednesday evening, November 11 at 8:30 P. M. in Room 6 of the Union. Myron Harrison, vice-president, presided over the meeting. The meeting was opened with prayer by Gary Peterson. There was no business to discuss. Virginia I. Marquardt read the following:

You Forgot My Soul

You lived next door to me for years,
We shared our dreams, our joys and tears.
A friend to me you were indeed,
A friend who helped me when in need.

My faith in you was strong and sure.

We had such trust as should endure.

No spite between us ever rose,
Our friends were like—and so, our foes.

What sadness, then my friend, to find,
That after all, you weren't so kind.

The day my life on earth did end I found you weren't a faithful friend.

For all those years we spent on earth

You never talked of second birth.
You never spoke of my lost soul,
And of the Christ who'd make me whole!

But — do not err, my friend again —

Do all you can for souls of men.

Fled with them now awhile earnestly —

Least they be cast in hell with me!

—Anon.

Terry Messineh was in charge of the Bible study for the evening. His passage of Scripture was taken from John 14: 12-17. This passage states some of Christ's many promises to us. Some of His promises are as follows: Whatever we ask He will do it if it is asked in His name and it is His will; He will send us a Comforter; that he may abide with us forever; because He lived we also shall have eternal life; and He promises us Peace of mind that the world cannot give us.

Our meeting was adjourned with prayer by Roy A. Peterson. Our weekly meetings are held every Wednesday evening. We welcome everyone to come to study the Word of God with us. Don't you think it is our responsibility to study God's Holy Word so we may learn more of the wonderful Truths he has for us?

Mid-Semester Reckoning — Low Slips Are Issued

By Jeanne Holcomb

Haggard teachers now have their opportunity to reap revenge. Low slips are being sent home.

This is the time of the year when students who ordinarily come to classes last are there before the last bell rings. It's the miraculous time when suddenly no one is absent from classes and everyone has assignments done on time.

Freshmen commonly ask, "Are you expecting any low slips?" By the time you're a Sophomore the question has changed to, "What class this time?" Juniors simply say, "How many?" Seniors figure they've made it this far and it's no time to start worrying now.

One young freshman girl stated, "I'm flunking math, but that's okay because my mother flunked it when she was in college so she can't complain." A friend added, "I don't think I'll go home for awhile."

Only one thing remains to be said — better luck next time.

Our Prayer meetings are held every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning at 7:30 A. M. in Room 5 of the Union. Why don't you come some morning and join us in prayer?

Wesley

We have been having a tremendously good time every Sunday evening in Wesley House. Our "dine-a-mite" suppers were started two weeks ago. Nowhere else could one find such a grand meal for only 35 cents per person — home cooking too! So, Wesleyans, sign up at the Wesley bulletin board weekly.

Our Wesley house now has a house mother, as of November 10. She is Mrs. Scribner, the grandmother of our last year's president, Bill Scribner. We are so glad that she has consented to come and live in our house. Now the house is opened for students to use for study and recreation. All students are welcome.

The Methodist Student Movement conference at Oshkosh, November 6-8, attracted six delegates from this campus: Bill Biggs, Bette Stenbenson, Irla John, Dorothy Cron, Judy Walton, and Young Kim Ohn. The conference was a success from the very opening program. The Eau Claire College players presented Philip Turner's "Crucifix of the Concrete City." The successful theme, supported by excellent direction, at once set the delegates in a proper atmosphere and mood for the conference.

Mr. John Crane, an artist of note and head of the art department at River Falls State college, also contributed his great talent to the conference. Also, the Lawrence college Madrigal group gave a superb performance about the history and development of music.

We agree that all aspects of fine arts can promote and cultivate in us a better understanding and deeper growth of our Christian faith, but we cannot allow the appreciation of art, drama, or music, to overshadow our religious experience like the artistic creation of da Vinci's "Last Supper" may overshadow the religious essence of the Last Supper.

We are hoping that our discussion groups for Thursday and Sunday evenings will be in progress soon. We express our appreciation to all those who helped in cleaning the house, and in putting it into shape for our use. We also thank those who helped during our open house at Homecoming time. See you at the Wesley house!

The Students' Voice

The Student council met Thursday, November 12. The council members were dismayed by the apathy of the student body, and felt that a major factor was the college newspaper, The Pointer. It was moved that the Student council assume the administration of the Pointer. There was one dissenting vote.

The meeting was then adjourned.

There has been a rash of complaints about the College Union in the last few weeks. "The food isn't any good." Or, "The food's not so bad; it's just that we don't get enough of it." There have been comments on both sides of the argument. And many of them have merit. However, no one mentions the Union director, Mr. Amacker, working down in his office for only one thing — the advancement of the students and their activities at the college. No one has bothered to say one way or another what he feels about the dances, parties, and everything Mr. Amacker has done for the students on the campus. Since he has taken over his position as Union director, the students have had more activities and better activities than they know what to do with. I feel that the least we can do is give Mr. Amacker and his staff a chance to straighten out the problems of running a brand new Union center. I personally wish to express my gratitude to Mr. Amacker for all he has done for us, the students here at school, and to wish him success in establishing a workable Student Union.

Sincerely,
Paul F. Becht,
President of Student Council

Claire's chapter, as the host. Most of the activities took place in Eau Claire's beautiful new Student Union.

Our chapter was on the Resolutions committee for the business sessions. One of our own members, Chuck Ross, was appointed activities chairman for the region. There's a lot of work involved. Good luck, Chuck!

Our delegates to the convention were Ann Hansen (president) and Janet Bartels. Alternates were Lois Kankelwitz. Several other members also attended. On Sunday evening the Madison group put on a very inspiring drama entitled "The Prodigal Son." This and the other convention activities were enjoyed very much by our members.

At the November 12 meeting the president showed us samples of Gamma Delta pins and sweat shirts we can purchase. These can be obtained by contacting a member of the committee. We enjoyed square dancing called by our own Darrel Monk.

Corner at CSC

By Elaine Omerik

"Over the river and through the woods to grandmother's house we go," — or is it "over the highways and through the byways to dad's house I go," to eat some home-cooking, to get a new check-book, and to leave the books behind. Yes, indeed, the season of stuffed turkey, cranberry sauce, and pumpkin pie is here. Ever since childhood, we have been taught to say "thank you" for this and "thank you" for that. November 26 is just one big THANK YOU day. Remember your parents in some special way. After all, who packs the rest of the chicken and cake for you on Sunday night? Who pays the bill for that shirt or skirt you charged? Who is your only faithful correspondent? Who worries about the circles around your eyes? And lest we forget, somewhere between the first helping of turkey at dinner and the fourth helping of pie at supper, spare a moment in gratitude to God.

If you missed "The Diary of Anne Frank," you should have known better! I particularly liked Scene 1 in Act 1, in which the mood was so very well set. All of the characters were very well portrayed, but if I had a vote, it would go for Mr. Dussel, played by Ken Wanserski. He was so typical and so genuine, he could not possibly have gone unnoticed! Each of the characters was made a real person, from the vivacity of Anne, the understanding of Mr. Frank, the generosity of Mrs. Frank, the goodness of Miep, to the extravagance of Mrs. Van Daan, the selfishness of Mr. Van Daan, the typical boyishness of Peter, the kindness of Mr. Kraler. It was hard not to fall in love with Anne and Miep, the two most lovable characters. Anyway, congratulations to you and to all of the behind-the-scenes workers!

"I complained that I had no shoes, until I saw a man who had no feet." Happy Thanksgiving!

Poetry Sidelights

By Edmund O'Dell

Thanksgiving is a wonderful time of the year for all of us. To some it means a chance to get rested up for an all out effort in school, for others it means a chance to see friends and loved ones that have been away, and for others it means a chance to get into the woods to hunt deer. No matter what other meanings we give to this day it still gives us a time to "count our blessings." This is the thing that Christians tend to do wherever they may be. To them this is a time of rededication of themselves. The following poems display this same pious attitude and dedication in a very delightful manner. The convictions and dedication of these authors put real meaning into their works; I hope that you enjoy them as much as I do.

The Gifts of God

When God at first made Man,
Having a glass of blessings standing by;
'Let us,' said He, 'pour on him all we can:
Let the world's riches, Which dispersed lie,
Contract into a span.'

So strength first made a way;
Then wisdom flow'd, then wisdom, honor, pleasure:
When almost all was out, God made a stay,
Perceiving that alone, of all His treasure,
Rest in the bottom lay.

'For if I should,' said He,
'Bestow this jewel also on My creature,
He would adore My gifts instead of Me,
And rest in Nature, not the God of Nature:
So both should losers be.

Yet let him keep the rest,
But keep them with repining restlessness:
Let him be rich and weary, that at least,
If goodness lead him not, yet weariness
May toss him to My breast.'

The Lamb

Little Lamb, who made thee?
Dost thou know who made thee?
Gave thee life, and bled thee feed,
By the stream and o'er the mead;
Gave thee clothing of delight,
Softest clothing, wooly, bright;
Gave thee such a tender voice,
Making all the vales rejoice!
Little Lamb, who made thee?
Dost thou know who made thee?

Little Lamb, I'll tell thee,
Little Lamb, I'll tell thee:
He is called by thy name,
For He calls Himself a Lamb.
He is meek, and He is mild;
He became a little child.
We are called by His name,
Little Lamb, God bless thee!
Little Lamb, God bless thee!

— WILLIAM BLAKE

'My heart leaps up when I behold

My heart leaps up when I behold
A rainbow in the sky:
So was it when my life began,
So is it now I am a man,
So be it when I shall grow old,
Or let me die!

The Child is father of the Man:
And I could wish my days to be Bound each to each by natural piety.

BITS & TATTERS

By Bob LaBrot

The funnies aren't funny anymore.

Never be boastful; someone may come along who knew you as a child.

A tramp knocked on the door of an English inn named "George and the Dragon."

"Could you spare a poor man a bite to eat?" he asked of the woman who, answered the door.

"NO!" she screamed as she slammed the door in his face.

After a few minutes the tramp knocked at the door again and when the same woman reappeared, he asked:

"Now could I have a few words with George?"

Don't go sparrow hunting with a cannon.

It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all.

"Sweetheart," said the late-returning husband, I have a present for the person I love best in all the world.
"A box of cigars, no doubt."

A priest who had two churches to serve decided to hold baptismal services at both parishes. He told his secretary to place an announcement in the paper. It appeared as follows:

Beverend Father McGill will hold baptisms at East End church Wednesday morning; at West End, Thursday. The following Tuesday at 11 A.M. and 3 P.M., children will be baptised at both Ends."

In the earlier days of my life, I studied the peculiarities of others; lately, I am studying my own.

I have just invented a "OOK OOK" clock. The little bird backs out and says, Hey, what time is it?"

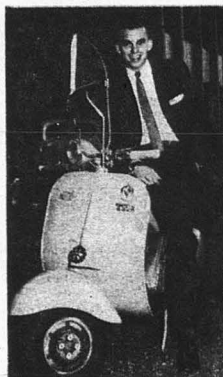

He who forgives ends the quarrel.

CSC Profiles

By Carol Jensen

CSC's answer to Frank Sinatra was born and raised in Stevens Point! We all know Bob by his three trademarks, his scooter, ukulele and briefcase.

"Frankie" LaBrot tottered over to the Campus school to receive his first educational training. He spent grades 1-2-6-7-8 there and the missing years at St. Stephen's grade school. Leaving the Campus school behind, he walked over to P. J. Jacobs high school where he became a well established student. Among his list of accomplishments are Latin club, Dramatic club, Slide Rule club, newspaper staff for four years and co-editor one year, and editor of the yearbook in senior year. Bob was also an avid music student, which his record shows. He played the baritone horn in the band, was band president in his senior year, student director of band, and the director of the pep band and played in many tournaments and festivals throughout the Midwest. Bob received the Arion Award for outstanding musicianship while he was a senior.

BOB LABROT

Finally, in 1954 CSC opened the doors to Bob. As a freshman he once again was on his way to the top. He was one of the founders and charter members of the fraternity we know as the TEKES (Tau Kappa Epsilon) plus being one of the founders of the German club. The Men's Glee club occupied some spare time and this was the year he journeyed to Florida with Mr. Knutzen's group. He has been active in band and choir most of his years here and has played in the brass ensemble. Bob sang in the opera "Amahl and The Night Visitors" in '57. Those of us who saw it, truthfully know it was a success. Also, if you think the Crewcuts can sing, you should have heard the quartet Bob sang in called the "Cotton-Pickers." They won various talent contests, but finally had to disband because the tenor was drafted.

After Bob's Sophomore year he transferred to Madison and studied mechanical engineering which he didn't care for and it didn't care for him. He wasn't especially fond of the University, but Madison itself proved entertaining as he was "houseboy" and headwaiter at the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority house! In due time he decided to leave his sorority sisters and march back to CSC.

Again a whirlwind of events began. As Bob says, "I like to be too busy — it's good to have too much to do." This is obviously true when one sees all he has done!

He is now serving his second year as president of the Tekes. He has held various other offices besides the presidency. This year he was appointed by the Grand President of Tau Kappa Epsilon to serve on the National Grand President's Advisory commission. He was also this chapter's official delegate to the National Conclave held in Detroit last September. Being on the Inter-fraternity council, where he now holds the presidency, he became a member of the Student council and was appointed Chairman of the 1959 Student Council Homecoming committee. It seems as if there can hardly be more, but there is. He is serving on the Union board, belongs to the Canterbury club, Pointer staff, (you can read his humor column in this issue, "Bits and Tatters.")

Believe it or not, this fellow even has hobbies! On the top of his list are summer sports, especially sailing and water skiing. Bob says, "Winter sports leave me cold." The two main hobbies that dominate his life are music and photography. He has made himself a hi-fi system and has a collection of several hundred LP's from opera to Dixieland. To become more informed in photography he joined the Photographic Society of America. He also messes in the kitchen a bit. His specialty is pastries.

Bob would also like to state that he's "down on smoking," he believes it to be a filthy habit and also "nix" on coffee. (He's a tea drinker "all the way.")

Bob believes he has gotten a better education here than he would have gotten at the University of Wisconsin. He holds Dr. Jenkins colloquium class above the rest. Graduate school is the next step and then someday he hopes to teach mathematics in a medium sized college on the west coast. Bob stated some words of wisdom to this effect, "You'll never learn anything until you begin to doubt."

"I'm convinced that Bob's record is one to be proud of and one we should 'try' to follow. Need I say he's a busy and an interesting man?"

This week we shall dissect the life of Barbara Williams. In the year 1956 she journeyed to Stevens Point from her hometown, Beloit, to seek her place in the world. Barb's feelings upon entering this town? "I felt like I was in the wilderness." In the southern part of the state we don't have so many trees and rocks, especially rocks saying, "Stop at the Pal!"

Before we say what Barb has done here, we should first mention what she's left behind. Barb graduated from Beloit Memorial high school in 1956. It was at this high school that she was active in such activities as: forensics, G.I.A., Future Teacher's club, Scireland Scroll, cheerleader, and the biggest honor of all was being elected to the National Honor society.

This high school base was a stepping stone to success in college. Barb was a little doubtful about staying at CSC, but thanks to the Alpha Sigs, she felt at home away from home. She enjoyed sorority and so even though her two friends from home (that she came with in her Freshman year) didn't return the next year, she did. Barb had her sorority sisters to keep her occupied and happy. Sorority got her started by choosing her as their Chaplain one year and their corresponding secretary the next. Barb is also in WRA, and in Primary council where she now holds the office of recording secretary. During her stay at the dorm, in her Freshman year, she was dorm treasurer and is now the house president at 900 Portage street (this is no easy task!)

One of Barb's main interests, now, is the third grade at the Campus school where she is practicing teaching under Mrs. Williams. Primary is agreeing with her and she's more than pleased with her experiences in the teaching field. Since third grade seems to be what she's been looking for, she wants to teach third graders forever after, either in Rockford or Beloit. Her interests range beyond the third grade, however. In Rockford, Illinois, lives a man named Eddie Hickman. So, as you may have surmised, the third graders in Rockford will be calling her "Mrs. Hickman!"

The thought of leaving this institution brings this to mind for Barbara. "My days here at CSC shall never be forgotten. It sounds corny, but I mean it!" Freshmen, a message from Barb, "It's all what you give that tells what you get!"

So ends the life of Barb Williams and it's a good thing she missed her bus to Beloit Wednesday or she wouldn't have made it this issue. We who have gotten to know Barb shall always remember her and we know she'll be one of the most cheerful third grade teachers that has ever rocked Rockford!

Shop Talk

By Kenneth Wood

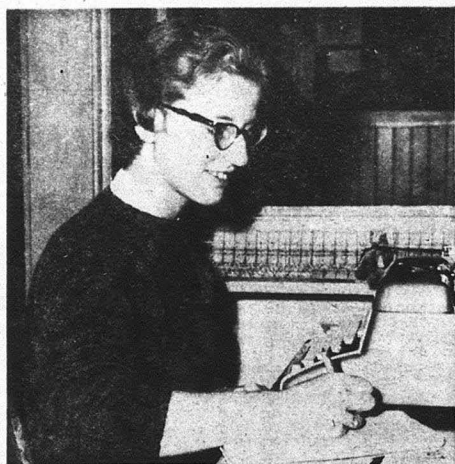

There are only 16 shopping days left in the Book Shop before Christmas. What better and most lasting gift could you give to a friend than a good book? This month and next the Book Shop will feature displays of books that will make wonderful Christmas presents. This month's display features biographies and auto-biographies in both hardbound and paperbound editions.

One of the books on display in the shop is J. E. Neale's, "QUEEN ELIZABETH I." This book, the author explains, was written for "the body of laymen and women interested in a great historical personality," and I am sure you will have to look far to find any greater personality than Queen Elizabeth I.

Elizabeth, the first English queen of any consequence, was a person who characterized the change that was taking place in Europe at that time. It was the period of the Renaissance which stressed the change from religious to secular learning. Elizabeth was well versed in Latin, French, Italian and Greek, the languages prominent at the time.

She was not only learned, but managed to rise from the illegitimacy placed on her by her father, Henry VIII's remarriage. Elizabeth became one of the most individualistic persons in history because of this fact.

This biography of Elizabeth is humorous as well as informative. Why not come in and look at it? I'm sure you will like it. While you are there, browse awhile and find a book to give to someone for Christmas. I am sure you will find something he will like.

RICHARD A. SCHREIBER

Jerry Madden, junior, Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin. "Thanksgiving brings that first relaxing break in our career of studying when we can go home and meet all our buddies and hash over old times."

Mrs. Samuel Burgess, secretary, College Union. "Thanksgiving to me means a time to review our 'personal ledgers' and give thanks to God for the many 'pluses' we find."

"Being privileged to live in this wonderful United States with its freedom of thought and worship is a large 'plus' for each of us to be thankful for."

"I am especially thankful this year for the opportunity I have had to view college life at its best, and to get to know the sincerity the students have in taking advantage of the many blessings our country offers us all."

FRANK TUCEK

MRS. SAMUEL BURGESS

Frank Tucek, sophomore, Wat-sau, Wisconsin. "Thanksgiving always reminds me of the man who was complaining constantly about his worn out shoes, until one day he saw a man with no legs. This essentially is what this day means to me. To be happy with what I've got and not sad about what I haven't got."

Miss Helen Hansen, College nurse, dormitory director, Nelson hall. "Thanksgiving is one of our traditional American holidays — and in keeping with early American traditions is secular, rather than a part of any one religious belief. Consequently, it has become a part of them all. It is a time to stop and remember the many good things we enjoy — both material and non-material — and also, how we have come to enjoy them."

DONNA JOHNSON

MISS HELEN HANSEN

Dr. William H. Clements, professor of education.

"Thanksgiving is giving thanks to God for the really important things we have: life, freedom, the fellowship of congenial fellow-men, the ability to think and to adapt to this remarkable environment, our worthy purposes in life,

Darlene Dequalne, junior, Casco, Wisconsin. "It means:

(1) Homecooked meals — different than my own improvised ones. Mother prepares them.

(2) A few days of relaxation?

(3) A chance to meet my former high school friends who've also gone to college or are working in other towns."

Judy Anderson, sophomore, Waupaca, Wisconsin.

"Thanksgiving is a time for getting together with family and friends — and — no school!"

Donna Johnson, sophomore, Waupaca, Wisconsin.

"Thanksgiving is a time of giving thanks for everything that we have. It is also a time for getting together with your friends and family."

John Wozniak, freshman, Goodman, Wisconsin.

"Thanksgiving is a time when the school closes and a guy can go home and get something decent to eat."

George Howlett, senior, Green Bay, Wisconsin.

"Thanksgiving means a chance to get home and see the family, take some time to relax from study or work and celebrate with a big meal. But more than that, it means the day to say aloud what should be in our hearts always. Thanks be to God, who made all things."

Richard A. Schreiber, sophomore, Rio, Wisconsin.

"I think Thanksgiving is a time when we should say thanks for living in the country we are in. Besides it means four straight days of deer hunting."

Ross Porter, sophomore, Baraboo, Wisconsin.

"Thanksgiving is a time to be thankful for all the things we have, and it's the time we can all get together with old friends."

On Being Educated

By George Howlett

Why is it that every time we have a fine program in the auditorium there is such a noticeable lack of attendance? We all pay a good sum for an activity ticket. Why are we afraid to use its privileges? There is no excuse to say these programs interfere with studies. Studies can be fitted in at other times of the day if there is real interest in these programs. But, I am forced to say that the proper interest is lacking because of one simple fact. Culture and anything that has to do with the enjoyment of the finer things of life is to many of the so called students on this campus a dirty word. Our people have come here to get a degree so that they can make more money or to insure getting a good job. We buck for grades, join organizations and what all to get our names on the record so we might be noticed by those who can help us make a success of life in the secular world. Or, we see if we can just get by on the minimum of effort, not knowing at all why we are here.

But to broaden our interests, to come to understand what a college education should mean to us, is beyond our abilities. If we could only understand the following meaning of the word culture — the development of mind and body by education and training. There is little interest in educating the whole man. We are content to spend our free time out at certain social establishments and have nothing against coming in "all tore up" in the early hours. If we make so much fuss about the Russian triumphs in science, let us not forget their triumphs in the line of culture. Here, too, we have some catching up to do!

We have some fine assembly programs coming up this year. Let's see them well attended. You might discover that this part of your college education, so long neglected, can become quite enjoyable.

Senior Primary Council Supports Annual Project

Senior Primary Council held their regular meeting November 2 with Beverly Marko presiding. We decided to support the Lac du Flambeau Christmas project again this year. A bake sale and a candy sale, an appeal for donations at the Thanksgiving assembly (students, keep this in mind), and the "thank-you gift" from the Campus school will be means of raising money to send each school child on the reservation a personal, wrapped gift.

The idea of starting another nursery school on Saturday was briefly discussed.

Dr. Burdette Eagon spent some time explaining the Minnesota Teacher Attitude Inventory test which all primary majors are taking.

People Never Learn

By Lloyd Mertens

Last week while most American adults were improving their culture by reading "Lady Chatterley's Lover," Fidel Castro was telling his people that the United States was responsible in one way or the other for all of Cuba's troubles. Therefore, in order to be a good Cuban, you must be a member of the "hate America club."

There was a time when Castro was liked by all freedom loving people of the world. To most of them he was an educated man, a lawyer, dedicated to bringing a free government to Cuba.

Mankind loved Fidel all the more when his army of "beatnik" bearded men entered Havana and Batista left for places with a more home-like atmosphere.

Now Castro, having destroyed most of his enemies and a good share of his loyal friends, has decided to take on the United States.

Castro can't hurt the United States too much at the present time, but he can hurt his own people. And if he goes the way most men do when they start acting the way he does, he probably will start the ball rolling with a reign of terror. Then he may as well invite Batista back to the country and take lessons from an expert on how to do away with political enemies.

But, if he doesn't start a reign of terror he could break his country's back by simply keeping up his hate America campaign. Congress (US) is getting a little perturbed with Fidel for remarks that he has been throwing at us. So next year when the boys down below the gallery may forget to give Cuba the sugar quota, we can get sugar from other places.

If this happens the Cuban people will go hungry. When people get hungry the boys with the big red stars on their beanies are going to be out there making a sales pitch on the advantages of living under the Hammer and Sickle.

But, dear student, don't worry about the events down below the Keys for more important things are going on right here in the United States. For example, recently Americans found out that men tell fibs on T.V. and win money for doing so.

Poet's Corner

Conformist

Little brain, you sit upon your perch
Enclosed in your cage of lies.
You speak what has been taught you.
Outside the cage is Eternity.

Dead

Where are you going rain?
Why do you push me down?
Trying to take me with you?
Or trying to humble me
Now that I am kneeling
Under your force?
Why humble me?
I have no pride
None — to venture your temper.

Now you throw your
Handfuls of needles
Bending me nearer
To your crowd.
Even your crowd is angry.
It swirls in turmoil around me.

At last you soften and still.
Your white kisses warm me
As you cover me with your
Blanket of love.

I lie peaceful in your warmth
And your sleeping crowd around me.
I want to sleep too.

Rather depressing reading about a person who froze to death. Although they say it's a pleasant way to go. You feel warm and happy and so content just before . . .

One of the "singingest" sororities on campus is Tau Gamma Beta whose members have formed two singing groups. The Tau Gamma quartet of last year composed of Karen Braem, Jean Morzinski, Virginia Fischer and Mary Lou Schieb received state-wide recognition when they performed at the Wisconsin Home Economics College club section convention held here recently. They have also sung at the Professional Women's Association banquet. The newest group is giving these "veterans" a rest and boasts as participants Diana Dunn, Barbara Kopp, Joan Trickey, Nancy Vanden Heuvel and Jo Ann Van Ornum. There should be a good deal of music in the air when these two groups blend voices!

Tau Gamma Beta sorority held its adviser installation and pledge ceremony at the home of Carol Woodward, Tuesday evening, November 3. A short business meeting followed the ceremony. Miss Elinor O'Connor was installed as an adviser for the Tau Gambs. The two pledges, Albee Viessenz of Oconto and Gail Wiklund of Wisconsin Dells were formally accepted. After the ceremony a light dessert and coffee were enjoyed. The entertainment, provided by the newly organized singing group, was the serenading of the pledges with "You'll Never Walk Alone." Mrs. Marjorie Kerst was a guest at the occasion.

The Omegas are once again busying themselves by making various Christmas objects to sell at their annual Christmas bazaar! They plan to have their sale in the Home Economics parlors this year, if possible. There will be further information as to the date and time later.

The Omegas gave a party for their patronesses, honorary members, and others who have helped the sorority. Mrs. Phyllis Ravey and Mrs. Mary Samter were made honorary members at this November 17 party. The theme was "Around the World" to fit in with the entertainment for the evening, which was Miss Hill's slides of Europe. The party was held in the Union.

It seems as though this is really the party time of the year. The Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority activities and pledges will be entertained at a reciprocal party by the actives and pledges of Psi Delta Psi December 1 at 8 P. M. in the Union.

If there is suddenly a burst of white blazers with green emblems on Tuesday this year, don't be alarmed. We aren't being invaded! It'll just be the Psi Deltas with their new sorority attire. There will probably only be a few seen before Christmas, though, as most of the members have decided to ask "good old Santa" for this as a Christmas present!

Alpha Sigma Alpha observed the founding of their sorority with a special program Sunday evening, November 22, at the home of Elaine Searl. After dessert of cream torte and coffee, the traditional founding was portrayed in a reading. The local chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha became a national sorority five years ago. The founding ceremony was another all-white ceremony for the sorority. After the service, court whist was played.

Bernie's Best Bets

By Bernard B. Coulthurst

"Jayhawkers." Among the guerrilla bands which fought for and against slavery in the middle west in pre-Civil war days, one of the best known was the "Jayhawkers" of Kansas territory. The movie does not identify their stand in regard to slavery for it concentrates on the dream of Luke Darcy (Jeff Chandler) who hoped to make Kansas his private domain. Cam Bleeker (Fess Parker) a Mexican war hero is the one who finally disrupts Luke's plans by turning him in to the law. Summing things up: Good historical movie concerning the struggle for Kansas.

"Best of Everything." "This city cousin of 'Peyton Place' concerns three young secretaries in a New York publishing firm, who seem bent on collecting as many broken hearts as possible. Gregg (Suzy Parker) is abused by a director, and April (Diane Baker) by a playboy, but Caroline (Hope Lange), being the lead, gets to have her heart broken twice by her childhood beau. She also makes it from secretary to editor in ten months flat, scarcely using her elbows, but at the end she simply walks off with her real love down Park avenue, leaving ambition back in the ink mines. Miss Lange is attractive and believable against some slick color shots of New York, but only Joan Crawford, as a careerist, manages to get any real spunk into the picture. She looks as if she devours little secretaries for breakfast, and under the circumstances, it's difficult to condemn her," is what Time magazine has to say about "Best of Everything." Summing things up: Time's rating, "Best" is none too good.

"Jayhawkers" will be playing at the Fox theater from November 25 to 28; "The Best of Everything" plays December 2 to 5.

Outlook Good, Season Begins

Basketball season is finally here! The Pointers should have one of their better seasons in many years.

Thursday, November 19, the Pointers played ex-stars from past CSC and Badger history. The game was played in the P. J. Jacobs gym.

Last night, November 23, the Pointers played host to St. Mary's of Minnesota. The game was played in the P. J. Jacobs gym. Score was unknown at the time of publication.

The Pointers will be strong in the front line with Sampson and Herold as guards. Anteliffe and Gurtler will be playing the post spots. The other starter is not known at this time.

The Pointers have strong reserves to help back up the first five men in the persons of Wojtusik, Kottke, Schramm and Curran.

Let's all get out-and back the Pointers this year. We have the material to have a winning season this year, so let's show a little spirit!

Fraternity Features

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The Chi Delta Rho-Sigma Phi Ensign Alumni corporation board of directors elected its officers for the 1959-60 term last Sunday evening.

The officers are: Roman Cooper, president; Norman E. Knutzen, vice president; Robert McLeod, secretary-treasurer. The remaining directors include: Orland E. Radke, Gilbert Faust, Weldon Leahy, Donald Walter, Don Danielson and Garv Goddard, the undergraduate director. Chi Delta Rho was the fraternity founded on this campus in 1930, that petitioned Sigma Phi Ensign fraternity for a national charter. It was presented to the charter in 1959, by representatives of the national headquarters.

Tau Kappa Ensign

Tuesday, November 10, sixteen pledges began their formal training for TEKE. They are: Charles Weber, William O'ara, Dennis Williams, Jerry Linde, Schroepfer, Tom Starket, Tom Hart, Wayne Schuette, Robert Charles Newby, Gary Cook, Gary Jonely, Perry Wagner, Bill Groth, Rodney Vail, Wayne Konkle and Daniel Housfield.

REVEILLE

Turkeys, cranberries, and 550's; after this comes indigestion. What would have happened to the 550 organization, if they had used the cancer spray on barley instead of cranberries? Nothing! An organization such as the 550's doesn't have to rely on cranberries to keep existing.

To get serious now; at this time of the season we would like to express what we are thankful for. We would like to thank the married vets' wives for letting their husbands come to the meeting. We are thankful for the absence of women at our meetings; because women mean trouble. Besides they would have to be ex-service women and the last one I saw bowled me out for calling her sir instead of ma'am. We would like to thank the faculty for not passing out low grade slips before the required time. We would like to thank the biology department for killing all those little frogs; because who wants to live in the frozen mud and under the ice anyway. We would like to thank the student body for their fine school spirit. To verify this, we must look at our beautiful new field-house being constructed to accommodate our athletic activities. We would like to thank the snack bar for their well organized service early in the morning when no one really needs that cup of coffee anyway. We are thankful for the fine weather we have been having; to give the students an excuse for being late to class. We would like to thank the automobile manufacturers for getting our suitcase students home on weekends, so we can see them for five days again the following week. We would like to thank all students who misuse the 550 bulletin board, because if they keep on we won't be responsible for it much longer.

The Scoop From Schup

Norm Dorn and Hank Yetter head a list of promising wrestlers for the 1959-60 season. This year's squad seems to have reversed form from the last two years with most of the team strength being centered around the lighter weights. Coach Gene Brodhagen will have trouble filling the gap at the heavier weights especially with the loss of two of last year's stars: Jack Blosser and Gene "Butch" Sorenson at the 167 pound class and the heavy weight division.

It seems that very few of the "Frank Buck's" around campus have brought back any good luck stories about deer hunting. It sure is different this week going up to the third floor of Steiner hall than it was before the season started.

The Badgers still had a chance to travel to sunny California on New Year's Day after the Illinois game, but the chances would have been better if the game would have ended five seconds sooner. However, they had better have defeated Minnesota and hope that Illinois ties or beats Northwestern. About the only thing good that came out of the Illinois victory was that I won a bet of one hamburger on the game. Thank you, Sue!

Your food dollar goes further . . . a lot further . . . when you eat with us regularly. Read on — and save!

A dollar bill buys the Spa's famous cheese and sausage pizza . . . and another 50 cents will bring you the largest pizza we make . . . with the works. Thirty-five cents is the price of the Spa's hamburger sandwich, with the cheeseburger only a nickel more. And those prices include a cup of fresh-brewed coffee. There's a real chunk of meat in these sandwiches, too — some restaurants don't give as much on their hamburger steak dinners! And if you're really hungry, ask for our hamburger steak . . . on the dinner or plate at $1.50 or $1.15, respectively. The Spa's famous small tenderloin steak is just $1.25 for the plate lunch, while the "chicken plate" is only $1.35.
