Harry James Coming To CSC

CSC Hosts County College Visitors

The date for this year's County College Visitations day is Wednesday, April 19. At this time, the faculty members, students and the county college at Antigo, Medford, Merrill, Wautoma, and Wisconsin Rapids will be guests of Central State College.

The visitors will be taken on a tour of the campus and will be given a dinner in the Union. In the afternoon a program will be presented consisting of a discussion of student housing and co-ed loans to students. A talk will be given by the Dean of Men, Mr. Orland Rudeke, and the Dean of Women, Mrs. Ethel Fritts.

The purpose of Visitations day is to explain to the graduates of the county colleges what they have to do to complete their degrees in elementary education. After receiving their diploma from the county colleges, they must complete work on a degree within seven years. They can work toward their degrees at any of the state colleges where they can become full-time students or participate in the extension classes or summer session. A year of previous teaching is not necessary, but it is not necessary before becoming a full-time student.

The state colleges give two years of credit in elementary education to county college graduates who will reduce the credit where the student earned a B grade. County college credits are needed to complete degrees in secondary education or Letters and Science.

State College Enrollment Sets Second Semester High

The final second semester enrollment at the Wisconsin State Colleges sets a record high for that period with 15,051 students on the rolls. Also graduates of high schools in this spring's enrollment will be 60.

This represents an increase of 1,598 over the number enrolled at the time of the second semester's third week last year, said Eugene B. Walker, director of state colleges.

McPhee also called attention to another development in the rapidly increasing enrollment situation. While it is customary for the enrollment to drop about six percent between the fall and spring semesters, this year's drop was about four percent. The fall enrollment was 15,644.

Counting those enrolled in extension classes and in campus activities, the total number of persons being served by the nine state colleges this spring is 20,600.

On campus enrollments at the individual state colleges include: Platteville, 1,735; La Crosse, 1,409, which is an increase over the enrollment of 1,318 in 1959; Platteville, 1,625; River Falls, 2,654 students; Progressive Point, 2,702; Stout, 1,387; Superior, 1,289; and Whitewater, 1,346.

Legislative scholarships which cover the remission of the freshman's tuition fees are held by 1,056 students during the second semester, while 149 hold rehabilitation certificates. Applicants for all scholarships are held by foreign students.

Three hundred and eighty-one of the students are new freshmen. Only 1,149 students, of all enrolled, are from outside Wisconsin. In this connection, more are enrolled at either Stout State College, which attracts many from all over the country because of its national reputation in industrial education and home economics, or at colleges located close to the borders of other states.

Library Theatre Presents "Order"

"Order" (The Word) by the famed Carl Dreyer will be the next presentation of the College Library Theatre. The 156-minute Danish film will feature English subtitles. Showings are at 6:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. on both Thursday and Friday.

This is a miracle play — a legend for today. "Order" was based on the life of Martin Bormann, Denmark's leading dramatist. It was written and designed by Bormann in 1944. The story poses an allegory rather than tells a story. It presents a village divided by religious friction. The "life-sustaining" and the "death-seeking" groups were designed to signify what is rotten in Denmark's soul and in the world's soul as well.

Harry James, the man "who has made a trumpet sweeter than any other human being," is the trumpeter here in person April 24. Harry James and his new 15-piece orchestra are sponsored by the sophmore class at the College Fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

The sophmore class won the ticket campaign in full force April 4. The ticket chairmen are now collecting deposits for the tickets. The tickets are $1 each. Tickets are also available at the Kennebec News Service at Lang-Laure in Stevens Point. Tickets will also be sold in Wisconsin Rapids, Marshfield, Antigo, Mosinee and Wausau. A limited number of tickets will also be sold at the fieldhouse the evening of the concert.

As part of the promotional campaign, seven area disk jockeys had the opportunity to interview Professor Nevada, home through the media of a conference phone call. Each over the various radio stations.

Library Theatre Presents "Order"
Cathrulations Are In Order

The members of Alpha Kappa Lambda should be congratulated for their efforts in bringing nature closer to the students of Central State.

A KAL has been working on a park near the fieldhouse, and present plans call for the labeling of all wildlife in the area, so the non-science student can recognize the trees and plants.

This is only one of the many services that the members of KAL are doing for their college. It is too bad that certain other organizations cannot show the example that KAL is making and leave their high school days behind them, while working to better their college.

It has been brought to my attention that two other groups are also doing outstanding work in offering their services to the community.

One of these groups has made a good start on this campus, winning the Songfest trophy and taking such an active part in the Winter Carnival. They are also working on the local cancer drive.

Also, a new fraternity of ex-boy scouts, Alpha Phi Omega, has outlined a broad program of proposed services to Boy Scouts in the Wisconsin Rapids, Marshfield, Stevens Point area. We wish them success in their undertaking.

Notes On An Editor's Desk...

Hats off to the sophomore class and its great work in getting Harry James and his orchestra to the CSC campus. There certainly must be organization behind the movement and much of the credit goes to Mr. Schroeper. Here's hoping the concert is as big a success as "From Here to Eternity" was last week.

Notice: The College library will be open Sundays starting next Sunday! The Hours are 2 to 9. Thank you, Mr. Kampega. The students here appreciate these new hours especially during these long periods of exams.

Look as though spring is finally on its way, noticed the Campus Paper, Who presents the following kites on Schmeele field last week. Also see that the freshman team is starting its practice on the Nelson Hall tennis court. JAJ.

A Pro-Committee Man Speaks

To the Editor,

The blunt statement in the Poinier that the House Committee on Un-American Activities is "definitely violating the constitution in the way that it conducts business," and that it should be abolished, is one that I cannot help but commend on its merits. The writer gives no evidence whatsoever to support this accusation, which might be called the inherent absurdity of such a statement. The writer does not mention the fact that the House Committee is a body without a legal base.

Perhaps in the context of his comment, he implies that this was the conclusion reached by those students who were present at the showing as a result of the film. This is certainly not the case, as would have been obvious had they attended. This is quite apart from the question of the validity of the discussion was dominated by certain faculty members, who as spokesmen for the showing who attempted to discuss the controversy and existence of the committee.

Perhaps it is appropriate to mention the organization which is leading the fight against the committee, the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, quoting Representative Scherer, "the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee is the most active, the most dangerous Communist-dominated and controlled organization in the country today."

In the U.S. internal security is unquestionably one of our greatest problems. Those who believe the Communist threat to be phony will do well to read the Inquisition, which was known as the most dangerous threat to our security.

Although some criticism of the film is a serious problem, the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee is even more dangerous. Although some criticism of the film is a serious problem, the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee is even more dangerous. Those who believe the Communist threat to be phony will do well to read the Inquisition, which was known as the most dangerous threat to our security.

Alumnus Receives Honorable Mention
Jerry Madison, a 1957 graduate of Central State College, has received honorable mention from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. This year the Foundation awarded 1,333 graduate school fellowships, in addition to fellowships given as well as according honorable mention to 1,844 others.

The Foundation has announced that the names, fields of study, and the undergraduate colleges have been sent to the deans of all graduate schools in the United States and Canada and to the Foundation's faculty representatives on 1,158 campuses. On the basis of past experience, the Foundation anticipates that most of those winning honorable mention will receive alternate awards either directly from universities or from other agencies.

In announcing the 1961-62 winners, Dr Hugh Taylor, president of the Foundation, estimated total values for this year's awards at $3,000,000.

In addition to awards for first year graduate study, the Foundation annually makes student payments totaling nearly $2,000,000 to the various graduate schools where Woodrow Wilson fellows enroll.

Since the Fellowship program began, the Foundation has given a total of 5,065 Woodrow Wilson Fellowships.

Madison, whose hometown is Marshfield, received a Bachelor of Science degree in Central State College. His major field is history.

POLICY CHANGES OF REGENTS TOLD

June high school graduates who rank in the lower quarter of their class but still hope to enter the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point will be urged to prove they are college caliber by carefully completing a summer session.

This policy was backed recently by a number of State College admissions officers and was expected that more and more high school graduates with poor academic records will be strongly advised to "try out" during the college's summer session.

It will still be possible for them to gain admission to the College Qualification Test, but the students will not be admitted until the summer session.

Many State College presidents believe that rank in class and marks on report card do not indicate academic capability overly valid, and that having a student carry a summer program during the summer session could be a better test.

"If the student finds out in the summer session that he cannot do college work, then it is in time to make plans for the coming fall," Longhorn emphasized the method less expensive to the student, the State College, the state, if the student decided he did not like "college work" and failed.

With more students enrolling, there will be an increased demand for summer sessions, Longhorn said.

"Oesthals, counseling lower quartered students, will at least give them a real chance to prove whether they can do the job that establishes small athletic entrance barriers."

"The policy was strongly pointed out that enrolling in the summer session would result in the potential freshman to secure financial aid for greater college eligibility and that it would also give the student a chance to prove whether or not he could cope with the college's physical and instructional necessities.

However, while going along with the decision, Richard Hibbard, president of Eau Claire State College, said that summer session attendance should not be regarded as the only way of indicating potential college material or as a substitute for lower quartered applicants, who may be made available to them," said Hibbard.

Dear Editor

Since the last issue of the Pointer, Alpha Kappa Lambda has been on the warpath.

First off, the club-footed sand dust head returned and deliberately ruined the repaired young Douglas Fir tree that was striving for life.

Next, the College Union Board and its A.C. Societies are trying to take credit for sponsoring the Waterfall.

The Woodchopper's Ball has been held on our campus. A. K. L. was fortunate enough to win the Winter Carnival trophy.

The word was passed that the winning organization would be engraved on the trophy and placed in the college Union snack bar. The Woodchopper's Ball plans a function of A. K. L. for many months and all expenses, including the orchestra are paid for by the Union.

"If the Union Board wants to claim title to sponsoring the Woodchopper's Ball, then it should foot the bill and reimburse A. K. L.

"Two weeks ago the Winter Carnival was held on our campus, A. K. L. was fortunate enough to win the Winter Carnival Trophy, that Inter fraternity, non-patron, and no money can be seen! Who knows, maybe the money was spent on jackets for the winter carnivalers."

Richard Smith, A. K. L. Reporter
Journalism Class Visits
St. Point Daily Journal
by Chandra Mukherji
The Stevens Point Daily Journal is not a new name to the CSC students, but how many of them actually have wanted to know the inside story of its printing and publishing? The answer is very few, including the group of journalism student at CSC who went there on April 6 to get a first-hand idea of its operation.

From the news — when it happened and where it happened — to the news story one would read in the printed form, a fascinating chain of step takes place.

As soon as a noteworthy incident happens the ever alert reporter would gather and send items either directly to a newspaper or more often to special news agencies. They in turn would transmit the news, which a teleprinter machine, an indispensable tool of modern newspaper world, would receive and type on a tape automatically. This machine runs 24 hours a day. It can send news too.

After that a series of mechanical steps would transform the typed news to a newly dressed and assorted form of lead letters corresponding to the news. Linotype, Intertype and Telotype setters are some of the machines worth mentionning. Linotype machines set the headlines and big advertisements.

These assorted forms, page by page, would then impress on a thick cardboard sheet called a mat. The mat again would be inserted in a cylinder under pressure. The molten lead would be fed in the cylinder so that a cylindrical cast with impression would come out.

Finally, the cast impression would take its position in the big Rotary machine and start printing newspapers.

From the press, papers would come out not only as printed but also folded, weighed, counted and ready to go out.

Another interesting item is the photo division. An electric photo printing machine would create an impression of any photo on a sheet of plastic. This plastic sheet would finally help print pictures on the newsprint.

The Journal has a circulation of 8000 — 90% by mail and the rest by newsboys.

Mr. Ed Richer, circulation manager, very kindly accompanied the group as a guide and presented a lucid explanation of all the operational functions.

Music Department Present Recital
The CSC music department presents Helen and Paul Baumlanger, duo-pianists, in concert Monday, April 27. The concert begins at 8 p.m. in the Union Lounge.

The program is as follows: "Sonata for Two Pianos: Chimes, Allegro, Canon, Reconstructive, Fugue" Hindemith; "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," Bach; "Sonata in C Major" Albrecht, Tempo di Minuetto, Johann Christian Bach.

Spring Concert Program Planned
CSC Music department will hold its annual spring band concert on Wednesday, April 19, in the college auditorium at 8 p.m. Mr. Paul J. Wallone, of the music faculty, will conduct.

The program will include such varieties of performances as an overture to "Blindfold," a concert for wind ensemble and piano, a baritone suite, prelude and fugue, fantasy, concertino and a number of other selections.

Consequently, Mr. Dean Blair, instructor of the same department, has written the concertino. Though he has composed on a number of occasions for college performances this is his first work on band.

Judith Ungrodt will play the solo in the concert. She is a music major senior from Medford.

Another music major senior, Richard Strood, of Wisconsin Dells, will present as a tuba soloist in the fantasy for solo tuba and band.

Out of the Pen

Most of you will probably think that this column is just plain "out of it." Perhaps so, but have you ever observed nature so closely that you felt almost as if the trees and streams were talking? I feel almost certain that many fishermen on the first day of the season and long afterward talk to the streams and to the fish. Why then don't they talk back — if we use our imaginations a little!

The weeping willows whisper softly: "What are they saying? Can't you tell?" Listen. They are speaking of love — the love of man for man and the love of God for all. Who are we to question this? While we retreat in time of storm, it is the tree who stands straight and tall. Oh, yes, they bend a little now and then, but don't we all? Yes, it is the tree, who knows — if only we could hear and understand. But then, how often do we even stop to listen, stop and look and listen and try to understand? In this world of rush-rush-rush which dominates the American scene how many, yes, how many stop to notice the brook or the willow or the pine? Our life is a good life, but it can be a life of so much more if only we had the time!

Alpha Kappa Lambda

Alpha Kappa Lambda, often called the "southenders" of CSC, by some people, is a national conservation fraternity on campus.

Even though this group receives many unfavorable comments from such sources as the Hawk's Nest, it does have its good points.

Organized in 1947, with many purposes pertaining to conservation, Alpha Kappa Lambda has gained a name to be counted on by conservation organizations on campus with a membership exceeding 150 members.

Like other organizations, Alpha Kappa Lambda sponsors public service programs. In 1949, when a tree was toppled by strong winds, many members of Alpha Kappa Lambda gathered the logs and lumber from this tree and converted them into the Wentworth State College sign that is presently found on the front campus lawn, giving recognition of the college to all passersby.

Before this semester ends, students of the college will be able to enjoy a park for nature study, and other purposes.

Picture is like those that make Alpha Kappa Lambda function as a group in order to counteract the constant blustery winds that receipt to our outside sources everyday.

As a result of a recent enrollment of the members of the Siasesi are overflowing and happiness reigns throughout. Coupled with the starting of spring and park days so there will be very few sad members to be observed around campus.

The chairman of the bulletin board committee has been busy with the recent Easter display was more in order with the tastes of the "censors" or whatever they intend themselves to be.

The vacation was too fatiguing on the members some of which traveled to far distant lands in the vicinity of southern Florida. Those that report that the weather is fine and so is everything else that was reported to exist there.

Spring is Here, So are the Birds

By Georgiana Slownvase

If you haven’t gotten a touch of spring fever by now, you’re either a living dead, or “Mighty sick, man!”

Good cheer, spring is here, every good nature lover in general should notice it very acutely.

For one thing, the birds are winging their way over Wisconsin returning after their summer holiday via the Mississippi flyway. You may meet yourself to man, the birds, but realy what is as thrilling as viewing a high-flying “V” of geese. or seeing the first robin? Or seeing the first robin? Or hearing birds when winter was so long and still? Especially the voice of the laughing birds or the melodious meadowlark?

I say to you students - watch for the birds! And the flowers! Course you all know this is a remmination for the birds and the bees anyway!

Special greetings are in order for CSC sorority pledges who seem to be bearing up very well during their four week pledge period. In spite of a few faked pledge pin ribbons and some jiggled paves in the pledge books, all (including the actives) are still "grandstanding"! All the pledges are being kept busy planning and carrying out plenty of activities these days. And just so each girl will have something to remember pledging by tax day (or could you forget it?), the pledges probably will be able to check off their pledge dates. The girls will select the "man of the moment" and ask him out on a date. This may explain the even greater than usual number of female calls to Nelson and Defelisi. (Just kidding about the last girls). You know, for everyone involved, there's no need to go into the details because if you have pledging and you haven't, last I heard, you didn't even identify a pledge, were nice to her, and went on a pledge date. It would not work and she asked to roommate instead, you can either address your questions to Ann Landers care of your local newspaper or else just wait until the fall running season and try again.

One last word to the pledges. Are you feeling tired, run-down, fed up with the whole pledging experience? Then just remember, you are not alone, every other pledge is feeling the same way. Taylor's "bait" is just as bad a as yours, and you probably got a special offer on vitamins down at the drug store...

William (Bill) Clark
A very familiar person at CSC is Bill Clark. He has been born and brought up near Plainfield, Wis. Bill is a music major and began his musical work early in life.

While attending Tri-Country high school in Plainfield, he participated in many contests and won numerous awards in vocal, saxophone, and trumpet solo work. He was lead singer in the Hancock Drum and Bugle corps and attended a three-week music course at the University of Wisconsin.

He was also president of the Student council and the senior class.

When Bill came to us in the fall of 1957, he continued his active participation in college activities. As a member of College Theater, he had one of the lead roles in "Sabrine Fair" and a lesser role in "Each of the August Moon." He also had the lead male role in the opera "The Medium.

Bill has been a soloist with the college choir for three years and has been a member of the brass choir, the swing band, and the college band as well as being the manager of the college pep band in 1958-59.

Last month Bill presented his senior recital and has had active roles in city music organizations. He has played in the Civic orchestra and last summer was a member of the Stevens Point Municipal Band.

Bill is married and has a little boy, Thomas, now two years old. Next fall will find Bill and his family living in Madison where he has just signed a contract and will be teaching band in the high school there.

His words of advice are to those who may be considering marriage during college: "Don't do it unless you are sure you can finish school. Marriage is a wonderful thing — in fact, I think the most wonderful thing that ever happened to me — but I have heard too many young married couples say they would never do it over again if they had another chance. So, be sure!" This is the voice of experience speaking, co-ed, so take heed.

As Bill leaves our campus, we wish to thank him for giving so much of his time and talents to us and to wish him much happiness and success in his future teaching career.

Caryl Erickson Haack came to us in 1957 from Montana high school where she was active in forensics and the drama club and was a member of the Drum and Bugle corps.

Caryl decided to take advantage of the out-of-school outside her door and has become well-known on campus through her many activities here at CSC.

Security has played a big part in her four years here. Caryl belongs to Ozara Mu Chi sorority and has been their historian, press representatives, and, last semester, president. Security is a thing she will always remember when recalling happy memories. She considers it a valuable experience which no girl should miss.

Other activities she has participated in included Newman club, coaching junior high school forensics and work on the Police staff as assistant news editor and news editor.

Caryl has done practice teaching in the seventh grade at the Campus school and is presently teaching tenth grade English at St. Jacques high school. She also works part-time for the record of the above profile for this year.

Of course, Caryl's most memorable experience was meeting Willie Haack and getting married to her this year.
