What would your reaction be if you were to enter the Central State College campus tomorrow? I imagine that everyone will feel a sense of pride and anticipation. In fact, this is only another instance of the Union's ability to take on the mantle of the city's best student body. As the students continue to contribute to the welfare of the members of the Union, the Union itself becomes more institutionally valuable.

Two members of the sociology department, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, have been visiting a number of students majoring in sociology. They have found that many students feel very isolated and are not sure how to approach other students. To help alleviate this problem, the Smiths have organized a discussion of students with the idea of fostering cooperation and collaboration. The Smiths hope that their efforts will lead to a more integrated and cooperative student body.

Mr. Smith has also expressed his concern that the students are not taking advantage of the resources available to them. He suggests that the college should provide more information about the various assistance programs available, such as the loan repayment fund and the Federal government's programs for those with disabilities.

Mrs. Smith has emphasized the importance of good military skills in today's world. She suggests that the college should offer more courses in this area, as well as provide more opportunities for students to participate in the ROTC program.

The Smiths have been very impressed with the dedication and commitment of the students. They hope that the college will continue to support and encourage these students in their endeavors.

The Smiths have also expressed their concern about the lack of opportunities for women in the sciences. They suggest that the college should provide more resources for women interested in science, as well as offer more courses and programs in this area.

In conclusion, the Smiths believe that the college has a great deal to offer its students, and that they should take advantage of these opportunities. They hope that the college will continue to support and encourage its students in their endeavors.

HOLIDAY GREETINGS

Thanksgiving recess comes as the first break — a short one — in the college year. It is, of course, a holiday set aside for us to pause in our activity to give thanks for the many blessings we enjoy, and there are many, although we often take them for granted. It is also an opportunity for all of us to appraise our progress thus far and to determine whether we might improve on what we have been doing. Some of us can, and I am certain. There is still time in this semester to improve our grades, and it could be very worthwhile. So as we give thanks for our blessings and our talents, let us also resolve to utilize those talents to a somewhat higher degree. My best wishes to you for an enjoyable Thanksgiving holiday.

Veteran Educators To Retire in 1962

by Linda Dix

Thanksgiving means a lot of things to many people. For some, it means traveling upon their way of life. To others, it is the time of eating turkey, squash, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie. How ever, most Americans' thoughts concern one subject of Thanksgiving and with an overabundance of feeling of gratitude.

When I stop to consider all the events and things and ways of doing things, I think of my fellow Americans of every generation. I am heartened by the many reasons for celebrating Thanksgiving. In 1946, we declared hearty price and amount. We will be a little more thankful that the way we see the thousands of people who do not have adequate clothing, let alone a decent meal, on Thanksgiving.

The most disturbing thing is that there are so many people and it seems as if nothing is removed from the United States or our own country and in fact, in the world.

Get The Facts

What are the alternatives available for survival in today's age of the "big bomb" and "overkill"? Last Friday, the American Political Science Association and the Journal of Politics held a discussion panel, which the other members of the neutralist block in regard to the testing of nuclear devices and the crisis in East Germany and Southeast Asia. It stated very emphatically that there was nothing at all that could stem the Russia/China threat and that the United States is completely out of control. Since here is enough to allow Americans to fully realize the consequences war manifested through their denotation of a 50 megaton bomb ed president!

Quoted by C.L. Sulberger in New York Times
Unions Plans Expansion

Following a plan outlined by the Board of State College Regents, the Union Administration is advancing with expansion plans for the Union and dormitory food service facilities.

An original request for a 40,000 square foot addition to the Union to house recreation facilities and dormitory dining rooms was rejected and a second request has been submitted to the Board of Regents for their approval. The latest request is for a $650,000.00 addition to the Union, a 350,000.00 dormitory dining unit and a food store facility incorporating at least 100,000 square feet of storage space.

The food stores unit would provide adequate storage space for both the expanded Union and the dormitory unit and give the college Food Service Department the capacity for quantity purchasing and storage.

The dormitory dining unit is planned as an integral part of the housing units to be constructed on North Reserve Street. The requests for dormitories which have been authorized by the Regents will provide housing for 1,000 men in three units by the fall of 1961. It is planned that this dining unit would be constructed so that it would be feeding 600 men that live in the area. Plans are for 1,000 men living in the area to eat in this dining unit. Food service facilities for the 400-man dormitory now under construction would be in the present Union until the new Union is spacious enough to handle the expected dormitory facilities. The Union expansion plan is expected to cover approximately 36,500 square feet which would double the size of the present building. Modifications to the present food service areas were requested as well as additional facilities to service dormitory students, faculty, and guests. The remainder of the new building would be used for meeting rooms, recreation facilities, etc.

A faculty-student committee has been established to advise the Union administration on the needs of the campus and to help plan the facilities to be housed in the expanded Union. Three faculty members (Deans Radke and Effner, and Mr. Faust) and four students selected by the Union Board have been hard at work on preliminary requests and plans. A priority area of lists which should be included has been tentatively established and space allocations worked out. Details, however, will wait for final approval and completion.

Financing for the expansion of the Union and dormitory dining facilities will be provided in part by a Federal loan, based on the following estimate of space all locations worked out.

The dormitory dining facility is planned that space all locations worked out.

Debaters Open 1961 Campaign

Last Friday and Saturday, the tenth and eleventh, several students at Oakshott represented CSC in a debating tournament which involved the best teams of the Midwest. CSC did fairly well, considering their lack of collegial debating experience. Out of the approximate twenty-five students participating in the debate meetings, only four - Dave Herick, Dave Kemberger, Charles Fischer, and DeLeyle Bowers - had collegiate experience.

Among the promising new members of the debating team, Dave Aronson showed much talent by successfully debating against the senior team from Northwestern, probably the best team in the Midwest. This was Aronson's first collegiate experience, and since he was called on to debate at such short notice - the night before - he showed much promise.

December 9 will be the next and last debate of the current semester. This will be a freshman-sophomore debate held at the University of Illinois in Chicago. About six trips are planned for the spring semester - the time of most active debating. Depending upon the success of the team in the coming semester, they may travel to California and possibly to Washington, D. C.

This year, the topic for debate whether or not labor unions should be under the anti-trust system. This topic is kept throughout the season.

If anyone is interested in the debate team, there still is time to see Mr. Dowling, who is in 1038. He will be glad to give any information about the debate team.

CSC Students Fed Up Recently

A coffee hour会引起 the overseas students at CSC was recently held at the home of Mrs. David Pietzner. This event, held in conjunction with United Nations month was sponsored by the Provisional League of Women Voters of Stevens Point with Mrs. William Hansen as chairman.

The main topics of discussion at this informal meeting dealt with the work of the U.N. and how it related to the various students and their respective countries. In keeping with this general theme the decorations consisted of a variety of materials dealing with the U.N., including a United Nations flag.

These present at this event were the following members of the student group, Fred Amini, Jesse Kamali, Gabriel Cheng, Abbe Mahboubi, Crispus Mwaema, Don Muthengi, Judith Muthengi, Mrs. Virginia Liu and Rolanda Sierra, and these members of the faculty at CSC: Miss Nypais, advisor to the group, Deans Gordon Hafnerbecker, Elizabeth Nyquist, and Orland Radke and President William Hansen.

KAY CHESTRO

Kay’s life is filled with sports. She likes water skiing, boating, swimming, sailing, and all spectator sports, especially the Packers and Packer pointer teams. Most of these prove to be her hobbies, but she also likes listening to music, dancing, movies, any activites, and would like to develop most of her time to Omega Mu Chi.

Kay dislikes cooking, reading, and sophisticated college kids who can’t yell at games.

To the underclassmen, she says, “It would be nice if you could make a college on the eight-year plan. Four years is too short a time to really enjoy it.” She adds, “Don’t think your senior year will be a breeze.” It’s not.

Next year Kay wants to teach in a school close enough to come home for Homecoming, during the summer she wants to get her major in play. There are a lot of other things she would like to do but she will pursue teaching for a while. With her long life ahead of her, Kay should find plenty of time to look into many fields before she settles on one.

MIKE SRODA

All it takes to stay at CSC is “brains and brawn.” Just ask Mike Sroda, who is one of the big seniors who will be graduating this year and will be leaving the great Pointers champ lookout for the role of the year.

Mike came to Stevens Point in his senior year, of high school. He transferred from his home school, Armitage High at Armitage Junction, to Plover. That year he got his first opportunity to play football, baseball, and basketball. His love for life through high school, but that one year of football set him on the right track for College. Until he received a country and track should be given credit too.

In contrast to his rough, tough, athletic temperament, Mike belongs to the political organization called the Falcon For Fire. It’s hard to say if this year on the tamer side, but it wasn’t arguable anyway, along with that he took on the duties as class president, and in his senior year he would be president one year. As president of his class, he represented them in student council and became president of his senior year at Pacelli. He was also in Youth Council, and in high school, Piel and Piel had their president. He was on the National Honor Society his senior year.

Mike is majoring in economics and is a member of the Economics and Business Association. He is the social and rushing chairman of the Aquinas Club. This year he is the president of his class. He makes the scene as secretary of the Newman Club also.

Sports have been a big part of Mike’s college life. Basketball was forgotten while football and baseball took over for three years.

Mike enjoys collecting domestic crafts, American, English, and the fables of the fifties. To the Sportswriter, it is a must for everyone.

When the weather is this cold, there is no comfort to be had except the weather.

U.C.C.F. Open Study Session

Should Christians have anything to do with the Trinity? Why a Savior? What is Christ the Future Hope? Are these the questions that most frequently confuse college students, and cause them to question the validity of Christianity? Four study groups, one each, have been planned to enable college students to discuss these questions. Information will be distributed to the campus union is the time and place.

Starting off the sessions was the Nov. 13 meeting, “Should Christianity have connection to Sav,” led by Dr. Rhyo, CSC professor of History. Rev. David Muzzo, minister of the Presbyterian Church, led the Nov. 20 discussion, “Why a Savior?”. The topic of the Nov. 27 session will be led by Dr. Lee Burrows, CSC professor of English.

Six Gridders
Given Awards

Time: Thursday, Nov. 9, 4:45 p.m.
Place: Union Snack Bar Occasion: CSC Quarterfinals Club Awards.

The time, place and occasion of the awarding of the six awards to the six outstanding players on this year's CSC championship football team.

Coach Counsel present the awards to only six of the boys who played on that team to eliminate the most difficult choices he had ever faced. Also made it clear that although these were the boys that got the awards, the whole team deserved them.

The process of picking six from no less than 18 other outstanding players was first started when freshmen and sophomores were eliminated then, junior and senior job started of trying to choose six from relatively down players.

It was finally accomplished and these are the ones who received the awards: Mike Liebenstein, senior halfback; Bill Knue, senior quarterback; Don Herbst, junior offensive and defensive back; Dick Klander, senior end, Ed Herbst, junior defensive lineman; and John Goddich, junior defensive and offensive tackle.

It should be noted that Dick Klander's Union Snack Bar appearance playing here for three years and being so very interesting, Wisconsin football history. This exhibit would prove to be very interesting, this exhibit would have School has played on five championship teams with the conference.

During the year the above players involved in contemporary for outstanding games and other boys who received a pair of shoes for the Turkey Day game. Although not receiving awards for CSC throughout the season, these boys also received a coaching award but accepted only for the boys who assisted him throughout the season.

New that football has come and gone it is time for CSC stu- dents to start watching other sports such as wrestling and base- ball. This week it time for wrestling.

According to Mr. Burns, the wrestling coach, there is one of the best breakthroughs for wrestling that there ever has been up to now.

Not only are there quite a few boys out but the quality is much better than average. The coach said there "are at least four to five boys better than average boys in competition for each weight class."

He also stated "that no one acti- vates has a definite berth on the team and that everyone will have to work for it."

Men returning from last year's squad are Art Rosse, captain; Al Boshak, Kip Pang, Ken Mul- ler, Scott Mett, and Jim Herman. Anyone acquired wrestling last year will remember the per- formance of three junior seniors.

The schedule this year should be five dual meets and four tour- nament meets. The dual meets will be held at Stevens Point and the tournament being held here in Stevens Point, March 10, 1962.

On the 30th of this month elim- ination matches will be held in the main gym of the field house at 7:30 P.M. to see who will be wrestling in the meet the following Saturday.

Challenge matches will be held throughout the season, so that a fellow who thinks he is good enough to go to a meet can challenge a fellow that has been going. This is to keep everyone in the game and toes and in good shape.

The average wrestling match will run from 1 1/2 hours in length and there is always action so it is by no means boring. CSC wrestlers will be taking part in the NAIA national tournaments while they will be held in Wisconsin this year.

The first meet in Stevens Point will be held December 16 at 1:30 P.M. There are two before that as the team will have had a chance to toughen up some weak spots. To make it more convenient for the fans, the matches will be held prelimin- arily to a basketball game. So CSC Pointers let's get behind this team and really give them the CSC spirit.

Out for a smoke.

At a time of the year when everyone should be pausing to give thanks for whatever they have, CSC's coaches can be especially thankful for the people who make. It is the days of God are seen to be generous, CSC's coaches are very thankful for what they see and what they give to the boys. CSC for his college career he is certainly the finest all- time football player at CSC, for his college career he is certainly the finest all- time football player.

With the opening of the big-game hunting season last Saturday, local hunters are reminded of the human and big game population of the state. As usual, there will be a number of infestations in the woods, blasting at anything that moves with a special for those species wearing red or yellow hides. It certainly is a shame that there isn't a way to issue that homocidal mania would have to stay out of the woods or at least stay sober.

Some with a bloody season the deer kill should be high. Let's hope the reverse is true of the human kill and it remains at zero.

Give me the good old days when Thanksgiving celebration was just that, a time to give thanks for all the things life had to offer. In many years I have eaten away and have worked for a few days and sent to dinner a composed of a mass of supermarket products. I much rather have a dinner gracing my table that was the result of my own hard work and the gen- erosity of nature. Picture a table greasing with the weight of most of my eggs, of mashed potatoes, yellow mounds of baked golden brown sweet potatoes, steaming bowls of souffle, hun- dreds of meaty red stewed tomatoes and not bothered with canned from your own garden. Add to this steaming bowls of gravy made from the juices of roast venison and fried Venison, Venison, Venison platters of venison steak smothered with wild mushrooms, plus rice, potato and grous stewed with herbs of the garden. Add platters of fresh celery, arm, salmon, apples, raisins and celery, giving off unbearable scents. Take all this and serve it with a platter of crisp, thin, tan, soft, pis- ken pies covered with whipped cream and an infinite number of gaily decorated cakes and cookies all of which would be accom- panied by enormous platters of cold cuts, sausages, cakes, fresh milk and spicy apple cider.

This is the kind of Thanksgiving that is missing from today's rat race where everything is based on the ease with which it can be accomplished and not on the artistic character of really en- joying life. That is what I would like to see brought back.

REVELLE

The "Fighting Fifth" have returned and regrouped for further skirmishes. Even taking into consideration the delay between dates of copy and printing, this must be regarded as a new release, as reports are still filtering in from the battleground at Oak-look.

This skirmish took place not without caution, but considering the battle took place in a pre-selected area by the opposition and considering that they were already entrenched and had ex-celent reserves on hand (two sororities), we were still able to bring our colors through.

After the enemy was met, there ensued a long, hard, period of hand-to-hand combat.

Ah, the thrill of the battle! The smoked air, never knowing when you would have to seek cover (from an approaching tank, (and), or have suddenly engaged someone in close quarters.

Ah, the thrill of the battle!

For those of you unable to

The safari to La Crosse was a success as usual with everyone getting a good time and making lots of friends. Surprisingly enough, everyone found a ride home on the bus with the wind at our backs coming home it only took five hours. One sad note of the trip was that there was one organization (?) which didn't feel like backing their own school but instead thought it better to sit with our opponents. I guess to them I belong to both departments.

All I can say to this is that it possibly shows the true colors of this so-called organization.

"Happy Thanksgiving To ALL!"

COME YE THANKFUL PEOPLE COME

By Henry Alfred

Come, ye thankful people, come. Raise the song of harvest home.

All the blessings of the field, all the stores the garden yields.

All is safety gathered in, ere the winter storms begin.

God, our maker doth provide, for our wants to be supplied.

Come, then thankful people come, raise the song of harvest home!

REMEMBER, THANKSGIVING!

By G. Stowasser

The time has come to ponder, to allow our thoughts to wander;

regressing, to memories of pilgrims hard pressed, comparing;

their trials to our lives so blessed.

Oh, can we remember, a day in dull November, when hunting, the forest fair, for a feast that kin could share; kin of men as brother, minding not the color?

Today, we should take store, to assume that Indian lore;

forgetting, the race or creed; absolving, to help the need, of brother.
