A Few Thoughts

Some thoughts that need thinking about:

We agree with the Union Board House Committee that college students are mature enough to set their own clothes. In our opinion, students, when they are grown, become a professional atmosphere. When this dawns on them, when they have no one recommendations, dress "properly," whatever that means.

Each year, seems more regulations are added to a school's code. Granted, feminine-looking women are appearing men would be added an attraction to this campus. But we feel that this attitude toward dressing must develop. In a natural manner itself. Even when the way, we dres regulated, where will the regulations stop?

An interesting difference between cut-off blue jeans and Bermuda shorts anyway?

Again and again we hear that the Student Council is growing. And, while we admit this is true, we feel it is a result of the Student Council members are not growing with it.

At the last regular meeting of the council, business had to be suspended because enough council members to make a quorum did not remain throughout the meeting. The business at hand was the formation of a student council — very serious business indeed. Yet, apparently, most of these students do not feel responsible enough to remain at the meeting to see it settled.

Student government, being as important as it is, should be handled by responsible people. Students elected to the council, we believe, should not do what they do most after schoolwork itself, to that group.

Speaking of the student court, we shall be interested to discover the details of such an operation. We think perhaps it would be wise to have a permanent staff to handle nursery but it will deal with problems that must be handled carefully and tactfully.

However, we are guard against the possibility of becoming petty or overbearing. Just how much authority would it have? What would be the importance history? This, too, could become just another "regulations" body, unless it is handled wisely.

The next meeting of this court, will it be an interesting "creature" to watch. And we hope that future problems. Solve one and you have another.

We have weekend library hours, but we no longer get reserve books on Fridays. To many people, particularly common construction students, this is a problem. Perhaps, as someone has already suggested, this could be an addition to the reserve hours for students to stay on campus weekends. But we doubt it.

We do feel, however, that it is justifiable to keep reserve books on campus for the students that frequent the library. Before it was the students who remained here over the weekends. But now students have full schedules on Fridays, that had to do without. Now the tables are turned, and though you may leave on Friday, the books will not. Either way students on campus weekends — we glad that that fate has finally died, and we hope it stays that way.

We know now just why everyone always INSISTED that reserve books be kept on campus weekends. This, too, is something that each individual student must develop himself. If students do go home only because the trips are at 2 p.m., they will be left to their own maturing, which will come gradually. But most students who do travel home would not get, so far more logical or more pressing reasons than that.

And as for these inducing-students-to-stay-here-weekends activities — couldn't the money be better saved up and used for some really spectacular entertainment which more could enjoy than a handful of freshman? It is if students are so lacking in creativity and genius that someone else must provide entertainment for them each weekend.

We would like to encourage the students to participate in the various inaugual activities next weekend, particularly the "Germans" and "Central" in the school band. The inauguration of President James Albertson is the first, and one is to be congratulated well. It is only one we will ever have the opportunity to witness. The ceremony itself should be an inspiring one, and we hope that the weather will be ideal.

To the Editor:

We have asked the Student Council to comment regarding the dress policy decision of the Union Council. We approve of this in this matter at this time, and it would have also been a real precedent for the student concern in October of the student council has been thus far neither the Pointers concern. The Student Council did answer the question in this matter, as did the members of the Pointers concern, and the information was added.

A meeting was held with President Albertson last November at which there were no complete a matter pertaining to the Union's concern. There were members were asked in an effort to further clarify the Union's position. The answers to those questions were very helpful.

The Council's resolution of October 17, 1962, which was partially quoted from by the Pointers, also stated that the Council would be pleased to give its action on a basis of information that had been acquired. It was and is our judgment that "appropriate action (to any situation)" is valid, thereby alleviating the need for further action.

It should also be mentioned that each and every Student Council member heard this report. They were not aware to secrecy, nor was it known to us that they did not (or were not) inclined to keep this report from the faculty members.

Student Work Will Be Shown At Exhibition

by Sandra Reidenbach

A newly formed campus organization, the Student Art League, is sponsoring a 1963 Spring Exhibition of student art.

The exhibition will be shown in the college store April 28-May 17. It will consist of original paintings, prints, sculpture and ceramics, all of which were done by students in residence at St. Olaf.

This is the first such event undertaken by the group and it is hoped that the student body as well as the faculty and visitors will witness the exhibition.

One committee in charge of the show and arrangements includes L. Kees, K. Koenen, Jim Rehman, Claudia Yelk, Alice Torrerus and Ernest Maas.

- An organizational meeting last month, the following officers were elected: Landwehr, president; J. R. Thompson, vice-president; Ruth Lewis, secretary, and Jeanne Brown, treasurer.

The organization hopes to produce better understanding and appreciation of contemporary art on campus and in the community.

The total comes to $9,030, which may be approved by the Student Allocation Committee in order to become effective.

Late Hyland replaced Steve Albrecht as sophomore representative at the last board meeting.

Community Assisted By Service Projects

by Jean Droeger

Help for handicapped and related children, cooperation with community fund-raising campaigns, and with campus activities are examples of the many facets of Sigma Theta Xi, a national service fraternity that was reactivated on this campus in May, 1960. The Alpha Phi Omega chapter is active in providing babysitting services to a number of Stevens Point families.

One college organization which has service as its very basis of its existence is Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity that was reactivated in March. In May, 1960, Alpha Phi Omegas, wearing blue arm bands with gold Greek letters of their fraternity, are often seen ushering at college functions. One of their future assignments will be ushering at the May inauguration of President James Albertson. Another recent project was campaigning in the March of Dimes drive. APO members, most of whom are former Boy Scouts themselves, offer backing to Boy Scout activities in the community. They have helped with scout paper drives and have sponsored merit badge clinics.

Work with groups of pre-school handicapped children is a service project of Delta Zeta sorority. Members meet at the Youth Center each Thursday morning from 9:30 to 10:30 for a play hour with a group that includes children with both mental and physical handicap.

They help the children develop skills such as color recognition and letter and number identification. The DZ feel that the project is a rewarding one and presents a real challenge. The national philanthropic project of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority is focused on mentally retarded children. The members recently finished making stuffed toys and yarn animals which were sent to Northern Colony in Chippewa Falls, a school for mentally retarded and handicapped children.

Alpha Sigma has volunteered their time to a number of projects, including a babysitting service for a number of Stevens Point families.

May 5 Chosen For Annual AWS Parents Day Visits

by Peggy Bartels

The annual Associated Women Students Parents Day will be held May 5. The AWS is also sponsoring, in connection with the Parents Day activities, a coffee hour, which will be held Sunday from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the union cafeteria.

Reservations must be made for the coffee hour. Parents of all college women will be sent invitations to which a reply is requested. Reservation lists will be made up from the names of those parents who reply.

Cathy Clark and Carolyn Miller are co-chairmen of the Parents Day activities. Jane Schewe and Sigrid Burgmann are co-chairwomen of publicity and Millie Breitenstein is in charge of favors. Judy Olson and Anita Knaack, as co-chairmen of the program committee, are coordinating a complete entertainment program that includes a talent show, group singing and parent-speakers activities.

Other plans being made for that weekend in connection with Parents Day are an art exhibit and an open house that will be held at all halls on Saturday afternoon, May 5. The weekend's activities will conclude with the Albertson's Tea, which will be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday afternoon in the union lounge.

AMONG THE COMMUNITY service projects in which Tau Kappa Epsilon took part was the assistance with the Sabin oral vaccine program in the fieldhouse. Participating members here are (seated) Mike Bielewicz, a sophomore from Medford, and Roger Marnsuardt, a Rhinelander junior. The members of this fraternity will also assist with the program of distribution for the city. (Counter Photo)

Seating Changed

Bubbling heads and craning necks will be nuisances of the past from now on.

Beginning with the production of "Pygmalion," May 1, 2 and 3, all seating for College Theatre productions will be on a reservation basis. There will be two kinds of reserved seats, premium and regular. Premium seats will be the best seats in the auditorium in terms of proximity to the stage and sight lines. There will be a 25¢ charge for each premium seat pupil's identification card. There will be no charge for the regular seats.

Each ticket will specify a particular section of the auditorium, as well as a particular row and seat. Unless seating arrangements are changed, the seating system will be strictly enforced. Tickets will be available to students and faculty, as well as townsmen. If one pangs to attend with a date or friends, all tickets will have to be picked up at the same time in order to insure obtaining seats together.

Reservations for "Pygmalion" will be available in front of the auditorium April 26, 29, 30 and May 1 and 2 from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

by Sue Stanke
Rawdust, sandpaper, sweat, smiles and stage-fright. These are the ingredients of Pygmalion, Old style. "Aaahh!! very Higgins! You've made me into a lady — and now I'm not good for anything!" Star Barb Nolan is emotional to Bob Brown, (also star). Posing for a Polter picture, the two run through their lines. Gesturing wildly, Bob raised his arms to the sky in grand style. Barb looked properly receptive — and Bob forgot his lines. Stage-fright!

Bang! Bang! BANG! JOAN Boeyink, actress turned carpen ter, bent over double, hammer in hand, assuring what was supposedly an about-to-be "stool." Ralph Nueller "helped" Joann, being careful to keep his fingers out of the way of Joann's somewhat menacing hammer. Small piles of sawdust rose like rhinestones against John's feet.

Kneeling on stage, diligently slapping paint on a set was Mary Felton, decked out for the occasion in a chint "Sigma Chi" sweater. Alice Feet, set director, standing upstage with William Dawson, play director, coffee in one hand and gesturing with the other hand, was also dressed in sweatshirt and slacks, as were the majority of the rest of the stage crew and orchestra.

Crawling around upon the catwalk, a narrow, balcony-like area above and to the rear of the stage, Mike Worman and Roberte A. Heney, (also stars) were busily at work trying to keep the ropes holding the two large sets together. The false ceiling was being alternately raised and lowered, and the catwalk crawlers were vanily trying to keep the ropes that were being used to link the sets to the false ceiling proper was at last in place.

Dennis Waid popped out from behind a set section of Henry Higgins' house, which had just been "beached-dusted." A feather is dipped in paint and swatted across the walls of the set, leaving a wispy design of white paint on them. Feather-dusting was a purposeful and light aid. When the stage and crowd did the "wall" once it was in place. Instead of reflecting a blinding glare of light from a solidly painted area, the feathered, dented area minimizes and absorbs light to keep his fingers out.

From a purely theoretical standpoint, government control of news should be wholly unnecessary. By controlling our national news the Federal government would infringe on individual rights. If the federal government did take control of the national news services or impose severe censorship upon the press, it would be in violation of the amendment of the Constitution. In case of war this entire picture would change and the federal government would be required to censor the press.

Roving Reporter

by Ruth Kacor

Is the federal government justified in controlling national news?

Rovin' Ed. Jr., Junior, Steven Point.

No — With controlled news our news media gets too much autonomy and unscrupulous information which is often just hearsay and publishes this as the news. This, I feel, does more harm to the public than the free uncontrolled press would.

News is really the present history; its facts have already been performed, so we deserve to know the truth. What is going to happen in the future, as far as our national security is concerned, is what the foreign news by some, but if I feel this information need not be passed on to the public until it has been done, then it is news.

Baseball Season Opens

Steve Point State College, with eight lettermen back from last season's State College Conference meeting and picked up off the street, opened 1963 baseball action with a doubleheader sweep over the Janesville Blue Devils.

Despite the eight veterans, the Pointers will display a "new look" at the plate and from the mound and coaching.

Coach Gene Brodhagen has taken over the head coaching post from Bob Platt, who was out of first season's last 14.3 record, included the 33 runners, which is tied for the SCC crown.

This past season has been drifting his charges for some time now but most of the players have been out of the game to try parts for the West Allis, Badger, and Bob Kranig, infieldders Stu Souhrada, John Bomack, Ron Kampstra, Dick Vanderzanden, outfielder Duane Cafrisse, catcher Bill Pickard.

Kranstra had a 1.00 mark and Kranstra has been his power hitting.

Kranstra's second unit at present includes Dick West, Wittenberg, baseball freshman at first base; Bob Lentz, Hales Corners fieldman or Howie Adams, first baseman from Wisconsin Dells, and Bob Adams, West Allis, who has impressed with his power hitting.

Why it pays to own lifelong security before you're on your own!

Many college graduates today enjoy the peace of mind that comes from knowing that their families are protected by life insurance. Among these graduates are those who are saving many dollars because they took advantage of the low premiums offered by New York Life.

Included in the program are several different types of plans. And because of the non-hazardous nature of your student occupation and your age, low premiums are made possible. In addition, under my personal arrangement you can defer payment of the premium until after you graduate.

You'll find it a good idea to get all the facts on New York Life's student insurance program and why it will pay you to get started before you graduate.
