Straw Hat Atmosphere Brought On Campus

What does Cape Cod have that WSC doesn't?

Nothing, now. The straw hat summer stock theatre is coming to Stevens Point this year. A bill of five plays will be performed on Wednesday and Friday evenings, plus a Thursday matinee and possible night performance if attendance warrants it. The first play of the summer season will open June 17 and the last of the five plays will end its run July 31.

Giving the theatre a cosmopolitan air will be a resident acting company of ten people with varied backgrounds and accomplishments. A theatre workshop of fifteen students will also be established, and enrollees may earn up to six credits through their study and participation in all phases of the theatre under actual working conditions.

Paul Richer, who has played in or directed plays on three continents is the first actor employed for the theatre. Now play director and drama coach at Oconomowoc High School, as an undergraduate at the University of Iowa, Mr. Richer played major roles in "Mr. Roberts," "Sabrina Fair," "The Lady's Not for Burning," "The Crucible," and "Point of No Return."

In 1957, Richer acted with the 10th Division Touring Theatre which criss-crossed West Germany playing "The Rainmaker" and an original musical drama which he co-authored.

Richer and his family went to Africa in 1959 where for three and a half years he directed plays with Nigerian students. During this time he directed an all-girl cast in an outdoor performance of "Julius Caesar" which was given by kerosene light for an audience of hundreds, many of whom knew no English.

Also employed for the summer theatre is Miss Beata Sowka, who has been studying drama at the University of Minnesota and who will receive her M.A. degree from that institution in June. Miss Sowka has studied drama in England and at Northwestern University. She received her bachelor's degree from WSC here in June 1962, with a major in speech and drama. She now is studying voice with a private tutor.

While in England, Miss Sowka studied in Winchester at a summer session sponsored by the British Drama League, and appeared in Bertold Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle."

Also in the acting company will be three undergraduate students at WSC: Cynthia Parkovitch, James Mueller and Jeffrey Rodman, all of whom are majoring in speech and drama and have appeared in productions this season. The acting company is expected to be completed shortly.

The new venture is referred to as "Summer Theatre"; however, there is an interest in selecting a special name. Students are asked to turn in suggestions to Room 117. If the name you suggest is selected, you will receive a complimentary season ticket. Season tickets are priced at five dollars and may be obtained at Room 117.

Dr. Schmeller Appointed Aide To WSC President

President James H. Albertson has announced the appointment of Dr. Kurt Schmeller as assistant to the president here at WSC.

The appointment will become effective Sept. 1. When the appointment was made, Dr. Albertson said, "I am pleased that I was able to promote from within the institution in filling this position, and believe that Dr. Schmeller will make a fine contribution as he assumes responsibilities associated with this important post."

As assistant to the president, Dr. Schmeller will aid Dr. Albertson in the administration of the functions of the office of president, including direction and coordination of institutional studies.

He will assist faculty members in preparing proposals for research grants and will seek foundation support for proposed programs.

He also will assist the president in coordinating the work of the three administrative units of the college — academic, business and student affairs.

In addition, Dr. Schmeller will represent the president of the college when the need arises.

Dr. Schmeller, an assistant professor of history, came to WSC in the fall of 1962 from Princeton University where he had received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees. He previously had earned a B.A. degree from Bates College in Lewiston, Me. He is a graduate of Binghamton Central High School in New York.

At Bates, he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, was graduated magna cum laude and received highest honors in history. In graduate school he was a Woodrow Wilson fellow, a Danforth Foundation graduate fellow and an honorary Philip A. Rollins fellow.

Dr. Schmeller will continue to teach on course in history each semester.

During the summer of 1963 he was the recipient of a Wisconsin State College research grant for the topic, "Economic Recovery of West Germany, 1945-50."

Reidenbach, 1964 Junior Prom Queen

Junior Prom King Dave Arneson will crown his queen Sandra Reidenbach at eleven o'clock, tomorrow night.

The crown will be carried by Jeanne Barbain to the island upon which a light house has been constructed. This is designed to carry out the "Harbor Lights" theme.

Members of the court are a Gil Treu and Jerome Hartwig, Sue Holthusen and Tom Corrigan, and Judy Christensen and Gary Jacklin.

The sixteen piece band of Chuck Howard will be featured at the 1964 Junior Prom. This orchestra has played at the University of Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin. They are a regular favorite at Marquette University social functions and appeared recently at the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Chistensen Elected Secretary-Treasurer

Judy Christensen, a student at WSC here was elected secretary-treasurer of the United Council of Wisconsin State College Student Governments which met recently at River Falls for the Spring Conference.

Judy is majoring in intermediate education. She has been on the student council at WSC here for two years, the executive committee of the council for two years, public relations chairman for one year and secretary of the council for one year. Judy has been a voting delegate at United Council meetings for two years and the representative on the public relations committee of United Council from Stevens Point. She is interested in seeing the position of the secretary-treasurer split.

Other officers elected for the 1964-65 school year were Robert H. Johnson, Oshkosh State, president, and Hampton Wilmot, River Falls, vice president. Johnson is a mathematics major and his main policies involve public relations. At Oshkosh Johnson is president of the student body and chairman of the Student Legislature.

Hampton Wilmot, a junior, has a new job which entails work as chairman of the public relations of the United Council and interpreter of the constitution.

Off-campus Greek houses, civil rights discrimination and methods of improving public relations highlighted the spring session.

The Council passed a resolution urging that Greek organizations be permitted to establish off-campus houses at the various colleges.

Larry Feltes, chairman of the public relations committee urged the delegates to increase the spread of public relations information on their individual campuses through the use of student handbooks, annuals and campus paper.

A resolution was proposed in the legislative committee by Dave Frazer and passed by the general assembly calling for a survey at all colleges to determine the amount of discrimination in off-campus housing. This move was made to facilitate the strong resolution passed during the winter session regarding such discrimination.

Also included were buzz sessions on Winter Carnival programs, entertainment, student center growth and campus food service.

Representing WSC here at the meeting were Richard Kleine, Miss Christensen, Ed Allen, Karen Jepsen, Scott Anger, Mary Eernisse, Norbert Gould, Janis Holth and John Prais.

Merchant of Venice Staged Next Week

The Merchant of Venice, condensed to two acts, will be presented under the direction of William Dawson, of the speech department, April 29-30 and May 1-2 at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Tickets may be obtained by presenting ID's at the box office in the main building.

In order to provide a degree of fluidity to the play, a platform stage, a semi-permanent structure, will be used.

Leads in the play are Portia played by Roberta Slater, Shylock, Jeff Rodman, and Bassanio, Jim Mueller.

Roberta is a senior speech major who won the Best Actress Award in 1962-63 for her performance in Separate Tables. Jeff Rodman, a freshman speech major, has been seen earlier this year in Hedda Gabler, Rhinoceros, and Write Me A Murder. Jeff has been selected as a member of the acting company for the new summer theatre being organized at WSC. Jim Mueller, a junior in speech, seen previously in Hedda Gabler and Rhinoceros is also a member of the summer theatre acting company. He won the award for Best Actor in a supporting role in the 1961-62 season for his performance in Death of A Salesman. Jim has been president of College Theatre for the past two years.

The Merchant of Venice is a favored play of Shakespeare's for reasons suggested in an introduction by Louis B. Wright and Virginia A. Lamar to the Folger Library edition of the play. "The reasons for the popularity of the play must be found in the quality of the poetry, the clarity of the characterization . . ."

characters in The Merchant of Venice stand out as personalities even when they serve as symbols . . . all have human traits that make them interesting as individuals."

Council Ratifies Constitutional Amendments

Major business conducted at the April 16 meeting of the Student Council was ratification of amendments to the Student Council Constitution. They provide for the direct election of all Council officers.

Previously only the President is elected by the student body at large and the others were elected by the Council from among its members.

Also provided for is the direct election of four members from each class, three to be elected as Council members and the fourth to be the class vice-president. Since only two were elected at large at the Spring election the other member will be elected in the Fall elections. The direct election of the other officers will be effective in next Spring's elections. There will be no more representatives from other school organizations nor the dorms on the Council.

The Council was informed that the City is going to install stop signs on Stanley Street at North Reserve Street. This will stop traffic in all directions. Presently only Reserve Street traffic must stop. This is not to be considered the final solution to the problem as the City is studying

The Big Question...

The big question of the day is, are teachers really professionals or just glorified baby-sitters and delinquent pacifiers?

Recently the Detroit Federation of Teachers attempted to arrive at an agreement with the Detroit school board to allow collective bargaining. The board refused on the grounds that this was unprofessional. The teachers then called for a strike vote.

I don't like the idea of teachers striking, but I think it is about time that they receive the proper recognition and respect for their job. It is long overdue.

To strike, have a union, have collective bargaining — these are considered unprofessional and in many states illegal for teachers. The reason given for this is that the other professions don't strike and therefore teachers shouldn't.

It seems odd that so many people are willing to compare teachers to other professions in this way, but certainly in no other. Let's look at some of these comparisons.

In what other profession does every Tom, Dick, and Harry feel that he has a right to tell the individual how to do his job? Does the average citizen tell his doctor that he made the wrong diagnosis and then proceed to explain the real cause of his ailment? This is unthinkable. He may call him plenty of things behind his back when he receives the bill, but wouldn't think of saying it to his face.

Yet, everyone feels he has a perfect right to tell the teacher what he is going wrong and how to improve his techniques. It is so easy for someone not handling 30 kids a day to say that the teachers should devote more time per pupil, should have more seat work or homework assigned, and should make a child more anxious to learn. Actually, however, most of these people know no more about teaching than they do about medicine.

Teachers are also so professional they are forced into joining certain organizations, often against their will. This is the present issue of Detroit. In many school systems if the teachers refuse, the principal comes around and says:

"Now look here. Every year we have 100 per cent participation and you wouldn't want to break our record, would you? It might not be too wise if you wish to continue teaching in this system."

Let's compare the hiring and firing techniques and amount of freedom in each profession.

Can a doctor be fired if someone doesn't like the method he uses or his attitude toward the AMA or some such trivial thing? No.

But, just let a teacher hand out a reading list or poetry assignment and he immediately has dozens of parents on his back telling him he is trying to corrupt their children. If he mentions he likes the color red, the next day he is called before the board to prove he isn't a Communist.

There is virtually no academic freedom in a classroom which could be one reason many classrooms are so stilted. The teachers are afraid to advance any original opinions or ideas because they might lose their jobs.

Are teachers paid sufficiently to take these abuses, directions, and insults? The teaching profession is at the bottom of the professional pay scale. Thousands of teachers quit every year to take higher paying jobs. Many prefer teaching, but quit the profession because they are so busy complying with everybody's idea of their job, they don't have time to teach.

Can America afford to keep losing good teachers? Definitely not. Our society is becoming so complex that students must be prepared for higher education. We must have properly trained teachers to keep our position in the world. Americans will have to accept the facts that teachers are vitally important, highly capable, and fairly intelligent people.

Letter To The Editor

Letter To The Editor

After reading the latest knock against Focus, I wept.

For I was sick at heart over the literary larceny being perpetrated on the readers of Focus, it being obvious that the really great creative minds must be dedicating themselves to criticism rather than to imaginative feature articles.

But, to quote freely a famous "Grossery," "Could we not have a little more constructive criticism rather than biased opinion?" Rather than throw their own harpoons, I should think it would be entertaining to all of us if they might contribute their own "personal" brand Creativity to the Pointer, to be compared with the purportedly inferior "Coup Coup" brand which, it has been said, you can stand to read only once.

the entire traffic problem in the college area. Also a policeman will handle the Main and Fremont Streets intersection during rush hours.

Continental Casualty Company received the nod for the student insurance program for another year. Wisconsin Physicians Service had explained its plan but the Council felt that better coverage was available under Continental's plan.

A Committee was set up to present nominations for the Senior Fellowship Awards and for the Faculty Award. Members are Ruth Brownlow, chairman, Janice Hoth, Tom Corrigan, Chuck Fischer and Scott Anger. They are to present their nominations to the next Council meeting and the entire Council will make the final selection.

Another committee composed of Scott Anger and Chuck Fischer was organized to plan a Spring Social Activity for the Council. In the past the Council has held a Spring Banquet but because of the shortage of funds this year it was decided to look into other possibilities.

Absent without excuse were Council members Mary Eernisse and Karen Fox. Member-elect Jim Schilling was also missing.

McKinney Submits Geographical Study For Publication

"The Geographic Thought of Henry Carey," a paper by William McKinney of the WSC geography department, may be included in a forthcoming book to be published by the Syracuse University Press.

The paper, which revolves around the pioneer contributions to geography by Henry Carey, a 19th century American political economist, was read recently by Dr. McKinney at the annual convention of the Association of American Geographers at Syracuse, N.Y. After the paper had been read, Dr. McKinney was requested to submit it for consideration for inclusion in a book on the history of geography.

Also attending the meeting, from the WSC geography department, were John D. Kapter and Wayne Wahlquist.

During major alterations to a building at Harvard University this past summer, a laborer paused in his demolition work and turned to me. "I helped build this place in 1929," he said. And then he added with a sense of wonderment, "They paid me 60 cents an hour to build it. Now I get three dollars an hour to tear it down."

John Kapter Receives Summer NSF Grant

John D. Kapter, instructor in the department of geography, has been selected to participate in the Wayne State University 1964 — Summer Conference on Structures and Origin of Volcanic Rocks. This special conference is made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

The conference program will consist of lectures and seminars on the problems of volcanic rocks and regional geographic settings. Field studies will be held during June and early July at Red Lodge, Montana; the Absaroka Range with side trips to Cooke City, Sunlight Basin, Specimen Ridge, Tower Falls, Carter Mountain, and Kirwin; the Yellowstone National Park area; the Snake River Lava Plains; and the Craters-of-the-Moon Idaho. Many discussions at outcrops will prevail at elevations of 6,000-11,000 feet.

The conference staff will be conducted by distinguished scholars. Among these will be Prof. Garniss H. Curtis, University of California, Berkeley; Prof. Erling Dorf, Princeton University; Prof. Willard H. Parsons, Wayne State; and Prof. Charles J. Vitaliano, Indiana University.

Kapter has been chosen for a second grant, the National Science Foundation Summer Conference on the Geology of the Lake Superior Region, June 10-25, 1964, with Michigan Technological University at Houghton as the cooperating school.

The objectives of the program are (1) field contract with the general geology and geography sponse, the more value to those concerned, of the Lake Superior region, and (2) to provide an opportunity for regional field studies of important ferrous, non-ferrous, and precious metals deposits in the Lake Superior mining districts both in the United States and Canada, and (3) to provide first hand acquaintance with present and future problems related to the economic development and exploitation of the region's ore deposits.

Blocher Granted NSF Fellowship For Graduate Work

Allen F. Blocher, assistant professor of physics at Wisconsin State College here, has received a National Science Foundation fellowship to do graduate work in 1964-65 at the University of Kansas in Lawrence.

Mr. Blocher, whose promotion to associate professor at WSC becomes effective July 1, has received an additional $400 research grant from the University of Kansas.

His specialty is solid state physics, and he will work on a Ph.D. degree. Mr. Blocher holds a B.S. degree from McPherson College and an M.S. degree from the University of Nebraska, and came to WSC in 1958.

General chairman of the event is Sandra Reidenbach. Working with her are Jack Scheil, assistant chairman; David Zich and Sue Lindberg, decorations; Cheryl Danielson, invitations; Karen Yarkie, refreshments; Carol Gunderson, publicity; and Judy Sager, recording secretary.

Union Board Special Elections

Petitions for students wishing to run for this election must be submitted to the Union Board Office by Saturday, April 25. Three positions are open and any student with a minimum grade point average of 2.25 may run. Elections will be held from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Union Tuesday April 28.

Space-ships Depart For Moon in WSC Planetarium

Ten - nine - eight - seven - six - five - four - three - two - one, blast off! and the awesome sound of the thundering rockets can be heard for miles as the first manned space-ship departs from earth for the moon.

We know that in just a few short years such an event will be common place. But, why should you, the students of WSC, have to wait years for such an event when it is just about to happen in the Science Building. presenting a new exciting lecture series based upon the theme of "A Trip to the Moon." Wednesday programs begin at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday programs start at 3:00 p.m.

Focus will be on some of the vagaries of the moon, and those participating will learn that it will be useless to talk on the moon for no one can be heard because of the lack of atmosphere. They also will learn that stairways will be almost unnecessary for they'll be able to jump at least six times as high as they can jump on earth.

The audience will be able to look down on Motor Earth. This will be done by means of the planetarium projector. The moon surface and phases of the moon will be illustrated with slides, and the audience will see an orbital path to the moon by means of an overhead projector.

Tickets will be available at the door of the Planetarium just prior to the showings, announces Allen F. Blocher, WSC assistant professor of physics, who is arranging the shows.

Within the short time of an hour or so one of the four space pilots: Mark Mueller, Warren Schimpf, James Wedel, or Jonathan Schreiber will take you on a trip to the moon and in doing so will explain how we will get there, the difficulties of such a trip, and what we can expect to find when we get there.

So grab your space suit and oxygen tanks and we'll blast off for the moon on any Sunday afternoon or Wednesday evening. The new program will last until May 17.

WSC Finishes 2nd In Quadrangular Meet

Stevens Point State College's young track team finished a surprising and impressive second in a quadrangular meet at Appleton Saturday afternoon which opened the season for the WSC thinclads.

Oshkosh, winning seven of 15 events, finished first by scoring 61 points. Stevens Point was second with 51. Lawrence a dis-appointing third with 28 and Ripon fourth with 24.

The Pointers and Titans have taken turns winning the meet in recent years. WSC won a year ago while Oshkosh won in 1962.

Coach Gene Brodhagen's tracksters won four events and showed outstanding strength in the weights. However, the Pointers managed only one first in the track events and, as expected, did not have the depth to bring about a second straight first place finish.

The Pointers were shut out in the 100-yard dash, two mile run, pole vault and broad jump.

Leading WSC in the meet was veteran weightman Dave Schroeder who won two events and scored 13 points to lead all individuals.

Schroeder, 260-pound senior, captured the shot put with a toss of 45-8 1/2, the discus with a heave of 143-5 1/2 and finished second to teammate Bob Kerr in the javelin. Kerr, Wausau senior, came through with a winning effort of 168-0.

Schroeder, who holds school records in all three weight events, did not seriously threaten his marks in the season opener.

The other Pointer first went to veteran Roger Marquardt who took the 440 in a good :53.8. Marquardt, Rhinelander senior, is one of only five lettermen on the WSC roster this spring.

Twenty-one of the Pointer points came as the result of seven second place finishes.

Finishing second were Schroeder in the javelin, 157-0; Chuck Pankratz in the mile, 4:50.0; Jason Nyariki in the 440, :52.2; Dick McGinley in the low hurdles, :25.6; John Henning in the shot put, 45-4 1/2; Roman Hintz in the high jump, 6-0, and the mile relay quartet of Marquardt, George Lato, Nyariki and Larry ronside, 3:40.0.

WSC copped three thirds — by Tom Hussin in the high hurdles, Pankratz in the 880 and Pete Witt in the shot.

Fourth place went to Nyariki in the 220, Hussin in the low hurdles, Al Normington in the javelin and Dave Dehlinger in the discus.

The Pointers dominated the weights with three places in the shot, three in the javelin and two in the discus. WSC picked up 25 points, nearly half their total, in the three events.

Brodhagen was especially pleased with performances by freshmen and newcomers without previous college experience. Hussin, McGinley and Dehlinger are freshmen; Nyariki a junior exchange student from Kenya, Africa who was making his first WSC appearance, and Normington a sophomore from Wisconsin Rapids without prior college experience.

Schroeder, Marquardt, Pankratz and Kerr are 1963 lettermen. Witt lettered two years ago.

There were a number of outstanding early-season performances in the meet. Oshkosh's ace hurdler, Dave Weidemann, posted excellent times of :15.6 in the high and :25.4 in the lows.

Schroeder, Weidemann and Ripon's Pete Julius all won two events. Julius copped the mile and two mile.

Other good efforts included a :10.3 by Don Haug of Oshkosh in the 100, 2:04.5 by Dick Kristy of Ripon in the 880, :22.3 by John Punzenberger of Oshkosh in the 220, 6-2 1/2 high jump by Willie Alexander of Ripon, 12-0 pole vault by Jerry Rame of Oshkosh and a 21-8 1/4 broad jump by Dan Muinde of Oshkosh.

Oshkosh clinched the verdict by finishing ahead of the Pointers in the final mile relay event. Lawrence star Joel Ungrodt, a former Wausau High School athlete, placed in four events without winning any to lead the Vikings. Lawrence, with the benefit of an easy previous dual meet victory, was expected to be in the thick of the battle for first place but never seriously challenged.

The Pointers compete at home for the first time on Saturday, taking on Oshkosh in a dual meet at Goerke Park.

Pointers Beat Superior In Lop-sided Victories

Superior offered only token opposition here Saturday afternoon as Stevens Point State College opened the State College Conference portion of its 1964 baseball schedule with a pair of one-sided victories.

The Pointers, starting with 11 runs in the first inning, went on to humble the Yellowjackets, 24-11, in the opening game at Bukolt Park, then completed the devastation with a 12-5 triumph in the nightcap.

The wins were the third and fourth in a row for Coach Bob Krueger's unbeaten club.

The Pointers raked four Superior hurlers for 16 hits in the top-sided opener. Eleven bases on balls and five Yellowjacket errors added to the carnage.

In the second game, the Pointers held only a 3-2 lead after three innings and were ahead, 6-3, after five. A six-run outburst in the sixth clinched the victory.

Backed by the avalanche of runs, hurlers Billy Grams and Al Larsen had no trouble coasting to their second straight victories. Grams worked the first five innings of the first game, allowed one run and three hits, walked none and struck out six. The junior right-hander showed improvement in his control over the previous week.

Larsen worked the middle 3 1/2 innings of the nightcap, gave up two runs and three hits, walked one and fanned four.

Hard-throwing right-hander Al Reichert saw action in both games. He mopped up for Grams in the final two innings of the opener without allowing a baserunner, then worked the first two innings of the second game, allowing two runs and three hits. All told, Reichert walked two and struck out four.

Southpaw Dale Vogel hurled the last 1 1/2 innings of the second tilt, permitting one run and two hits, walking one and fanning one.

The 11-run explosion in the first inning saw seven Pointers hit safely and 15 batters come up to the plate. Right fielder Jerry DeBruin and Grams each slammed a double and a single in the uprising.

WSC scored at least once in every inning, getting one in the second, three in the third, two in the fourth, one in the fifth and six in the sixth.

The sixth was a replica of the first, only on a smaller scale. Twelve men bated in the frame and five connected safely.

Leading the slugging was Grams who aided his own cause with a double, single, sacrifice fly and two walks.

The Derbrook junior drove in five runs.

Freshman catcher Jim Fitzgerald drove in four runs by walking with the bases loaded and slamming a home run over the left field fence in the third.

DeBruin and left fielder Chuck Herman each plated two tallies and Larsen added a double and single. Pat Dann also collected two hits as Krueger sent a total of 17 players into the contest.

Bob Organist tripled and singled for two-thirds of Superior's hits. He also drove in the lone Jacket run in the third.

Starter Jim Killoren, who was bombed out in the first, took the defeat. None of his three successors proved to be more effective.

Superior took a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the nightcap on two hits, a pair of WSC errors and a walk.

The Pointers, blanked for two innings by Dick Hornick, solved the curve-balling right-hander for three runs in the third to go ahead to stay. The only hit of the rally was a double by third baseman Tom Grefenauer. Three walks, a sacrifice fly by Grams and a balk aided the uprising.

WSC took a 4-2 lead with a run on two hits and a sacrifice in the fourth, then added a pair of insurance runs in the fifth. With two out, Fitzgerald walked and center fielder Ron Grabow followed with a drive over the fence in left field.

The Pointers managed only two hits — singles by Jim (Buddy) Woller and Dann — in the six-run sixth. However, Hornick walked two and Superior committed three costly errors. A hit batter, sacrifice fly by Larsen, sacrifice bunt on which nobody was retired, and a fielder's choice figured in the outburst.

After the two-run first, Superior was held to single tallies in the fifth, sixth and seventh.

The Pointers were actually out hit in the tilt, eight to seven, but played must better all-around ball than the visitors, taking full advantages of scoring opportunities.

Grafenauer drove in three runs with a double, single and walk while Grabow added a single to his two-run circuit smash. Woller also drove in a pair or runs.

First baseman Jay Erickson collected three of Superior's eight hits, one a double.
